WEINBERGER TO SPEAK MARCH 25

Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger will speak March 25 in a public program sponsored by the Forums Committee. The event will begin at 7 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium, and seats will be reserved.

Free tickets, required for admission, will be available at the Student Center information desk after 8:30 a.m. tomorrow (Wednesday). They will be limited to one per student with TCU identification and two per staff and faculty member with ID.

In his current position since 1981, Weinberger has distinguished himself in a number of governmental positions. He chaired the Federal Trade Commission in 1969-70. He was deputy director and then succeeded George Shultz as director of the Office of Management and Budget. After two years in that post, he was secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in 1973-75.

Weinberger, graduate of Harvard University and its law school, served on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's intelligence staff before entering law practice in California. Moderator of a weekly TV public affairs show, book reviewer for the San Francisco Chronicle and a syndicated columnist during that time, he was named chairman of the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy by then-Gov. Ronald Reagan in 1969.

After serving as California state director of finance, he was named general counsel, vice president and a director of the Bechtel Group of Companies in California in 1975. He also was a director of Pepsi Cola Inc. and the Quaker Oats Company.

'TRPTS' HIGHLIGHT 10TH JAZZ FESTIVAL

"TRPTS," eight San Francisco musicians who have been on the road with such major jazz bands as Stan Kenton and Buddy Rich, will star in the 10th annual Jazz Festival March 27-28.

The festival promises to be the largest in TCU jazz history, with 27 junior and senior high school bands slated to come from throughout Texas, said Curt Wilson. The two-day festival will include daytime competitions plus a March 27 concert by the TCU Jazz Ensembles and a March 28 concert by "TRPTS," who cover the history of trumpet jazz in America under the direction of Mike Vax.

Both concerts will be in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 8 p.m. Admission to the March 27 performance is free. Tickets for the "TRPTS" concert are $5 general admission, $3 senior citizens and students, free with TCU ID. Tickets are available at Record Town, 3025 University Dr., or at the band office. The performances were made possible by a grant from the Performing Arts Grant Program with support from the Arts Council of Fort Worth and Tarrant County, City of Fort Worth, Texas Commission on the Arts and National Endowment for the Arts. Curt also offers special thanks to the TCU House of Representatives for its assistance.

The "TRPTS" group performs voiced out solos of such trumpet greats as Louis Armstrong, Dizzy Gillespie, Miles Davis, Roy Eldridge, Clifford Brown, Harry James and Bix Biederbecke along with transcribed music from the Four Freshmen and the Hi-Ios and original music.

Vax, an experienced music educator as well as a performer, has played with Stan Kenton, Clark Terry, the Glenn Miller Orchestra, the Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra, Pee Wee Hunt and the U.S. Navy Show Band and for two years was leader of New Orleans' famed Dukes of Dixieland.

Other trumpets, all veterans of both the Kenton and Rich orchestras, are Warren Gale, Steve Campos and Bob Doll. "TRPTS" also includes pianist Larry Dunlap, guitarist Steve Draper, bass Bill Langlois and drummer Eric Thompson.

Festival competitors are scheduled to be Howe High School, Coppell middle and high schools, Bishop Lynch and Bishop Dunne high schools of Dallas, Castleberry high, Carroll high of Southlake, Northwest high of Justin, Mansfield high, Azle high, Jesuit Preparatory of Dallas, Eastern Hills of Fort Worth, Haltom high, Arlington and Lamar of Arlington, Richland, Garland high, South Grand Prairie high, Rosebud-Lott high, Jasper high, Waxahachie high, A&M Consolidated and Kealing junior and L.C. Anderson senior highs, Austin.

Judging the performers will be Vax; John Rankin, band director at St. Mary's University in San Antonio; and two who judged the first TCU Jazz Festival, TCU graduate Lt. Col. Ray Toler, chief administrative officer for U.S. Air Force bands, and Bill Snodgrass, jazz studies director at UT-Arlington.

INTERVIEWS TO BE TOPIC OF MBA SEMINAR

The next Master of Business Administration seminar will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) at 5:30 p.m. in Room 218 of the Student Center. First and second interviews, evaluating job offers and salary negotiation skills will be reviewed. Additional information is available from TCU's Career Planning and Placement Center.

