KISSINGER TO SPEAK ON CAMPUS MARCH 31

Dr. Henry Kissinger, who served as secretary of state under two presidents during 1973-77, will speak on campus March 31. The public event is being sponsored by Texas American Bank in cooperation with TCU and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The initial event of the newly inaugurated Distinguished Speakers Forum, the program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Faculty and staff members are among those on the invitation list for the event. Tickets for the presentation are priced at $15 each, excepting a limited reserved section for which they will be $25 each. On a first-come, first-served basis, these can be ordered from Distinguished Speakers Forum, Texas American Bank, Box 2050, Fort Worth 76113. Checks should be made payable to the Distinguished Speakers Forum.

Praised as "one of the most brilliant secretaries of state in the history of the United States," Dr. Kissinger also was assistant to the president for national security affairs for six years. He was a consultant to the White House during the Kennedy administration and the Department of State during the Johnson administration.

Currently chairman of the international consulting firm of Kissinger Associates Inc., Dr. Kissinger was appointed in 1983 by President Reagan to chair the National Bipartisan Commission on Central America. His continuing involvement in both domestic and international affairs has led to his popularity as a speaker throughout the world.

Since leaving the State Department, Dr. Kissinger has held Georgetown University positions as University Professor of Diplomacy in its School of Foreign Service and counselor to its Center for Strategic and International Studies. Earlier in his career he directed the Harvard International Seminar and was a member of the faculty of that institution's government department and Center for International Affairs from 1954 to 1969.

Dr. Kissinger received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1973. Among his other honors are the Presidential Medal of Freedom, this nation's highest civilian award, in 1977 and the Medal of Liberty in 1986.

He serves as a director of the Foreign Policy Association, member of the Council on Foreign Relations and as counselor of the Chase Manhattan Bank and member of its international advisory committee. His other activities include serving as board chairman of International House, contributing analyst for ABC News, director of American Express Company and trustee of both the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Born in Fuerth, Germany, Dr. Kissinger became a naturalized U.S. citizen in 1943 and served in the Army for three years. He was graduated with honors from Harvard College in 1950 and completed the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Harvard University in 1952 and 1954.

Dr. Kissinger is the author of numerous works, including "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," "White House Years," "Years of Upheaval" and "Observations: Selected Speeches and Essays, 1982-1984." He also has published articles on this country's foreign policy, international affairs and diplomatic history.

STUDENT TICKETS AVAILABLE THROUGH LOTTERY

A limited number of tickets will be available for students at $3 each, thanks to an anonymous donor who has subsidized the price for 400 tickets, said Laura Puckett of Student Activities. The tickets will be distributed through a lottery.

Details of the lottery have yet to be made final, but students will have one week in which to add their names to the lottery list. They must present a valid TCU ID card in order to sign up. Details of the lottery will be announced through the TCU Bulletin and the Daily Skiff when final.

'PAVING THE WAY' INFORMATION AVAILABLE

"The Target Middle Schools: Keeping the Options Open" may sound like a premature project for an inter-associational group of college admissions, financial aid and high school guidance counselors. Being implemented in middle schools this semester, the nationwide project is designed to encourage, educate and support students and parents planning ahead for college. Video-tapes and workbooks are available from the National Institute of Independent Colleges and Universities.

Information on the project, known as "Paving the Way," for eighth graders is available from Charleen Hayes McGilvray in the admissions office. She was a member of a professional panel discussing the effort on Feb. 4 at Grapevine Middle School.

SPRING DANCE CONCERT OPENS FRIDAY

Choreography by Li-Chou Cheng, newly named principal teacher at the Boston School of Ballet, will highlight the spring dance concert Friday through Sunday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Performances will be at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday.

"Mettre Lumiere," choreographed by Cheng while he was guest artist-in-residence here in the fall, will feature 12 dancers in an abstract visual prayer to the strains of Adagio in G minor for Strings and Organ by Tommaso Albinoni. The solo dancer's role will be shared by two ballet majors, Tamera Anderson of Deer Park and Susan Stubbs of Sarasota, FL. The piece reflects the choreographer's spiritual sensitivities toward Christian worship. Cheng, who for 20 years was principal dancer with the Peking (now Beijing) Opera Ballet, recently has been associate professor of ballet at the University of Utah and artist-in-residence at Arizona State University.

