POLITICS IS HONORS RETREAT THEME

Gene Alpert of political science, fresh from leading academic sessions at both the Republican and Democratic conventions, will keynote the Sept. 9-10 Honors Retreat with an address on "Party to Party: What's the Difference?" Chairing the retreat are Melissa Garretson and Scott Grey. Reservations at $8.50 per person must be made by Sept. 6.

Opening with registration at 3:30 p.m. Sept. 9 at YMCA Camp Carter, the schedule continues with a 4 p.m. softball game between the Hippies (faculty/staff) and the Yuppies (students), a barbecue supper at 6 p.m. and the keynote at 7:30 p.m.

One-hour discussion groups beginning at 8:30 p.m. will be led by Ron Flowers, religion-studies; Gregg Franzwa, philosophy; Bob Frye, English; Phil Hartman and Kyle Hoagland, biology; Dale Huckaby, chemistry; Andy Miracle, anthropology; Linda Moore, social work; Jim Riddlesperger, political science; Mark Thistlethwaite, art history; Kelly Vavarek, management; Eddie Weller, history; and visiting poet b.f. maiz.

Activities on the morning of Sept. 10 will be campaign games and a swimming party. Team captains for the games will include Scott Horst for the Whigs; Melissa Sargent, Tories; Karl Hillstrom, Libertarians; Andy Hartman, Mugwumps; Stan Hubbard, Independents; and Karen Casper, Bullmooses.

METROPLEX ART SHOW OPENS SEPT. 10

From almost 1,000 pieces of art submitted for the annual Art in the Metroplex exhibition, the juror's chosen 45 works by 32 area artists will be on display Sept. 10-Oct. 7 in Brown-Lupton Student Center Gallery and Moudy Building Exhibition Hall.

Produced by The Committee for an Artists' Center, TCU's art and art history department and the exhibition committee of the TCU Programming Council, the show is made possible in part by donations from the Amon G. Carter Foundation, Fifth Avenue Foundation, Mr. and Mrs. F. Howard Walsh, Mrs. Robert Bass, John L. Clardy, JoAnn Durham, Bob Fiesler and Nancy Vance.

The show's juror, John Hallmark Neff, director of art programs for the First National Bank of Chicago, will be a guest for the opening reception from 2 to 6 p.m. Sept. 10 in both galleries. He will lecture at 2:30 p.m. in Moudy Building 141N, followed by the awards presentation at 3:30 p.m. Neff is former director of Chicago's Museum of Contemporary Art and curator of modern art at the Detroit Institute of Art.

Hours for the show will be 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays; 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays; and 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesdays.

Prizes include the $1,000 Fifth Avenue Foundation Award, $300 John L. Clardy Award, $200 Robert E. Fiesler Award, $100 Mrs. Robert M. Bass Award, $100 JoAnn Durham Award and $100 Claud M. Vance Memorial Award.

Artists represented in Art in the Metroplex are from Fort Worth, Arlington, Dallas, Denton, Garland, Carrollton, Corinth and Farmers Branch.

'85 DEGREE SHOULD PROVE VALUABLE

Julie Kiolbassa earned her B.B.A. degree here in 1985 in finance. That should help her and her new husband manage the windfall that hit their San Antonio home last week.

As the big winner in the Publishers' Clearinghouse Sweepstakes, Julie will receive between $20,000 and $30,000 (after taxes) each year for the next 30 years.

UCC SEMINAR OPEN TO FACULTY, STAFF

"You Can Make A Difference" is the theme for the Sept. 8 seminar at University Christian Church to which faculty and staff members are invited. During the 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. program, a panel and small groups will discuss the ever-increasing role of older adults in society. The focus will be on local and statewide as well as national concerns.

Associate Vice Chancellor Larry Lauer will moderate the panel. Its members will be Harriet Griffin, well-known for her leadership in agencies concerned with senior citizen needs, and Charles Parker, Fort Worth-area delegate to the State Silver Haired Legislature, along with an area representative of the American Association of Retired Persons.

Registrations, set at $10 each and including lunch, are due Sept. 2 in the Older Adult Ministry office at University Christian Church. Additional information is available by calling 926-6631.

SCHEDULE SET FOR EMPLOYEE FITNESS PROGRAM

The Employee Fitness Program, open to all University employees and their spouses, has announced its fall schedule. Beginning this week the following courses will be offered:

Low-impact aerobics	MWF	12:10-12:45 p.m.	Rickel 317
	MWR	5:10-6 p.m.	Rickel 318
TCU Walkers	MWF	12:10-12:45 p.m.	Rickel lobby
Water exercise	TR	12:10-12:45 p.m.	Rickel pool
Body works	TR	12:10-12:45 p.m.	Rickel 108

Body works is a muscle toning and strengthening program emphasizing muscular repetition and progressive resistance. It includes calisthenics and supervised use of Universal weight machines. The water exercise class is taught in shallow water with an emphasis on exercise, not swimming.