LIBRARY FRIENDS TO MEET MARCH 27

A veteran United States diplomat will address the 15th annual meeting of Friends of TCU Libraries March 27 at Colonial Country Club. Members of the Fort Worth branch of the English Speaking Union will join the TCU group to hear a discussion of international affairs by Robert A. Brand, professor of political science at Pennsylvania State University's Australian Studies Center.

Guests also are welcome, and reservations at $18 per person may be made with Friends of the TCU Libraries, Box 32904, Fort Worth 76129, no later than March 25. A 6:30 p.m. reception will be followed by dinner at 7 p.m.

Brand retired as minister-counselor after 39 years with the U.S. Foreign Service in Europe, East Asia, Australia and Africa. He holds the Meritorious Honor Award from the State Department.

Since 1985 Brand has served as senior councillor for the Atlantic Council of the U.S. and as an affiliate of Penn State's Center for Research in International Strategic Studies. He was president of the Washington branch of the English Speaking Union in 1983-84 and since that time has been a member of the national board of directors and national patron of the English Speaking Union.

Jack Wilson, president of the Friends, will preside at the dinner meeting.

THE ROMANTICS WILL PLAY THURSDAY

The Romantics, one of America's top pop bands, will play in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 7 p.m. Thursday sponsored by TCU Concert Committee. Tickets for the concert are $8 and can be purchased at Student Center information desk. The program also features 4 Reasons Unknown.

Scoring last year with the Top 5 international hit "Talking in Your Sleep," The Romantics struck off on tour of the United States, Japan, France, Australia and points inbetween. By the time the foursome got back to Detroit, their "In Heat" album had been certified gold.

On their follow-up LP, "Rhythm Romance," guitarist Wally Palmar and new drummer David Petratos handle lead vocal duties, and the group is rounded out by bassist Mike Skill and guitarist Coz Canler.

Because the nucleus of The Romantics grew up in Detroit, the band's roots are there, and members were steeped in the snap and pop of Motown. Palmar and Skill also were hooked on English rhythms of the early 60s. Thus the combination of Motown and British helped point The Romantics in their own direction.

PHONOTHON EXCEEDS ITS GOAL

Thanks to the efforts of more than 450 student volunteers, the 1987 National Phonathon for the Annual Fund raised a total of $229,433.50. This total surpasses the $225,000 goal announced in late January.

"Even in a year of economic decline, this year's effort showed a 12.5 percent increase over last year's goal," according to development officer Mike McKee, who coordinated the calling. "From more than 27,500 calls made to alumni throughout the country, the volunteers got more than 4,000 pledges during the 21 sessions."

The $26,213 received by Lambda Chi Alpha put that organization in the No. 1 spot for large groups, those with more than 50 members. Others in that category, in order, were Army ROTC with $24,791; Delta Sigma Pi, $19,130; Alpha Delta Pi, $13,530; and American Marketing Association, $10,335.

Alpha Epsilon Rho's $6,320 total ranked first in the small group category of organizations with fewer than 50 members. Following, in order, were Campus Christian Community, $5,822; Alpha Phi Omega, $4,300; Delta Sigma Theta, $3,990; and Tau Beta Sigma, $3,055.

Top-ranking individuals were Todd Ver Weire, whose calls resulted in $18,545, and Lisa Federwisch with $15,725. In order, others were Mari Martinez, $6,580; Luke Wooldridge, $4,490; and Jon Severson, $3,775.

Senior Keith Kirkman was student chairman for 1987, and alumni chairperson was Merri Leon Siddons of Granbury, TCU Alumni Association secretary.

TRUITTE RESIDENCY STARTS TOMORROW

James Truitte, one-time lead dancer with the West Coast's famed Lester Horton Dancers and former featured male soloist with the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theatre, will be in residence starting tomorrow through March 27.

His 2 p.m. March 27 class in open technique, intermediate and advanced, is open for participation upon approval of the modern dance faculty. The class also may be audited, but because of space limitations reservations must be made at Ext. 7615. The class will meet in the Ballet Building.

One of the nation's leading dancer-teacher-choreographers, Truitte began studying at the Horton school in 1948, becoming a permanent member of the Horton Company in 1950. In 1953 Truitte was principal dancer in the company of nine that presented the first Horton program in New York. Horton died later that year, and Truitte took over the majority of the teaching responsibilities as well as becoming the leading teacher-choreographer.

