Vol 64, No. 13, Nov. 10, 1987

HOW DO YOU TOP NUMBER ONE?

What do you do to improve on a No. 1 finish? Just do it again.

That's the riddle and the answer challenging TCU's 1987 Hunger Week campaign following its 1986 award from National Association for Campus Activities and National Student Campaign Against Hunger as the most creative and effective hunger program on any campus in the nation. Lindy Nelson, senior from Kingwood, chaired both the 1986 Hunger Week and this year's observance.

How can faculty and staff help? First, heed the call to support the TCU Frog Family Fast. All members of the TCU family and their families are urged to give up one or more meals, then contribute the money for those meals. Checks, payable to TCU World Hunger, should be sent to Libby Proffer, Box 32917, or to University Ministries, Box 32898, by Nov. 20. The fast is being expanded this year so students and their families may participate. Students will forge a link with home when they and their families agree to give up the same meal(s) on the same day.

Then join in other Hunger Week activities beginning at noon Monday with a kickoff in Student Center lounge, a moment of silent meditation and a noon to 11 p.m. prayer vigil in Robert Carr Chapel, concluding with a service in the chapel at 11 p.m. At 7 o'clock that same evening, faculty chairperson Andy Fort will present an Ending Hunger Briefing in the Student Center.

Nov. 17 activities will include a faculty panel on "Why Hunger?" at 7:30 p.m. in Student Center lounge. Hunger Week chapel, featuring a talk by Brite emeritus associate professor Bill Hall, will be at noon Nov. 18 in Carr Chapel. Also on Nov. 18 will be the Hunger Banquet at 6 p.m. and the Ending Hunger Auction at 6:45 p.m., both in Student Center ballroom. Traditionally, faculty and staff members contribute many of the auction items, which may be turned in to University Ministries.

Nov. 19 will bring a pep talk by Jim Wacker at noon in the Student Center, along with a letter-writing campaign urging U.S. senators and representatives to support measures to help end world hunger. The evening program at 7 p.m. in the Student Center will feature an address, "This World of Ours," by Dr. Haridas T. Muzumdar, who walked with Mahatma Gandhi in 1930 in a prelude to India's non-violent revolution for freedom. Dr. Muzumdar is former chairman of the department of sociology and dean emeritus of arts and sciences at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff. He is director of the Gandhi Institute of America.

ART HOSTS NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Art administrators from throughout the nation will meet in Fort Worth Thursday through Saturday with TCU as host. Conference chairman Ron Watson, chair of art and art history, said some 100 members of the National Council of Art Administrators will attend the annual conference at the Worthington Hotel.

The group will be on campus Friday morning for a continental breakfast, a panel on "Schooling for a Creative Life," moderated by Ron, along with greetings from Chancellor Bill Tucker and a tour of TCU facilities and of the faculty exhibition in Moudy Building Exhibition Hall. At the Kimbell Museum later that day Mark Thistlethwaite of art history will moderate a panel of Fort Worth museum administrators discussing "A Friendly Agreement: Acquisitions of Fort Worth's Art Museums." Mark also will take part on another program dealing with "Teaching from Original Works of Art."

The convention attendees will tour Amon Carter, Fort Worth Art and Kimbell Art Museums as well as William Campbell Contemporary Art in Fort Worth and will travel to Dallas to see the Dallas Museum of Art and the Meadows Museum at SMU. The convention will conclude with an awards banquet Saturday night at the Worthington.

DEPARTMENT PLANS HISTORIC COSTUME LIBRARY

Plans for founding a TCU Historic Costume Library were announced by the design and fashion department during Homecoming weekend. Alumni and friends of the University are invited to contribute garments that will be used for study and research by students in the department.

The first items of clothing in what it is hoped will become a significant collection have been acquired by the department.

"Such a library would provide additional visibility for the University," Margaret said, "while providing a chance for garments of the past to 'come alive' in the present."

Persons interested in taking part in the project should contact Margaret at Ext. 7499.

EDUCATION MAJOR CROWNED QUEEN

Shannon Morgan, senior education major from Fort Worth, was crowned 1987 Homecoming Queen during halftime ceremonies at the Oct. 31 game against Houston. Her escort was Bobby Wilson, senior English major from Overland Park, KS.

Finalists composing the Homecoming court were Heather Masterson, art history senior from Cleburne; Allison Holt, broadcast journalism senior from Corpus Christi; Lacey Payne, elementary education major from Ennis; and Gayla Gamel, education junior from Austin. Escorting them were Hugh Neilson, advertising senior from St. Louis; John Watson, speech communication junior from St. Joseph, MO; Kirk Boyd, marketing senior from Fort Worth; and Wade Jones, finance senior from Abilene.

