EAST-WEST TRADE TO BE TANDY EVENT TOPIC

Donald M. Kendall, credited with making Pepsi-Cola the first foreign consumer product sold in the Soviet Union, will be the speaker Feb. 23 for the Tandy American Enterprise luncheon. "Perspectives on East-West Trade" will be his topic.

Part of an ongoing series, the luncheon is sponsored by the Charles Tandy American Enterprise Center of the Neeley School of Business, the David L. Tandy Foundation and the Business Alumni Association Council. The noon event will be at the Fort Worth Club.

From his start with Pepsi-Cola as a fountain syrup salesman after distinguished service as a naval aviator in World War II, Kendall rose to the chairmanship and chief executive position before retiring in 1986. Breaking Eastern trade barriers is among a long list of his accomplishments. He is recognized for building PepsiCo, one of the 50 largest corporations in this country, into the largest multinational producer of soft drinks in the People's Republic of China.

Kendall took PepsiCo products to 140 nations and engineered the merger of Pepsi-Cola and Frito-Lay in 1965 to create PepsiCo Inc. As the world's leading bottler of soft drinks, the biggest salty snack producer and the largest operator/franchiser of restaurants, PepsiCo generated sales of more than $9 billion in 1986.

Inducted into the National Business Hall of Fame last year, Kendall continues his involvement in the US-USSR Trade and Economic Council, Emergency Committee for American Trade, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Center for Resource Recovery. He was the first recipient of the Equal Justice Award presented by the NAACP National Legal Defense and Educational Fund. He was cited for "demonstrating throughout his career a genuine openness of mind, a restless searching for fresh opportunity and a spaciousness of vision often all too rare in the high reaches of corporate life."

Reservations, set at $15 per person, for the luncheon are limited and may be made by calling Ext. 7119.

Following the luncheon, Kendall will give a presentation from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. in Room 105 of Dan Rogers Hall.

LADY FROGS COORDINATE 'WISH' EVENT

The Lady Frogs basketball team found a big "thank you" for their holiday efforts recently in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Cheers and Jeers section. The appreciation came from Pat Skaggs, founder of A Wish With Wings Inc., a group created to give terminally ill children whatever they most wish for.

Coach Fran Garmon had worked with Skaggs' group before, and she felt her basketball team members would be good candidates to coordinate the annual Christmas party Dec. 19. A Dallas company donated decorations, three Fort Worth groups supplied presents, and Clark Dormitory residents gave their decorated tree toward the cause. In all, 53 children took part in the party, held in the Lettermen's Lounge. The children's joy was complete, Fran said, when a professional Santa Claus came and distributed toys the youngsters had asked for earlier.

"It was the best Christmas we could ever have had," Fran said of her team's reaction to the event. "I think we got even more out of it than the kids, just to see how happy they were when they saw Santa coming."

SECOND PROF NAMED OFFICER-OF-QUARTER

Capt. Richard Horton of aerospace studies has been named Company Grade Officer of the Quarter for October-December 1987. He is the second officer from TCU to be so honored in 1987. Capt. Suzette Izac was top officer for April-June.

The award recognizes his performance in organizing last fall's Midwest Area Commandant Commanders' Conference, held Sept. 28-Oct. 1 at the Green Oaks Inn, in addition to performing his regular duties on campus and completing his professional military education by correspondence through the Air Command and Staff College.

Arranging the conference included handling the logistics and protocol challenges surrounding the visit of high-ranking officers from 32 ROTC detachments in 11 states ranging from North Dakota to Louisiana. In addition to arranging the business sessions of the conference, Richard also coordinated entertainment, including a Rangers' game and a golf tournament followed by a barbecue.

'BUYER BEWARE' MORE THAN A SAYING

The old saying of "buyer beware" is more than just words these days, according to controller Larry Calloway, whose admonition is to not be taken in by sales persons soliciting orders for office supplies, copy machine toners and other items while promising gifts in return for orders.

Recently someone representing Superior Supplies has been making calls on campus. "Do not order from them," Larry urged. It is contrary to University policy to buy these types of supplies except through the University store, he explained. TC

FLUTE, ORGAN RECITAL SLATED FEB. 23

John Weaver, who chairs the organ departments at both the Juilliard School and Curtis Institute of Music, will be joined by his flutist wife Marianne in performing the Sue Wheeler Smith Memorial Recital Feb. 23. The free program will begin at 8 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Weaver, director of music at Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York since 1970, was a prodigy who became organist of a Baltimore church and played his first organ recital at the age of 14. A graduate of Curtis Institute, he also holds the Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary.

