NINE TO BE HONORED AT ALUMNI EVENT

Distinguished professional careers, notable civic leadership and service to TCU by nine persons will be recognized publicly Saturday at the 13th annual TCU alumni awards dinner. Recipients honored will be Betty Lynn Buckley of New York City; Mabel Clark Reed of Austin; Jeff Horn, Dr. and Mrs. Granville Walker and Mrs. James L. West, all of Fort Worth; Tommy R. Kimbrough of Plano; and William Ross Kennedy Jr. of Canton, MO. Also to be recognized is Lindy Berry of Fort Worth, who currently heads the TCU Alumni Association.

The black-tie event will be held at The Worthington Hotel, beginning with a 7:15 p.m. reception. Making presentations following the dinner will be Chancellor Bill Tucker. Master of ceremonies will be Stephen Christie, alumni association president-elect.

Miss Buckley, Class of 1968 member, will receive the distinguished alumnus award in recognition of a career that has achieved prominence and brought credit to both the recipient and the University. Currently appearing in the Roman Polanski movie "Frantic," she won a Tony Award for her role as Grizabella in "Cats" and was an Emmy nominee for the after-school special "Bobby and Sarah." On Broadway she recently starred in Andrew Lloyd Webbers' "Song and Dance" and in the Shakespeare Festival's "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." Miss Buckley appeared in such movies as "Tender Mercies" and "Carrie." On television she is best known for her portrayal of Abby on the "Eight Is Enough" series. She will appear in the musical version of "Carrie," due to open soon on Broadway.

The valuable alumna award for outstanding and continuing service to TCU and its alumni association will be presented to Mrs. Reed, a board of trustees member since 1977. She was graduated in 1926, becoming the first female to earn a degree in business administration at TCU. She was married to Warren Clark, nephew of TCU's founding brothers Addison and Randolph Clark, and, after his death, to Hiram Reed, son of TCU trustee Dave Reed, for whom a major campus building is named. A number of TCU scholarship programs bear Mrs. Reed's name.

Jeff, who retired in 1984 after 28 years on the School of Education faculty, will receive the honorary alumnus award in recognition of service, loyalty and support of the University. Holder of bachelor's degrees from Texas A&M University and Centenary College and the master's and Ph.D. from the University of Texas, the retired Army lieutenant colonel is past president of the Tarrant County Teachers Association, TCU chapter of Phi Delta Theta honor society, Fort Worth Area Reserve Officers Association and Austin Teachers Association. A TCU scholarship fund for graduate education bears his name.

The Royal Purple Award in recognition of extraordinary service and support of TCU will be presented to Dr. and Mrs. Walker. Members of the Class of 1935, each holds two earned degrees from TCU, and he was awarded the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree in 1947. Minister of University Christian Church for 30 years before retiring in 1973, Dr. Walker chaired TCU's religion department before going to Yale University for the Ph.D. degree. Past president of the international and Texas conventions of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), he has been a member of TCU's board of trustees since 1945 and serves on the board of Brite Divinity School.

Mrs. Walker was ordained in 1937 and is known nationally for her teaching and lecturing on the role of ministers' wives. Past president of the Texas Ministers' Wives Association and the TCU Woman's Club, she has been honored for her service by such churches as National City Christian in Washington, DC, Country Club Christian in Kansas City and Fort Worth's University Christian.

Known for her lifelong philanthropy and her involvement with the James L. and Eunice West Charitable Trust since her husband's death, Mrs. West will receive the alumni association's special award in recognition of her interest in the University. Last year she was honored as distinguished philanthropist for "her willingness to share and her delight in being able to help others" by the Greater Fort Worth Chapter of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives. A TCU scholarship fund was established earlier by Mr. and Mrs. West.

