OPERA WORKSHOP TO PERFORM FEB. 3-4

A pair of chamber operas, "The Incomplete Education" and "A Game of Chance," will be performed Feb. 3-4 by the Opera Workshop, which currently is touring South Texas and Louisiana presenting the light operas at high schools, universities and churches.

Leaving yesterday (Monday), the opera cast, under the direction of Arden Hopkin, sang for Bryan and College Station high schools, Sam Houston State University and First Christian Church in Beaumont. Subsequent performances will be in Beaumont, Orange, Houston, Lafayette, Lake Charles and Longview.

The TCU performances will begin at 12:30 p.m. each day in the Student Center ballroom. A situation comedy by Emmanuel Chabrier, "The Incomplete Education" relates the plight of a young husband, trained by his classical tutor, and his convent-reared bride. It is their wedding night. They know something special should happen, but they don't know what.

"A Game of Chance" tells of three ladies, each with her own dream of love, fame and fortune. Only when a messenger grants their wishes do they learn they should have asked for more. The satire is a 1957 composition by Seymour Barab.

MARCH EVENT WILL HONOR TRUSTEE

Trustee John Roach, Tandy Corporation board chairman and president, will be honored March 31 by the Tarrant County chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. In recognition of significant contributions to the community and exemplary behavior in promoting good will, he will receive the Brotherhood Citation.

To be held at the Worthington Hotel, the fete is being chaired by Chancellor Bill Tucker. The evening's address will be given by Bill Banowsky, president of Gaylord Broadcasting Co. and Roach's long-time friend.

Roach, recently named general chairman for the 1987 Tarrant County United Way campaign, received the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League's Man of the Year award in 1983. In 1981 the TCU alumnus was honored as Chief Executive Officer of the Year by Financial World.

TCU TO OBSERVE KWANZAA FEB. 3

TCU's first celebration of Kwanzaa, a black American holiday that pays tribute to the rich cultural roots of Americans of African ancestry, will be at 5:30 p.m. Feb. 3 at the Wesley Foundation. The observance is sponsored by Minority Student Affairs in conjunction with Agape.

Claude Steele of Student Activities said the celebration is actually post-Kwanzaa, since the holiday is observed from Dec. 26 through Jan. 1.

Created in 1966 by Dr. Maulana Ron Karenga, Kwanzaa means "the first" or "the first fruits of the harvest" in the East African language of Ki-Swahili. In traditional African society most people have been farmers, and harvesting of the first crops was usually accompanied by a grand festival of thanksgiving. Dr. Karenga, a California State University professor, founded Kwanzaa as a combination of traditional African practices and symbols with black American hopes, ideals, realities and creativity, Claude explained.

Kwanzaa is based on seven fundamental principles gleaned from inherent African values that are universally accepted as guides for daily living--unity, self-determination, collective work and responsibility, cooperative economics, purpose, creativity and faith. TCU's post-Kwanzaa celebration is open to all, Claude said.

BIOLOGY SERIES BEGINS WITH GUEST SPEAKERS

David Reznick of the University of California-Riverside will begin the biology department's spring seminar series Friday with a lecture titled "Evolution of Life History." All seminars are scheduled on Fridays at noon in Lecture Hall 4 of the Sid Richardson Building.

Other seminar topics include "Retinoids: Agents for Investigating Pattern Regulation in Regenerating Limbs" with David Stocum of the University of Illinois, Urbana, on Feb. 13. Ken Whitney, University of Texas at Arlington, will present a seminar on biomineralization in fungi on Feb. 20, and Paul Bowman of Fort Worth's Children's Medical Center will lead a seminar on clinical research in pediatric oncology Feb. 27.

Charles Gauntt of the University of Texas Health Science Center-San Antonio will be on campus March 20 for a seminar on coxsackie virus-induced myocarditis, and Marlene Scharwitz of Baylor Medical School, Houston, will present the April 24 seminar on mouse mammary tumorigenesis as a model system for human breast cancer.

Master's degree candidate Allan Landwer will give a thesis progress seminar on April 3, and graduate students Holli Lancaster and Carrie Bravenec will do the same April 10.