Truitte moved to the Alvin Ailey company in 1960 and for eight years was featured male soloist and associate artistic director, touring with the company in Australia, Southeast Asia, the Far East and East and West Africa.

He is associate professor of dance at the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music and is in great demand as one of the few dancers qualified to teach Lester Horton techniques. The New York Times has referred to Truitte as "the finest teacher of the Horton method, a technique that seems to be of considerable value in the contemporary field." At TCU he also will re-stage three sections of his work "With Timbrel and Dance Praise His Name" for the University's spring ballet and modern dance concert April 2-4 in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

SOCIAL WORK DAY FEATURES SPEAKER

Virginia Nelson, director of community services for Women's Center of Tarrant County, will be guest speaker March 24 as TCU observes National Social Work Month with a career day.

Nelson, who oversees the center's educational programs as well as its telephone help-line, will speak on self-awareness when working with clients. Her talk is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in Student Center Room 205.

Social Work Career Day will begin with an information fair from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Student Center lobby. Representatives from approximately 20 local service agencies will distribute information about their services, said Charlene Urwin.

FRIDAY CONCERT IS POSTPONED

The Wind Ensemble's Friday night concert will be postponed until April 10, announced Bob Blanton, since a number of ensemble members also play with the basketball band and have been on the NCAA road with the Horned Frogs.

AS A 'FILL-IN,' DE GROOTE IS A STAND-OUT

When Steven De Groote stepped in at the last minute to perform with the Dallas Symphony March 6-8 in place of the ill Andras Schiff, he earned unanimous raves from Metroplex critics.

Wayne Lee Gay admitted in the March 7 Star-Telegram: "I may be opening myself to a charge of hometown favoritism in saying so, but this was by far the best piano performance with the Dallas Symphony of the 1986-87 season so far."

His Dallas peers backed him all the way in March editions. Olin Chism of the Times Herald commented: "It was not out of any spirit of meanness or hardness of heart that some of us were not disappointed when Andras Schiff got sick and canceled his appearance with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra this weekend. We wish Schiff (an excellent pianist) nothing but the best. No, the reason for our reaction was that Steven De Groote was signed in his stead."

"De Groote, artist-in-residence at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, is simply one of the best musicians ever to come out of the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition. Of all the winners and near-winners, only the Soviet pianist Vladimir Viardo is in his class."

Dallas News critic John Ardoin, referring to Steven's "sublime performance" of the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 4, continued: "He always possessed a superlative technique and even fingers, but never before had they seemed so completely at the service of music. Nor do I remember his sound being so even and lucid. But what struck me most in his performance Friday evening were the beautiful proportions he brought to the Beethoven."

TCU HAS MAJOR ROLE IN COLLEGE BOARD

TCU's role in activities of The College Board does not go unnoticed.

Chancellor Bill Tucker presented the keynote address at the recent regional meeting in Fort Worth. Speaking on "Academics and Athletics: Can They Coexist?," he was praised by College Board's executive director as "the brightest star at our Fort Worth Regional Meeting" and as "eloquent, timely and humorous in his remarks."

A new twist for this year's gathering was including Tarrant County superintendents in a luncheon, which drew praise from those taking part.

Associate Vice Chancellor Ned Boehm, 1986-87 vice chairman of the board's executive committee, was named to a four-year term as trustee of The College Board. Named to a three-year term was financial aid director Leo Munson. Both were praised by executive director Dan Beshara for their efforts, and special accolades were given to admissions staff members Kaye Thornton and Rosemary Drollinger.

FOUNDATION MAKES $2 MILLION PLEDGE

A $2 million pledge from the Brown-Lupton Foundation of Fort Worth to TCU is earmarked for a construction project for the Neeley School of Business which is due to start within a month.

"The mark of the Brown-Lupton Foundation is evident in many of the significant efforts of Texas Christian University," said Chancellor Bill Tucker in announcing the pledge. "The foundation has played a critical role in the University's success. Its projects have been varied and have had a major impact on the forward movement of both academic and support programs."