The Frog o' Fame honor for accomplishments in sports will be presented to Kimbrough, whose Plano High Wildcats were named the No. 1 high school football team in America in 1987. Graduated from TCU in 1968, the Valley Mills native was chosen Texas High School Coach of the Year in 1977 and again in 1987, when he also was named as the nation's high school coach of the year. Kimbrough-coached teams have won three of four state championship games, and the Plano team is the only one to win back-to-back state titles in the last 20 years. Associated with Plano athletics for 20 years, 12 as head football coach, he has a coaching record of 133-19-6, the best winning percentage in Texas.

Kennedy, currently working toward an M.B.A. degree, will receive the Distinguished Student Award, based on both academic accomplishments and service to the University. A tutor in the economics department, he is president of TCU's chapter of Mortar Board. He is active in Student Foundation and the national phonathon, admissions committee and good neighbor program of the TCU Annual Fund. Former president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Kennedy has been named to the Dean's Honor List for academic accomplishments and was chosen for listing in Outstanding Young Men in America last year.

Recipient of the president's service award, Berry is vice president and general manager of Steamatic Inc. Consensus all-Southwest Conference selection in 1948 and 1949, he was captain of the team as a senior and has been president of the TCU Letterman's Association.

Service awards for their roles as alumni association directors will be given to William C. Ferebee and Ann Davis Gray of Houston, Donald Pierson II and Alan Winter of Fort Worth.

Reservations at $35 per person are due tomorrow (Wednesday) to the alumni office, Box 32921.

SMITH, HUGHES CONCERT IS MONDAY

Herndon Professor of Organ Emmet Smith and Kerry Hughes, trumpet instructor, will play a TCU Music Series recital at 8 p.m. Monday in Robert Carr Chapel.

The program will include Prelude to "Te Deum" for Trumpet and Organ by Marc-Antoine Charpentier, Bach's Prelude and Fugue in C Minor, Toccata for Trumpet and Organ by Giambattista Martini, Etude: Canon in B Major by Schumann, Giuseppe Torelli's Concerto in D Major for Trumpet and Organ, Chorale in A Minor by Cesar Franck, excerpts from Sept Chorals pour Trompette by Jean Langlais and John Stanley's Trumpet Voluntary in D Major.

Emmet performs internationally, most recently playing recitals at Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris and at the Kreuzberg International Organ Festival in Bonn, West Germany. Kerry has played with the Dallas Chamber Orchestra, the Joffrey Ballet, Fort Worth Opera, Dallas Wind Symphony, Denton Bach Society and the Richardson Symphony.

SEVEN RECEIVE NOEL BAILEY AWARDS

Seven students are recipients of Noel R. Bailey Scholarships in special education for 1988-89. As announced by Starpoint director Laura Lee Crane, each award covers six hours' course work during the coming academic year.

Recipients are Edith Lynn Byrd, Kimberly Jo Isaac, Kris Diane Larson, Louisa Marie Neenan and Terri Rae Saathoff, all of Fort Worth. Others are April Corinne Green of Arlington and Jamie Lynn Schubert of Grapevine.

Established in 1978 by Dr. and Mrs. Bailey of Fort Worth, the Bailey Fund provides assistance to students seeking endorsement in the special education area of mental retardation. Recipients are pursuing their studies through Starpoint School.

SATURDAY BRINGS FROG FEST

Frog Fest, TCU's annual spring happening, will be held from 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday on the lawn in front of Reed, Sadler and Clark halls. All proceeds will be donated to the American Diabetes Association.

Sponsored by the TCU Bookstore and the Recreational Sports Department, Frog Fest includes a 5K fun run, bed races, volleyball, 3-on-3 basketball, pie eating, Simon Says, a dunking booth, tug of war, Frisbee golf, a cake toss, twister, an egg toss and other events.

Closing the afternoon's events, a band and comedian will be presented on the Student Center porch. Additional information is available from recreational sports, Ext. 7945.

