

BULLETIN

Issued by the Division of University Relations

Vol. 65, No. 33, May 9, 1989

APPROXIMATELY 850 TO BE GRADUATED

Some 850 earned degrees will be conferred upon Class of 1989 members Saturday evening during baccalaureate-commencement. The combined ceremony will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum with Chancellor Bill Tucker presiding.

Special music will be provided by the University Band, directed by Bob Blanton. The call to worship and benediction will be given by John Butler, minister to the University. Leading the hymns will be Associate Professor Arden Hopkin.

A highlight of commencement will be recognition of mathematician Bob Doran as Piper Professor of 1989. One of 10 scholars from Texas colleges and universities chosen by the foundation for its prestigious award, he will be presented a Piper certificate, gold pin and $2,500 honorarium.

Chancellor Tucker's remarks will be followed by the awarding of degrees. Taking part in the ceremony will be Vice Chancellor William Koehler and deans Mike McCracken, Kirk Downey, John Mangieri, Douglas Simpson, George Tade, Jack Suggs and Patricia Scarse and Faculty Senate Chairperson Linda Moore.

Chief marshal is Anantha Babbili, and Joe Helmick is associate marshal. Assistant marshals are Jim Henley and Ron Flowers. Assisting them will be Bill Jurma, Don Coerver, Charles Blount, Gene McCluney, Carol Stephenson, Morry Wong, Daryl Schmidt and Toni Craven. Flag bearers will be David Vanderwerken and Ed McNertney.

Both faculty and students will assemble under the stadium's east stands at 6:30 p.m. for the procession.

RECITAL, RECEPTION TO HONOR GRADUATES

Two events are scheduled Saturday afternoon for spring graduates along with those who completed their degrees in December and members of their families.

A carillon recital from Robert Carr Chapel will be presented by Professor Emmet Smith, Herndon Professor of Music. It will begin at 3 p.m.

The reception, hosted by the University, for graduating seniors and their families is planned for 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom. The special occasion provides opportunity for faculty and staff members to join in the day's festivities with the graduates.

LILLY, WACKER LEAD FCA TOURNEY

Two names familiar to Horned Frog fans both past and present--Bob Lilly and Jim Wacker--are heading the Fellowship of Christian Athletes Golf Tournament and Challenge Cup May 22. Shady Oaks Country Club will be the setting for the four-player, best-ball scramble tournament that will begin with 11 a.m. registration and 1:45 p.m. tee-off time.

The FCA "Challenge Cup" competition, beginning at 7:30 a.m., will feature coaching legend Tom Landry, Texas Rangers manager Bobby Valentine and golf legend Byron Nelson. Mayor Bob Bolen will be master of ceremonies at a noon luncheon/news conference.

The $300-per-person signup fee includes the day's activities as well as the luncheon and awards dinner. Reservations should be sent to Bob Lilly/Jim Wacker FCA Golf Tournament, 512 West Harwood, Hurst 76054.

STUDENT PLACEMENT HAS EARLY DEADLINE

An early deadline has been set for placement of some 50 Fort Worth high school students in campus offices through the Upward Bound program. To be on campus July 24-Aug. 18, the students will be available to work free of charge as they refine their job skills.

Work time will be limited to 30 hours per week for each of the students, who are participants in the Career Counseling/World of Work Program. Arrangements for student workers need to be made soon by calling Sammie Stephens, Ext. 7946.

TANDY COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The national advisory council for the Tandy Technology Scholars Program, the cooperative program between business and education inaugurated last fall by the Tandy Corporation in cooperation with TCU, held its first meeting on campus Sunday and yesterday. In addition to discussions of the program and future plans, the group, composed of 19 distinguished persons from across the nation, were guests at a Sunday evening dinner hosted by Chancellor and Mrs. Bill Tucker and Mr. and Mrs. John Roach.

Monday's morning business session in the Tandy American Enterprise Center was followed by a luncheon and a visit to Tandy corporate headquarters.

