IT'S BEEN A VERY GOOD YEAR!

Margie Adkins and Lewis Glaser began the spring semester pleased at the large amount of positive feedback TCU's communication graphics program had been getting. Now they're ecstatic!

The program climaxed a year of major accomplishments last weekend with an unprecedented number of placements in the top competitive show in this part of the country, the 1989 Dallas Society of Visual Communications Student Show. From 610 entries from 18 colleges and universities in Colorado, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas, judges selected 74 pieces--including 16 (or 23 percent) from TCU. Those 16 were picked from a total of 49 TCU submissions for an acceptance rate of 37 percent.

Junior Nhan Tam Pham of Montreal, Canada, won best portfolio award in the show, which gave him the privilege of selecting a summer paid internship at any design studio in Dallas. He has picked Sullivan Perkins Inc. Tiffany Shope, Duncanville senior, earned a best of show award for a package design for Pommery Country Mustard Dressing.

Other TCU students whose works were picked for the show were Jim Kruse of Waco, Roger Smith of Fort Worth, Tracy German of Sugar Land, Steve Dowdy of Crowley, Courtney Cook of Edinburg, Malinda Thompson Marcus of Arlington, Alice Ann Meadows of Austin and Craig Bailey of Houston. Craig already has accepted a summer internship in one of the nation's major design studios, Diagram of New York.

The Dallas victories followed closely what amounted to almost a TCU sweep of the sixth annual Creative Summit Conference at Southwest Texas State University, where communication graphics won the traveling award for the outstanding program. The award, presented this year for the first time, is based on overall quality of the work presented at the conference.

Of the 40 works selected from 300 entries of five Texas universities, 22 were the creations of TCU students. TCU also won four of the nine Awards of Excellence as judged by Bryan Peterson of Dallas and Michael Patrick Cronan of San Francisco. Two of the excellence awards went to Pham for a magazine cover and an Egyptian valentine. Tiffany's gourmet mustard package won another, and Craig received the award for a Paul Rand lecture invitation.

Others whose works were chosen for the San Marcos show were Margarita Tejada of Guatemala, Steve, Holly Reynolds of Arlington, Kellee Kramer of St. Louis, Malinda and Julianna Hammond of Loveland, CO.

Earlier this academic year, TCU students had nine pieces selected for the student division of the Houston Art Directors Show, described by Margie as "a difficult show to break into." In the preceding four years, a total of only four TCU works had been chosen. Craig, who had his major works tied up in other competitions, had only sophomore projects left to submit to Houston. He sent two, and both were accepted. Roger, a senior, and two juniors, Jim and Malinda, had advertising campaigns in the show. Also on view were a poster by Tracy, a newsletter and a stamp design by Pham and a Western wear advertisement by Tiffany.

The Fort Worth Society of Creative Communications show last fall bestowed 16 Student Awards of Excellence. Fourteen went to TCU, two to the University of North Texas. The show's two student gold medals went to Craig, who also won a Max Clampitt Scholarship. Both student silver medalists, Melanie Menkemeller of Denton and Saul Torres of San Antonio, were from TCU, as well as one bronze medalist, Malinda. Saul was the other Max Clampitt Scholarship winner. Awards of Excellence also were presented to Tiffany, Jennifer Washburn of Manchester, MO, and Chris Gensheimer and Roger of Fort Worth.

Margie and Lewis won't forget this year. Nor will their students. "Competition is a part of this business," Margie explained. "It's the way students get their work before the right people. And it's equally important as a way of establishing the reputation of our department."

THREE NAMED TO STAFF POSITIONS

Brenda Welchlin, Regina Anderson and Matt Hood will hold key positions with TCU student publications during the fall semester. Announcement of their selections was made following the April 19 meeting of the publications committee.

A junior from Columbia, MO, Brenda will be editor of the Daily Skiff for a second semester. She holds an M.E. Sadler National Merit Scholarship and is majoring in news editorial, mathematics and sociology. She is active in the Honors Program.

Regina, who will intern with the Los Angeles Times this summer, was named editor of Image magazine. The Fort Worth native, majoring in journalism, currently is sports editor for the Skiff.