He has been organist/choir director of the Post Chapel at the U.S. Military Academy and was for 11 years director of music at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in New York, where he founded its well-known Bach Cantata Series.

Mrs. Weaver, who earned music degrees from the University of Wisconsin and from Manhattan School of Music, studied with William Kincaid of the Philadelphia Orchestra and with Jean-Pierre Rampal in France. She has been first flutist of the Holy Trinity Bach Orchestra since its formation in 1968.

Their program will include two works written by John Weaver, Rhapsody for Flute and Organ (dedicated to his wife) and Dialogues for Flute and Organ as well as Concerto No. 2 in A minor by Vivaldi-J.S. Bach, Vincent Persichetti's Sonata for Organ, Op. 86, and Grande Piece Symphonique, Op. 17, by Cesar Franck.

COLLOQUIUM TO HEAR BILL RAY

Bill Ray of urban studies will present a paper on "Landscape and Place Name Relevancy" for the Colloquium on Values and Public Policy at 3:15 p.m. Monday in Student Center Room 218.

Commentary will be by Mike Katovich of sociology and Glenn Kroh of biology before the session is opened for general discussion. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

CHAMBER MUSIC RECITAL IS MONDAY

Members of the music faculty will present a chamber music recital at 8 p.m. Monday 22 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The program will be broadcast live over KTCU-FM, 88.7.

Violinists Jeff Cox and Bette Dyer, cellist Harriet Risk Woldt and Noah Knepper, English horn, will open the program with Adagio K 580a by Mozart, and Jeff and Harriet will be joined by pianist Judith Solomon on Three Nocturnes by Ernest Bloch.

Maurice Ravel's Chanson Madecasses will be sung by soprano Sheila Allen, accompanied by Harriet, Judy and flutist Cynthia Folio. The final number will be Stravinsky's Octet for Wind Instruments, conducted by Bob Blanton and performed by Noah, Cynthia, clarinetist Larry Thompson, bassoonist Ralph Morgan, trumpeters Kerry Hughes and Angela Gipson and trombonists Frank Brown and Richard Dahl.

AUSTIN COLLEGE ARTIST TALKS HERE

The Department of Art and Art History will continue its Metroplex Artist Series today with a lecture by Mark S. Smith, associate professor and interm director of the art history program at Austin College.

"Tenabletense: Finding a position in the compendium of art history" will be the title of his talk at 4 p.m. in Room 132 of Moudy Building North. Smith will show slides and discuss his work in the context of recent art history. The title of his talk partially relates to the title of one of his most recent paintings and alludes to a notion of Art Historical Self Consciousness which he believes permeates so much of recent art.

GRADUATE TO RECEIVE ACHIEVEMENT MEDAL

Paul Hains, a 1987 graduate who served as a recruiter for Army ROTC last fall, has been awarded the Army Achievement Medal for meritorious service. Bruce Stacy of military science presented the medal to him yesterday (Monday) in a ceremony at the Faculty Center.

A second lieutenant, Hains is completing armor officer basic training at Fort Knox, KY. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and a winner of its Undergraduate Achievement Award. He graduated in August with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in marketing. While a cadet he successfully completed Cadet Troop Leadership Course and paratrooper school for the U.S. and Canadian armies.

FINE ARTS GUILD SPONSORS COOKING SCHOOL

Culinary expertise is the goal of the TCU Fine Arts Guild's next fund-raising project, and all TCU folks are welcome. The "Culinary College" cooking demonstration will be taught by caterer Jane Matteson at Plate & Platter, 4808 Camp Bowie at Byers, on Feb. 28-29. Fee is $20, to be donated to the TCU Fine Arts Guild Scholarship. Seating is limited, and reservations may be made by calling 431-1096.

The Feb. 28 session at 3 p.m. will feature preparation of pasta dishes, chicken entrees, a classic cake and a hearty soup stock. On Feb. 29 at 7:30 p.m. Matteson will teach the preparation of a complete dinner buffet, including dessert, that can be served from one plate using one fork.

'SEX AND POWER' IS PROGRAM THEME

"Sex and Power: Ethical Issues in the University" is the topic for a public program Feb. 23, beginning at 3:30 p.m. in Moudy Building 141 North. To focus on ethical issues surrounding amorous relationships between faculty members and students, the event is the third in a continuing series sponsored by the Faculty Senate's Select Committee on Sex Discrimination and Harassment.