Dancers will shift to the contemporary style in "Timesteps," choreographed by Thomas Enckell to the electronic score of the same name by Walter and Wendy Carlos. Graduate student Monica Gradante will be featured in the 11-woman ballet. "Timesteps," a work about evolution, was premiered by the Omaha Ballet in 1977 and has been successfully repeated in subsequent seasons. Thomas, who is teaching at TCU this year, has danced with the Metropolitan Opera Ballet, has been soloist with Finland's National Ballet and principal dancer with Manhattan Festival Ballet, Malmoe Stadsteatern in Sweden and the Omaha Ballet.

The modern dance "Pange Lingua" (speak, tongue) has been choreographed by faculty member Michael Kelly Bruce to five sections of Josquin Des Prez's 16th-Century Gregorian mass, Missa Pange Lingua. The choreography reflects the meditative chant-like quality of the music while creating its own place in time.

Set to three poems by Robert Penn Warren, "Point of Departure" was choreographed by modern dance faculty member Susan Douglas Roberts. Stage design is by artist Joe Guy. The poems, explained Susan, serve as a point of departure for ideas and images to be realized in movement.

"Reflexions" is a modern work set to selections from J.S. Bach's Art of the Fugue. Arrangements for cello provide a lush setting for the introspective mood of the choreography by assistant professor Ellen Page Garrison.

JUST A REMINDER...

...of today's (Tuesday) faculty assembly, beginning at 3:30 p.m. in SWR Lecture Hall 1. With "The TCU Agenda: Perspectives of the Chancellor" as his topic, Chancellor Bill Tucker will discuss the institution's current state and steps necessary for moving into the next decade, as he focuses on curricular matters and budget priorities. All faculty and professional staff members are encouraged to attend.

DALLAS DESIGNERS TO TEACH 5 CLASSES

Six well-known Dallas designers will conduct five classes this spring at the Communication Arts Center, designed for the continuing education of advertising and graphic design professionals in the Dallas area under TCU's sponsorship.

Two of the eight-week courses will be offered on Mondays from 7 to 9:30 p.m., beginning March 7. These are:

- Marketing Yourself, taught by David Carter, founder-president of David Carter Design Associates, a Dallas-based firm specializing in national and international hotel and resort graphic arts;
- The Elements of Copywriting, led by Mark Perkins, co-founder of Sullivan Perkins, 14-member group that handles design, writing assignments and advertising.

Meeting on Tuesday evenings, beginning March 8, will be:

- Advertising Concepts, conducted by John L. Crawley, vice president and associate creative director with Bozell, Jacobs, Kenyon and Eckhardt in Dallas;
- Graphic Design, led by Chris Rovillo, principal in the firm of Richards Brock Miller Mitchell and Associates.

These four courses will be conducted at InfoMart.

The fifth offering will be Computer Graphics/Illustration, which will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. at The Rush Imagination Center at 4514 Travis St. One section will be conducted on March 10, 17 and 24, while another will be held April 14, 21 and 28. Teaching this class will be Victoria Clarey, coordinator of the Rush Center's computer graphics area; Don Ivan Puchatz, award-winning illustrator and adjunct professor at TCU; and Rovillo.

The Communication Center was inaugurated last fall in response to a concern on the part of experienced professionals for young designers who needed more work on their portfolios. Sponsored by the art and art history department and the extended education office, the program of regular evening classes taught by professional graphic designers marked the first time the University had conducted an ongoing academic program in Dallas.

Applications for the spring courses, now being accepted, may be requested by contacting the extended education office, Ext. 7134. Tuition for each course is $225; computer graphics study also will have a $70 lab fee.

MARCH SCHEDULE SET FOR "PROFILE TCU"

Topics discussed on "Profile TCU" this month will range from jazz to criminal justice. The March schedule for the weekly radio program, which airs Sunday at 12:30 p.m. on KTCU-FM, 88.7, is as follows:

- March 6, Curt Wilson (music) discussing the upcoming Band Festival;
- March 13, Judy Alter (TCU Press);
- March 20, Don Frischmann (modern languages) introducing Yucatan-Mayan Culture Week;
- March 27, Bill Head (criminal justice).

PHYSICIST TO SPEAK ON HALLEY'S COMET

Dr. Donald Ramsay, principal research officer at the Herzberg Institute of Astrophysics at the National Research Council of Canada, will present a public lecture on "Comet Halley" while on campus March 7-9 as Visiting Green Professor in the physics department.

