TCU AIMS FOR LARGEST-EVER UNITED WAY GOAL

A total of $71,665 is the goal for TCU's United Way campaign, which begins Sept. 26 and concludes Oct. 7. The annual campus effort offers a single occasion for all University faculty and staff members to join in assisting 56 non-profit human service organizations that operate 280 service centers in Tarrant County.

With a goal of $21.3 million and a theme of "Show You Care," this year's Tarrant County fund drive is under the general chairmanship of Clark A. Johnson, president and chief executive officer of Pier I Imports who was named to TCU's board of trustees earlier this year. The 49-day effort was launched with a luncheon Sept. 2. This year's goal is a 9.1 percent increase over 1987, according to Johnson.

TCU's 1988 goal represents a 6 percent increase over the total contributed last year.

"I am proud of the consistently high level of the University's participation in the United Way," said Chancellor Bill Tucker. "Lending a hand, so to say, is a tradition and a practice here. TCU people are generous because they know that the human services undergirded by the United Way are essential to Fort Worth and to thousands of families in our community."

Of every dollar given to United Way, 92 cents is used for services. The efforts of more than 15,000 volunteers keep operating costs to a low 8.3 percent. The needs for services continue to grow, and the number of Tarrant County and Burleson residents served has increased significantly in the last five years. A UW team of 118 volunteers studies community needs, distributes funds and monitors their year-round use.

TCU-related persons occupy roles of leadership on boards of organizations supported by United Way in addition to their participation as volunteers for the agencies that provided services more than 700,000 times last year.

Informational materials and pledge cards will be distributed to unit heads this week, and pledge cards and/or contributions will be due in the vice chancellors' offices Oct. 6. As in the past, gifts can be made by one of three ways: payroll deduction, cash or check returned with the pledge card or a pledge with a request that the donor be billed by the United Way. Instructions for payroll deductions, which can extend over a 10-month period, must be noted on the pledge cards. These should indicate clearly whether the total amount is to be divided by 10 or whether a specific amount is intended monthly for each of the 10 months.

Chairing the campus campaign is Associate Vice Chancellor Larry Lauer, and operations will be coordinated by Jackie Hodges in the University relations office, Sadler Hall 312.

Special sections noting United Way involvement by a number of campus persons will be featured in the Sept. 27 and Oct. 4 issues of the Weekly Bulletin.

DORAN RECEIVES CHANCELLOR'S AWARD

Mathematician Bob Doran, a faculty member since 1969, was presented the 1988 Chancellor's Award for Distinguished Teaching during fall convocation last week. Endowed by an anonymous TCU couple, the honor includes a $12,000 check in recognition of outstanding accomplishments as teacher and to cover the variety of expenses which the awardee feels will most enhance his contributions as a teacher and scholar.

Bob was selected by Dr. Bill Tucker for the honor from among eight faculty members recommended by nominating committees of their colleagues. The distinguished nominees included Jim Corder and Mike Dodson of AddRan College; Bill Jurma, College of Fine Arts and Communication; Rhonda Keen-Payne of Harris College; Cherie Lohr, School of Education; Roger Pfaffenberger, Neeley School of Business; and Howard Stone of Brite Divinity School.

A member of the faculty of the University of Northern Iowa before coming to TCU, Bob holds two degrees from the University of Iowa and master's and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Washington, where he was an instructor in 1968. He has been a visiting professor at the University of Texas at Austin and a visiting scholar at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He formerly was regional director for the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University and is a member of its board of trustees.

Bob, named to membership in the Society of Fellows, is author of studies published in the Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society, Manuscripta Mathematica and Tamkang Journal of Mathematics. He is co-author of "Pure and Applied Mathematics," published earlier this year by Academic Press. In 1986 he was one of three initial recipients of Burlington Northern Foundation Faculty Achievement Awards in recognition of teaching "both significant and meritorious." His other honors include teaching excellence awards from the Student House of Representatives and being named a Mortar Board preferred professor in 1987.