"This gift testifies to the ongoing commitment of the Brown-Lupton Foundation to Texas Christian University," said S. Patrick Woodson III, president and managing director of the foundation. "We are pleased to have a role in supporting TCU's move into a leadership position in the field of business education."

Earlier generous gifts from Brown-Lupton Foundation have funded construction of Brown-Lupton Student Center, as well as its remodeling and expansion, Brown-Lupton Health Center and Tom Brown Hall. Other major gifts have been designated for Mary Couts Burnett Library, Rickel Building, School of Business, research funds, athletics and scholarship endowment.

COLLEGE BOWLERS FINISH HIGH

TCU's College Bowl team, captained by senior Hiram Jackson, finished fourth in regional competition in Denton in late February, but it may have been one of the closest fourth-place finishes in history.

Competing among 18 universities from four states, the Frog team beat Midwestern in the first round and Rice in the second to advance to the semi-finals. Team coach Rich Murrell of Student Activities said TCU and LSU--eventual regional winner--were tied at the end of the regulation match. LSU won in sudden death.

The team--which also included Simon Dabney, Chris Brown and Jerry Madden--then beat Houston and finally lost to Rice, which came in second in the tourney. SMU was third.

HANNA WILL VISIT CAMPUS MARCH 20

Arthur Hanna, representative from the Pension Fund of the Christian Church, will be on campus Friday to visit with persons considering retirement and pensions. He will be available from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in Room 202 of the Student Center. Appointments can be made by calling the Personnel Office, Ext. 5018.

JOURNALISM MAJOR WINS TIME AWARD

Francesca Taylor, junior journalism major, has been named one of 60 merit finalists of the 1987 TIME College Achievement Awards. Selected from more than 600 college students nationwide, Fran will be awarded $250 at a March 31 dinner honoring the winners in New York City.

A Fort Worth resident, Fran has worked as an intern for the Dallas Morning News at its Fort Worth bureau and is a graduate of TCU's Urban Journalism Workshop. The summer workshop encourages minority high school students consider a career in journalism by giving them a chance to produce a newspaper during the two-week educational experience. She credited the workshop with helping her decide to switch from acting to journalism as a career.

"Before the workshop I was active in other areas; I was president of the drama club and acted in UIL competitions," Fran said. "At the workshop I saw that I could use my talents to help others. After that, I became more deeply involved in journalism."

Returning to O.D. Wyatt High School, she worked on the yearbook and was editor of the school newspaper. When she graduated in 1984, she received a scholarship from the Dallas/Fort Worth Association of Black Communicators which later led to the Dallas News internship for the summer following her freshman year at TCU. At the age of 18, Taylor was covering such stories as a helicopter crash, the closing of a school for the mentally retarded and the Chisholm Trail Roundup.

Now a reporter for The Skiff, Fran was selected for the award based on her academic and extracurricular activities. In addition to the cash award, she will receive a year's subscription to TIME magazine and will be given special consideration for summer internships with numerous corporations. Audry Abron of admissions will accompany Fran to New York City for the awards dinner and career day. Fran and the other winners will be listed in TIME's April 6 campus edition.

UCC OFFERS PARKING LOTS AS COURTESY

University Christian Church (UCC) permits students, faculty and staff to park in several of their lots as a courtesy. Members of the TCU community are reminded that some of these lots are made available as a service to the institution. The church is not obligated to pay for tickets of individuals who choose to park illegally when the church lots are closed.

The parking lot at the north of the church is not available for use by TCU persons. In order to meet neighborhood needs and zoning restrictions, that lot will be chained and locked when custodial staff leave the church.

Vice Chancellor Peggy Barr urges that TCU persons make every effort to comply with the restrictions on use of the church lots. "Access and use of these lots has been a great convenience for the TCU community, and we need to respect the rights of the owners in our use," she added.

NICARAGUAN EXPERT TO SPEAK

A look at life in Nicaragua, including the new constitution which went into effect there Jan. 1, will be offered by hemispheric affairs analyst Dr. Andrew A. Reding at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Student Center Woodson Room. The lecture is sponsored by University Ministries.

Reding, a fellow of the World Policy Institute, is a graduate of Middlebury College who holds master's and doctoral degrees from Princeton University. A frequent contributor to such journals as Christian Century, Christianity and Crisis, World Policy Journal and National Catholic Reporter, Reding concentrates his research and writing on Central America, especially Nicaragua.