Matt, named advertising manager for student publications, is a sophomore majoring in advertising and public relations. The Lubbock resident is active in Student Foundation and has chaired House of Representatives committees for three semesters. He currently is a resident adviser in Milton-Daniel Hall.

LEADERSHIP AWARDS CEREMONY IS MAY 3

Students and faculty will be honored for their leadership and service May 3 at the University Leadership Reception. The ceremony will begin at 3 p.m. on the lawn in front of Sadler Hall.

Entertainment by a jazz ensemble will start at 3 p.m.; the hour-long program will begin at 4:30. Refreshments will be served, and all faculty, staff and students are invited.

Serving as master of ceremonies will be Associate Vice Chancellor Larry Lauer. Vice Chancellor Peggy Barr will greet those attending, and Chancellor Bill Tucker will make remarks.

Among those to be recognized for their achievements are members of Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board and Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Awards to be presented include the Horned Frog Pride Spirit Award, Janet Perry Award, Outstanding Greek Woman and Man, Carol Adcock Chapter Service Award, Outstanding Sponsor/Adviser and Varsity Athletic Awards, among others.

TCU, UCC CHOIRS SING 'ELIJAH'

Mendelssohn's dramatic oratorio "Elijah" will be presented by TCU's Choral Union and the Chancel Choir from University Christian Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Ron Shirey will conduct.

More than 100 musicians will sing the mighty choruses and enhance the story of the Old Testament prophet by acting as the outraged mob trying to exile the prophet or trying to placate the false gods from whom Elijah tries to turn the Israelites. Organ accompanist will be Janet Pummill, who has played for TCU Chapel Choir concerts this year and who regularly accompanies the Texas Boys Choir in overseas concerts.

Ron, as director of choral activities here and choirmaster for University Christian, has made judicious cuts to shorten the oratorio, normally one hour and 45 minutes in length. The production will be much the same as the early March presentation by the Dallas Symphony Orchestra under guest director Robert Shaw. Ron also directs the choruses for the Dallas orchestra.

RETIREMENT PLAN MEETINGS SET

Meetings have been scheduled to explain the changes in the University's general staff retirement plan. All sessions will be in Room 205-206 of the Student Center.

Times are as follows:

Monday, May 1	9 and 10:30 a.m., 1, 2:30 and 4:15 p.m.
Tuesday, May 2	12:30, 2 and 3:30 p.m.
Wednesday, May 3	10:30 a.m., 1, 2:30 and 4:15 p.m.

Monday's 4:15 and Wednesday's 2:30 meetings will be conducted for Spanish-speaking employees.

Additional information is available from the Personnel Office, Ext. 7792.

FOUR RECEIVE SWC GOLF HONORS

Four persons associated with the TCU women's golf program were honored following the Southeast Conference championships in mid-April in Sugar Land. Coach Kristi Arney was chosen SWC coach of the year after the Lady Frogs finished as runner-up to Texas in the competition. TCU's total was 913 in the meet.

Senior Ellie Gibson, recently ranked No. 8 in the nation, repeated as individual runner-up in the tourney. Her final-round score of 74 gave her a 221 total for five over par.

Ellie and sophomore Barbara Pestana were named to the all-SWC team, and sophomore Chris Miller joined her teammates on the all-tournament team.

WINESANKER HONORED POSTHUMOUSLY

The late Michael Winesanker, who directed 37 senior Honors projects--more than any other faculty member--during his years at TCU, was honored posthumously by the Honors Program at its annual banquet April 13.

Honors director David Grant expressed deep appreciation for Dr. Winesanker's many years of support as he presented a plaque to Mrs. Winesanker. "His life and career embodied the highest aspirations of the TCU Honors Program," the plaque stated.

M.L.A. LISTS SIX CLASSES

Starting with The Rise of American Business May 15-July 7 and Recent American-Jewish Fiction June 5-July 7, the summer Master of Liberal Arts schedule also lists three classes starting July 10.

The business course, tracing the evolution of the business system from colonial times to the present with emphasis on the contemporary scene, will be taught by history chairperson Don Coerver from 6:30 to 9:10 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in Room 114 of Reed Hall. David Vanderwerken of English will direct the study of American-Jewish fiction, focusing on similarities and differences between concerns and visions of such authors as Elie Wiesel, Bernard Malamud, Philip Roth, Isaac B. Singer and Saul Bellow. Class sessions will be held from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays in Reed Hall 203.

