MICHELLE COOK RECEIVES FIRST PERRY AWARD

Recognized as a person who has faced adversity with will power and a passion for life, May graduate Michelle Cook of El Paso has been named the first recipient of the Janet Perry Award, which honors the memory of a TCU cheerleader who died of cancer last summer.

Senior Scholar in English, Michelle has been active in Honors Program, served as vice president of Mortar Board, was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities and shared honors as 1987 Phi Beta Kappa Outstanding Senior in Liberal Arts. She accomplished this while facing the personal tragedies of her mother's unexpected death last spring, her father's heart attack and his subsequent emergency open heart surgery in the fall.

Michelle was selected for the award because her courage, enthusiasm and integrity exemplify that of Janet Perry, a varsity cheerleader from Temple who fought a two-year battle against cancer. A popular finance and real estate major, she was active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes and was on the dean's list for academic achievement. TCU's House of Student Representatives sponsors the award, which is bestowed through a nomination process to a person of principle and spirit who also places high emphasis on academics. The award is presented during the Student Leadership Awards on the final day of classes for the spring semester.

HASTAD WILL HOLD INTERIM POST

Doug Hastad, who joined the faculty in 1984 as chairman of the physical education department and associate professor of education, will assume the position of interim dean of the School of Education on June 1.

A national search for a successor to John Mangieri as School of Education dean will begin in the fall, according to Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler, who announced the interim appointment.

Described as "ideally suited for the position" by Dr. Koehler, Doug came to TCU from Arizona State University. He formerly was a member of the Concordia College faculty following several years' experience as an elementary physical education specialist in Minnesota. Doug, whose particular interests are children's physical fitness and delinquent behavior and participation in sport, is an alumnus of Concordia and holds the M.S. degree from Washington State and the Ed.D. degree from Arizona State.

ELECTRICAL WORK TO BEGIN SOON

Construction activity at the corner of South Drive and Bellaire Drive North will begin later this month. Because of additional buildings being added to campus and other increases in use over a period of time, it is necessary to increase the size of electrical wires providing service from TU Electric Company, according to physical plant director Bob Haubold.

Some excavations will be noticeable on campus for several months, Bob said, since it will be necessary to provide electrical service and other utilities to new facilities.

Electrical voltage for distribution is being changed to take advantage of a lower rate as well as to replace some building transformers that are past the useful service life expected of such equipment. Changes in electrical distribution voltage and replacing transformers for the entire campus is a long-range project, and the soon-to-begin work will be the initial phase.

22 CHOSEN FOR STUDENT FOUNDATION

Twenty-two students recently selected for membership in the TCU Student Foundation include nine men and 13 women. In addition to eight independents, the new members represent three fraternities and seven sororities, according to advisor Debbie Jones.

The 50-member organization serves as a liaison between the University and its alumni and assists divisions with such activities as fund raising and student recruitment. In addition to such major projects as a senior giving campaign, members host alumni events and represent TCU at various functions.

New members include Kathryn Burke, Monique Chapin, Lynn Drury, Heather Edwards, Kathy Fuller, Melissa Hargett, Andy Hartman, Elena Hicks, Patrick Hurley, Daniel Jasica, Clark Jones and Lori McGiven. Others are Tamara Nichols, Susan Nixon, Michael Ramsey, Paul Schmidt, Kathleen Stang, Ben Taylor, William Tempel, Shelley VanDall, John Watson and Maria Willie.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS SET PROGRAM

Twenty private colleges and universities throughout the South, including Texas Christian and Southern Methodist universities, will offer discussions and information about their academic programs tomorrow (Wednesday) during a free session for high school students and their parents. Sponsored by the 20-member Southern Consortium, the public event will be held in Dallas at the Westin-Galleria, 13340 Dallas Parkway, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Formal presentations as well as personal sessions with representatives of the independent colleges and universities will be included in the evening session. The diverse educational opportunities of member institutions, all of which practice selective admissions, will be discussed.

High school counselors in the Fort Worth/Dallas area also are invited to Wednesday's program to meet with the consortium representatives.

