AUG. 21 LUNCHEON TO MARK 114TH YEAR'S START

The annual luncheon for faculty and University staff members planned for Thursday will mark the opening of TCU's 114th academic year. The 11:30 a.m. event will be in the Student Center ballroom with Chancellor Bill Tucker presiding.

Taking part in the complimentary luncheon program will be Bayard H. Friedman, chairman of the board of trustees, along with Donald Ray Thomas, president of the House of Student Representatives, and Neil Daniel, chair of the Faculty Senate. Vice chancellors introducing new faculty and staff members will be Peggy Barr, Edd Bivin, Paul Hartman, Bill Koehler and Leigh Secrest. University minister John Butler will give the invocation.

M.L.A. PROGRAM OFFERS SEVEN CLASSES

Courses ranging from the history of satire to the future of American social programs are on the agenda for the Master of Liberal Arts degree program this fall. The program, entering its 14th year at TCU, is open to anyone with a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university.

Classes, meeting once weekly, will be:

--"The Satiric Vision: From Jonah to Doonesbury," taught by Bob Frye at 7 p.m. Tuesdays. The course deals with works and techniques of major satirists.

--"The Church and Human Sexuality," incorporating biblical, historical and contemporary understandings of human sexuality in the Christian church. Jim Farrar will teach the class at 7 p.m. Wednesdays.

--"Contrasting Futures for American Social Programs," looking at four recent proposals about the future directions of social programs in terms of assumptions and evidence on which they are based. Charles Lockhart will be the teacher at 7 p.m. Tuesdays.

--"William Faulkner," taught by David Vanderwerken at 7 p.m. Thursdays. David will focus on the art, ideas, themes, characters and meanings of Faulkner's fiction through five of his major novels.

--"Social Psychological Perspectives on Deviant Behavior," 7 p.m. Mondays, examining those who depart from society's norms, possible sources of their deviant behavior and their effects on social structures and stability. Instructor will be Art Berliner.

--"Communication and Organizations," taught by Larry Lauer. The 7 p.m. Monday class will consider image development and clarification, media relations, crisis containment, social responsibility and other communication problems affecting companies and non-profit institutions.

--"The Indians of Texas," Thursdays at 5:30 p.m. at Carswell Air Force Base (open to all M.L.A. students). The class, focusing on four major cultures, will be taught by Gene McCluney.

Registration for the fall semester will be held Thursday and Friday, and classes will meet for the first time starting Monday. More information may be obtained by calling the Office of Graduate Studies at Ext. 7515.

HOWDY WEEK STARTS TOMORROW

Two weeks of Howdy Week, beginning at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) with a Freshman Extravaganza at Frog Fountain, will welcome freshmen to TCU for 1986-87. Thursday's schedule calls for a 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. trip to Six Flags over Texas.

Annual freshman assembly begins at 11 a.m. Friday in Ed Landreth Auditorium, and The Agents will present a free concert at 8 o'clock that night on the Student Center porch. The Rickel Almost All Night Party, featuring food, games, swimming and a showing of the movie "Jaws," starts at 8 p.m. Saturday, to wind up at 2 a.m. All the ingredients for a Make Your Own Sundae party will be on hand in Reed-Sadler Mall beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

On Aug. 27, the activities carnival around Frog Fountain at 6 p.m. will precede an 8 p.m. street dance with music by "Inn-O-Vation." The welcome back chapel will be held in Robert Carr Chapel on Aug. 31, followed by free luncheon in the Student Center ballroom for students attending the chapel service. Howdy Week finale will be a concert by Don McLean at 8 p.m. Sept. 3 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Tickets will be $2 with TCU ID, $5 for the public.

THREE RECEIVE BURLINGTON NORTHERN AWARDS

Three faculty members -- Robert Doran, Carol Stephenson and Ben Strickland -- are the initial recipients of Burlington Northern Foundation Faculty Achievement Awards. Formal presentation of the awards of $2,500 each was made by Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler during commencement on Aug. 15.

The grant to TCU from the Seattle-based Burlington Northern Foundation provides for three awards annually for three years in recognition of faculty members whose teaching in the immediately preceding academic year has been both significant and meritorious.

Nominated by their colleagues and recommended by their deans, the awardees "are those who incorporate unusually successful teaching with the other professional expectations of the University's faculty members," according to Vice Chancellor Koehler. He called attention to teaching, research or creative activity, service to the University and professional organizations, academic advising and continuing professional development.

Burlington Northern Foundation, the major philanthropic channel for Burlington Northern, Inc., administers its contributions program in recognition of the company's responsibility to support and to improve the general welfare and quality of life in the community it serves. Headed by Donald K. North and incorporated in 1970, the foundation was a major contributor to funding for TCU's recently completed Academy for Educational Leadership. Forty-two highly rated Texas administrators who are preparing for superintendent-level positions participated in the June 16-25 session. TCU also has been among the beneficiaries of the foundation's grants to the Texas Independent College Fund.

