COLLEGE NIGHT SET FOR TOMORROW

In keeping with a new U.S. Department of Education report that the "traditional-age student" is no longer the norm on college campuses, the Office of Extended Education is hosting a special College Night for Adults. The free program for adults at least 22 years old is planned for 6 to 7 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) in Room 202 of the Student Center.

"Education is ageless," said Sarah Schafer, TCU adult services coordinator. "We welcome adult students because learning is a lifelong process."

Opportunities TCU offers adult students include academic credit for life experiences, a 45 percent tuition grant for part-time undergraduates and enrollment for up to 12 hours before seeking a degree.

Nationally more than six million adults study for college credit each year, according to a College Board survey. Adult students now make up 45 percent of the total enrollment nationwide, and the figure is expected to grow to 50 percent by the 1990s.

For the 1988 fall semester, 1,429 TCU students enrolled in undergraduate courses were age 22 or older. A total 13.7 percent were 25 or older during the 1989 spring term.

A number of services for adult students were added and recruiting efforts specifically for older students were increased during the last year on campus. A survey of spring students over 25 was designed to identify services needed. New services included a basic academic skill-testing program, newsletters, evening registration hours, expanded career planning opportunities and various workshops.

Major recruiting efforts included three College Nights, contact with business and organization newsletters, announcements to TCU neighbors and advertising. Extended education staff members also participated in education fairs sponsored by Metroplex businesses as well as civic and church organizations. Additional attention is being given local employers who provide tuition reimbursement benefits.

VARIETY OF VISITORS DUE IN JULY

More than 3,000 persons are expected on campus this month for a variety of non-credit activities ranging from last week's Texan's War on Drugs Leadership Conference, which drew 500 junior high school students, to a Department of Education fiscal officers' training. These events, coordinated by Debbie Jones in the Use of Facilities office, serve as an introduction to the University's wide range of programs.

July events in progress or beginning this week include:

- New Century Dance Project for 25 Fort Worth Independent School District students, July 6-19;
- Summer dance workshop for 50 students, July 6-19;
- Suzuki Institute for 350 students and teachers, July 9-14;
- Boys Basketball Camp I for 158 participants, July 9-13; Camp II for 158, July 16-20; Camp III for 158, July 23-27;
- Texan's War on Drugs, leadership conference for 500 high school students, July 11-15;
- Soccer camp for 100 students, July 23-28;
- Cheerleading camp for 500, July 10-13; cheerleading camp for 150, July 24-28;
- Christian Youth Fellowship for 650 Disciples of Christ youth, July 16-21;
- Interdisciplinary gifted students program for 50 high school students, July 24-Aug. 11;
- Fiscal officers training for 200 adults sponsored by Department of Education, July 27-29;
- Latter Day Saints Youth Conference for 170 persons, July 27-29;
- Youth Salute, leadership program for 26 high school students, July 28-29.

FORMER FROGS NAMED TO ALL-TIME TEAM

Six men who made football headlines while playing for the Horned Frogs are among those chosen by 25 coaches, sportswriters and former players in the Southwest Conference for listing on the All-time SWC team. Released last week, the poll was conducted by the San Antonio Express-News.

Selected for the first team on defense were quarterback Sammy Baugh and defensive tackle Bob Lilly. Davey O'Brien, former Heisman Trophy winner, was named to the second team as a defensive back. Joining him in that group was end Rags Matthews. Tackle Don Floyd and center Ki Aldrich are on the second team for offense.

WRIGHT MATERIALS WILL BE DISPLAYED

Items from the massive collection of the 34-year Congressional career of former Speaker Jim Wright will be displayed eventually in a special area, yet to be designated, in Mary Coats Burnett Library. Some of his office furniture will be included in the memorabilia.

The announcement regarding what will be displayed and how the materials will be used will be made following an assessment of the collection, which is expected to take several months. Space in which to work on his papers as well as access to the library will be provided Wright, who selected TCU as recipient of his papers along with plaques, flags and other mementoes of his public life.

The Wright materials, which arrived Wednesday, will become part of the library's Special Collections. "We will make a concerted effort to exhibit a number of the items, including such pieces as photographs and gavels, in display cases," said Librarian Fred Heath. "We anticipate having these ready for public viewing sometime during the fall."

