'MYSTICAL JOURNEY HOME' IS HOMECOMING THEME

"A Mystical Journey Home to TCU" is the theme for this week's array of activities for alumni, students and friends during Homecoming weekend. Bob and Anne Dick Semple of Fort Worth, members of the Class of '72 and '73, respectively, are general chairpersons. Student chairperson is Lynn Drury, senior from Houston.

Marking the traditional start of the special weekend, the Century Club luncheon Friday will begin at noon in the Student Center ballroom. Guests will include members of the University's four donor clubs. Brent Watson of Midland, alumni association vice president and Century Club chairman, will introduce J. Maurice and Carole Cleveland Price, who head the Addison and Randolph Clark Society, Frank and Sandra Gooch Mackey of the 1873 Club and Mick and Melissa Hicks Ashworth, who chair ADVANCE.

Following a welcome by Chancellor Bill Tucker, the program will include remarks by alumnus Joel L. Moake, professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine and associate director of Rice University's Biomedical Engineering Laboratory. Introductions will include Dee J. Kelly, alumnus/trustee who heads the board's development committee, and Dr. Warren Agee, dean emeritus of the University of Georgia School of Journalism and Mass Communications who is an alumnus and former journalism chairman.

Five Classes Will Hold Reunions

Five classes will hold reunions as part of this year's activities. These include:

- Class of 1937, headed by Joe C. Reeder Jr. of Knox City, will celebrate its 50th anniversary year with a dinner event at Colonial Country Club, beginning at 6:30 p.m. on Friday;
- Under the leadership of Dick Ramsey, the Class of 1967 reunion will be held at Joe T. Garcia's, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Sports-Related Events Are Planned

An alumni golf tournament Friday at the Golf Club at Fossil Creek is the first of several sports-related activities. The shotgun start will be at 9 a.m. The $40 registration fee includes greens fee and carts.

A Fighting Frog Five K run, inaugurated last year, is among the first events on Saturday. Headed by alumni Doug and Sara Boyd, the fun run will begin at 8 a.m. from the east entrance of Amon Carter Stadium.

TCU Lettermen's Association members will gather Friday at River Crest Country Club for their annual meeting, starting at 6:30 p.m. The group's golf tournament is slated for Shady Oaks Country Club that afternoon.

Final event of the weekend will be an "old timers" baseball game Sunday. Former lettermen up to 1980 will play at 1 p.m. Coached by Lance Brown, alumni from 1980 to the present will play the 1988 Frog varsity team at 3:30 p.m. Both games will be played at the TCU baseball field.

Saturday Schedule Full of Events

A parade, morning coffee and barbecue luncheon for alumni and friends are top-ranking activities for Saturday morning. Floats and decorated cars will assemble at Bluebonnet Circle and at 9:15 a.m. will proceed north on University Drive, then west on Cantey Street and south on Stadium Drive. The float will be displayed around the Student Center quadrangle.

The 10 a.m. complimentary coffee will be held in the concourse of Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Members of the Saturday group of TCU Women Exes will display and sell TCU-related articles with proceeds designated for the organization's scholarship fund.

The popular barbecue luncheon will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the coliseum. Due by tomorrow (Wednesday) to the alumni office, reservations are $6 each for adults and $4 for children under 10.

Frogs and Cougars Kick Off at 2 P.M.

Kickoff for the game between the Horned Frogs and the University of Houston Cougars is at 2 p.m. in Amon Carter Stadium. The half-time show will include presentation of the 1987 Homecoming Queen and her court, chosen earlier in the week in a campus-wide election.

Also to be publicly recognized is Wilma Fowler Jackson, Class of 1962 member who is this year's Coming Home Queen. One of the most visible students on campus as an undergraduate, she was a cheerleader two years, class favorite three years and Homecoming Queen as a senior. Married to Donald Jackson, also a 1962 senior favorite, she was active in Bryson Club, Angel Flight, Spanish Club, Student National Education Association and Chi Delta Mu. She was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, serving as its vice president as a senior.

The Jacksons live in Cypress, and she is director of administrative services at the regional hospital in nearby Tomball.