Robert, representing AddRan College of Arts and Sciences, joined the mathematics department in 1969. Formerly a member of the University of Northern Iowa faculty, he has been a visiting professor at the University of Texas in Austin and a visiting scholar at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Robert, holder of the Ph.D. degree from the University of Washington, is regional director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton.

Harris College faculty member since 1981, Carol was head nurse and instructor in the Eku Baptist Hospital School in Eku, Nigeria, in 1969-71. She was a member of the nursing faculty at Baylor University School in Eku prior to coming to TCU. A consultant for Methodist Hospitals of Dallas since 1981, she earned the doctoral degree at North Texas State University.

Ben, who heads the guidance and counseling program in the School of Education, joined the faculty in 1964 after completing doctoral studies and teaching at North Texas State University. He is widely known for his studies which have been published in professional journals and books, including Journal of Counselor Education and Supervision, Counseling and Values, Children's World and a number of Texas Education Agency publications. He holds a service award from the Texas Personnel and Guidance Association.

CHANGES MADE IN CAMPUS PARKING AREAS

Persons returning to campus this week are finding a number of changes in parking areas. Probably the two most noticeable are those west of the Student Center.

Designed to ease traffic flow as well as to increase safety for both vehicles and pedestrians, according to Vice Chancellor Peggy Barr, these include designating for faculty the spaces on each side of Main Drive both on the north side of Tom Brown Hall and the south side of Foster Hall. Lots immediately north and immediately south of the fountain now are marked for visitors and 30-minute parking.

In the Worth Hills section of campus, the area on the south side of Pond Drive from Brachman Hall to the west end of Tomlinson Hall has been changed from a fire lane to authorized parking.

The changes are noted in parking areas by color of the lines outlining the space, by word designation on curbs or by posted signs. The color codes are: red--prohibited parking; yellow--loading zone with time limit; orange--reserved/restricted parking; and white--authorized open parking.

Changes also have been made in the fines system for 1986-87. On the recommendation of the parking committee, the increases are to $30 for speeding, $30 for reckless driving and $30 for parking in fire lanes, $25 for reserved parking by name and number, $15 for restricted parking, $15 to $150 or cost of the damage for driving or parking on grass and $50 for handicapped parking.

Regulations will be enforced 24 hours a day, seven days a week in fire lanes, loading zones, hall director spaces, reserved parking near Sadler Hall, HVAC parking lots, crosswalks, and handicapped parking, Princeton House apartments and tow away zones.

Students, faculty and staff members who operate motor vehicles on University property must register with the campus police. Permits, costing $25 for faculty and University staff and $20 for general staff, must be displayed on cars by Aug. 31, Vice Chancellor Barr noted. Free permits are available for employees who use the coliseum parking area.

Permits must be paid for in the Controller's Office, Sadler Hall #104, and receipts taken to campus police to obtain the permits.

FRESHMAN APPLICATIONS HIT ALL-TIME HIGH

A total 3,377 freshman applications--highest in the history of TCU--were received for the fall semester, says Ned Boehm, despite the fact that the cut-off date for applications was May 1. The freshman application total exceeded last year's high total by more than 100 students, Ned said.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Recovering after recent surgery for an aneurysm is MAZIE VARLEY, whose 30+ years in the athletic department have spoiled her coworkers to her helpfulness and efficiency. She's reported to be making fine progress.

"Using Rhetoric Toward Culture Criticism" is the title of a paper JIM CORDER (English) presented at the Pennsylvania State University Conference on Rhetoric and Composition held July 7-11.

Sympathy is extended to trustee chairman BAYARD FRIEDMAN and his wife, CORNELIA, on the death of her mother, Grace Mays Cheney, on July 30. Funeral services were conducted Aug. 1 at University Christian Church.

SPENCER WERTZ (philosophy) has spent the first half of August in California. At the invitation of the Sport Literature Association, he presented the Jack Higgs Lecture on "Sport: A Semiotic Analysis" at the University of California-San Diego. He also has attended the Society of Wine Educators seminars at the University of California at Davis.

From tomorrow (Wednesday) through Aug. 24 Spencer will be in Japan, where he will present his presidential address at the Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport meeting at the University of Tsukuba and will conduct independent research in modern Japanese philosophy at the universities of Kyoto and Tokyo.

An article by CATHY COLLINS (education) appears in the summer issue of RAL Report: A Communication on Reading Research and Language Arts. Title of Cathy's article is "Metacognitive Skill Instruction and Metadiscourse Text: Effects upon Comprehension, Attitude and Self-esteem of High, Average and Low Ability Readers."