Work on the entire collection will continue throughout the coming year, according to Fred. When that is completed, suggestions will be made to Wright regarding use of the materials.

MAYAN TROUPE TO PRESENT PUPPET SHOW

Ancient legends and customs of Mayan Indians will be presented in puppet shows Saturday at the Northside Multipurpose Center and on campus. Performances, sponsored by the Office of Extended Education, are open to people of all ages.

Show times are 11 a.m. at the multipurpose center, located at 18th and Harrington streets, and 3 p.m. in Moudy Building Room 141N. Presented by the Writers' Cooperative of San Cristobal, Chiapas, Mexico, the puppet show is usually shown to Mayan children and their parents to encourage them to learn more about their culture's legends and customs.

While the Mayans of Chiapas speak Mayan languages, they read and write only in Spanish. The cooperative works to promote reading and writing in Tzotzil and Tzeltal so the Indians can learn more about the rapidly disappearing culture. The troupe occasionally performs in the United States. In 1985 it appeared in Cambridge, MA; Albany, NY; and at Cornell University. In addition to its Fort Worth visit, the troupe will perform in Houston this summer. The shows will be in Spanish.

JUST A REMINDER...

...that "Legal Issues in Interviewing and Selection," a teleconference focusing on what placement officers need to know about legalities of job interviews and the selection process, will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) from 1 to 2:30 p.m. in Teleconference A in Tandy Hall's Center for Productive Communication. Reservations for the free event must be made to Ext. 7632.

TCU IN THE NEWS

"Restriction may keep Chinese from going to Texas schools" was the headline on the Star-Telegram story June 22 that quoted AL MLADENKA (international student affairs). He expressed concern that students expected to enroll this fall will be able to complete new immigration requirements in time for the start of the 1989 term. The story noted that 14 new Chinese students have been admitted, and 1988-89 enrollment included seven from China.

Trustee WILLIAM MARQUARDT was the subject of a feature that appeared June 22 in the Star-Telegram's EXTRA. He served as president of Texas Electric Service Co. from 1975 until 1986, when he was named chairperson of TU Electric. Well-known for his extensive civic activity, he retired a year ago and became a consultant to TU.

"Getting in early" is the advice STAN BLOCK (finance) offered about initial public offerings (IPOs) of stock in the June 26 story in Tarrant Business. He noted that "it's better to get 50 shares on Day 1 than 200 or 300 shares several days after the initial offering." The story was complemented by a color photo of Stan.

"It's July Fourth, time for partying, patriotism, the flag and fireworks" was the headline for the Star-Telegram feature on July 4 that quoted historian FRANK REUTER. Suggesting that there may now be more "pyrotechnics than patriotism" in conjunction with the national holiday, Frank believes "it would be wrong to suggest that patriotism is dying out. The feelings are still there, even if we aren't as demonstrative about them as we used to be." He cited the "furor over the flag-burning decision by the Supreme Court" and noted that the tradition of the holiday celebration probably has changed less through the years than that of any other American holiday.

If new uniforms of the Dallas Cowboy cheerleaders are in the offing, their new apparel might be the design of LALONNIE LEHMAN (theatre), one of the fashion designers asked by the Star-Telegram for their concepts. The designs complemented a story that appeared in the paper's July 1 issue.

The importance of television news was the subject of a discussion on KXAS-TV's July 2 Spectrum program. JERRY GROTTA (journalism) was joined by Bob Ray Sanders of KERA and Alex Burton of KRLD.

"Texas gets second try at college desegregation" was the headline for the Star-Telegram story July 2 on the recent Junior University held on campus for 128 Fort Worth school students. Quoted in the story was DEREK SKAGGS (extended education), who described the session as going "much farther than trying to get them here at TCU. We definitely are trying to help with the problem of losing minority students."

"Quote, unquote: Who said that?" was the Dallas Morning News headline for the July 2 feature on fake quotes based on the new 156-page volume entitled "They Never Said." Co-authors are historian PAUL BOLLER and Dr. John George of Central State University in Edmond, OK.

NINE RECEIVE STARPOINT AWARDS

Nine students have received special education scholarships for 1989-90. Five of these, designated for six hours of course work, are provided by the Noel R. Bailey Scholarship Fund.