JAN. 19 WAS BIG DATE FOR CAGERS

Jan. 19 is now in TCU's athletic history books as the date the Purple cagers made the nation's Top 20 for the first time. The Associated Press basketball poll placed the Horned Frogs at the No. 19 spot, while a United Press International list showed them as No. 18.

A long time in coming, the ranking was released on the day the Frogs beat the University of Texas Longhorns 52-37 before 6,876 fans in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Other factors of the game that rate notice include:

- The win continued the Frogs' 1000 percent standing in conference play with five victories and no losses;
- In the first game without senior Carl Lott, the Dallas News' pre-season choice as SWC player of the year who was benched by a broken finger on his shooting hand, Texas' 37 points were the fewest the Purple cagers had allowed an SWC opponent since a 1955-56 season game with 26 points scored by SMU;
- It was the Frogs' 20th consecutive win on the home court and their 10th consecutive win for this season.

The Rice Owls and the Arkansas Razorbacks will be this week's visitors at Daniel-Meyer Coliseum with games Wednesday and Saturday, respectively.

JAN. 30 DATE FOR 'OPEN CAMPUS'

Some 1,500 high school students in the Fort Worth/Dallas area have been invited to take part in the "open campus" program planned by admissions for Jan. 30. Offering a close-up view of the University, the third annual Metroplex Visit Day will include campus tours and admissions presentations designed for the prospective students, their parents and counselors. Discussions will include the application process, financial aid, the Honors Program and other aspects of the University.

Announced to area high schools and junior colleges via posters, the program will be held in the Student Center. Campus tours will leave from there on the hour from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. No reservations are required, according to coordinator Charleen McGilvray.

FOLIO RECITAL SET MONDAY

Flutist Cynthia Folio, assisted by other TCU musicians, will play a recital at 8 p.m. Feb. 2 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The program will be broadcast live over KTCU-FM, 88.7.

Opening with James Oswald's Airs for the Seasons, the program also will include Telemann's Concerto in B minor; Image by Eugene Bozza; Sonata for flute and piano, Robert Muczynski of the University of Arizona; and Sonatine for flute and piano, Pierre Boulez. Cynthia will close with a composition of her own, Naropa, and with Eric Dolphy's improvised solo on "You Don't Know What Love Is." Dolphy, an American jazz artist, died while touring Europe with Charles Mingus in 1964. This improvised solo, transcribed by Cynthia, came from Dolphy's last recording date in Holland shortly before his death.

Assisting Cynthia will be Judith Solomon, harpsichord/piano; Harriet Woldt, cello; Paulo Alvares, piano; Richard Powell, piano; Rob Allibon, bass; and Harrell Bosarge, drums.

TCU, AIR FORCE BANDS PLAY MONDAY

Strike up the bands!

The 8th Air Force Band from Barksdale Air Force Base in Bossier City, LA, will join TCU's award-winning Jazz Ensemble to play a public concert at 1:30 p.m. Monday in Student Center lounge.

Curt Wilson directs the Jazz Ensemble, which will be the featured college band when the Texas Music Educators Association holds its annual convention Feb. 12 in San Antonio.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH STARTS MONDAY

TCU's observance of Black History Month 1987 opens at noon Monday in the Student Center Woodson Room with a proclamation ceremony.

A representative from the mayor's office of the City of Fort Worth will read the proclamation, which will be accepted by Chancellor Bill Tucker on behalf of the University.

Everyone is invited, said Claude Steele, minority affairs coordinator and program advisor.

GRADE AVERAGES RISE FOR FALL TERM

Grade-point averages in seven general categories were higher for the 1986 fall semester than for that time a year ago. According to a report by Dean Libby Proffer, these averages are lower than for the 1979 fall semester, which is the first included in her study. These categories are all day students, all undergraduates, all undergraduate men, all undergraduate women, all freshmen men and all freshmen women.

Although the report does not show grades of ethnic groups, Libby pointed out that the highest average was that of Oriental students, which was 2.959. This is higher than all undergraduates (2.798) as well as all day students (2.796).

In a survey of residential groupings, Jarvis Hall's 3.128 was the highest. It also is the highest fall average for Jarvis since 1979. Sorority halls ranked second with 3.024. Tom Brown led the men's halls with a 2.990 average, which was that group's highest since the 1980 fall term.