Members of the Southern Consortium, founded in 1979, all subscribe to an ethical code assuring good practice and selectivity in college admission. The institutions include Rice and Trinity universities along with TCU and SMU in Texas. Other members are Agnes Scott, Davidson, Hollins, Rhodes, Rollins and Newcomb colleges in addition to Emory, Furman, Sewanee, Stetson, Tulane, Miami, Richmond, Vanderbilt, Wake Forest and Washington and Lee universities.

Consortium members serving as contact persons for Fort Worth/Dallas area residents are Assistant Vice Chancellor Ned Boehm and Andrew Bryant, SMU director of admissions.

DISCIPLES HONOR KEN LAWRENCE

Ken Lawrence, chairman of religion-studies, has been honored for excellence in his field by the Division of Higher Education of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). As 1987 winner of the T.A. Abbott Award for Faculty Excellence, Ken will receive $1,000 and an engraved plaque during summer commencement. He was chosen from 10 nominees submitted by colleges and universities related to the 1.1 million-member church.

In nominating Ken, Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler said he motivates students to reach their highest potential. "On occasion, he makes students aware of abilities they never knew they had." Ken also was cited for his commitment to the value and development of interdisciplinary studies, including team teaching. Among programs he has been instrumental in starting are cross-cultural studies in religious art in conjunction with the staff of the Kimbell Art Museum and members of TCU's art and art history department.

The Abbott Award is named for a Disciples pastor who attended Christian University, now Culver-Stockton College in Missouri, and served on its board of trustees for 20 years. He was corresponding secretary of the Missouri Christian Missionary Society from 1886 to 1910.

STUDENT WINS GERMAN PARLIAMENT INTERNSHIP

Dean-of students Libby Proffer has received an unusual but welcome letter from parents of a student. Acknowledging that parents often write to complain or to ask for help with problems, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Schnell of Fort Lauderdale wanted to thank University personnel for helping their son, John, to an unusual achievement.

A senior business major, John is one of 15 students nationwide chosen for the Deutscher Bundestag Internship Program, combining classes at the University of Bonn with a full-time internship with a member of West Germany's parliament, the Bundestag. Normally the program is open only to graduate students, but an exception was made in John's case.

The program will begin Sept. 1 with a six-week orientation course that includes week-long workshops throughout the country sponsored by political foundations. From mid-October to the end of January, John will take courses at the University of Bonn, and his internship will be Feb. 1 to late May.

The Schnells' letter singled out the finance department and Bill Pohl of modern languages, who helped John prepare for the interview with program officials. The letter concluded: "We are proud of John and thankful that TCU made it possible. Please pass on a special thanks to these wonderful people."

FULLER, CAMP TO EDIT SKIFF, IMAGE

Kathy Fuller of Rockwall and Todd Camp of Corpus Christi will edit The Daily Skiff and Image, respectively, for the fall semester. Selections of staff members for both publications were made at the April 22 meeting of the publications committee, headed by librarian Joann Karges.

A senior majoring in broadcast journalism, Kathy has interned with the Mesquite Daily News as copy editor, typesetter and reporter. This summer she will intern with Aura Magazine. Todd, a journalism major, has been art director and cartoonist for the Skiff and was art director, writer and illustrator for Image. Advertising managers for the newspaper and magazine will be Lisa Bianchi of Tulsa and Houston Morford of Fort Worth, respectively.

HONORS WEEK PROGRAMS NEEDED

Any faculty or staff members with copies of the 25th anniversary edition of the Honors Week Program they don't need are asked to send them on to the Honors Office, Sadler Hall, Room 207, Box 29164. Demand for programs was heavy this year, and the office has no supply for student honorees' parents, who often request copies of the program, said Sally Bohon.

The Honors office also has copies available of Dale Huckaby's thoughtful Honors Banquet address, "A Journey."

CHISHOLM TRAIL WORKSHOP SET JUNE 13

"To market, to market," that old nursery rhyme phrase, will set the theme for the 10th Annual TCU/Chisholm Trail Writers' Workshop, scheduled for June 13 in the Moudy Building. Emphasis of the day-long program will be where authors can sell their work, both fiction and nonfiction.

Co-sponsored by Chisholm Trail Round-Up Inc., TCU's Office of Extended Education and the TCU Press, the 9 a.m.-4 p.m. workshop is an official part of the three-day festival celebrating Fort Worth's trail drive heritage.