July 10-Aug. 11 classes include Modern American Society: Global Power Since World War II, taught by Clayton Brown of history from 5:30 to 9:15 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at Carswell Air Force Base, and The Life Cycle: Paths to Growth and Maturity, taught by emeritus professor of social work Art Berliner in Reed Hall 101 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. Additional information is available at Ext. 7515.

Also on the M.L.A. schedule is one travel course, From the Gothic Cathedral to the BBC: Cultural Values and Mass Communication in Britain, taught by Associate Vice Chancellor Larry Lauer and Ken Lawrence of religion-studies. That class, which moves through a variety of English locations, including London, Durham, Canterbury and Stratford, runs July 10 through Aug. 3. Additional information is available at Ext. 7130.

PURPLE-WHITE GAME SET FOR SATURDAY

Enlightenment for the young and old alike should prove to be the common denominator at Amon Carter Stadium shortly past noon on Saturday. That's the date and the site of football's annual Frog Day afternoon and Purple-White game events.

The yearly intrasquad football battle will begin at 2 p.m. but not before area youngsters are treated to clinics by the TCU football staff and players, as well as by the current Horned Frog cheerleading squad. Those sessions, for all interested boys and girls, are slated to start at 12:45 p.m.

The more mature Frog faithful will be treated to the first game-type demonstration of the new high-powered Triple Shoot offense, a scheme which accentuates the passing game. Coach Jim Wacker promises to remove most of the wrappings from his Purples' latest offensive approach.

All of the Saturday events are open to the public of charges.

TCU IN THE NEWS

Among those quoted in D Magazine's April story entitled "Sister City Squabble" was JOHN LOUD (modern languages), chairperson of Fort Worth's Soviet sister city study group. The problem centers on the choice of Coins, Lithuania, as a sister city. A Fort Worth resident is among 3,500 survivors of the Coins concentration camp, where 35,000 Jews were held during World War II.

"Standing tall in the boot business" was the headline for the three-page feature on trustee JOHN JUSTIN in the March 27 issue of the Star-Telegram's Tarrant Business. The story was accompanied by a color picture of the TCU alumnus.

ANDY FORT (religion-studies) was included in a photo in the April 10 Star-Telegram that complemented a story on the Congregations in Dialogue project in Grand Prairie that included exchange of delegations between Trailwood United Methodist Church and the Khuon Viet Buddhist Monastery.

"TCU social work class gets lesson in pushing for a cause" was the Star-Telegram headline April 15 for a story about activities of Social Work 4843 students. The class, taught by LINDA MOORE, has been working on behalf of a bill in the Texas Legislature that would add a new program to school curricula statewide. Class members were in Austin April 11 to present legislators with letters and petitions bearing 462 names.

Newspapers and networks are scrambling for Fort Worth reactions to Jim Wright's alleged violations of House of Representatives ethics rules, and political science professors are in demand. Last week GENE ALPERT was interviewed by The New York Times and JIM RIDDLESPERGER by PBS' MacNeil-Lehrer Report.

"That number you're dialing is English 101" was the Star-Telegram headline April 19 for the story on college registration via touch-tone phones being used by several schools in the state, including Texas Woman's University, the University of North Texas and Texas A&M. Registrar PAT MILLER commented that this is not in TCU's plans, saying, "We feel that phone registration moves us away from having a personal touch with the students."

NEW FACULTY, STAFF

MARGARET RAY, whose fields of study include equine economics, will join the faculty this fall as assistant professor of economics. A graduate of Oklahoma State University who holds the master's degree from Western Illinois University and the Ph.D. from the University of Tennessee, she comes to TCU from the faculty of Mississippi State University. She recently has had articles published in such journals as Collegiate Microcomputer, Regional Science Perspectives, Studies in Economic Analysis and the Appaloosa Journal.

SHAREN YOUNG, currently data control manager in Development Information Services, will become gift processing and database manager of DIS on June 1.