Breakdowns by categories for the last five fall semesters include:

	Fall 1982	Fall 1983	Fall 1984	Fall 1985	Fall 1986

COSBY CONSULTANT TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. Alvin Poussaint of Harvard Medical School, a consultant to The Bill Cosby Show, will talk about "Media and Multiculturalism" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Student Center ballroom. His lecture, co-sponsored by TCU Forums Committee, Black Student Caucus and Student House of Representatives, costs $1 with TCU ID, $2 for all others.

Dr. Poussaint is associate professor of psychiatry and associate dean for student affairs at Harvard Medical School. He also serves as medical director of the Family Support Center at Children's Hospital in Boston, where he is active in research on grief and loss and on interracial children.

Born in Harlem, he earned his M.D. from Cornell and took postgraduate training at UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute, where he served as chief resident in psychiatry in 1964-65.

From 1965 to 1968 Dr. Poussaint was Southern field director for the Medical Committee for Human Rights in Jackson, MS, providing medical care to civil rights workers and helping with desegregation of health facilities in the South. He worked alongside such civil rights leaders as Martin Luther King Jr., Stokely Carmichael, Jesse Jackson and Andrew Young.

A best-selling author of "Why Blacks Kill Blacks" (1972) and, with Dr. James P. Comer, "Black Child Care" (1975), Dr. Poussaint also has been consultant to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Congressional Black Caucus.

WIND ENSEMBLE WILL PERFORM FRIDAY

The TCU Wind Ensemble, conducted by director of bands Robert Blanton, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Feb. 6 in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The program will include Report by Lubos Fiser; American Overture for Band by Joseph Wilcox Jenkins; and Hymn of St. James, hymn setting by Reber Clark. A Suite for Solo Woodwinds has been arranged by Noah Knepper, who also will be faculty soloist. The Wind Ensemble will perform Florentiner by Julius Fucik and Charles Ives' The Alcotts, which, along with Emerson, Hawthorne and Thoreau, made up Ives' Sonata No. 2, the "Concord" Sonata.

CBS SUNDAY SHOW TO FEATURE DE GROOTE

A segment on TCU professor of music Steven De Groote will air on CBS Sunday Morning with Charles Kuralt at 8 a.m. Sunday on Channel 4.

A portion of the show was filmed in Steven's Ed Landreth Hall studio in December. Later he flew to New York for the remainder of the taping.

PHONOTHON LINKS PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE

Beginning Feb. 1, a phone line will link TCU's past with its present. In 18 sessions through Feb. 24, students will be discovering TCU's past as the annual phonothon puts them in touch with alumni, some of whom remember when the campus was little more than prairie land. Others recall the glory days of Horned Frog football, when Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien brought TCU national recognition in the '30s.

"There's a lot of history on this campus; every building is named after a person who contributed to that history, and talking to alumni passes that history to us," said Keith Kirkman, a senior marketing major from Richardson and chairperson of the 11th national phonothon. "The alumni enjoy hearing from us; they want to know about changes on the campus as well as about traditions that continue."

For most of the approximately 27,000 alumni contacted through the phonothon, the call from a student volunteer each February is the only direct contact they have with their alma mater. Organized by members of Student Foundation, the annual phonothon is an important part of the Annual Fund campaign. Alumni who have not contributed during the current fiscal year are contacted by students during afternoon and evening sessions in the Faculty Center. This year's schedule includes Sunday afternoon sessions from 2 to 5 p.m. Evening sessions will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Sundays, Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, excluding Feb. 11.

This year's fund-raising goal is $225,000; last year students raised slightly more than $200,000. Despite the size of the goal, Keith is confident that the phonothon will succeed. Part of that confidence derives from the work of the four vice chairpersons assisting him.

Helping organize the phonothon is Patti Keefe, junior business major from Colleyville, who is responsible for implementing an incentives program for attracting student volunteers. These incentives include door prizes such as free dinners from local restaurants. Bill Kennedy, junior economics major from Canton, MO, is in charge of recruiting volunteers from the Greek campus organizations, and John Rodenberg, sophomore religion major from Fairfax Station, VA, is recruiting volunteers from independent campus organizations. Chris Sorensen, sophomore English major from Sioux Falls, SD, is serving as publicity coordinator.