The aerobics classes are designed for beginning and intermediate participants; the low impact approach helps prevent the injuries and discomfort associated with the pounding of jogging and other aerobic classes. Similarly the TCU Walkers class assures a safe, gradual adaptation to exercise, said program coordinator Bruce Van Duser. Trained instructors teach each class.

The program also includes free fitness assessments, covering cardiovascular, muscle strength and endurance, flexibility, body composition and nutrition parameters. Assessments include a written, individualized exercise program based on test results as well as an explanation of the assessment. Re-evaluations can be used to monitor progress in the exercise program.

Participants can register by attending any of the classes. Cost is $15 for the semester or $20 for the academic year and includes unlimited access to the classes. For additional information, contact Bruce at Ext. 6865.

TWO PERSONAL GROWTH SESSIONS SET

Two personal growth groups for faculty and staff members will be conducted this fall by the Counseling Center. Offered again will be "Adult Children of Alcoholics." New this semester is "Improving Eating Behavior and Body Image."

Both groups, led by Hap Klinefelter, will meet weekly for 90 minutes. Meeting times will be scheduled to accommodate needs of interested persons. There is no charge for participation, and sessions are confidential, according to Hap.

Interested persons should contact the Counseling Center at Ext. 7863 for more information or to arrange for a pre-group interview.

NOTES ON FOLKS

LARK CALDWELL (design and fashion) presented "Exploring CAD/CAM: Applications for Today's Home Economist" at the American Home Economics Association Annual Meeting and Exposition June 20 in Baltimore, MD. She also presented "Textiles and Apparel--State of the Art" at the State Professional Improvement Conference for Vocational Home Economics Teachers Aug. 17 at the Dallas/Fort Worth Airport.

RALPH BEHNKE (speech communication) and former graduate student CHRIS SAWYER have published an article entitled "Public Relations and New Technology" in a recent issue of Public Relations Quarterly.

GERALD GABEL (music) directed the New Hampshire Music Festival Composers Conference this summer for the third time since he founded the conference in 1986. He also conducted a highly successful performance of Stephen Dembski's theatre work "The Show" and heard the premiere performance of his own work "The Garden of Forking Paths II." Gerald has been notified that his solo flute composition "Ina Bofetada Para La Luna Naciente" will be released in CD format on the Neuma label this fall. An article by him on "An Interview with Christian Wolff," which originally was published by Ex Tempore in Canada, has been reprinted in Revue D'Esthetique, a French journal.

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is honoring Gerald with a 1988-89 Standard Award, the second in a row he has received. In addition, he has been appointed regional co-chairperson for Fort Worth of the Texas Composers Forum. The forum, founded in 1985, brings contemporary audiences and composers together by giving audiences a better understanding of the music and composers of today.

Catholic Biblical Quarterly has accepted for publication an article entitled "Paris and Jerusalem: Alfred Loisy and Pere Lagrange on the Gospel of Mark" by NADIA LAHUTSKY (religion-studies).

NEW FACULTY, STAFF APPOINTMENTS

A 1988 honor graduate of TCU, LOIS WINKELMANN KOLKHORST has returned to her alma mater as assistant sports information director. The Brenham native, who has been administrative assistant to the Southwest Conference Radio Network, was named outstanding female golfer here in 1987-88 and was a member of the SWC all-academic golf team. She succeeds LISA GRIDER, who now is assistant commissioner of the Southland Conference.

A specialist in Latin American politics, CARLOS RAUL MIRANDA has joined the political science department as assistant professor. The former lecturer at the University of Connecticut and assistant professor at the University of Tampa earned the licentiate from the Universidad Argentina John F. Kennedy in Buenos Aires and the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Connecticut.

DWAYNE WOODS, also an assistant professor in political science, formerly was on the faculty of the University of California at Santa Barbara. The Chicago native, graduated from Antioch University and holder of a master's from the University of Chicago, has held a Ford Foundation Merit Grant.

HOUSTON-AREA STUDENTS ARE GUESTS

More than 100 gifted Hispanic high school juniors from the Houston area were guests on campus Aug. 6. Organized by the National Hispanic Institute, the trip enabled the 11th-graders to visit five universities in North Texas.

The program, co-sponsored by extended education director Derek Skaggs and the admissions office, included a discussion of TCU's academic programs. Librarian Fred Heath opened that facility for a tour.