CADETS WIN RANGER CHALLENGE

Nine Army ROTC cadets narrowly defeated Texas A&M for the second time this school year and took top honors at the March 19-20 regional Ranger Challenge competition. The cadets beat all opponents at a two-day marathon of rigorous events such as a 10 kilometer march in full rucksack and an all-night patrol.

Held at Fort Riley, KS, the competition pitted champion teams from nine states against one another in eight events. In addition to the march and patrol, events included the Army physical fitness test, grenade throw, weapons assembly, land navigation, target shooting and building and crossing a one-rope bridge. The events began Saturday morning, continued throughout the night and ended Sunday with the 10K march.

As the march began, TCU was neck-and-neck with Texas A&M, who had placed second behind TCU in a state competition in November. For TCU to win, it had to finish the march first and Texas A&M had to finish third. Bruce Stacy of military science reported that TCU's cadets crossed the finish line "like a unit"--in step, chanting and with rifles held high. When second-place Texas A&M was forced to halt and regroup because team members had dropped their rifles, another team passed, leaving A&M with a third-place finish in the march and a second-place finish overall. TCU won the competition by one point.

Team captain was Brian Foley, senior finance major from Lawton, OK. Other team members were Larry Lewis, a junior political science major from Fort Worth; Michael Petty, senior speech communication major from Cleburne; Geoffrey Ballou, sophomore business premajor, and Troy Neasbitt, junior political science major, of Arlington; Jon Hayhurst, senior economics major from Amarillo; Gary "Chip" Balk, sophomore premajor from Nevada, MO; Dirk Plante, junior physics major from Edgewood, MD; and Ward Ferguson, freshman premajor from Thousand Oaks, CA.

TCU FILMS INCLUDED IN EXHIBITION

A wide array of Texas films--two of them from TCU--will be included in the 1988 Texas Film and Video Makers Exhibition, scheduled April 15-17 as part of this year's Main St. Fort Worth Arts Festival. Free and open to the public, the showings will be held from 1 to 10 p.m. in the Caravan of Dreams Theatre.

The new exhibition is sponsored by Southwest Public Communications in cooperation with TCU's Gwendolyn P. Tandy Memorial Film Library and the Caravan of Dreams. The program is made possible in part by the Southwest Film/Video Tour, a program coordinated by the Southwest Alternate Media Project (SWAMP) with partial funding from the Texas Commission for the Arts.

Two of the films--"Lili" and "Wishes"--to be shown during the exhibition are from TCU's Tandy Memorial Film Library, a gift to the University from the Jesse Upchurch family and the Benjamin F. Johnson Foundation in memory of Mrs. Upchurch's mother. Curator of the library is John Freeman of radio-TV-film.

A 28-minute documentary about internationally famed pianist Lili Kraus, "Lili" was directed by Ken Harrison and Mitchell Johnson. The late Madame Kraus, former artist-in-residence at TCU, gained international fame in the 1930s, spent much of World War II incarcerated in a Japanese prison camp and rebuilt her career to even greater worldwide acclaim during the next three decades.

The 60-minute film entitled "Wishes" is the work of Fort Worth native David Allan Hall, who was graduated from TCU last December. It is the story of a college-age cartoonist who lives out his fantasies from the confinement of a wheelchair by making his cartoons come alive.

Preliminary schedule for the film/video exhibition is as follows:

	FRIDAY	SATURDAY	SUNDAY
1:00	Wishes (:60)
2:05	ArtsEye (:28)
2:40	Hip Pocket: On Exhibit at the Kimbell (:25)
3:10	Por Un Amor (:27)
3:45	Speed Street--Take One (:17)
4:10	MTVs (:13)
4:30	King Bacon (:10)
4:45	Greatest Cowgirl Who Ever Lived (:16)
5:05	Texas Style (:28)
5:40	Gimbell's Swing (:28)
6:15	Laura Gilpin: An Enduring Grace (:28)
6:50	Lili (:28)
7:30	Legacies (:58)	Russell Lee (:58)	Wildcatter (:58)
8:30	Moses (:58)	Ornette (:80)	Hester St. (:58)

Additional information is available by calling Sherrie Drakeford at 336-0777.