Mike McKee, development officer overseeing the student-run fund-raiser, expressed appreciation to all those who contribute to the phonothon, including Printing and Mailing, Computer Center, Maintenance, Use of Facilities, Marriott, News Service, Housekeeping, Campus Police, Publications, Faculty Center and the faculty.

JUST A REMINDER...

--IRS forms are available in the library's reference department.

THREE METROPLEX ARTISTS TO SHOW HERE

TCU will showcase works by three Metroplex artists during February. Beginning Feb. 3, paintings by Chris Muhlert of Fort Worth will hang through Feb. 27 in Moudy Building Exhibition Hall. Also running Feb. 3-20 in Student Center Gallery will be a show of recent sculptures and prints by Gisela-Heidi and Juergen Strunck of Dallas.

Muhlert has had one-person shows at Electra Carlin Gallery here, Barbara Fiedler Gallery in Washington, DC, Devere Gallery in Occoquan, VA, and Graham Gallery in Houston.

The German-born Strunck, a faculty member at the University of Dallas, and his artist wife will be honored from 4 to 6 p.m. Feb. 3 at a reception in Brown-Lupton Gallery. Both TCU galleries are open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

FIVE COUNTRIES ON TOUR LIST

Five countries are included on the itinerary for the 16th annual "Fashions, Foods and Furnishings of Europe" program June 6-27. Locations as well as facilities important to the development of fashion, furnishings and culinary customs in Italy, Germany, Switzerland, France and England will be visited.

Deposits of $100 are due by Feb. 1, according to nutrition/dietetics chairperson Nell Robinson, who will participate for the eighth year. Assistant director is Jane Kolar of the co-sponsoring fashion and design department. Also a sponsor is continuing education.

Cost of the travel-study program, exclusive of tuition, is $2,973. Tuition charges will range from $250 for the non-credit registrant to about $525 for three hours' credit. Four on-campus orientation sessions will be held on campus this spring. Folders and additional information are available from the sponsoring divisions.

'TCU TODAY' UNDER WAY ACROSS NATION

"TCU Today," the admissions program that takes the campus setting to prospective students across the nation, currently is in progress. Thirty-one cities in 18 states are on the schedule for February in addition to a March 9 event in Honolulu.

Begun in 1965, the traveling program features faculty and staff members as well as administrators and students, who explain advantages of an independent, coeducational institution as well as specific programs offered by TCU. An audio-visual presentation also is part of the reception or dinner program.

This spring's initial program will be Feb. 1 in Anaheim, CA, followed by one in San Mateo, CA, on Feb. 2. Other cities and dates are Midland, Feb. 2; Dallas, Feb. 3; Tyler, Feb. 4; Houston, Feb. 5; New York area and Bal Harbour, FL, Feb. 8; New Orleans and Arlington, VA, Feb. 9. Events are scheduled in Little Rock and Oklahoma City, Feb. 11; St. Louis and Tulsa, Feb. 12; Amarillo and Scottsdale, AZ, Feb. 15; Omaha and Denver, Feb. 16; Bloomington, MN, and Colorado Springs, Feb. 17; Lincolnshire, IL, Feb. 18; Oakbrook, IL, and San Antonio, Feb. 19; Albuquerque and Atlanta, Feb. 22; El Paso and Memphis, TN, Feb. 23; Nashville, TN, Feb. 24; Overland Park, KS, Feb. 25; and Fort Worth, Feb. 26.

Reservations for the complimentary programs are accepted from high school students and their parents, according to Audrey Abron, associate director of freshman admissions who coordinates "TCU Today."

DANCE CONCERTS SET THIS WEEK

Works by two ballet and modern dance graduate students--Dana Nicolay, formerly of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, and Teresa Tang of Taipei, Taiwan--will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in University Theatre.