Special Groups Will Meet Saturday

Both pre-game and post-game activities are on the schedule for special interest groups. These will include:

- Celebration of the department's 60th anniversary by Journalism Exes at their 8 a.m. breakfast in the Woodson Room. Speaker will be Warren Agee, chairman in 1950-58 and later Evening College dean who will be presented the 1987 Distinguished Teaching Award of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi in Chicago next month;
- The Ex-Bandsmen Association hosting a continental breakfast, starting at 8 a.m., in Room 206 of the Student Center. Those being inducted into the Band Hall of Fame will be introduced. Members of the organization will form the Alumni Pep Band that will play during the game;
- An 8:30 a.m. brunch in Weatherly Hall Harris College of Nursing alumni. Former faculty member Jimmie K. Bratton will present a program on "The Woman and the Myth: The Florence Nightingale Legend," using her research and photographs from her trips to England.
- Alpha Epsilon Delta Premedical/Pre dental Society hosting a coffee and doughnut reception at 10 a.m. in Room M-16 of the Richardson Building;
- Post-game receptions held in a number of residence halls.

Alumni to Dance at Hyatt Regency

Music by King Cobra/Curly Broyles will be featured at the Homecoming dance for alumni and friends Saturday evening. The 9 p.m. event, with a $5-per-person charge, is being coordinated by Robert and Jane Leithead Walker, Class of '72 and '71, respectively.

Students Plan Festivities to Rev Spirit

Rallying the Frogs to victory is an important part of Homecoming for students, and Programming Council has scheduled a week full of spirit-boosting parties and competitions. A highlight for Frog football fans is the 10 p.m. pep rally Thursday in front of the Student Center. Alumni cheerleaders will join the current crew as well as the Showgirls and the marching band in revving up the crowd; coach Jim Wacker and team captains also will participate.

Students opened Homecoming Week by decorating the campus and Student Center with ribbon, crepe paper and balloons. Today (Tuesday) Homecoming court elections are being held, and voting for the finalists will be Thursday.

Tomorrow (Wednesday) will be Purple and White Day on campus, followed that evening by a pre-game party with the band Mazarati, a Minneapolis group started and produced by Brown Mark, the bassist with Prince's Revolution. The Student Center ballroom doors will open at 7 p.m., and the concert will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $3 with TCU ID.

On Friday the annual Frog Follies skits will be held in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 6:30 and 9 p.m. Admission is $2.

Student Homecoming celebrations conclude Saturday with an All-Campus Costume Party at Round-Up Inn in the Amon Carter Jr. Exhibits Building. Two bands, TrixTrax and Rythmethod, will provide continuous music, and free drinks, party food and Halloween candy is included in the $3 admission charge. Shuttle buses will transport students from the Student Center and back. Spirit awards will be presented at midnight, and the party will continue until 1 a.m.

Bookstore Will Honor Alumni

Alumni can take advantage of their graduation years this weekend in the bookstore. Prices on all merchandise will be discounted at the rate of one percent per year since graduation, according to director Mike Gore.

For the convenience of campus guests, the bookstore will be open from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

FORMER FROG 'GREATS' RECEIVE HONORS

Three of the most prominent names in TCU athletic history--Sammy Baugh, Davey O'Brien and "Dutch" Meyer--are among the nine sports figures inducted into the first Fort Worth Sports Hall of Fame. The honor, initiated by the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, was bestowed at an Oct. 22 banquet that commemorated achievements of local athletes.

"The new Sports Hall of Fame will pay tribute annually to those in the athletic arena who exemplify Fort Worth's contributions to sports," according to chairman Jim Gilliland.

Baugh, two-time all-American in the 1930s, and O'Brien, who led the 1939 national championship team, are legendary quarterbacks whose names appear frequently in top listings of Frog athletes. Both went on to play professional football, and both were named to the National Football Hall of Fame.

Their coach, whose innovative plays from his 30 years' coaching are foundations of many professional plays today, achieved a 188-82-15 record in football and 85-71 in varsity baseball. Meyer's last SWC championship was in 1951, two years before he became full-time athletic director.