JOE HELMICK (speech communication) was invited by the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association to testify before the Subcommittee on Select Education of the U.S. House Committee on Education and Labor on July 24. His testimony addressed the proposal initiated in the Senate by Lowell Weicker to increase funding for infants (0-2 years) and children (3-5 years) under the Education of the Handicapped Amendments of 1986. Although Joe spoke on several of the provisions in this legislation, his primary focus was on the need to adapt state licensure and national professional certification as the definition for qualified service providers.

CHARLES LAMB (business) recently conducted two four-day workshops for senior civil servants and statutory board officials in Singapore. The workshops were called "Marketing Government and Social Services," the same title as his recently published book.

"Electra Waggoner Biggs," an article written by JUDY ALTER (TCU Press) and published by The Cattleman, won a certificate of merit in the multibreed personality profile category of the international writing competition sponsored by the Livestock Publications Council. Results were announced at the council's meeting in Fort Worth in late July.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Historian FRANK REUTER presented his paper "Washington's Inadvertent Politics: Jay's Treaty and the Whiskey Rebellion" for the Society of Historians of the Early Republic at the University of Tennessee on July 25.

JUDY ALTER (TCU Press) was the featured speaker at a writers' workshop, "Children's Literature: How to Break into the Market," Aug. 9 in Corpus Christi. The workshop was sponsored by the Corpus Christi Creative Arts Center Inc.

As president of Sport Literature Association, DAVID VANDERWERKEN (English) presided over its third annual meeting Aug. 1-5 at the University of San Diego, where he also presented his paper on "Dan Jenkins' Needle." Other TCU participants were JIM CORDER (English), speaking on "The Rock-kicking Championship of the Whole World, Now and Forevermore," and SPENCER WERTZ (philosophy).

David's article, "James Dickey's Elogy for Lombardi," appears in the current issue of Arete: The Journal of Sport Literature.

NELL ROBINSON (nutrition and dietetics) presented two workshops on "Childhood Nutrition - Building a Solid Foundation" at the State Professional Improvement Conference for Vocational Home Economics Teachers Aug. 6 in Dallas.

FACULTY/ STAFF APPOINTMENTS AND CHANGES

GERALD HOFMEISTER, who earned the B.A. degree at Missouri's Southwest Baptist University, has joined the staff as residence hall director. Formerly in engineering and design with Conveyor Corporation of America, he currently is working on a graduate degree at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

KRISTI JOHNSTON (development) although a member of the University's staff since 1980, assumed the position of director of development for South/Central Texas on July 1. After serving as an admissions counselor for five years, she was named assistant director of development in June 1985.

LUCILLE CARDENAS, who has been a part-time teacher of English as a foreign language, has accepted appointment as assistant to the dean of students. Holder of the B.A. from San Francisco State University and the master's from Western Michigan, she was associated with Michigan's Davenport College as director of career services and placement coordinator in 1983-84.

EMMA BAKER (financial aid), who came to TCU in 1982 as a residence hall director, has been named acting assistant director in the scholarships and financial aid office, where she had been a counselor since late last year.

A member of the staff since 1983, JOLYNN SPROLE has been named acting information services manager in the scholarships and financial aid office. She had been a counselor there since 1985.

CAMPUS PROJECTS VARIED DURING SUMMER

It may have been "summertime," but the living wasn't easy, as the song says, for the physical plant department. A number of projects were completed during the last few months. Some are continuing, while others are on the fall schedule.

According to physical plant director Bob Haubold, these included:

- Installation of a new elevator to the press box in Amon Carter Stadium as Phase II of improvements funded by a donor. Redecorating the chancellor's box was Phase I with the elevator added to provide faster service.
- Some changes made in the north wall of the ballet building to correct the problem of water entering the basement after heavy rains.
- Some remodeling in the Student Activities area with expense funded by Student Permanent Improvements Committee and in Brown-Lupton Health Center to provide restrooms for the handicapped.
- Carpeting replaced in Wiggins and Brachman halls.
- Water softeners added to the domestic hot water systems in Sherley, Pete Wright and Milton Daniel halls.
- Emergency exit lights added in the stairwells in Milton Daniel and Colby Hall dormitories.
- Ten shade canopies added on courts at Mary Potishman Lard Tennis Center with expense funded by a donor.
- New central heating units added to the apartment unit acquired at 2904 Princeton to comply with safety codes.
- Modern sprinkler system added around the religion building complex with some improvements completed in landscaping the front of the building.
- Renovation of Clark Hall, including carpeting, interior painting, changing air-conditioning return system to eliminate door grills, new furniture and re-roofing.

Currently in progress are new roofs for the flat built-up portion of Winton-Scott Hall to replace the original, 34-year-old roofing along with the replacement of two large light poles at the stadium. Carpeting in the lobby of the Sid Richardson Building is scheduled to be replaced in the next week or so.

According to Bob, a contract will be executed soon for a complete re-roofing of Sherley Hall with construction time expected to be about 60 working days. The condition of that roof is such, he says, that work is necessary even though it will cause some inconvenience.