SWEDISH ORGANIST WILL PLAY MONDAY

Award-winning young Swedish organist Gunnar Idenstam, making his first transcontinental tour of the United States, will play a recital at Ed Landreth Auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday. The program is made possible for TCU and the community by a contribution from Dr. and Mrs. William R. Gardner of Fort Worth.

Idenstam, 26, studied at the State Academy of Music in his native Stockholm and in 1983 received the Master of Fine Arts degree in church music from the Stockholm Conservatory. Winner of French State Cultural Scholarships in 1983-84, he continued organ study in Paris. In 1984 he won the Special Finnish Radio Award at the international organ competition in Lahtis as well as first prize in improvisation at the French Grand Prix de Chartres. His U.S. tour follows an early November recital at London's Royal Festival Hall.

The Monday recital will open with J.S. Bach's Sinfonia in D Major, Cantata 29, followed by Thalben-Ball's Variations on a Theme by Paganini (for pedals alone), Spirits of Europe: Lake District by Bjorn J-Son Lindh and Impromptu, Andantino and Toccata by Louis Vierne. After intermission Idenstam will perform Suite, Op. 5 by M. Durufle; Three Etudes in the Form of Canon by Schumann; and his own Improvisation on a Well-known Melody in the Shape of "Dances from Near and Far."

▲HYPNOTIST TO DEMONSTRATE MIND'S POWER

Gil Eagles, hypnotist, mentalist and motivator, will be presented Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center. Admission is $1 at the door.

Eagles, an award-winning hypnotist, performs as an entertainer and also presents motivational workshops for businesses and salespeople. His performance at TCU is billed as an intense and exciting demonstration of the power of the mind. The event is sponsored by Programming Council's Performing Arts Committee.

'LOOKING THE PART' EVENT TONIGHT

"Looking the Part" is the theme for this evening's fashion show presented by TCU's women athletes. All faculty and staff women are invited to the event, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. in the Lettermen's Lounge of Daniel-Meyer Coliseum, according to basketball coach Fran Garmon.

Designed to offer insights on proper attire and good grooming for college women, the show is sponsored by James K. Wilson Company.

Three TCU alumnae will discuss their experiences, and a multi-media presentation be included in the program. A reception will follow.

CAMPUS EFFORT FOR UNITED WAY SUCCESSFUL

Generous contributions to the United Way by 948 full- and part-time faculty and staff members and 38 retired faculty and staff members resulted in a successful 1987 campus effort. The impressive total figure for retirees was $3,705.50, according to a report by campaign coordinator Larry Lauer.

"We completed our TCU United Way campaign with gifts and pledges of $68,019, a record for us and 4.5 percent above last year," said Chancellor Bill Tucker. "Both the wide participation and the generosity of faculty and staff are striking but certainly not surprising.

"Many thanks to each of you on campus who responded to the needs of dozens of agencies providing essential community services in Fort Worth and Tarrant County," Dr. Tucker added.

STUDENT TO ATTEND CONFERENCE WITH CEOS

Taryn Glivinski, a senior business major, is one of 200 students selected nationwide to attend a conference featuring chief executive officers, presidents and board chairmen from companies including A.G. Edwards, Citicorp Diners Club Inc., Carson Pirie Scott and Co. and Kraft Inc.

"Corporate America in the International Arena" is being held Nov. 8-10 in Chicago. Sponsored by Princeton University's Foundation for Student Communication, the event is the 13th annual Business Tomorrow conference, established to create communication between students and businesspeople. Among the participants are Donald Rumsfeld, former Secretary of Defense and White House chief of staff who currently is senior adviser to William Blair & Company, and Allan Bloom, University of Chicago professor and author of the best-selling "The Closing of the American Mind."

The three-day conference combines an intense schedule of speaker presentations, discussion groups and problem-solving groups to foster interaction between the 200 students and 150 business executives.

Taryn, who danced with the Houston Ballet for two years between high school and college, is earning the Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology and the Master of Business Administration degree. Nominated for TCU Homecoming queen this year, Taryn has served as treasurer for Psi Chi business society and chair of the Performing Arts committee. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, Young Republicans and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

ARMY CHORUS SINGS TOMORROW

A Veterans' Day concert will be presented in the Student Center tomorrow (Wednesday) by the 82nd Airborne Division Chorus from Fort Bragg, NC. The hour-long performance, beginning at 11 a.m., is sponsored by TCU Army ROTC and the Society of Scabbard and Blade. All faculty, staff and students are invited.

MEETING SET ON SEXIST LANGUAGE

Sexist language and sex role stereotyping will be topics of an open forum at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 17 in the Student Center ballroom. Titled "Muffins, Studs, and Humankind: Sexist Language Issues" and sponsored by the Faculty Senate's Select Committee on Sex Discrimination and Harassment, the session will feature expert testimony from Winifred Horner of English.