JEFFERY'S NAME TOPS THE LIST

At the top of the Horned Frog listing of all-time leading rushers is the name of Tony Jeffery. He "wrote" it there when he rushed for 142 yards and one touchdown against North Texas State. Those scampers brought his total to 3,130 career yards and put him in 11th place on the all-time Southwest list.

Behind Tony on the Frogs' rushing list are Kenneth Davis with 2,994 yards; Jim Swink, 2,618; and Mike Luttrell, 2,312. After the NTSU game, Tony was No. 11 on the SWC's all-time runners list behind Texas' Chris Gilbert with 3,231 yards in 1966-68 and SMU's Jeff Atkins with 3,260 in 1983-86.

Prior to the Baylor game, Tony had averaged 5.5 yards per carry in his career. He also passed Lindy Berry's 562 career rushes with his 575 record and became the Frogs' career tandem offense (rushing and receiving) leader at 3,619 yards. He also moved to within three touchdowns of all-time TD leader Swink.

BAND WILL HONOR ITS OWN

Curly Broyles, Lew Gillis, John Giordano and Perry Sandifer all make beautiful music in Fort Worth.

They don't make it together.

They don't even make the same kind of music. Giordano conducts the Fort Worth Symphony, and Sandifer leads the Shrine Circus Band. Composer/arranger Gillis fronts the rodeo and Miss Texas bands, and Broyles blows his smooth trumpet at some of the best dances in town.

There is, however, at least one common note in their musical careers; all four hit their early licks with the Horned Frog Band, which is honoring them during TCU/Fort Worth Week and TCU Homecoming. The foursome and the late Frederick M. Cahoon, TCU teacher/athletic coach/band director in the early 1900s, will be the first inductees into the TCU Horned Frog Band Hall of Fame preceding Saturday's football game with the University of Houston.

A concert violinist, Cahoon was a member of the Metropolitan Opera orchestra during its Golden Age--when Caruso and Tetravzini were singing. After a concert career that was international in scope, the native Texan came to TCU in the early 1900s and was named fine arts director in 1912. A versatile gentleman, Cahoon not only taught music and directed the band, he also helped to coach baseball, basketball and football.

Sandifer, longtime supervisor of music for the Fort Worth Independent School District, was assistant director of bands from 1929 to 1931 while working on his bachelor's degree in foreign languages. He later earned a master's in foreign languages, a bachelor's in music in 1941 and a master's in music 10 years later. A performer in Paul Whiteman's famed Casa Manana band during the 1936 Centennial, Sandifer was a member of the Fort Worth Symphony for 30 years and the Fort Worth Opera orchestra even longer.

A four-year band and orchestra member at TCU, Broyles graduated in 1944 and immediately joined the Frankie Masters Orchestra. He also played with the Ray Bauduc (later Bob Crosby) Orchestra and with Ray McKinley before moving home to Fort Worth in 1947 to direct the Polytechnic High School band. When WBAP-TV (now KXAS) went on the air in 1948, Broyles was an original member of its staff. His wife, the former Clara Jo Minyard, was a member of the TCU Class of 1945, and their four sons and daughters are TCU graduates.

Gillis also has strong family ties to TCU and the band. His parents moved from Cameron, MO, to Fort Worth in 1931 so the six children could attend the University. All four Gillis sons were band members, and one daughter played in the orchestra. An older brother, the late Don Gillis, conducted the band before moving on to New York and the NBC Symphony. Lew was band mascot in the late 1930s. He was a band member as a student, was student director/president in 1949 and directed the band in 1950-55.

Giordano, whose local music credits include conducting the Fort Worth Symphony and the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra and chairing the jury of the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition since 1973, was a Horned Frog Band member from 1955 to 1960, when he earned the Bachelor of Music Education degree. He went on to become a graduate assistant for the band while completing the master's degree in 1962. TCU honored Giordano as Alumnus of the Year in 1980.

BRASS ENSEMBLE TO PLAY MONDAY

A TCU brass ensemble will present the TCU Music Series concert at 8 p.m. Nov. 2 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The program will be broadcast live over KTCU-FM, 88.7.