Dana, who also has danced with the Houston Ballet, is working toward a Master of Fine Arts degree in modern dance. For the Young Choreographers Concert, he has created three new dances, "Sakura," to be performed by TCU student Joellen Wojtowicz and Keith Tillotson of Fort Worth; "Sappho," danced by Teresa to Sappho's poem "To Aphrodite"; and an untitled work set to original music by Ken Wilemon, a TCU accompanist.

Teresa's contemporary ballet, also untitled, stems from her two years of graduate study at TCU. "My years here have been very important to me," she explained. "I am a Christian, and I think the Lord led me here, so this is a Christian ballet." After completing her master's this spring, she will return to Taiwan to teach dance.

NEW FACULTY, STAFF APPOINTMENTS

Microbiologist ANDY PAQUET, who has centered much of his research on immunology, has accepted a three-year appointment as biology chairman, effective with the start of the 1987 fall semester. Author of numerous published studies, he is registered by the American Academy of Microbiology. His current research includes medical bacteriology and tumor immunology.

A senior psychologist at General Dynamics since 1964, JAMES WICKER has joined the Counseling Center staff for the spring semester. He holds two degrees from UT-Austin and currently is working on a doctorate. Also engaged in private practice, he is author or co-author of some 30 published works.

Holder of the B.F.A. degree in speech/theatre from Kent State and the master's from Western Illinois, DAVID KRAJEC joined the theatre faculty earlier this month as production lighting designer/manager. The former freelance theatre artist is active in the U.S. Institute for Theatre Technology and Illumination Engineers Society.

Associated with Mississippi State Department of Housing since 1985, CATHI WENTWORTH assumed her position as residence hall director on Jan. 2. The Alabama native earned the B.S. in Education degree at Mississippi State.

NOTES ON FOLKS

DAVID BALCH (Brite) has been notified that his book, "The New Testament in Its Social Environment," will have a Japanese edition.

JOHN MANGIERI (education) co-authored with Richard E. Kemper of the University of South Carolina an article, "America's Future Teaching Force: Predictions and Recommendations," that appeared in the January issue of Phi Delta Kappan. This is a follow-up study to their earlier study, "Factors Related to High School Students' Interest in Teaching as a Profession."

CASUNDRA COOK, graduate of TCU's Urban Journalism Workshop and a senior at Dunbar High School, won a $1,000 scholarship for best news writing from Dow Jones Newspaper Fund. The award-winning story was written during last summer's workshop directed by ANANTHA BABBILI.

DON JACKSON (political science) presented a paper entitled "Thinking About Equality" at the interim meeting of the Research Committee on Comparative Judicial Studies of the International Political Science Association at the Center for the Study of Law and Society of the University of California at Berkeley. Don also was the keynote speaker Jan. 19 at the Fort Worth Country Day School Current Events Symposium. He spoke on "Historical Changes in the Constitution: Expansion of Governmental Influence, 1787-1986."

"Chemical Usage in the Workplace" was the topic when LORI WEISS (alcohol and drug education advisor) spoke Jan. 13 to the Purchasing Management Association of Fort Worth.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

DAVID VANDERWERKEN (English) was speaker for the University Christian Church congregational dinner Jan. 14, discussing the teaching of American sport literature.

ART BERLINER (social work) presented "Research on a National Sample of Ethical Infractions in Social Work: A First Stage Report" to the Dallas unit of the Texas NASW chapter Jan. 15.

DOUG NEWSOM (journalism) was among public relations, public affairs and communication professionals chosen by their colleagues in a sociometric study of the most respected practitioners. The study was part of a 22nd annual survey of the profession done by the national newsletter, pr reporter. Doug is one of only three women within the top 30 and among the new names included in the top 14 places. Those listed were selected from a field of more than 150 professionals.

The Christian Science Monitor has invited ANANTHA BABBILI (journalism) to participate in the March 27-28 symposium on "Media Responsibility and the Third World." The Monitor will fund Anantha's participation and two of his students' trip to Boston.

STANLEY BLOCK (decision science/finance) has accepted a three-year appointment to the editorial board of the Journal of Economics and Business.

Accounting chairman DON NICHOLS is the author of an article entitled "A Model of Auditors' Preliminary Evaluations of Internal Control from Audit Data" published in the January issue of The Accounting Review.