A member of the honor societies of Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa, he also is active in the American Mathematical Society and Mathematical Association of America. Currently he is an editor of Cambridge University Press.

CONCERT SEASON OPENS FRIDAY

Tamas Ungar, home from a three-week concert and teaching tour of Thailand, will join the TCU Symphony in a season-opening performance at 8 p.m. Friday in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Under the direction of Candler Schaffer, the symphony will perform Beethoven's graceful Symphony No. 4 in B-flat Major. Kerry Hughes, trumpet instructor who has played with the Dallas Chamber Orchestra, the Joffrey Ballet, Fort Worth Opera and Dallas Wind Symphony, will be guest conductor for Canzon, written specifically for cornets by early German Baroque composer Samuel Scheidt.

To close the program, Tamas and the orchestra will play Franz Liszt's Piano Concerto No. 2 in A Major, a Romantic work often considered a symphonic poem rather than a traditional concerto.

ART HISTORY LECTURES SET THURSDAY

A pair of art historians, Dr. Konrad Oberhuber of Vienna and Dr. Ann Sutherland Harris of the University of Pittsburgh, will lecture here Thursday.

Oberhuber, director of the Graphische Sammlung Albertina, the world's largest collection of prints and drawings, will speak on "Drawings, the Problem of Quality" at 2 p.m. in Moudy Building 132N. The former Harvard University professor is an internationally known expert on Italian Renaissance art. His writings on prints and drawings and on such Italian artists as Raphael and Titian have been widely published. He will be a featured speaker at the Kimbell Museum's Poussin Symposium Sept. 23-24.

Harris' lecture, "Entering the Mainstream: Women Sculptors in the 20th Century," will be presented at 4 p.m. in Moudy Building 141N, followed by a reception. A former professor at Yale, Columbia and the University of Texas at Arlington, she specializes in Italian and French paintings and drawings of the 17th Century and in the work of women artists during the last four centuries. She has written a number of books and articles on Baroque art and on contemporary women artists and co-authored the catalog Women Artists 1550-1950. She also juries contemporary art exhibitions.

SOME 2,000 DUE FOR ANNUAL CYF DAY

Approximately 2,000 high school students representing Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico are expected to participate in Christian Youth Fellowship Day Saturday.

The annual event will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a program and meal in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Students and their sponsors will be seated in a special section for the TCU vs. Boston College game in Amon Carter Stadium. Activities are being coordinated by Jim Atwood of admissions. Prior to the evening events, a pre-game dance will be held in Fellowship Hall of University Christian Church.

CARROLLTON MAN WINS ART AWARD

Wister D. Lamb III of Carrollton won the $1,000 Fifth Avenue Foundation Award, top honor in the Art in the Metroplex juried competition currently on view here. Lamb's untitled work was created of fur, mirrors and hubcaps on wood.

Other winners, whose awards were presented Sept. 10 during an opening reception in Moudy Building Exhibition Hall and Brown-Lupton Gallery, were Valton Tyler of Dallas, the second place Mr. and Mrs. F. Howard Walsh Award of $500 for "Meow," oil on canvas; Ron Taylor Crouch of Fort Worth, third place John L. Clardy Award, $300, for "Curled Nude," acrylic; and Barbara Elam of Dallas, fourth place Robert E. Fiesler Award of $200 for "Room in Paris," a monotype.

Honorable mentions, all $100, went to James Allumbaugh of Dallas, Mrs. Robert M. Bass Award for a photo entitled "Grapple"; Tim McClure, Dallas, Jo Ann Durham Award for an oil pastel self-portrait; and Barbara Simcoe, Dallas, Claud M. Vance Memorial Award for "Police Restrain a Woman After Hearing Reports," pastel-conte.