His public lecture, co-sponsored by Sigma Xi, will be March 8 at 7:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall 4 of the Sid Richardson Building. He will make two other presentations while on campus. On March 7 he will give an historical account of spectroscopy, a technique that reveals characteristics of atoms and molecules through their interaction with light. Titled "Spectroscopy: From Newton to the Present Day," the talk will range over important developments including the introduction of quantum theory and the advent of the laser and current spectroscopic techniques.

On March 9 he will lecture on his field of research, "The Spectra of Free Radicals." Both talks will be at 3:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall 4 and will be preceded by coffee in Sid Richardson Room 313.

Former head of the spectroscopy section at the NRCC, Ramsay is distinguished in the field of molecular spectroscopy. His research has made major contributions to the understanding of the structure and spectra of molecules important to processes occurring on earth and in space. He has authored numerous papers on transient molecules, known as free radicals.

In addition to numerous awards, honors and honorary degrees, Ramsay is a member of the Royal Society (London) and the Royal Society of Canada. He earned his doctoral degree from Cambridge University.

POWELL SHOW OPENS TONIGHT

"At an Equal Distance," an installation of large stoneware sculpture by Chris Powell, will be on view in Brown-Lupton Student Center Gallery today (Tuesday) through March 18.

Opening reception will be from 4 to 6 p.m. today, and subsequent hours will be 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Chris, a technical assistant in the art and art history department, holds the Bachelor of Fine Arts from Abilene Christian University and the Master of Fine Arts from Bradley University in Illinois.

His recent awards include an installation grant from Connemara Sculpture Center in Dallas, best of show in Texas Sculpture Association "Excellence '87" at the Plaza of Americas in Dallas and the Anne Giles-Kimbrough Award from Dallas Museum of Art in 1987. He also earned first place in the 1984 Art in the Metroplex show juried by Robert Murdock. His work is shown at Fort Worth Gallery and also was selected last year for the Texas Annual at Laguna Gloria Art Museum in Austin and for the Texas Sculpture Symposium in San Antonio.

GIFTS TOTAL $7,203,887 THROUGH DECEMBER

Gifts to TCU for the current fiscal year through December reached a total of $7,203,887. Contributing significantly to that figure were 2,129 gifts amounting to $4,289,490 for December alone, according to Vice Chancellor Paul Hartman's recent report to the trustee development committee.

The Annual Fund for TCU gained strength as the impact of the Alumni Trustee Challenge continued to grow. Unrestricted and budget-supporting gifts during December totaled $832,304, bringing the Annual Fund gifts for the year to $1,752,763.

Alumni gifts to the Annual Fund totaled $644,487 at the end of December, the report shows. Former students now have earned $339,797 of the $500,000 offered as a challenge by alumni trustees. This includes:

- $2 for $1 match of gifts by 321 first-time alumni contributors for $41,580;
- $1 for $1 match for 566 alumni who increased their gifts for a total of $72,173;
- $2 for $1 match of 78 alumni whose increased gifts moved them up to the next gift recognition level for a total of $143,158;
- $1 for $1 match of 581 alumni who increased their gifts for $82,886.

ALLEN SETS SWC INDOOR RECORD

A new Southwest Conference indoor record was set by Flyin' Frog Tony Allen when he "streaked to an incredible 46.67 seconds" in 400-meter competition during the SWC Indoor Track Meet recently at Tarrant County Convention Center. His speed was the fastest ever by a conference quartermiler. To date the junior from Jasper has qualified for the NCAA championships in both the 1200 and the 400.

A number of Frogs were in the listings following the meet. Roscoe Tatum and Greg Sholars came in sixth and seventh, respectively, in the 55-meter event, and Greg was in fifth place in the 200 meters. Jody Reynolds' 56-6 3/4 toss of the shot set a Frog record and earned him fifth-place honors, the first recognition for TCU in a number of years in this event. These, coupled with fifth in the 1600-meter relay and fifth in the 3200-meter relay, gave the Frogs 31 total points for seventh place in the nine-team meet.

In women's competition, Debra Devine took seventh spot in the 800 meters. Lisa Ford, former state sprint champion from Poly high, came in second in the 200 meters for a school record and qualification for the NCAA tourney. Rebecca Allison took second-spot honors in the mile with 4:47.49, just missing the NCAA requirement of 4:45.60. The Lady Frogs' mile relay team of Ford, Michelle Stewart, Karen Spears and Vonda Morgan clocked 3:44.27 for second place, barely missing the 3:44.14 needed for NCAA qualification. The women placed third in the 3200-meter relay, second in 1600 relay and sixth overall with 32 points.