ADMISSIONS WILL HONOR WINNERS

Winners of the 37th annual Fort Worth Regional Science Fair, planned for April 19-24 in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum, will be honored at an April 23 luncheon hosted by the admissions office.

During the noon event in Student Center's Woodson Room, winners, their parents and teachers will have opportunity to meet members of the University's science faculty and student body as well as science fair organizers from various science-related professions.

More than 1,100 persons are expected to participate in the fair, which will be open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. April 19-23 and noon to 8 p.m. April 24. Biologist Wayne Barcellona is coordinating the public event.

NEW STAFF, FACULTY APPOINTMENTS

Sales representative with Century Papers Inc. since 1981, RUSSELL GRAY assumed his position as assistant director of facility services on April 1. The Florida native holds the B.A. degree from Florida State and the M.Div. from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He formerly was personnel director for Riegel Paper Corporation and Mercy Hospital, both in Charlotte, NC.

CHARLENE URWIN, who came to TCU in 1984 after six years on the North Texas State faculty, has accepted a three-year appointment, effective in the fall, as director of the social work program. Holder of a child welfare grant-scholarship while working on the Ph.D. at the University of Texas, she is active in the National Association of Social Work Council on Social Work Education.

JOHN TOULIATOS, currently engaged in research to identify family measurement techniques, will become chairman of the family studies and home economics department with the opening of the fall semester. Holder of three degrees from the University of Houston, he headed the family and child development department at Auburn University before coming to campus in 1978.

President of Palmer Architects Inc. since 1975, DONALD PALMER assumed his position as director of facilities planning on March 28. He previously was a partner in the firms of Palmer, Jekel & Associates and Smith, Palmer & Jekel for four years. He is active in the American Institute of Architects, the Fort Worth AIA chapter and the Texas Society of Architects.

SHERILYN JONES, who became associate director of financial analysis in the finance and planning division on April 4, formerly was senior auditor with Arthur Young for three years before being named controller of the van division of Builders Transport Inc. Holder of the B.B.A. degree from the University of Texas at Arlington, she received her Certified Public Accountant rating in 1984 and is active in the Texas Society of CPAs.

OPTICS EXPERT TO LECTURE MONDAY

Dr. Y.R. Shen, professor of physics at the University of California at Berkeley and an expert on nonlinear optics, will be on campus April 18 as Visiting Green Professor in the physics department. He will present a public lecture entitled "Nonlinear Optics and the Surface Science" at 4 p.m. in Lecture Hall 4 of the Sid Richardson Building.

Author or co-author of about 200 publications in fields ranging from nonlinear optics to laser chemistry to condensed matter physics, he is author of "The Principles of Nonlinear Optics" and editor of "Nonlinear Infrared Generation." He is a member of the American Physical Society and the Optical Society of America. Dr. Shen served as program chairman of the International Quantum Electronics Conference in 1980 and as general co-chairman of the conference in 1984. He received his Ph.D. in solid state physics from Harvard University.

JOURNALISTS PLAN APRIL 18 DISCUSSION

Past and current editors of the Daily Skiff will answer questions from students and faculty in the first "Speak to Your Editor" panel discussion Monday at 6 p.m. Sponsored by the TCU chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, the discussion will be held in the Moudy Building 141N Lecture Hall. The event is designed to increase awareness and promote communication.

Opening speaker at the discussion will be Betty Knox, News Service director, and closing speaker will be Mark Witherspoon, Skiff adviser.

Questions should be in written form and include the name, address and phone number of the person submitting the question. Questions, which can be dropped off in the Question Box at the journalism office, are due by Thursday afternoon.

NOTES ON FOLKS

ALICE GAUL (nursing) will be the keynote speaker at a research conference to be held at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls Monday.