The juror, Dr. John Hallmark Neff, director of art programs for the First National Bank of Chicago, also cited Ken Witherspoon of Dallas for his oil, "Echoes at Twilight," Fran Orphee of Fort Worth for an untitled mixed media work and David Szafranski of Denton for "The Act of Hitting," dice mixed with object.

Art in the Metroplex 1988 is sponsored by The Committee for an Artists' Center and TCU's art and art history department and Programming Council exhibition committee. The show, running through Oct. 7, is open in both TCU galleries from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays through Fridays, 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

30 GRADUATES ENTER MEDICAL SCHOOL

Of 32 seniors who applied to medical or dental schools last year, 30 have been accepted for enrollment this fall, reported premedical adviser Manny Reinecke. That computes to a 94 percent acceptance rate for 1988, although that figure could increase since those who are not accepted usually reapply the following year.

Most chose to attend medical schools in Texas, but three chose the University of Kansas and one international student returned to his native country for medical school.

Since 1974 the final acceptance rate of TCU graduates into medical school has never been lower than 80 percent, and in 1980 all 35 applicants were accepted. Number of applicants in a year has ranged from 27 to 54.

THEATRE SEASON OPENS SEPT. 27

Though playwright Oscar Wilde dubbed his "The Importance of Being Earnest" a "trivial play about serious people," many critics and scholars identify it as one of the finest comedy of manners in the English language. The Wilde satire opens Theatre TCU's new season Sept. 27-Oct. 2 in University Theatre. Performances, directed by Gaylan Collier, will begin at 8 p.m. Sept. 27-Oct. 1 and 2 p.m. Oct. 2.

Poking fun at the social attitudes of the Victorian upper classes, Wilde creates characters of a style—charming, well-bred, with a manner that conceals true feelings.

The plot is relatively simple, opening in the London flat of Algernon Moncrieff (played by senior Kelly Smith of Mesquite). He is joined by his friend Ernest Worthing (Matthew Guidry of Houston), who announces he is in love with Algernon's cousin Gwendolen (Sharon Smith of El Paso). She is coming to tea with her mother, Lady Bracknell (Heather Quick, junior from Bedford).

It turns out Ernest is really named Jack, that he was adopted at an early age by a now-deceased gentleman who has made Jack guardian to his granddaughter Cecily (RuKu Banashek of Oklahoma City). In order to get up to London periodically, he has pretended to have to go to see about a younger, wicked brother named Ernest.

Jack and Gwendolen become engaged, but when Lady Bracknell learns he was a foundling—found in a handbag—she dismisses him as unsuitable. She could not allow her only daughter, "a girl brought up with the utmost care, to marry into a cloak-room, and form an alliance with a parcel."

Acts II and III move to the country manor where Cecily is ensconced. Algernon comes in, pretending to be Jack's wicked younger brother Ernest, and flirts with Cecily. Soon Jack emerges from the back of the garden, dressed in deepest mourning, and announces the death of Ernest.

A farcical situation develops when Algernon and Jack face each other. Algernon later resumes his flirtation with Cecily, then finds she always has been determined to love someone named Ernest. Both he and Jack seek to be christened with that name. When both men are gone Gwendolen arrives, determined to find out more about Jack, whom she knows only as Ernest. The two young women find they both seem to be engaged to an Ernest Worthing.

The plot weaves through revelations that bring all the principals safely into the realm of Social Establishment so they might freely exchange their proper declarations of love. Even the domineering Lady Bracknell is happy at last.

RETIREEES TO MEET THURSDAY

Chancellor Bill Tucker will be the speaker Thursday for the first 1988-89 meeting of the TCU Retirees Association. With President Howard Wible presiding, the program will begin at 3 p.m. in the Student Center's Woodson Room.

CAMPAIGNS TO BEGIN IN AUSTIN, HOUSTON

Annual campaigns on behalf of TCU will begin today (Tuesday) in Austin and Sept. 28 in Houston. Coordinated by development associate Malinda Young, these are the first of five efforts designed to raise an overall total of $3.3 million in budget support for the University's Annual Fund.