Council members attending included Bill Aldridge, executive director of the National Science Teachers Association; Steven Arvizu, dean of graduate studies and research at California State University; Lloyd Bond, professor in the School of Education at the University of North Carolina's Center for Educational Research and Evaluation; Roscoe Brown Jr., president of Bronx Community College; Frank Burtnett, executive director of the National Association of College Admissions Counselors; and James Gates, executive director of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Also present were Walter Gillespie, head of the Office of Science and Technology Education for the American Association for the Advancement of Science; Samuel Husk, executive director of the Council of Great City Schools; Jose Longoria, executive director of LULAC National Educational Service Centers Inc.; Arturo Madrid, president of The Tomas Rivera Center; Floretta McKenzie, former superintendent of schools in Washington, DC, who is president of The McKenzie Group; James Mecklenburger, director of the National School Board Associations' Institute for Transfer of Technology to Education; Herb Sanger, superintendent of Duval Public Schools; William Saunders, executive director of the National Alliance of Black School Educators; and Donald Stewart, president of College Board.

Members not attending were astronaut Alan Bean; Ernest L. Boyer, president of The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching; Richard D. Miller, executive director of the American Association of School Administrators; and Scott D. Thomson, executive director of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

The Tandy Technology Scholars Program will recognize the top 2 percent of graduating seniors from participating high schools across the nation along with the outstanding math, science or computer science teacher at the schools. The first awards will be presented next spring based on students' and teachers' accomplishments through the 1988-89 year. Performance through the 11th grade will be considered in the selections.

BULLETIN TO START SUMMER SCHEDULE

Beginning with the May 16 issue, the Weekly Bulletin will become bi-weekly for the summer months. Material must reach the News Service, Sadler Hall 321, by noon on Wednesday preceding publication of the next issue.

Dates for summer issues are May 16 and 30, June 13 and 27, July 11 and 25 and Aug. 8. The weekly schedule will resume Aug. 22.

CLARK SOCIETY MEMBERS VISIT RAMSES

Some 160 members of the Addison and Randolph Clark Society, a recognition club of leadership gifts, came from across Texas to join together April 30 in Dallas for a tour of the exhibit, "Ramses the Great: The Magic, the Mystery, the Myth."

A brunch at the Hyatt Regency was followed by a lecture on the background of Egypt during Ramses' reign. Speaker was anthropologist Eugene McCluney.

Clark Society events planned for the coming fall include a black-tie dinner and weekend activities along with various local and regional receptions, according to development officer Kris Schaefer.

TCU IN THE NEWS

If Defense Secretary Dick Cheney's proposed cuts of the V-22 and the OH-58 Army helicopter program come through, Speaker Jim Wright's "power has been diminished...he's weakened...and he has a tough road to re-establish himself as a dominant Speaker," according to JIM RIDDLESPERGER (political science), who was quoted in an April 30 Star-Telegram story. Jim also was quoted in that issue in a story about ratings of President Bush after his first 100 days. "He is at risk of being a president afloat...and that does not bode well for his presidency."

Penelope, the special rat trained by Kathy Kitchens for the annual Rat Olympics staged by ROGER THOMAS' psychology class, won the broad jump with a record-setting 31-inch leap, according to a feature that aired April 28 on KXAS-TV.

JUST A REMINDER...

...library hours will be from 7:45 a.m. to 2 a.m. today (Tuesday) and tomorrow, 7:45 a.m. to midnight Thursday and 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. The library will be closed Saturday and Sunday.

AIR FORCE WILL COMMISSION 11

Eleven TCU and University of Texas at Arlington students will be commissioned into the Air Force during a May 12 ceremony at Amon Carter Stadium. Awards for outstanding performance also will be presented during the 11 a.m. event. The Army's 1st Cavalry Band from Fort Hood will provide music, and jets from Carswell Air Force will perform a fly-over.

TCU students receiving their commissions will be James Hoffman, Billy Ray Venable and Alissa Mulqueen. Her father, Marine Corps Brig. Gen. M.P. Mulqueen, will serve as reviewing officer.

BRITE ALUMNI ARE TOP PREACHERS

Graduates of Brite Divinity School have won three of six first prizes in the second annual Best Sermons Competition sponsored by Harper & Row of San Francisco. Winning sermons were selected from more than 2,000 submissions from throughout the United States.

The Brite alumni winners are James R. Zug (B.D. '63), senior minister of Western Oaks Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Oklahoma City, who topped the evangelistic category with a sermon in poetic prose entitled "The Inevitable Encounter"; Dr. Thomas D. Campbell (M.Th. '69, D.Min. '80), senior pastor, Beaver Creek Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, TN, first in ethical category, "Being a Christian in America"; and Timothy L. Carson (M.Div. '80), pastor, Community Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Camdenton, MO, first in devotional category for "Between a Lion and a Bear."