Richard Morgan, tuba, accompanied by pianist Judith Solomon, will present Three Songs by Gabriel Faure and Vier Ernste Gesange, Op. 21, four serious songs, by Brahms. After intermission Morgan; John Morgan, trumpet; Paul Bramlett, trumpet; Candler Schaffer, horn; and Rich Dahl, trombone, will play Das Orgelbuchlein by Bach and Vorspiel und Fuge in C-Moll by Anton Bruckner.

NEW VOLUME GOES TO 2ND PRINTING

"Wanderer Springs," the TCU Press novel about Texas small town life by award-winning author Robert Flynn, is now in a second printing, following an initial issue of 3,000 copies. The second print will make a total of 5,000 copies less than a month after publication, which was described by TCU Press director Judy Alter as "a strong record for original fiction from a university press." University presses rarely print large numbers, according to a story in the Oct. 11 issue of The New York Times Book Review, which noted that "big books aren't the real story."

'DAY FOR TCU' SET IN AMARILLO

Tomorrow (Wednesday) will be a "Day for TCU" in Amarillo. The daylong fund-raising campaign will be headed by attorney Wanda Whittenburg, who earned the B.S. in Education degree here in 1974 and completed the Ranch Management program five years later.

A team of 12 volunteers will join staff members in making calls to alumni as well as to parents of current students and to friends of the University. The $17,081 goal for Amarillo is part of the $3.3 million sought for the University's Annual Fund.

AUSTRALIA TO ZIMBABWE REPRESENTED AT TCU

The number of countries represented by international students has increased from 53 last semester to 61 this fall. Among the countries added are Zimbabwe, Australia, Chile and Ethiopia. Sixty new international students enrolled this fall, bringing the overall population of non-immigrant students to 195, according to Al Mladenka, director of International Student Affairs.

The largest number of students from one country is 19 from West Germany, followed by 15 from India, 12 from Canada and 10 from Taiwan. Most of the internationals, 143, are undergraduates, while 45 are graduate students, five are in ranch management, one is in Brite Divinity School and one is listed as special. Not included in the statistics are permanent residents and 10 internationals here for practical training.

EDUCATION TO HOST MISSOURI GREEN PROF

Dr. Dan U. Levine, professor of education at the University of Missouri/Kansas City and director of its Center for the Study of Metropolitan Problems in Education, will be Visiting Green Professor in education Monday through Nov. 6 and also will share his expertise with Fort Worth and other area school administrators.

Holder of bachelor's, master's and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago, Dr. Levine has directed much of his extensive research toward two areas--minority education and an intensive study of effective schools. He has served as consultant on administrator evaluation for Cleveland Public Schools, as senior consultant for Kansas City Long-Range School Improvement Project, consultant on Improvement of Inner City Schools in Los Angeles, consultant on magnet schools in Cleveland and on desegregation in St. Louis.

A prolific writer, Dr. Levine is lead author of "Society and Education," now in its sixth edition; co-author of "Introduction to the Foundations of Education," in the third edition; and editor and contributor to "Improving Student Achievement Through Mastery Learning Programs." He also contributed the section on Desegregation to the International Encyclopedia of Educational Research and co-authored a section on Effective Inner City Elementary School Projects for Random House's "Effective School Administration."

He will be speaker for the next Colloquium on Values and Public Policy at 3:15 p.m. Nov. 1 in Student Center Room 203, drawing on his experience with urban education, focusing on the limitations of recent proposals for educational reform and offering his suggestions for the improvement of existing circumstances. Andy Miracle of anthropology and Bill Ray of urban studies will respond to Dr. Levine before the floor is opened for discussion. All interested persons are welcome.

Dr. Levine will conduct a seminar with School of Education graduate students in TAGER-TV studio at 4:30 p.m. Nov. 5 and will lunch with the education faculty Nov. 6. In addition, he will meet with the Fort Worth Independent School District's central office staff on effective school research and will address all Fort Worth ISD administrators. He and Cherie Lohr of curriculum and instruction will conduct an effective school in-service training program at Cleburne High School. Dr. Levine also will address a luncheon meeting on campus of the Superintendent's Council, an organization of superintendents in area school districts with 1,000 to 5,000 average daily attendance.