He was in Nicaragua during the political campaign and national election in November 1984, and his subsequent election coverage in Christianity and Crisis was named one of 10 best censored stories of 1984 by a national panel of media experts. He also won an Associated Church Press Award for a Christianity and Crisis feature entitled "Central America: Some of the Truth."

Originally skeptical about the Sandinista experiment in government in Nicaragua, Reding has spent time with Interior Minister Tomas Borge, sole surviving founder of the Sandinista National Liberation Front (FSLN). His first book, "Christianity and Revolution: Tomas Borge's Theology of Life," recently published by Orbis Books, will be available for audience members to purchase and have autographed.

Reding's appearances at TCU Thursday and at Friday's Luncheon Reflection Group and on Saturday at a Central America Workshop sponsored by the Fort Worth Interreligious Task Force on Central America are in connection with the observance of Central America Week 1987. The workshop at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, also open to the public, will feature an address by Reding on as well as a discussion by Reding and Don Jackson on "The State of Human Rights in Central America."

Information about Reding's appearances may be obtained by calling University Ministries, Ext. 7830, or the Fort Worth Interreligious Task Force, 926-5569.

SYMPHONY TO PLAY MONDAY

The University Symphony, under the direction of Candler Schaffer, will present a TCU Music Series concert at 8 p.m. Monday in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Opening with the Overture to Hector Berlioz's opera "Benvenuto Cellini," the symphony also will perform Suite #2 for Small Orchestra by Igor Stravinsky and Prokofiev's symphonic suite "Lieutenant Kije," created from his score for a Russian film. Jeff Cox will join the symphony as violin soloist on Ralph Vaughan Williams' "The Lark Ascending."

NOTES ON FOLKS

Four articles newly accepted for publication bear the name of ANN LIEBERTH (speech communication) as author or co-author. They include "EM Evaluation: A Protocol" for the Journal of the Academy of Rehabilitative Audiology; "Rehabilitative Decisions with the Deafened Child: A Case Study"; "Orosensory Perception and Articulatory Proficiency in Hearing-Impaired Adults" for Perceptual and Motor Skills; "Environmental Considerations for the Hearing Impaired" and "Levels of Severity of Hearing Loss: Speech/Language Implications," both for Communication Skill Builders.

BOB FRYE (English) spoke to the Loyalty Class of First Methodist Church Feb. 22 on "Conversations with the Absent: The Letters of St. Paul, Abraham Lincoln, and Others as Means of Discourse."

KIP SULLIVAN (education) presented a paper Feb. 20 at the 1987 American Association of School Administrators convention in New Orleans. His topic, "Strategies for Instructional Leadership," focused on the use of a process of management reviews by administrators to influence curriculum in a positive direction.

The "Book of Days 1987" (Pierian Press) contains the entry on the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg by JAMES NEWCOMER (emeritus vice chancellor), prepared with the help of HUGH MacDONALD (library).

A number of English faculty and doctoral students were in Corpus Christi March 5-7 to take part in the 52nd annual meeting of the Conference of College Teachers of English. DAVID VANDERWERKEN presented his paper "On the Teaching of American Sport Literature" at a pedagogy session, and HARRY OPPERMAN chaired a creative writing session, where CHRISTINA MURPHY read her short story "Toreador."

Doctoral students who participated included KAREN KELLER with a paper on "In Hell, in Love: The Decline of Exuberance in Some Poems by James Dickey"; LINDA KARCH, "Creation of 'Leda and the Swan,'" and SHERRY BOOTH, "The Grave as Topos: An Interpretation of Robert Frost's 'Home Burial.'"

Also on the program were SALLYE SHEPPEARD of Lamar, who earned her master's degree here, talking on "Heroes After Hiroshima: Protagonists in Kurt Vonnegut's Early Novels"; TAHITA FULKERSON of TCJC, also a TCU M.A., who chaired a world literature session; and TCU Ph.D. DEBORAH J. KUHLMANN of Galveston Collège, whose topic was "Virginia Woolf's Cyclical Dialectics."

MILDRED HOGSTEL (nursing) has been informed that her manuscript, "Gerontological Nursing in the Baccalaureate Curriculum," will be published in a future edition of Nurse Educator.