SYMPHONY TO PLAY MONDAY

The University Symphony and baritone Arden Hopkin will present a TCU Music Series concert at 8 p.m. March 7 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The program also will be broadcast live over KTCU-FM, 88.7.

Directed by Candler Schaffer, the symphony will open with Symphony No. 2 (Romantic) by Howard Hanson and also will play Claude Debussy arrangements of Erik Satie's Gymnopedies Nos. 1 and 3. Arden, director of TCU's Opera Workshop, will sing Hai gia vinta la causa!; Vedro mentre sospiro from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart and Don Quichotte a Dulcinne, three poems by Paul Morand which were set to music by Maurice Ravel.

SHOW OF ACRYLIC WORKS OPENS MONDAY

Paintings that hark back to her growing-up years in Oklahoma will be shown by Sally Crain as part of her Master of Fine Arts thesis exhibition Monday through March 12 in Moudy Building Exhibition Hall. Her show will open with a 5 to 7 p.m. reception Monday, and subsequent hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 12.

Mrs. Crain, who will earn her master's degree in May, the same month her daughter graduates from college, is assistant professor of art at Tennessee Technological University, on professional leave since 1986 to complete her TCU degree. She also has been director and academic director of the Appalachian Center for Crafts and a member of the art faculty at Cadek Conservatory of the University of Chattanooga.

Made up predominantly of acrylic on canvas paintings of windows, thresholds and spaces, the Crain showing also includes a 17-foot sculpture that incorporates in three-dimensional form the architectural ideas of her paintings. Of sentimental appeal is a set of 16 paintings, each 30 by 40 inches, mounted side by side on a wall of the exhibition hall as a depiction of the home where she grew up. Unable to find a photograph of the house, Mrs. Crain re-created it from a drawing she made at the age of ten.

BOOK FAIR STARTS SATURDAY

The annual Book Fair, sponsored by the Fort Worth section of the National Council of Jewish Women, will be held from Saturday through March 10 in the Small Exhibits Building at the Will Rogers Complex.

Open from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, the Book Fair calls for $1 admission on opening weekend and is free during the following week. Other hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. March 7-9 and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. March 10. First editions, rare and unusual books will be auctioned beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday, with Keith Odom of English serving as auctioneer.

STORM DRAIN WORK IS PROGRESSING

Work is progressing on the TCU channel improvements that are designed to halt serious flooding problems around Amon Carter Stadium. H. B. Zachry Inc. is building the TCU-Colonial storm drain, and the Stadium to Bellaire Drive project is a portion of the major repair undertaking. Included in the work will be a line of trenches along Stadium and Bellaire drives ranging from seven to 19 feet deep. Closing some street areas is required to prevent possible injuries to students and motorists.

As announced by Gary Santerre, Fort Worth's director of transportation and public works, the city will close Stadium Drive from its 2800 block to Bellaire Drive North beginning March 26 and Bellaire Drive from Stadium to Odessa beginning May 7 to make way for building storm drains. April 29 is the anticipated date for reopening Stadium Drive and June 5 for Bellaire, according to Santerre.

Although not completed, work around Daniel-Meyer Coliseum should be far enough along so that parking will be available for graduation May 7, according to physical plant director Bob Haubold. The channel project is expected to be completed by June 3.

SWC CAGE TOURNEY STARTS MARCH 9

"Spring Break '88" is the theme for the Southwest basketball tournament for men and women that begins March 9 in Dallas as well as for other events associated with the SWC Basketball Classic XIII. The four-day schedule is billed as "more than just great basketball...it's a celebration."

Moody Coliseum at Southern Methodist University will be the site of the women's competition, beginning March 9 with the first round set for 6 p.m. Semifinals on March 10 will be at 6 and 8 p.m. The championship round will begin at 2 p.m. March 12.

The men's competition in Reunion Arena will begin March 11 with games set at noon, 2, 7 and 9 p.m. The semifinals will be at 6 and 8 p.m. March 12, and the championship game will be at 3 p.m. March 13.

Other "Spring Break '88" events will be a 4 p.m. picnic and Battle of the Bands at the Hyatt Water Gardens on March 11 and Battle of University Bands there March 12 from 4 to 6 p.m. Free Elvin Hayes basketball clinics are set for 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. March 12. The Hyatt Water Gardens will be the site of a noon to 3 p.m. picnic March 13.

Tickets for the women's tournament are priced at $5 for adults and $3 for students; a $1-per-ticket discount applies for groups of 10 or more. Additional ticket information is available by calling (214) 637-HOOP, according to Michelle Walker of the SWC basketball tournament's board of directors.