VISITING DANCER TEACHES HERE

Steven Walker, teaching artist for the Texas Institute for the Arts in Education, will offer a master class in Teaching Methods for Creative Dance for Children in Ballet Building tomorrow (Wednesday) and again May 1, 3 and 8.

The 5 to 6:30 p.m. classes are open at no charge, but reservations should be made by calling Susan Douglas Roberts at Ext. 7615. Walker, currently an artist-in-residence in the Fort Worth Independent School District under the auspices of the New Century Dance Project, was a dancer with Jim Clouser's Space/Dance/Theater in Houston.

WIRIN IS TRUMAN SCHOLAR

Sophomore William Bruce Wirin of Colorado Springs has been named a Harry S. Truman Scholar, eligible for $7,000 annually for up to four years beginning this fall. A political science major, he was selected as the resident scholar for the state of Colorado.

Truman Scholarships are awarded to outstanding students who intend to pursue careers in public service. Candidates, who must be nominated by their universities, must be in the upper fourth of the class, must have at least a B grade-point average and must be in a field of study that will permit admission to a graduate program leading to a public service career. The scholarship covers the last two years of undergraduate work and two years of graduate school, providing the student makes satisfactory progress and remains in a program preparing for public service.

CORRECTION MADE TO POLICY NOTICE

A correction to the retirement policy story carried in last week's Bulletin has been noted by the Personnel Office. The change is as follows:

Faculty and staff who have retired are not eligible for participation in the long-term disability plan.

Retired faculty and staff who were enrolled in the life insurance plan prior to retirement are eligible to continue in the plan only by converting to an individual policy. Arrangements to convert to the individual policy must be made through an agent of the Prudential Insurance Company.

EIF STUDENTS TO SPEAK IN DALLAS

Student members of the William C. Conner Foundation Educational Investment Fund will present the program for the TCU Dallas Breakfast Series Thursday. Sponsored by the TCU Dallas Association, the program for Dallas-area friends and alumni will be held at Park City Club, 5956 Sherry Lane.

The EIF, a portfolio managed by a panel of select students that provides first-hand, real-world exposure to all forms of investments, has a net worth in excess of $1.1 million. The fund is the largest and most diversified student-run portfolio management program in the United States.

Reservations for the breakfast program, set at $10 each, can be made by check through the alumni office. Chairperson for the Dallas series is Richard A. Berry, Class of '68.

SCHOOL OFFERS DISCOUNT FOR TUITION

Tuition discounts for children of faculty and University and general staff members will be available for 1989-90 at The White Lake School. The private school's trustees voted to offer the tuition reduction for TCU children "because of the assistance we have received from the TCU faculty in the operation of our school," according to Headmaster Jerry T. Johnson.

Tuition for pre-kindergarten, regularly $2,750, is $1,375 for TCU persons; kindergarten, normally $3,100, is $1,550. Usually $3,500 for 1st through 6th grades, tuition will be $1,750 for children of TCU employees.

Additional information on enrolling children in the school's "Able Learner" program is available by calling 457-6736.

GOUWENS TO HEAD D.MIN. PROGRAM

David Gouwens has been appointed to direct Brite's Doctor of Ministry Program. He succeeds Kenneth Teegarden, who retires this year as Brite's Distinguished Minister in Residence. Ken's retirement is a repeat performance. He came to Brite in 1985 after retiring from a 12-year term as general minister and president of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

THE MODELS WILL BE ALIVE!

"Docked at Pier 1" is the theme for the fashion showing today (Tuesday) in the first-floor display area of the Bass Building. Live models will be showing apparel from Pier 1 from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. A similar showing was held Monday at noon.

The project is the work of Lark Caldwell's class in Fashion Promotion: Principles. Coordinators are students Melissa Maestri, Lesleigh Wicker and Elizabeth Brauen.

DAVIS WILL BE ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

Gilbert Davis, director of church relations, will be one of the theme speakers for the General Assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), which will be held July 28-Aug. 2 in Indianapolis. Topic for his July 31 presentation will be "Come, Holy Spirit, Free Us!"