JOHN BUTLER (University minister) and KAY HIGGINS (residential living) recently presented a workshop titled "A Campus Response to a Student Death" at the annual TACUSPA Drive-In Conference. The conference was hosted by Baylor University in Waco.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

THE JAZZ ENSEMBLE and CURT WILSON performed "An Evening of Jazz" March 2 at Grapevine High School with the Grapevine high Jazz Band and Dallas vocalist Carol Marks. Grapevine high's assistant band director, Jim Prichard, arranged the event "to let the kids see what jazz musicians are doing in college and professionally and to educate the parents and community."

The Jazz Ensembles and Curt have a boxful of thank-you notes from grateful Camp File Girls and Bluebirds for whom they recently performed. The girls labeled the big Will Rogers Auditorium concert "dazzling" and "jazzy" and especially admired trumpeter John Wilson of Fort Worth. Only one criticism was registered. A young fan of John's wrote to him, "They need to put you closer to the front."

LEE DANIEL (modern language) presented a paper titled "Diabolus and Sor Juana's 'El certo de Jose'" for the Louisiana Conference on Hispanic Languages and Literature in New Orleans. Presenters at the conference came from 45 states and from Spain, Mexico, Central and South America. "La Chispa" has become the largest conference in the United States devoted to the Hispanic languages and literatures.

KEN STEVENS (history) has just published "Of Whaling Ships and Kings" in the historical journal Prologue. The article discusses American diplomatic and naval policy toward Africa in the 1850s.

On March 3 DON FRISCHMANN (modern languages) and 25 TCU students of Spanish were honored at the Fort Worth ISD Adopt-A-School banquet. Since September the students have been working as volunteer teaching assistants in the D. McRae Elementary School Spanish Immersion Program. Don served as TCU coordinator of the project.

Comparative Biochemistry and Physiology has accepted an article co-authored by ERNEST COUCH (biology) on progesterone and estradiol immunoreactivity in the American lobster. The research, conducted with researchers at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, was supported by the TCU Research Fund.

Sympathy is expressed to HAL ROACH (development) and BECKY ROACH (vice chancellor's office) on the March 4 death of his father, C. Hal Roach of Fairfield. Graveside services were conducted at Greenwood Memorial Park March 7.

BILL JURMA (speech communications) and wife Susan are the parents of Angela Marie, born Friday, Feb. 13, Bill says, on the night of a full moon.

CATHY COLLINS (education) directed a day-long seminar for Chapter I teachers in the Lubbock-Amarillo region earlier this month. The seminar was designed to increase remedial readers' language arts skills. Cathy also directed a two-day training session for the faculty of Gateway School of Fort Worth.

Historian DAVE EDMUNDS has been selected to receive a National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Stipend Award. The awards, made to only 14 percent of the 1987 applicants, are designed to "provide financial support for faculty members in colleges and universities working in the humanities so they can devote two consecutive months of full-time study and research to projects of their choice." Dave will spend his two months conducting research on French Indian policy in the Great Lakes region during the 18th Century.

When First Christian Church of McKinney dedicated its new King pipe organ at Feb. 15 services, EMMET SMITH (music) was guest organist, playing five organ pieces as well as the music for the service. Emmet served as a consultant in the planning and design of the organ. CINDY FRIESEN, 1966 graduate in church music, is music director there.

CYNTHIA FOLIO (music) presented a paper at the ninth meeting of the Texas Society for Music Theory in Nacogdoches March 6-7. The title was "Linear Analysis as a Key to Pitch Organization in Two Songs from Schoenberg's Op. 15."

CHRISTINA MURPHY (English) has had a short story, "Blue Car," accepted for publication by The Crescent Review.

Congratulations are due to MARY ANNE GORMAN (nutrition and dietetics) on the birth of a daughter, Jennifer Allison Gorman, Feb. 27.

A number of paintings of TCU scenes will be included in the 65-70 pieces included in "Isoline: A Retrospective Exhibition," display of works by former art department member CHARLES ISOLINE now of Baylor University. The showing of drawing, design, painting pottery, photography and assemblage dating from 1952 to the present will be exhibited March 16-April 8 at Baylor's Hooper-Schaefer Fine Arts Center.