Beginning with a gathering of some 40 volunteers who will make more than 300 calls on alumni, friends of the University and parents of current students, the Austin campaign is being chaired by Pat Sheehan, head of the firm of Patrick J. Sheehan, CPA, and his wife, Aimee Kane Sheehan. They are members of the Classes of 1969 and 1970, respectively, and have been division managers in previous Annual Fund efforts.

Other Austin cabinet members include Roy Snodgrass '69, Arch Thompson '55 and parents Brad and Bernie Wagner.

Set for Sept. 28-Oct. 27, the Houston campaign will be headed by Bill Swanson, partner in the office of Arthur Andersen & Co., and his wife, Chris Moffett Swanson. Members of the Classes of '69 and '70, respectively, they also have been active in earlier fund drives.

Houston division managers will be Bob Walker '65, Rick Wittenbraker '70, Steve Schueler '65 and parents Jon and Mary Nell Kirk. Some 100 volunteers are expected to make more than 500 calls.

LADY GOLFERS WIN TOURNEY

By two strokes, the Lady Frog golf team won the SMU Classic held at Brookhaven Country Club in Dallas last week. The Purple team won over hosting Lady Mustangs with a final round 287. Their three-round total was 884, followed by SMU, North Texas, Texas A&M, Lamar and Baylor.

Frog sophomore Barbara Pestania of Cape Town, South Africa, finished third in individual standings with a two-under-par 219. Other Lady Frogs and their individual scores are Ellie Gibson, 223; Chris Miller, 222; Tricia Allen, 221; and Annete Kealoha, 230.

TRUMAN SCHOLARS BEING NOMINATED

Dwayne Woods of political science reminds faculty members that the selection process for Truman Scholarships is starting. The awards are made during the sophomore year to outstanding students interested in careers in public service.

Each scholarship, beginning with the junior year, covers eligible expenses of tuition, fees, books and room and board to a maximum of $7,000 annually for four years.

Any faculty members wishing to nominate outstanding sophomores with at least a B average should contact Dwayne at Ext. 7395 as soon as possible.

CHEMIST BERNSTEIN TO LECTURE TODAY

Dr. Richard Bernstein, professor of chemistry at the University of California at Los Angeles, will be Robert A. Welch Foundation Lecturer today (Tuesday). His 11 a.m. talk is titled "Orientation Dependence of Chemical Reactivity" and will be held in Sid Richardson Lecture Hall 4. Coffee will be served in Room 446 at 10:30 a.m.

A specialist in physical chemistry and chemical physics, Bernstein will be receiving the Welch Foundation Award for Chemical Research at the 32nd Welch Conference in Houston Oct. 31-Nov. 2. Earlier this year he received the American Chemical Society's Irving Langmuir Award in Chemical Physics. In prior years he has received the society's Peter Debye Award in Physical Chemistry and the National Academy of Sciences Award in the Chemical Sciences.

A researcher on the Manhattan Project and a member of the Army Corps of Engineers assigned to Bikini operations, Bernstein has taught at the University of Texas and Columbia University, among others. He was senior vice president of Occidental Research Corp. in 1982-83 and has been at UCLA since 1983. His research interests include isotopic reactions, gas kinetics, molecular beam scattering, collision phenomena, laser chemistry and dynamics of elementary reactions.

Author of about 300 scientific publications, he also is editor of Chemical Physics Letters and serves on the editorial board of several other journals.

FITNESS PROGRAM OPENS LAB

All classes except water exercise and walking in the Employee Fitness Program are moved to the new Fitness Assessment Lab in Rickel Building Room 139. In addition to a cushioned floor for aerobics, the lab contains Universal weight machines, free weights and exercise bikes. Health assessments, given free to program members, also are conducted in the lab, which is open only during class times. Registration for all classes as well as health assessments is still open and can be made by attending any class or contacting program coordinator Bruce Van Duser at Ext. 6865. Cost is $15 per semester or $20 for the academic year.