In his current position since 1971, the TCU alumnus formerly was minister for churches in Louisiana, Arkansas, North Carolina and Texas. He provided leadership for Brite Divinity School's Investment in Ministry program, which exceeded its $7.5 million goal in some four years. Gilbert is widely known for the stewardship and estate planning programs he coordinates with church congregations.

Other major speakers will include Emilio Castro of Geneva, Switzerland, general secretary of the World Council of Churches; Bishop Leontine Kelly of San Francisco; Norman T. Bent of Managua, Nicaragua; and Daniel Woods of Winter Haven, FL.

JUST A REMINDER...

...that the retirement-service recognition awards program begins with a 3 p.m. reception tomorrow (Wednesday) in the Student Center ballroom. The presentation ceremony is set for 3:30 p.m. Among those receiving 20-year service pins will be Chancellor Bill Tucker, whose name was inadvertently omitted from the earlier listing.

...that "The Sexuality of Christ in Renaissance Art," one of the works of Honors Convocation speaker Leo Steinberg, is now available in the University bookstore.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Art historian GAIL GEAR delivered a paper on "Travel as a Form of Renewal" at the annual Texas Association of Schools of Art conference in Austin March 30-April 1. Theme of the conference was Renewal and Idea Development.

On April 8 historian BEN PROCTER spoke at a luncheon meeting to area students and faculty at the University of Arizona. His topic was "History, Its Present Status."

During the annual spring meeting of the New Mexico-West Texas Philosophical Society, RICHARD GALVIN (philosophy) read an essay titled "Prima Facie Duty: An Analysis" at an ethics session chaired by GREGG FRANZWA. Gregg was elected vice president for 1989-90. SPENCER WERTZ chaired the session dealing with the history and philosophical views of the founders of the New Mexico-West Texas Philosophical Society. AUGUSTA GOOCH attended the sessions. The April 7-9 meeting in Denton was hosted by the philosophy department of the University of North Texas.

Ballet majors JOAN BUTTRAM and JAMES PERRY BROWN, both graduate students, along with sophomore JONNA LEE GARRETT and senior SUSAN STUBBS, took part in Imagination Celebration April 10-14 with Margo Dean's Ballet Concerto. Stubbs danced in excerpts from "Coppelia" and "Sleeping Beauty," and Brown and Garrett repeated their performance of the "Swan Lake" pas de deux from TCU's Pointe of Death presentation.

Brown also danced the role of Peter in "Peter and the Wolf" with Ballet Concerto at the Main Street Arts Festival April 15. Choreography was by ballet visiting artist THOMAS ENCKELL, who stepped into the role of the wolf as a last-minute replacement for an injured dancer. DAVID YEAKLE, 1988 graduate in modern dance, performed the comical role of the grandfather.

An article entitled "Dependencia, autonomia, y necesidades basicas: Sugerencias para los paises grandes y los paises chicos de Latinoamerica" by CARLOS MIRANDA (political science) was published in Estudios Paraguayos (Asuncion), Vol. XIV, No. 1-2.

BOB FRYE (English) presented an hour-long session for secondary teachers at the National Council of Teachers of English spring conference April 6 in Charleston, SC. His presentation was entitled "How Words Matter: The Example of Samantha Smith."

As one of 24 scholars from throughout the nation selected to take part in a National Endowment for the Humanities summer institute, FRED ERISMAN (English) will spend part of the summer in Boston. The institute, "Technology and American Culture 1607-1940: Choice and Consequences," will deal with moral and intellectual questions on the coming of technology and with ways in which issues of technology can be incorporated into teaching.

JOHN W. STEWART (emeritus, Brite) will be preacher for the Trinity-Brazos Area assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) May 7 at Central Christian Church here. John, currently interim minister of Sandy Lane Christian Church, will preach on the assembly theme, "Sing Praises to His Name."

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

"From the Life and Times of a Writing Center Technical Coordinator," an article by MARGARET-ROSE MAREK (English/Writing Center), has been accepted for publication by the Writing Lab Newsletter.

CYNTHIA FOLIO (music) has been chosen to receive the Distinguished Alumni Award from the School of Music at West Chester University. The award ceremony will take place May 6 in West Chester, PA.

DICK LANE, photo lab coordinator/teacher for the art and journalism departments, was a visiting lecturer recently at Eastfield College in conjunction with an exhibition of his photographs.