Vicki Eisenberg, a highly successful Dallas literary agent, will set the tone for the workshop in a keynote address at 9 a.m. Ms. Eisenberg will talk about marketing opportunities, regional and national, for the Southwestern author. Among the titles Ms. Eisenberg is promoting is "Careless Whispers" by Carlton Stowers, the much-publicized book about recent murders in Waco. She also represents John Bloom, author of the Joe Bob Briggs column.

Novelist David L. Fleming will be the luncheon speaker. "Summertime," the author's first novel that was released in the fall of 1986, was the first original novel published by the TCU Press. Fleming will recount his experiences as a first-time author and talk about the writing of his novel.

Star-Telegram book editor Larry Swindell will present a report on the current New York book market, and a panel of three--Suzanne Comer of Southern Methodist University Press, Robert Frese of Taylor Publishing and Atticus Press in Dallas and Anne Norman of Texas Monthly Press--will report on regional publishing opportunities. The program will be rounded out with a report on the market for freelance articles by Jerry Flemmons, travel editor for the Star-Telegram and freelancer for a wide variety of publications.

A wine and cheese reception, designed to give participants a chance to mingle with workshop faculty and guest authors, is new to the program this year. Copies of books by conference participants and local authors will be available for purchase during the reception, along with suggested titles on writing.

The reception will be held at the nearby Log Cabin Village immediately following the close of the workshop. Forms for registration, which is limited, and additional information are available from the extended education office, Ext. 7134.

HONORS SCHOLAR TO STUDY IN LONDON

Tracy Wilson, junior French major and president of the Student Honors Cabinet, will use the 1987 TCU Honors Scholar Award to go to London to research the life and career of an early 20th Century feminist and social activist. Tracy, a Chancellor's Scholar who has been on the Dean's List since the fall of 1984, will spend a part of her summer studying Teresa Billington-Greig, whose work to better the position of women in Britain spanned almost 60 years.

MILLER CLINIC OFFERS SCREENINGS

In conjunction with Better Speech and Hearing Month, the Miller Speech and Hearing Clinic is sponsoring free hearing screenings throughout May. The screenings, similar to those given to school-age children, can determine whether further testing is needed.

The screenings will be held May 16 at Southwest Regional Library, 9 a.m.-1:30 p.m., and May 21 at the clinic from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Additional information is available from the clinic, Ext. 7692.

MAY 27-29 DATES FOR MUSIC USERS MEETING

The TCU Computer Center will host the 11th annual MUSIC Users Group conference during the last week of May. The group, known as MUG, is an organization of some 200 colleges and universities worldwide that use the MUSIC operating system. TCU has used MUSIC as the primary academic system since the University acquired the IBM 4341 in 1983.

MUG '87 will run from the morning of May 27 until noon on May 29. The two full days of the conference will be held in Lecture Hall 2 (approximately 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.). The final half day of the conference will be in the Worthington Hotel's Great Lakes Room, beginning at 9 a.m.

The Computer Center is encouraging its user community to attend the conference or sit in on some of the sessions. Additional information is available from the Computer Center, Ext. 6844.

The conference program will include such topics as:

- Developments at McGill (new release of MUSIC/SP)
- Software enhancement status report
- IBM 9370 minicomputer presentation
- New IBM ECSS (MUSIC) product presentation
- New IBM Personal System 2 micro-computer presentation
- New site profiles (MUSIC in Japan, Europe, Brazil, Australia)
- Perspectives in computing
- User presentations on:
 - Waterloo Script
 - Computer-Assisted Instruction
 - PC related topics (Campus automation system)
 - Printers
 - REXX utilities
 - System performance ideas

NOTES ON FOLKS

Attorney TOM WILLIAMS (adjunct, journalism) was honored recently as "outstanding young lawyer of Tarrant County" by the Fort Worth-Tarrant County Young Lawyers Association, composed of attorneys 35 and under. The UT-Austin alumnus automatically will be nominated for the outstanding lawyer of Texas award.

The April issue of Gestos, the journal of Hispanic theater of the University of California-Irvine, includes two publications by DONALD FRISCHMANN (modern languages and literatures). They are a critical report on the XIII Chicano-Latino Theatre Festival held last August in Cuernavaca, Mexico, and a review of El Teatro Campesino de Felipe Santander, a collection of plays by the award-winning Mexican dramatist. The first report resulted from field work carried out under the auspices of the TCU Research Fund.