Recipients are Stacy Barham of Fort Worth; Elizabeth Feldman of Pompano Beach, FL; Amy Schultz of Fort Lauderdale, FL; and Melissa Flesher and Janet Gernhauser, both of Oklahoma City.

Established in 1978 by Dr. and Mrs. Noel R. Bailey of Fort Worth, the fund provides assistance to students seeking endorsements in the special area of mental retardation. The recipients are studying at Starpoint School.

Recipients of Starpoint Special Education Scholarships, providing funds for two semester hours' credit, are Jamie Schubert of Grapevine, Kris Larson of Fort Worth, Jill Shepperd of Dallas and Kathy LaHood of Overland Park, KS.

CAGER CHOSEN FOR OLYMPIC FESTIVAL

Frog cager Reggie Smith, the 6'9" center who averaged 7.7 points and four rebounds a game starting for the Purple last season, is one of four Southwest Conference players chosen to take part in the U.S. Olympic Sports Festival later this month. The July 22-26 basketball games in the sports event will be played at the University of Oklahoma.

The four SWC players, all sophomores-to-be, are among 43 chosen for the North, South, East and West teams. Reggie will play for the West, coached by Lew Camenilli of the University of California at Berkeley. Others from the SWC are Lee Mayberry and Todd Day of the University of Arkansas and Kenneth Rourke of Rice.

Reggie, who blocked 20 shots and had 17 steals in his first Frog season, split playing time with junior Rich Antee. His playing time totaled 613 minutes as he and Rich provided a defense-offense tandem.

SUZUKI CONCERTS SET THIS WEEK

Thanks to a multitude of young and very young musicians on campus, it's no secret that the Suzuki Institute is in session this week. Persons interested in hearing what they have accomplished are welcome to take advantage of their final recitals and concerts Thursday and Friday.

Performances, all in Ed Landreth, include Thursday's graduation recital at 4:15 p.m. and final concert for piano and harp at 7 p.m., followed on Friday by a chamber music concert at 1:30 p.m., orchestra at 3 p.m. and final concert for violin, viola and cello at 4:15 p.m.

CHANGES MADE IN PHONE NUMBERS

Several payroll department staff members recently moved to different desks. As a result, their telephone extension numbers have been changed.

These changes include:

- Dorothy Howell: 921-7835;
- Dolores Villegas: Ext. 5114;
- Patricia Henry: Ext. 5117;
- Kathy Smith: Ext. 5103.

TADE ACCEPTS HEADMASTER POST

George Tade, widely known by the title of dean, will add another title to his career positions Aug. 1, when he becomes interim headmaster of Fort Worth Academy. Announcement of his appointment was made by the private school's board president, Michael C. Stinson.

Founded in 1982 through efforts of parents and university educators, Fort Worth Academy is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, is a new service member of the National Association of Independent Schools and a member of the Texas Independent School Consortium. Some 145 students were enrolled in its kindergarten through Grade 6 in 1988-89. Pre-kindergarten and Grade 7 will be added to its program with this fall's opening.

George succeeds Raymond E. Johnson, currently headmaster of Grace School in Houston. A national search for headmaster will be conducted this fall.

ALUMNI PLAN JULY 15 CRUISE

Chicago-area alumni of TCU along with former students of Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas will gather July 15 for a Fort Dearborn Cruise. The event, sponsored by the alumni associations of the three institutions, will begin at 5:30 p.m. at North Pier Terminal.

Coordinating reservations for TCU alumni is David Steinbarth, member of the Class of 1983.

NOTES ON FOLKS

As
SHERRIE REYNOLDS (curriculum and instruction) was in Ann Arbor, MI, June 12-14 as a member of the national review panel for EDUCOM/NCRIPTAL 1989 Higher Education Software Awards.

JIM WORDEN (adjunct, education) has been named president of the Tarrant County Junior College South Campus. Formerly dean of instruction at that campus, he joined its faculty in 1972. He plans to continue working with TCU education students.

"Where Rainbows Wait for Rain: The Big Bend Country" is the title of a collection of photographs by RICHARD FENKER (psychology) and poems by Sandra Lynn due to be published in late summer by Tangram Press in both standard hardcover and limited edition. Designed by MARGIE ADKINS (art), the volume is a result of Rich's more than two decades of photographing the area, and he describes the result as "photography which communicates the feeling of the desert at twilight."