Zug, who co-founded a nonprofit residence for retarded adults in Tarrant County, has been involved in community programs for the mentally disabled for more than 20 years. Campbell, author of "One Family Under God," was organizing pastor of Cumberland Presbyterian churches in Fort Worth, Burleson and Batesville, AR. A former public school teacher, Carson has published articles in The Disciple magazine and has completed work at the Ecumenical Institute in Bossey, Switzerland.

Their sermons and those of other first prize and honorable mention winners have been published in "Best Sermons 2."

ARMY TO COMMISSION 23 SATURDAY

Twenty-three cadets will become Army officers Saturday in a 10 a.m. ceremony in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Those being commissioned as second lieutenants include Andrew Adams, Geoffrey Ballou, Stuart Beltson, Rosemary Clement, Daniel Cochran, David Favalaro, Charlotte Floyd, Edward Jones, Mikaela Kenfield, Larry Lewis and Ian Lyles. Others are Jerry Madden, Troy Neasbitt, Dirk Plante, Paul Selner, Alfred Terriquez, Kelli Whitney, Eric Williams and Mara Winters.

To be recognized as distinguished military are John Harvey, Karen McSweyn, Karen Metscher and Derek Tillemans.

NOTES ON FOLKS

W.D. DAVIES, the first Bradford Chair holder in religion-studies and an internationally recognized authority on the interrelationship of early Christianity and Judaism, has been elected an honorary fellow of Fitzwilliam College, Cambridge University, in recognition of his contributions to biblical scholarship. The honor is the highest a Cambridge college bestows. Of Fitzwilliam's half dozen honorary fellows, three are Nobel Prize winners and the remainder have achieved great distinction in their fields. After his retirement here, Dr. and Mrs. Davies returned to their home in Durham, NC.

Because of response and interest, The Clarinet Magazine has asked LARRY THOMPSON (music) to write an addendum to his recent article, "A Comprehensive List of Chamber Works Employing Bass Clarinet." This addendum will be published in the July/August issue.

LEO NEWLAND (biology and geology) has been appointed to the board of directors of AppleSEED, a consortium of universities and corporations in Texas that discuss applications of the Macintosh microcomputer. Current membership includes General Dynamics, TCOM, SMU, University of Texas, Baylor, Texas Tech, EDS, E Systems, LTV and Texas Instruments. The most recent meeting took place April 25 in Dallas at the INFOMART and highlighted new software and hardware products. The previous night, AppleSEED held a reception and tour of the Ramses exhibit at Fair Park.

Leo and ART BUSBEY (geology) had their article, "The Network Solution at Texas Christian University," published in the February 1989 issue of ACADEMIC COMPUTING, a journal covering computer use in higher education. The paper describes the geology department's local area network (LAN) of microcomputers and how the LAN is used within the department.

Former TCU and Upward Bound student STANLEY CAUDLE has received an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy for June 29. He also has just completed a two-year Latter Day Saints mission assignment in San Diego, CA. He will be a member of the academy's class of 1993.

JERRY GROTTA (journalism) has been elected to a three-year term on the board of directors for the YMCA of Metropolitan Fort Worth. He will chair the image/promotion committee and serve on the executive committee of the board. Jerry's committee will develop a major year-long marketing and promotional program for 1989 to commemorate the YMCA's 100th year of serving Fort Worth. Jerry also has been invited to deliver the keynote address at a four-state conference of newspaper executives at the University of Wisconsin-Madison in October. Earlier this year he conducted a seminar for the American Press Institute in Reston, VA.

LINDA GUY (art) was given a purchase award for a work on paper titled "Dynamism of Still Lives No. 2" in the Cimarron National Works on Paper Exhibition held at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. The work will become part of the University's permanent collection.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

The recent annual meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists in San Antonio included the presentation "New Exploration Targets in the Northern Midland Basin: Depositional and Diagenetic History of West Smyer Field, Hockley County, Texas," by ANDREE GRIFFIN (M.S. '88) and JOHN BREYER (geology). John and ART EHLMANN, KEN MORGAN, ART BUSBEY and RICHARD HANSON hosted a gathering of TCU alumni at the meeting.

HARRIET RISK WOLDT (music) continues her activities in the area of early music. On April 10 she participated in a program of cantatas for the Dallas Chapter of the American Guild of Organists with harpsichordist Larry Palmer (SMU), soprano Kathy Terbeek and countertenor Dale Terbeek. In mid-April Harriet was in Virginia for two performances of Bach Brandenburg Concertos, nos. 4, 5 and 6, with La Stravaganza, a group specializing in performance on historic instruments. Concerts were at the University of Richmond and at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville for the annual Music in the Time of Thomas Jefferson series.