NOTES ON FOLKS

The continuing activities in musical composition by RALPH GUENTHER (emeritus, music) have been noted in the winter edition of PAN PIPES. This issue, published by the national music sorority Sigma Alpha Iota, is devoted annually to accounts of composition, performance and publication of new music by American composers. Among the 210 composers noted, TCU was additionally represented by two of Ralph's former students in composition: ANDY PATTERSON of Hardin-Simmons University and GLENN SPRING of Walla Walla College, WA. Ralph has been a regular entry in this publication since 1957.

DON FRISCHMANN (modern languages) attended round table meetings with the Association of Latin American New Theatre Researchers at Tufts University Jan. 29-31; their purpose was to advance collaborative research projects for the spring 1988 semester. Also, his essay entitled "Mexico 1986: National Dramaturgy, Review Theatre, and the Chicano Festival" appeared in Diogenes: Anuario Critico del Teatro Latinoamericano 1986 (Vol. II).

The journal Magnetic Resonance in Chemistry has published an article by BILL SMITH and BILL WATSON (chemistry) based on a study carried out by X-ray crystallography, NMR spectroscopy and theoretical calculations on a class of natural toxins frequently found in animal feedstocks. That article was followed by a second on an unrelated topic authored by Bill Smith; two other articles by Bill Smith have been published recently--one in collaboration with Polish and English scholars appeared in the Bulletin of the Polish Academy of Sciences and one in Journal of Organic Chemistry with doctoral graduate BRAD MERCER. An article in the same issue was authored by MANFRED REINECKE and graduate student SHERWOOD BROWN.

Director of bands BOB BLANTON served as conductor of the Texas Junior College All-State Band at the recent Texas Music Educators convention/clinic in San Antonio. Bob rehearsed with the group for three days, then presented a concert for the convention Feb. 12.

BILL MONCRIEF (marketing) and Sandy Hart of Texas Wesleyan have been informed that their paper, "An Empirical Investigation of Salespeople's Performance, Effort and Selling During a Sales Contest," has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Academy of Marketing Sciences.

CYNTHIA FOLIO (music) was guest speaker for the Euterpean Club Feb. 10 as part of the organization's program series, "Parade of American Music." Cynthia's topic was "Nationalism in American Music."

The Vincent Bach Corporation of Elkhart, IN, has invited KERRY HUGHES (adjunct, music) to become a national trumpet artist/clinician for the firm, a highly respected manufacturer of brass instruments. In January Kerry presented guest master classes and brass clinics at Emporia State University and at Northeast Missouri State University. On Feb. 20 he was adjudicator for this region's University Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contest at NISU.

ANN KIRKHAM (nursing) was the guest speaker at the downtown United Methodist Church women's general meeting in February. Her topic was "Holistic Health."

EMERITUS HISTORY PROFESSOR DIES

Nevin Neal, associate professor of history from 1959 until his retirement in 1981, died Thursday at his home after a long illness. Nevin established the History Fair at TCU and headed that program until he retired.

Born in Arkansas, he earned his bachelor's degree with honors at Hendrix College and received his M.A. from Vanderbilt before entering the Army. He later did graduate study at the University of Missouri and earned the Ph.D. from the University of Oklahoma.

Nevin served in the U.S. Infantry from 1940 to 1946, the first four years on active duty in Alaska. As a colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve, he directed command and general staff courses in the reserve training program in Fort Worth. He received the Legion of Merit Award in 1971 before retiring from the Army reserve the next year.

Before joining the TCU faculty, Nevin had taught in junior high school at Conway, AR, had supervised cadet training at Hendrix College, had been a faculty member and assistant dean at the University of Tulsa as well as an account executive with Ross-Martin Company in Tulsa.

A member of Westcliff United Methodist Church, he had served on its board and had taught an adult Sunday school class there. Nevin also had been active in the United Way as a loaned executive in 1963, a section leader in 1964 and an assistant division leader the next year. He served as a district commissioner for the Boy Scouts of America's Longhorn Council from 1961-68.

Nevin, immediate past president of the TCU Retirees Association, was president of the Tarrant County Historical Society from 1963 to 1965 and served on its board in 1966. He also had been a member of Southwestern Social Science Association, Personnel Management Club of Fort Worth, Alpha Chi, Phi Alpha Theta, Delta Sigma Pi and the Western History Association.

Survivors include his wife, Frances; three sons, Ronald, Robert and David; and several grandchildren.