GRANNELL RECITAL WILL BE MONDAY

Flutist Janis Grannell will open the 1988-89 TCU Music Series with a performance at 8 p.m. Sept. 26 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. She will be accompanied by pianist Judy Fisher and assisted by clarinetist Paul Garner, oboist Noah Knepper and cellist Harriet Risk Woldt.

The recital will open with Haydn's Trio No. 30 in D Major and will include Miniatures ("I Ride an Old Paint," "Adolorido," "Yaravi" and "A Frog Went A-Courtin'") by William Grant Still, Donato Lovreglio's Duo Concertante on themes from Verdi's opera "Simon Boccanegra," Concertino by Ernest Bloch, Sonatine by Jean Cartan and Grand Polonaise, Op. 16, by Theobald Boehm.

Monday night TCU Music Series recitals are broadcast live over KTCU-FM, 88.7.

6,993 ENROLL FOR FALL SEMESTER

Enrollment for the fall semester totals 6,993 students. As released by the registrar's office, the figure is described as "consistent with objectives" by Associate Vice Chancellor Ned Boehm.

Though below last fall's total of 7,105, the current enrollment is "right on target" with efforts to keep the size of the entering freshman class under 1,200 and transfers under 400. The new freshman class numbers 1,190, and transfers total 382. This fall's undergraduate enrollment is 5,688 as compared with last fall's 5,663, and graduate students total 947 as compared with 973 in 1987.

The decision to keep enrollment just below 7,000 is based on that being the "ideal number to ensure that students receive from the University the quality education and associated activities that we tell them and their parents that TCU provides," Boehm explained.

This fall's credit hour total for undergraduate students has increased from 78,911 to 79,249 over the 1987 total. Declared majors have increased in the arts and sciences, education, fine arts and nursing. On the graduate level, majors have increased in arts and sciences and remained the same in fine arts. Brite Divinity School's enrollment increased 9.6 percent over last year.

CAREER FAIR WILL BE IN BALLROOM

More than 60 business organizations will participate tomorrow (Wednesday) in the third annual Career Fair sponsored by the Career Planning and Placement Center. The event will be held in the Student Center ballroom from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Employer participants will range from nationally recognized accounting firms to federal agencies and from hospitals to branches of military service. Among colleges and universities taking part will be Baylor's Medical Center and its Graduate School of Business, Trinity's health care administration graduate program, SMU, University of Houston College of Business and the University of North Texas.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT HONORED

The music department has received first place honors in the 1987-88 National Federation of Music Clubs Award to Educational Institutions for the performance and promotion of American music. TCU was judged in the category of privately supported colleges, universities or schools of music in the Southwest region.

The award was announced by Mrs. R. Keith Newton, chairperson of the American Music Department of the National Federation of Music Clubs. NFMC is chartered by the U.S. Congress.

ALUMNUS, AIDS VIRUS RESEARCHER TO SPEAK

W. Edward Robinson Jr., a 1984 graduate now earning his medical and doctoral degrees at Vanderbilt University, will visit campus next week to talk about his findings that certain antibodies against the AIDS virus may increase the chances of infection.

Ed is scheduled to speak in a TCU Research Fund-sponsored biology seminar Friday at noon in Lecture Hall 3 of the Sid Richardson Building.

His findings, published in the prestigious medical journal Lancet earlier this year, have potentially negative implications for candidate AIDS vaccines. The article, co-authored with David Montefiori and William Mitchell, has provoked widespread interest and investigation.

So far the evidence has been obtained only from in vitro studies, although clinical tests of the phenomenon have begun in at least one study of volunteers receiving experimental vaccines. An important question to be answered is whether a person who develops low levels of antibodies against human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) after receiving a candidate AIDS vaccine might have an increased chance of becoming infected upon exposure to the virus, according to a recent article in the journal Science.