Win, holder of TCU's Radford Chair of Rhetoric and Composition, developed a course on women and language at the University of Missouri, where she formerly taught. She also chaired that university's Committee on the Status of Women and won its alumni award for her outstanding contribution to the education of women.

The program will be the second in a series of open meetings sponsored by the senate committee and designed to raise awareness of women's issues on campus.

PILGRIM WILL SPEAK ON THURSDAY

The chairman of the sixth largest chicken-producing corporation in the United States will be the special guest of TCU's Master of Business Administration Association for a public program Thursday. Lonnie "Bo" Pilgrim, chairman of Pilgrim's Pride Corporation, will speak about the "mind-boggling difference in life" beginning at 4 p.m. in Room 164S of the Moudy Building. A reception will follow.

From its modest start in 1945 as a family-owned farm supply store in Pittsburg, TX, the business has diversified into a totally integrated poultry company producing 650 million pounds of dressed chicken and 50 million table eggs each year. It now has operations in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

JOURNALISTS TO DEBATE MEDIA ROLE IN PRESIDENCY

National Review publisher William Rusher and investigative columnist Dale VanAtta will debate their widely different views on media involvement in the White House Nov. 17. "The Iran-Contra Affair: The Media and the Presidency" will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom. Admission is $3 for the general public and $1 with TCU ID.

Rusher, chairman of the American Conservative Union, has been a personal confidant of President Ronald Reagan for more than two decades. A widely published columnist, he has a reputation as a premier debater. VanAtta was the first to publish details about the United States' involvement in arms sales to Iran and the diversion of profits to the Contras in Nicaragua. Working with Jack Anderson at the Washington Post, he has frustrated many government employees and agencies with his ability to continually uncover sensitive information. Their debate is sponsored by Programming Council's Forums Committee.

NOTES ON FOLKS

The first three volumes of Southwest Philosophy Review, published by Texas A&M University, recently have appeared. Volume Two (1985) contains refereed articles by GREGG FRANZWA and RICHARD GALVIN (philosophy). Gregg's paper is titled "The Meaning of Individualism in the Modern World," and Richard's is "Tennis Anyone?"--Problem Cases for Formal Universalization Tests." Volume Three (1986) contains SPENCER WERTZ' presidential address, "'Toilet Paper,' a.k.a. Artifactuality and Duchamp's Fountain," which he gave at Rice University in Houston last year.

JOHN LOUD (modern languages) spoke Oct. 27 at Richland Hills Christian Church on "The Russian Orthodox Church."

Research by PATTY BROWN and MARGARET McWHORTER (fashion and design) and MARY ANN GORMAN (nutrition and dietetics) was presented Oct. 24 at the central region meeting of the Association of College Professors of Textiles and Clothing in Detroit. The program was "Apparel Analysis vs. Clothing Construction: Teaching Product Knowledge to Fashion Merchandising Students."

Health- and/or nutrition-related features by MARY HAGER (nutrition and dietetics) are featured in each issue of Les Nouvelles de Saint-Emilion, local French restaurant, to its Country Cuisine customers. In a recent issue she pointed out that more business majors are minoring in nutrition because they anticipate owning a restaurant or food-related business.

"We had a great time and appreciate the effort everyone made to come see us" is the message from the OFFICE OF INSTRUCTIONAL SERVICES following its Oct. 30 open house.

Senate Resolution No. 628 commends MARJORIE MOORE (emeritus, communication pathology) for her service to the community and to the deaf. She was presented a copy of that bill during an Oct. 3 dinner of the Fort Clark Historical Society in Brackettville. Retired since 1976, she is former president of the historical group and is retiring this year as a member of the governing board of the Texas School for the Deaf. Recently the subject of a feature in the Del Rio News Herald, she and her husband, alumnus Walter Moore, live at Air Force Village in San Antonio.

An essay entitled "Laura Ingalls Wilder" by FRED ERISMAN (English) has been printed as a chapter in Writers for Children, a reference work published by Charles Scribner's Sons. The essay gives a brief biography of Wilder, then goes on to consider her "Little House" books as expressions of the Turner frontier hypothesis and the "westering" motif in American life.

CURT WILSON (music) has just learned that his "Zanzibar" jazz suite will be published by William Allen Music of Baltimore and will be available in January. The firm also will use the TCU Jazz Ensemble recording as their demo album. Curt also has been notified that the Arts Council of Fort Worth and Tarrant County has approved a $2,500 grant to help with the Jazz Ensemble's December concert. The grant is the council's third to TCU's jazz program.