Ranch Management's JIM LINK has been named treasurer of the North Texas Association of School Boards.

HARRIET RISK WOLDT (music) was guest gamba soloist March 6 for a complete performance of the Bach Passion According to St. Matthew with the Houston Oratorio Society. In late February, while touring with the Fort Worth Symphony, Harriet presented two clinics for cello students at McAllen Memorial High School. On March 21 Harriet, SHEILA MADDEN (music librarian) and Wayne Moss of Dallas presented six children's concerts in Breckenridge. Sponsored jointly by the Breckenridge Fine Arts Commission and TCU's development office, these gamba concerts were heard by about 1,500 enthusiastic kindergarten-through sixth-graders.

A print titled "AX 001 Reverse Etching" by DAVID CONN (art) is included in the exhibition International Prints '88 at the John Szoke Graphics Gallery in New York City through May 8. This international exhibition was selected by Joann Moser, curator and head of the department of graphic arts, National Museum of American Art, Smithsonian Institution in Washington, DC.

Lectures and seminars took GENE BORING (religion-studies) from Kansas City, KS, to Carlsbad, NM, in March. He lectured on "Jesus, the Cross, and the Disciples in Four Gospels" March 4-6 at Country Club Christian Church in Kansas City. On March 16 he spoke at the Disciples of Christ luncheon in Fort Worth on "The Man Who Fled Naked and Recent Study of Gospels." Gene spent spring break in Carlsbad, conducting a March 21-24 seminar for the Disciples Tres Rios Conference on "Discipleship in Six Gospels."

ART EHLMANN (geology), with co-authors from the University of New Mexico, University of Chicago and Germany's Max Planck Institute, has published a paper resulting from continuing research on the Oscar Monnig Meteorite Collection housed in the geology department. The paper, "Origin of Fragmental and Regolith Meteorite Breccias--Evidence from the Kendleton 'L' Chondrite Breccia," was published in the Proceedings of the Eighteenth Lunar and Planetary Science Conference.

On March 15 the Fort Worth Independent School District honored 25 SPANISH STUDENTS at the Adopt-A-School Annual Awards Banquet. These outstanding students volunteer one or two hours weekly to tutor children enrolled in the D. McRae Elementary School Spanish Immersion Program. Project coordinator DON FRISCHMANN (modern languages) accepted a plaque on behalf of his department.

Don then traveled to New Orleans to attend the March 16-19 Latin American Studies Association international conference, where he participated on a panel on the "Historical Antecedents of New Theatre in Latin America" and shared results of his research with a presentation entitled "Roots and Development of Mexico's Popular Theatre: The Indian Legacy." While in New Orleans he also met with the executive board of the Association of Latin American New Theatre Researchers.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

"Muddy Banks," newest title in TCU PRESS's Chaparral Books for young readers, has won the Texas Institute of Letters Children's/Young People's Award for the best book of 1987 for that age group. Author Ruby C. Tolliver accepted a certificate and check at the Institute's annual meeting April 8 at the Guadalupe River Ranch near Boerne. TCU Press director JUDY ALTER also was on hand for the presentation and in turn presented the award for the best journalistic piece appearing in a magazine, since she chaired that judging committee.

TCU IN THE NEWS

A special thanks was included to design and fashion students and chairperson MARGARET McWHORTER in the program for the champagne luncheon and fashion show of the Fort Worth Opera Guild March 10 at the Worthington Hotel. Students cited were LAURA RUNYAN, HEATHER McCRELESS, WHITNEY DORRIS, KRISTIE FOX, KALEN CRAIG, LESLIA CUMMINGS and BETH ANN BERGSTROM.

"Touch those sculptures, and they will touch you, too" was the headline March 11 for Katie Sherrod's Star-Telegram column regarding the Chris Powell showing in the Student Center gallery. The showing of the large ceramic sculptures closed March 18.