Ed graduated from TCU with a triple major in biology, chemistry and English. He was one of the first two recipients of a four-year, $44,000 scholarship to Vanderbilt's medical school. After developing an interest in virology, he decided to work toward the Ph.D. as well as the M.D.

BLOOD DRIVE BEGINS MONDAY

"Go for the Gold: Be a Gold-Medal Giver" is the theme for the campuswide blood drive Sept. 26-29. Planned for 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily, it will be held in the Student Center lounge.

A goal of 575 units has been set for the effort, which will begin with a donation by a "celebrity" at 10 a.m. Monday. A total 530 units were given during the spring drive.

The drive is sponsored by the Residence Hall Association and Arnold Air Society, headed by Jamie Comer and Brad Clark, respectively. Efforts are under the direction of Carter Blood Center.

LADY FROGS WIN IN MEET

Purple and white were the winning colors in the recent Metroplex Cross Country Meet held at Arlington's Vandergriff Park. Toni Sythe's 11:22.5 over a two-mile course won first-place honors in the women's division. The Lady Frog team won the team title with 32 points, followed by Angelo State and the University of Texas at Arlington.

NOTES ON FOLKS

The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce and Texas Wesleyan College will honor alumnus/trustee JOHN ROACH as outstanding business executive of 1988 on Oct. 6. The presentation will be made at the Fort Worth Business Hall of Fame dinner at the Fort Worth Club.

Sympathy is extended to JIM CORDER (English) on the death of his mother, Ruth Corder, of Haltom City on Sept. 10. Funeral services were held Oct. 12 at Mount Olivet Chapel.

Sept.

DAVE EDMUNDS (history) recently returned from the Great Lakes area, where on Sept. 8 he delivered the annual Eleazar P. Wood Lecture in Military History at Bowling Green State University. The next day he presented a paper entitled "Tecumseh's Native Allies: Warriors Who Fought for the Crown" to a symposium of historians at the University of Windsor in Windsor, Ontario.

Sept.

DON JACKSON (political science) presented his paper entitled "Judicially Enforced Equality within the European Community" at the recent 14th World Congress of the International Political Science Association in Washington, DC.

Sept.

An article entitled "Robert Heinlein's Case for Racial Tolerance, 1954-1956" by FRED ERISMAN (English) has been published in the Fall issue of Extrapolation. The article examines the minority protagonists and anti-racist themes that appear in the science-fiction author's books of the mid-1950s and notes the shift in emphasis that occurs after the racial unrest of 1957 and later.

LEE DANIEL (modern languages) was invited by the Puerto Rican Traveling Theatre group to attend performances of "El Jardin/The Garden" in New York City in August. The play by Carlos Morton was performed by the Puerto Rican group for its 22nd annual summer tour. The theatre of Carlos Morton is one of Lee's research projects, an area in which he has presented several papers and has articles scheduled for publication. He is currently preparing a critical anthology of Morton plays.

Sept.

Services were conducted Sept. 13 for Hamilton McGilvray, father-in-law of CHARLEEN MCGILVRAY (admissions). He died Sept. 11.

Sept.

CHRIS BARRY (business) attended the European Finance Association annual meetings in Istanbul, Turkey, Sept. 1-4 and presented his paper "Risk, Return and Divergence of Opinion" co-authored with Mustafa Gultekin of the University of North Carolina. He also served as the discussant for a paper on "Equilibrium Asset Pricing in a Market with Asymmetric Information."

Sept.

GINA TRENIMAN, senior modern dance major, will go home to Salt Lake City Sept. 28-30 as a celebrity. She has been invited to dance a solo at the dedication of a new fine arts building at her alma mater, Judge Memorial High School.

Sympathy is extended to ALICE FRYE (library), whose father, the Rev. R. L. Swanner, died Sept. 8 in Houston. Burial was in De Leon. If friends desire, memorials may be made to Friends of TCU Libraries.