TCU students serving as hosts and tour guides included Ami Harry, Elena Hicks, Matt Hood, Karen Casper, Tisha Coleman, Lee Behar, John Lymberopoulos and Daniel Hernandez. Faculty members speaking to the group included Tommy Thomason, Bill Moncrief, Hortencia Kayser, Margie Adkins, Andy Miracle, Linda Curry, Pat Paulus and Bill Pohl along with Student Center director Larry Markley.

TCU IN THE NEWS

"Her music is alive, well" was the headline for the Aug. 1 feature on CYNTHIA FOLIO (music) that appeared in the Star-Telegram. While she teaches theory and composition and is TCU's principal flute teacher, she also spends much of her time composing and playing flute and piccolo with the Fort Worth Symphony.

Faculty Senate meetings, "usually long and boring," got some attention in the August issue of Reader's Digest, thanks to alumna PERRI EASON '80. She submitted to the Campus Comedy section a note that an art professor tried to persuade a music instructor to go to a meeting by noting, "It might not last too long and something important could happen." Finally the music professor agreed, "but only if we sit in the back and you draw funny pictures the way you did last time."

"The exercise buff/social cyclist" was the Star-Telegram description of BETH KAUFMAN (formerly of facilities planning) in its Aug. 2 feature on cyclists. Beth has a requested phone number that spells BIKE, and she averages 150 to 200 miles a week. Beth is president of the 650-member Fort Worth Bicycling Association.

Retirees RUTH (library) and PAUL WASSENICH (religion-studies) were subjects of a portion of an Aug. 3 column in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Volunteers at the Presbyterian Night Shelter, they were talking of their interesting retirement hobby of growing peaches on a five-acre tract on the Brazos River.

LISA FUSILLO (ballet) has been selected for inclusion in the 1988-89 Who's Who of Emerging Leaders in America.

In his Aug. 7 Star-Telegram column, Larry Swindell praised the TCU PRESS and Editor JUDY ALTER for the publication of "Another Part of the House" by Winston Estes in its Texas Tradition Series. He also complimented BOB FRYE (English) on his afterword about Estes' "valid achievement as a lyrical, affirmative voice in Texas letters."

Vice Chancellor BILL KOEHLER was among those quoted in the Dallas Morning News story Aug. 7 about the minority teacher plan of the Fort Worth public schools in conjunction with TCU, Texas Wesleyan, Tarrant County Junior College and the University of North Texas. "The K through 12 educational system is our lifeblood, and we want to do what we can to support primary and secondary education," he said.

Political scientist GENE ALPERT and his class in conjunction with the Republican National Convention in New Orleans made the front page of the Aug. 4 issue of Fort Worth Neighbor.

NICK WILSON (Ranch Management) was quoted in an Aug. 1 Star-Telegram article about the impact of the new immigration law, which makes it a crime to hire undocumented workers on ranches. Nick, a fourth-generation cattleman, said that ranchers who became dependent on hiring undocumented workers "fell victim to their own complacency."

"TCU's new finance professor taking over critical position" was the headline in the Aug. 8 issue of The Business Press for the feature on CHRIS BARRY, who is assuming his position as initial holder of the Robert and Maria Lowdon Chair of Business Administration.

MORE TCU IN THE NEWS

Moving into residence halls and individual tastes in decorating rooms were the subjects of a photo in the Aug. 15 Star-Telegram and of a feature on Page 1 of the Living section of the Aug. 14 paper. Quoted in the story was WANDA OLSON (residential living), who described some ingenious arrangements for added room and comfort. Shown in an accompanying photo were students BROOKE ROSE supervising loft builders WADE SPRADLIN and ANDY MILLER.

Experiences of students in the Republican convention class in New Orleans was the subject of Bud Kennedy's Aug. 16 Star-Telegram column that quoted seniors JOHN LABOON and BETH ELEY along with program director GENE ALPERT (political science).

Starpoint School principal LAURA LEE CRANE and health center director JACK TERRELL were among those interviewed for the Star-Telegram's Aug. 21 feature on the hard-to-diagnose dyslexia. Jack noted that "every child's problem is unique."

Vice Chancellor PEGGY BARR was among persons quoted in the Star-Telegram on Aug. 23 in its series on drug abuse. In response to a report of drugs on campus, she noted that "we're no different from any other college and no different from society...we are not an enclave in an ivory tower."

HAP KLINEFELTER (Counseling Center) appeared as a guest on the Arlington-Fort Worth cable TV program "PROBE." The interview entitled "College Students' Problems" appeared the week of Aug. 1-4.