SCOTT THOMAS, Horned Frog pitcher last season after transferring here from Texas Wesleyan, recently signed with the Chicago White Sox after being chosen in the 20th round of the amateur baseball draft. From Richland Hills, he reported to Sarasota, FL, where he was to be assigned to either the Gulf Coast Rookie League or the New York Penn League.

HOLLY SCHNEIDER of Cypress, sophomore political science major, has been awarded a $23,000 Rotary International Education Foundation grant. She plans to spend her junior year in 1990-91 studying at the University of Paris.

BILL MONCRIEF and RON HOVERSTAD (marketing) and George Lucas of Memphis State have been informed that their paper, "Survival Analysis: A New Approach to Analyzing Sales Force Retention," has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Personal Selling and Sales Management.

The someone in Quito, Ecuador, mentioned in an earlier Bulletin as having a TCU decal on a car window has been identified, thanks to DOUG NEWSOM (journalism). The car's owner is alumna BRENDA LEAH JOBES, originally from Quito, who earned the B.S. degree in advertising/public relations in 1987. She is an account executive with the J.W. Thompson Agency there.

Sympathy is expressed to MAURICE BOYD (history, emeritus), whose mother, Loren Boyd, died June 21. Services were held at First Presbyterian Church of Hopkinsville, KY, where she was buried at Riverside Cemetery.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

TUNG SHU-GI CHEN, the accomplished Taiwanese dancer/teacher who earned the M.F.A. degree here in May, has been named instructor in modern dance at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, beginning next month. Currently Shu-Gi is studying on scholarship at the Alwin Nikolais Studio in New York.

If you wind up in Disneyworld this summer, keep your eyes open for familiar faces. SUE ELLEN PETERSON, who earned the B.F.A. in ballet in 1986, is a new Mickey Mouse. Also a Disneyland dancer now is TINA ACHEY, who was a junior when hired by Disneyworld before the close of the spring semester. Tina, a ballet student of STEPHANIE WOODS and a jazz student of DIAN WEST, had been a TCU Showgirl for the last 2 1/2 years.

Two other ballet majors, KEVIN LITTLE and PERRY BROWN, will dance in the Fort Worth Ballet production of "Cinderella" as it tours Japan later this summer.

Sympathy is expressed to JOAN ROGERS (admissions), whose mother, Mary Glusing, died June 27 in a Fort Worth hospital. Graveside services were held June 29 at Rose Hill Cemetery in Corpus Christi. The family suggests memorials be made to First United Methodist Church of Fort Worth or a charity of choice.

Flyin' Frog RAYMOND STEWART, who completed his collegiate career last month with numerous titles in TCU track history, finished in second place in the 100-meter event at the recent international track and field meet in Villeneuve d'Ascq, France. After Raymond led for 60 meters, former Olympic sprinter Carl Lewis took first place with a finish .02 faster than Raymond.

ART BERLINER (emeritus, social work) has returned from several weeks in the Soviet Union, including stops in Moscow, Leningrad, Yalta and cities in Central Asia. He has been notified that the third edition of the text "Sexual Interactions" will include his article entitled "Sex, Sin and the Church: The Dilemma of Homosexuality." The current issue of Social Science Quarterly contains his review of Martin Brelmer's "The Social Basis of Community Care."

Graveside services were conducted Thursday at Greenwood Memorial Park for Maurine Harder Gafford, sister of ALLIENE HARDER (education, emeritus). Ms. Gafford, a former Fort Worth resident, died June 22 in Danbury, CT.

JUDY ALTER (TCU Press) attended the Western Writers of America convention in June in Portland, OR. where her novel, "Mattie" (Doubleday), won a Spur Award as Best Western Novel of 1988. Judy recently had two young adult titles published by E-Heart and Ellen Temple Publishers in Texas, "Maggie and a Horse Named Devildust" and "Maggie and the Search for Devildust." A third book in the Maggie series is due this fall. Judy also is the author of two new first readers from Franklin Watts Publishers, "Growing Up in the Old West" and "Women of the Old West."

KEN STEVENS (history) recently returned from Williamsburg, VA, where he gave a paper entitled "Daniel Webster and the Antisemitic Treaty of 1850" before the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations at William and Mary College.