JOHN LOUD (modern languages and literatures) attended the Midwest Slavic Conference in Ann Arbor April 24-26, presenting a paper on "The Prison Theme in Ivo Audric." This paper is the outcome of research begun during an NEH fellowship at Princeton last summer and continued this spring for John's course on the prison symbol in literature.

STEPHANIE WOODS (ballet), who chairs the ballet department at the National Music camp in Interlochen, MI, each summer, will have as full-time faculty members there this summer TCU graduate students MYRTILLA MEYER and MONICA GRADANTE and alumnus EDMOND COOPER, now of the Milwaukee Ballet. They will teach, perform and choreograph, Stephanie said.

TED KLEIN (philosophy) presented a paper April 30 at a meeting of the American Philosophical Association in Chicago. Entitled "The Ethical Intention and Ethical Transactions," it was part of a symposium on recent development in hermeneutics. The papers are published in the March, 1987 issue of "Nous."

Sympathy is expressed to VERONICA WHATLEY (physical plant) whose father, Joe Alexander, died April 29 in Fort Worth.

JIM LINK (ranch management) stays busy teaching on and off campus. In March he took part in Oklahoma State University's second advanced cattle management seminar, conducted through the OSU animal science department. Tomorrow (Wednesday) and Thursday he will discuss employee labor organization for the Great Plains Cattle Feeders Conference at Garden City, KS, sponsored by the Kansas State Cooperative Extension Service.

PENG FAN (mathematics) has a paper entitled "On Zero-diagonal Operators and Traces" (jointly with two other mathematicians) published in the proceedings of the American Mathematical Society.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

JERRY GROTTA (journalism) has been invited to present a session on Marketing Research for Newspaper Circulation at the annual workshop seminar for the International Circulation Managers Association in Memphis in July. This will be the fifth year in a row that he has been asked to address the session. On May 15 Jerry will chair a session for the annual convention of the American Association for Public Opinion Research (AAPOR) in Hershey, PA. His session will focus on "Method or Madness? How Advertisers Choose Media." Jerry also was the first judge from outside the Newspaper Research Council membership to be asked to serve as a judge for the highest award presented by NRC. The award was presented to the Washington Post's research director.

LAURA LEE CRANE, KIP SULLIVAN and BILL VANDERHOOF of education presented papers at the 1987 annual meeting of the International Society of Educational Biography May 2 in Montreal. Kip and Laura Lee presented a paper on Samuel Gridley Howe, a pioneer educator in the work with the blind and deaf/blind student. Bill offered a paper on Protagoras as the prototypical humanist.

Honored along with outstanding students at the University Leadership Reception were DARYL SCHMIDT (religion-studies) and DEBBIE JONES (assistant director, alumni). Daryl received the Faculty Award for Outstanding Involvement in Student Development, and Debbie, advisor to Student Foundation, earned the Outstanding Sponsor/Advisor Award.

Retired LTC DON THOMPSON, former head of TCU's Army ROTC, is among alumni of Missouri's Wentworth Military Academy chosen to be recognized in its Room of Honor. Photos of the honorees along with listings of their awards for valor and other decorations will be included. Holder of the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Legion of Merit, Purple Heart and Commendation Medal, Don is basking in retirement now near Blum with his wife, JANE, former public relations secretary.

MATH/PHILOSOPHY MAJOR WINS INTEGRATION BEE

Shawn Reynolds, a sophomore math and philosophy major, won prestige and $25 April 22 when he took first place in TCU's annual Integration Bee. Sponsored by the mathematics department, the bee is a take-off on the spelling bee and requires students to work calculus integrals in a double elimination event. Tom Pasol, a freshman biology major, finished second, and sophomore math major Erik Reid took third.

Bob Doran organized the event, borrowing the idea from MIT, where he was a visiting scholar in 1981. Math faculty members Vic Belfi, Landon Colquitt, Roy Combrink and Peng Fan helped out as graders while Charles Deeter kept time and scores. The Star-Telegram EXTRA ran articles on the bee and its winners in its April 22-23 and April 29-30 issues.