LAURA LEE CRANE (Starpoint School) was a speaker at the first conference of a newly formed organization, Metroplex Association of Treatment Center Educators and the Center of Criminal Justice Research and Training. Her presentation was entitled "Attention Deficit Disorders: Causes and Forms." STARPOINT SCHOOL's entire staff recently attended the national conference of the American Montessori Society in Dallas.

Chemists MANNY REINECKE and BILL SMITH have had a collaborative research project published in the international journal Magnetic Resonance in Chemistry. Manny also presented two papers at the recent national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Dallas. His research students will present two papers at an ACS "Meeting in Miniature" in Denton.

Bill recently attended the 30th Conference on Experimental Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Spectroscopy in California, where he accepted a position on the governing board of an international NMR newsletter produced through Texas A&M. He also attended an editorial board meeting of Magnetic Resonance in Chemistry, on which he serves. Bill, who took up watercolor painting as a leisure time activity three years ago, has recently had four paintings, including two prize winners, in three juried exhibitions in the area.

DEBORAH BROOKS and JANE KOLAR KUCKO of design and fashion made presentations at the Interior Design Educators Council Annual Conference in Cincinnati April 20-23. Deborah's presentation was entitled "A Creative Toolbox for Unlocking the Design Process," and Jane's was called "The Art of Teaching Interior Design Studio: A Business Approach."

RALPH CARTER (political science) has been selected by the International Studies Association to chair a committee evaluating grant proposals for the development of undergraduate courses on the European community. The other committee members are Helen Minter of Columbia University and Benjamin Schiff of Oberlin College.

DONNA HALL (speech communication) presented a paper on "Reaching the Young Audience" at the Southern States Communication Association in Louisville, KY, April 6-9. She also was elected to serve on the SSCA Nominating Committee for 1989-90.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

"On the Way to God" by DAVID POLK (Brite), a textbook exploring the theology of Wolfhart Pannenberg, has been published by University Press of America. Pannenberg's understanding of God as the all-determining power of the future is the governing focus of the study, which serves both as an exposition of his thought and as a richly nuanced critique of a number of key themes in his theological program.

KEN LAWRENCE (religion-studies) and BOB DORAN (mathematics), president and vice president of TCU's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, respectively, represented TCU at the installation ceremony of a new Phi Beta Kappa chapter at the University of Dallas April 29. The ceremony included brief talks by Dr. Robert Sasseen, president of the University of Dallas; Annette Strauss, mayor of Dallas; and Erik Jonsson, mayor emeritus of Dallas. Dr. Frank Vandiver, president emeritus of Texas A&M, gave the keynote address. The ceremony closed with the induction of the first Phi Beta Kappa initiates of the new Eta chapter.

Historian SPENCER TUCKER discussed "The Age of Ordnance in the Age of Sail" April 27 at the USS Constitution Museum in Boston. While enjoying daytime high temperatures in the 50s there, he also autographed copies of his book, currently on sale in the museum shop.

At the 31st annual meeting of the Western Social Science Association (WSSA) April 26-29 in Albuquerque, BOB FRYE read a paper entitled "Garrison Keillor's Serious Humor: Satire in 'Lake Wobegone Days,'" focusing on Keillor's flaying of religious intolerance and rigid child-training practices in small-town America. Also from English, FRED ERISMAN, finishing his three-year term as a member of the WSSA executive council, read "Tugboat Annie, Ephraim Tutt, and Popular Views of the Law," examining how two familiar figures from Saturday Evening Post fiction interpreted legal issues for a general readership. PAMELA HOWELL (Ph.D. '83), now teaching at Midland College, read "'Wee Wisdom' and its We-Myth," tracing the history of America's oldest continually published magazine for children and looking into its distinctive brand of religious morality.

WHEELER HAWLEY, a member of TCU's French faculty from 1948 to 1952, died April 4 in Birmingham, where memorial services were held.

Educational Testing Service, under a grant from Lilly Endowment, is adding $15,000 to its original $20,000 grant to Brite Divinity School to fund HOWARD STONE's study of changes in seminary students over the last 25 years. A letter from the service pointed out that a team from ETS evaluated Howard's project last fall and found it "an outstanding example of the type of research the endowment would like to support." Included in the new grant is $5,000 for computer hardware.