Ted Klein of the philosophy department and Nancy Duff of Brite Divinity School will participate as experts on ethics in the academy. Vice chancellor Peggy Barr, recently appointed as sexual harassment officer, will talk about the University's approach to handling charges of discrimination or harassment.

Attention will center on sexual harassment, overt and subtle, that may result from the inherent power imbalance between members of the University community: students and faculty members, staff members and administrators. The panel will discuss offensive classroom behavior and other issues peculiar to the academic setting. Professional and personal responsibility will be weighed against the need for confidentiality.

The program, free and open to the public, will include a question-answer session.

FACULTY ASSEMBLY RESET FOR MARCH 1

The Faculty Assembly postponed in December has been rescheduled for March 1, beginning at 3:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall 1 of the Sid W. Richardson Building. Chancellor Bill Tucker will speak on "The TCU Agenda: Perspectives of the Chancellor."

All full-time faculty are members of the assembly, and part-time faculty and professional staff members are associates, according to chairman Daryl Schmidt. All are invited to the meeting.

FEB. 23 DATE OF LOCAL 'TCU TODAY'

High school students and their parents are being invited to campus Feb. 23 for the annual "TCU Today" program for Fort Worth-area persons. The complimentary dinner will be held in the Student Center ballroom, beginning at 7 p.m. Reservations are due by Friday.

Vice Chancellor Peggy Barr will be master of ceremonies. Speakers will be Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler and Mari Martinez, senior business major from Fort Worth.

The local program is among reception and dinner events being conducted by the admissions office in 26 cities in 16 states. Various aspects of collegiate life, including TCU's role in higher education and academic areas offered, are discussed along with financial aid and admissions procedures. The program also includes an audio-visual presentation.

NOTES ON FOLKS

CYNTHIA FOLIO (music) joined TCU graduates RUBEN TORRES and KAREN EARNEST in performing chamber works from Brazil, Argentina, Peru and Puerto Rico at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Jan. 29. They are members of the chamber group Amistad.

LALONNIE LEHMAN (theatre) served as a judge for the "Design Texas" exhibition at the annual conference of U.S. Institute for Theatre Technology, Texas section, Jan. 29 in Austin. LaLonnie and NANCY McCAULEY (theatre) presented oral critiques of the designs for USITT and Texas Educational Theatre Association conference participants the next day. Nancy was appointed second vice chairman of the Texas section, and freshman theatre major BARRY DOSS earned a certificate of excellence for his costume designs in "Design Texas."

"Sappy Days Are Here Again" is the title of an excerpt from "Presidential Campaigns" by PAUL BOLLER (emeritus, history) included in the February issue of Reader's Digest.

The University Press of New England has just published the second volume of The Diplomatic Papers of Daniel Webster, edited by KEN STEVENS (history). The volume is an edited and annotated collection of historical documents covering Webster's term as secretary of state. Although he is primarily remembered as a constitutional lawyer, Webster served as secretary of state under three presidents and brought a unique legalistic approach to the conduct of American foreign affairs.

JANE KOLAR (design and fashion) has received certification as an interior designer by successfully completing the NCIDQ Exam. Approximately 850 individuals sat for the exam, which 196 of the participants passed. The exam is administered nationally by the National Council of Interior Desig Qualification.

BILL MONCRIEF (marketing) has been informed that his manuscript, "Five Types of Industrial Sales Jobs," has been accepted for publication in Industrial Marketing Management.

Senior FRANCESCA TAYLOR, recipient of a TIME Magazine national achievement award last year, is one of five young women featured in the Winter issue of Delta Journal, the national publication of the social sorority of Delta Sigma Theta. Others featured as "Outstanding Young Deltas" were from California, Michigan, Louisiana and Kansas.

LEE DANIEL (modern languages) participated as a panelist in the 21st annual Comparative Literature Symposium at Texas Tech University. This year's theme was "The Spanish Civil War in Literature." Lee served as discussant for two essays, "The Search for Unity in Leon Felipe's Poetry of the Civil War" and "Hemingway and Picasso: Interlocking Portrayals of the Spanish Civil War."

SPENCER TUCKER (history) has been informed that a paper he read in September at the Eighth Naval History Symposium on the explosion of the "Peacemaker" gun aboard U.S.N. steam sloop Princeton in 1844 is one of 20 papers selected from more than 60 given to be published in the symposium's proceedings.