More than 100 writers, scientists, educators and other notables have been Visiting Green Professors since the position was endowed in 1969 by a gift from Dr. Cecil H. Green of Dallas and his late wife, Dr. Ida Green.

VOLUME MAILING SHOULD BE NUMERICAL

Post office manager Charlotte Dubra would like to remind campus offices that large-volume interoffice mailings should be taken to the post office in box number order. Any mailings to more than 500 persons on campus qualify as large volume and also should be carried to the post office window rather than being inserted in the interoffice mail slot.

Charlotte said this would expedite service and ensure accuracy. She urged that staff members who have problems or experience any difficulties feel free to contact her at Ext. 7840.

BRITE SETS UP GRADUATE LAY PROGRAM

The emerging importance of non-ordained professional and volunteer leadership in churches has led Brite Divinity School to inaugurate two programs of lay theological education.

To be offered beginning in January are the Master of Theological Studies, an advanced degree for persons who do not plan to be ordained but whose goals and vocational commitment will be enhanced by theological education, and the Certificate of Theological Studies, a 21-hour advanced program for those who seek to improve the quality of their lay church leadership and/or broaden their views of contemporary faith and life.

"There is growing awareness of the place lay people occupy in key leadership roles," pointed out Dean M. Jack Suggs. "Some are non-ordained professional staff in such positions as education, business management, program directing or church music. In addition, the number of volunteer workers is increasing as the retired population grows and seeks meaningful ways to use abilities.

"These are programs calculated to significantly deepen the theological awareness of non-ordained and volunteer leaders," he said. Both are graduate programs, and applicants must possess a B.A. or its equivalent with a record indicating probable success in graduate study.

The M.T.S., requiring 42 hours of graduate study, is intended for professional church staff members whose positions do not require ordination, lay persons whose leadership in the church will be enriched by seminary study and others who wish to examine and develop religious and theological perspectives on their lives.

Faculty for the new degree programs will be made up primarily of full-time Brite faculty members often using regular seminary curriculum as well as programs tailored to specific goals of incoming students.

NOTES ON FOLKS

DAVID POLK (Brite) has been elected president of the Association of Practical Theology, a professional society of scholars from the United States and Canada who work in practical disciplines in the education of ministry. Prior to 1984, the group was known as the Association for Professional Education for Ministry.

Historians DON WORCESTER and DAVE EDMUNDS attended the Western History Association conference in Los Angeles Oct. 7-10. Don chaired the session on "Ambidextrous Historians: Alternative Visions of Western History." Dave was commentator for the session entitled "Biculturalization on the American Frontier: Two Case Studies." He is the new chairman of the nominating committee for the Western History Association for 1987-88 and recently has been appointed to the editorial boards of the Michigan Historical Review and the American Indian Research Quarterly.

STEVEN De GROOTE (music) has joined the renowned Guarneri String Quartet as pianist for the next two months of their American tour. His invitation to perform with the group came after first violinist Arnold Steinhardt underwent successful surgery for an inflamed nerve in his elbow. Steven and the three remaining Guarneri will tour throughout the nation, including performances in Cleveland, Denver, Santa Barbara, San Francisco and the Kennedy Center in Washington, DC.

The TCU BRASS CHOIR, under the direction of STEVEN MOSER, presented music for the Oct. 11 worship service at Cypress Creek Christian Church in Spring. The choir performed Canzon duodecimi toni by Giovanni Gabrieli, Prelude by Wilson Osborn, Matthew Locke's Pavan, Almand and Ayre and the Prayer from Richard Wagner's "Rienzi." Both Dr. B. Glenn Wilkerson, senior minister of the Cypress Creek church, and the Rev. Clare Lewis, minister of music, hold degrees from TCU.

LEE DANIEL (modern languages) chaired a session on Latin American Narrative at the Mid-America Conference on Hispanic Literature Oct. 15-17 at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The most recent issue of the Bulletin of South Texas Geological Society includes the article "Depositional Sequences and Hydrocarbon Exploration in the Wilcox Group in South Texas" by M.P. ANDERSON (geology, graduate student) and J.A. BREYER (geology).