DIETETIC SPECIALIST TO BE GUEST

Dr. Susan Himberg of Miami, who directs the coordinated dietetics program at Florida International University, will be a guest of the nutrition and dietetics department tomorrow and Thursday. The purpose of her visit is an evaluation of the dietetics program for both University persons and those in area facilities that host students in training.

Described by the American Dietetics Association as "the most qualified to teach evaluation," Dr. Himberg will speak to classes tomorrow. Thursday afternoon she will conduct a workshop on how to evaluate dietitians for facility staff members. TCU is one of the first universities to conduct such a training session, according to chairperson Nell Robinson.

Dr. Himberg chaired the ADA's in-depth review in dietetics.

FACULTY EXHIBIT OPENS TODAY

When art faculty members combine their talents in one show, the result runs the gamut from paintings and prints to sculpture and photography. Just such a versatile display goes on view in Moudy Building Exhibition Hall today, running through Nov. 25.

Works will include paintings by McKie Trotter and Jim Woodson, ceramics by Kathie Robinson and Beth Thomas, photography by Luther Smith, sculpture by Harry Geffert and Cameron Schoepp, illustrations by Don Puchatz, fashion illustrations by Julienne Murphy, prints by David Conn and Linda Guy and communications graphics by Margie Adkins and Lewis Glaser.

Hours for the show are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. A reception with the artists will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Nov. 17.

ALUMNI PHONOTHON BEGINS TONIGHT

Alumni in Tarrant County will be called this week during an alumni phonothon headed by Steve and Merri Siddons of Granbury. Beginning tonight and continuing through Thursday, the effort is designed to encourage area alumni to take part in the $500,000 Alumni Trustee Challenge as part of this fall's Annual Fund campaign.

Calling is set for 7-8:30 p.m. all three evenings, following a 6 p.m. pizza supper. Faculty and staff members who are alumni are encouraged to take part in the phonothon, which will be held at the Southwestern Bell offices. "By joining us one or more of these nights, alumni can have fun while doing something very worthwhile for their alma mater," said Merri, alumni association vice president for student relations.

Details are available from the development office, Ext. 7800.

TCU IN THE NEWS

The Oct. 11 Dallas Morning News carried a story about the drug abuse grant to be used for an innovative program that will include the first "natural helper" project on a college campus. Quoted in the story were program adviser LORI WEISS and assistant vice chancellor DON MILLS. The Star-Telegram's Northeast EXTRA carried a lengthy story about the drug abuse program in its Oct. 11 issue. The copy was complemented by a photo of Lori. The Star's South/Southwest EXTRA used the feature on the alcohol grant in its Oct. 14-15 edition.

The ethics involved in the recent dismissal of a hospital employee because he was said to carry the AIDS virus was the subject discussed by TED KLEIN (philosophy) for KDFW-TV Oct. 14-15.

New Student Center director LARRY MARKLEY was the subject of a feature that appeared in the Star-Telegram's EXTRA section Oct. 14-15. "Working with students keeps you young," he said in the interview.

The Image section of the Oct. 14 Star-Telegram included photos of several TCU-related persons at the recent TCU Arts Guild brunch at the home of BILL and JEAN TUCKER. Included in the photos were JOE HELMICK and WILMA JEAN TADE (speech communications) and Mrs. Tucker.

Students SUZANNAH HOUSE and SCOTT WILSON are making a name for themselves with their animated TV ad for the Fort Worth Opera. Inspired by the "Hear It Through the Grapevine" raisin figures, the duo spent nine hours rearranging the small figures and photographing them for the TV spot.

The effect of computerized trading was the subject of the Star-Telegram's lengthy feature, "Bull's long journey is over," that quoted STAN BLOCK (business). He also was widely quoted in an Oct. 20 column by Star-Telegram writer Bill Thompson.

The EDUCATIONAL INVESTMENT FUND drew attention from the Star-Telegram Oct. 20 in both the morning and evening paper with its 11 percent loss, which compared outstandingly with the almost 23 percent decline registered on the Dow Jones Industrial Average on "Black Monday." A color photo showed students MIKE WYSONG, CESAR PRIETO, ANDY SLUSHER and CHRIS LEW updating their portfolio.

Alumnus KENT WALDREP, founder/president of the Kent Waldrep National Paralysis Foundation, was the subject of the Dallas Morning News High Profile Oct. 25. The former Horned Frog running back has led a national crusade for more treatment for paralyzed persons since his 1974 injury.

"FW Teacher of the Year strives to be best he can be" was the headline Oct. 25 for the Dallas Morning News feature story on CHARLES REIDL, physics teacher at the High School for Science and Engineering Professions at Dunbar. Currently working on the Ph.D. in physics here, he has been selected as the Fort Worth school district's teacher of the year.