"Frank Windegger and TCU: A Unique Pair" was Aura magazine's headline on the feature about FRANK, the St. Louis native who first came to campus on a football scholarship in 1953 and since 1975 has been the Frogs' athletic director.

The Cheers and Jeers section of the March 12 Star-Telegram included a cheers note to journalism student LISA BIANCHI "on her strong stand against the Playboy advertising...this is a true commitment to journalism...a positive statement for morality in journalism," the note from Mary and Bill Otto said.

Star-Telegram film critic Mike Price dedicated most of his March 13 column to PROGRAMMING COUNCIL's showing of "Barefoot Gen," an animated film about the aftermath of the Hiroshima bombing. Director Keiji Nakasawa attended the second showing of his film in this country and answered questions from the crowd.

"Three cheers for 'Two Gentlemen'" was the headline on the Odessa American's complimentary review of THEATRE TCU's March 10-12 performances of "Two Gentlemen of Verona" during the Globe Theater's 20th annual Odessa Shakespeare Festival. The entire cast did an excellent job, wrote reviewer Joanna Haynes, but "the supporting cast stole the show." She called special attention to DWIGHT GREENE as the aging servant Panthina, to TIM WILKENDORF's amusing portrayal of Thurio, to "loads of talent" displayed by ALAN BAKER as Speed and by KELLY SMITH as Launce and to Alexis the cuddly sheepdog. All in all, Haynes concluded, the production, directed by GALYN COLLIER, "is a wonderful show."

"TCU students help university pick drug-abuse counselors" was the headline for the Star-Telegram's March 21 story on the new campus mentor project of the drug and alcohol abuse education program. The project, funded by a $63,294 grant received last fall, was described in the story by Assistant Vice Chancellor DON MILLS.

The March 4 issue of the Los Angeles Times quoted MARK TOULOUSE (Brite) in an article on Pat Robertson by John Dart, the Times religion writer. Mark did research in the Christian Broadcasting Network archives last summer.

Referring to Robertson's claims that God often talked with him and that his decision to run for the Republican presidential nomination was based on God's wishes, Mark stated: "Who gets to claim that prophecy? You have the dilemma of the minister for whom the prophecy was made and his ministry going in two separate directions. I think Pat is going to say it's related to his ministry. Whether he thinks different in his heart, we may never know."

"It's never too late to learn, say two graduating at age 64" was the Star-Telegram EXTRA's headline for the March 30-31 story on SID PADGETT, director of facilities from 1971 until he retired last December, and his wife, Gloria. Two years ago they graduated at the same time, she with a bachelor's degree and he with a master's.

"TCU students win acclaim for world hunger efforts" was the headline in the April issue of The Disciple for the feature that detailed the successful effort on campus that has raised more than $102,000 in the last six years. Quoted was JOHN BUTLER, minister to the University, who oversees Hunger Week.

The March 17 issue of the Dallas Observer headlined Roy Hargrove, young jazz genius from Dallas' Arts Magnet High School who is studying with KERRY HUGHES (music). Wrote Rosalyn Story: "The classically oriented Hughes works on honing Hargrove's skills, without tampering with the talent. 'I'm just giving him some more tools to work with--nuts and bolts--the solid, basic fundamental skills that all musicians need,' Hughes says. 'My dream is to see him have the polish that Wynton Marsalis has.'" Kerry began working with Hargrove at Marsalis' request.

A press conference in Merida, Yucatan, Mexico, to announce TCU Yucatan-Mayan Culture Week was covered by local newspapers, television and Radio Universidad de Yucatan, which also broadcast an interview with the week's coordinator, DON FRISCHMANN (modern languages). Participating in the press conference with Don were government officials and the artists and scholars who visited TCU March 28-31 for the cultural celebration. Coverage of the week's events in Fort Worth media included several mentions in the Star-Telegram and coverage of the opening reception by KXAS-TV, Channel 5, during its 10 p.m. newscast March 29.