A study titled "Sor Juana's Pentad of Carolosian 'Loas'" by LEE DANIEL (modern languages) has been published in a volume titled "Sor Juana Ines de la Cruz: Selected Studies" by Coleccion de Estudios Humanisticos y Sociales in Asuncion, Paraguay. Lee recently presented a paper titled "Universal Motifs in Two Plays by Carlos Morton" for the 22nd annual meeting of the Southwest Council of Latin American Studies at Texas A&I University.

Nine members of the mathematics department attended the annual spring meeting of the Texas section of the Mathematical Association of America April 7-8 at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin. VICTOR BELFI attended the chairperson's luncheon, and LONDON COLQUITT made a report from the resolution committee to the business meeting. ROY COMBRINK, as chair-elect of the Texas section, attended the meeting of the executive committee and the long range planning Committee. CHARLES DEETER attended the Institutional Representatives breakfast and made a report to the business meeting concerning the calculus committee that he chairs. BOB DORAN presented a paper on P-Commutative Banach *-algebras, and undergraduate student BETH EGAN, the only student to present a paper at the meeting, read "Are Clocks Made of Trees?" Others attending were faculty members SHIRLEY DEETER, PENG FAN, LAURA FERGUSON and MARY LANDERS and undergraduates CHRIS OEHRLEIN and ERIC REID.

AL MLADENKA (International Students) was a special guest of the University of North Texas at its annual International Education Awards Luncheon April 12. Keynote address was by the UNT chancellor. That same day Al also was invited to represent TCU at a Metroplex meeting in Dallas with a delegation from Milan, Italy; the delegation included business people and representatives from the University of Milan. The university is interested in sending a group of students to TCU in the summer of 1990 to study English and one or more academic courses. It also is interested in hosting groups (faculty and students) for short-term visits to Milan.

TCU JAZZ ENSEMBLES will record their first compact disc today and tomorrow (Tuesday and Wednesday). Jazz program head CURT WILSON says the disc, as yet unnamed, will be released in the fall. Curt will adjudicate Music, Maestro, Please competitions in Orlando Saturday and Sunday and in Colorado Springs May 6 and 7.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

CHRISTINA MURPHY (Writing Center) and JOE LAW (English/Writing Center) presented papers at the National Testing Network in Writing that met recently in Montreal. Christina spoke on the role of writing centers in writing assessment, and Joe spoke on writing centers and the assessment of transfer student writing.

Musician GERALD GABEL's original compositions were featured at two new music festivals outside of Texas in April. His "Garden of Forking Paths I" was heard at Connecticut College in New London, CT, April 9, and his "Una Bofetada Para La Luna Naciente" was performed at Memphis State University April 22 with Gerald in attendance as guest composer.

Vice Chancellor BILL KOEHLER was the University's representative to the inauguration of PAUL HARTMAN, former vice chancellor for University relations and development, as 27th president of Kentucky Wesleyan College. The event was held April 21 in Owensboro. Assistant Vice Chancellor ANN GEE also attended.

Chemist BILL WATSON attended the 197th national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Dallas April 9-14. He was co-author of five papers presented during the meeting. He also attended the seventh annual Industry-University Cooperative Chemistry Program on Metal-Metal Bonds and Clusters in Chemistry and Catalysis. The meeting was held at Texas A&M University during spring break.

Bill also has received notice of the three-year renewal of his grant from the Robert A. Welch Foundation. The grant is funded at the level of $90,000. Bill and former postdoctoral fellow ANTE NAGL from Yugoslavia are co-authors of a paper that appeared in the March issue of the Journal of the Chemical Society, Chemical Communications.

DON JACKSON (political science) was a participant in the William O. Douglas Commemorative Symposium in Seattle April 15-17 in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the appointment by President Franklin Roosevelt of Justice Douglas to the Supreme Court of the United States. Don presented an essay entitled "On the Correct Handling of Contradictions within the Court" at a session on "Douglas as Justice." The symposium featured an address by Justice Harry A. Blackmun and a satellite feed of a tribute by Justice William Brennan from the Supreme Court in Washington, DC. The symposium's proceedings will be published as a commemorative book.
