SCHOOL HEADS TO STUDY HERE JULY 6-10

Educators already are pedaling as fast as they can to keep up with changes. Predictions are that the changes are only going to accelerate in the 1990s. Forty Texas school executives will come back to school in early July to learn how to instigate and manage those changes--not just react to them.

The July 6-10 session, "School Executives for the 1990s: Developing Agents of Change," is TCU's second annual Academy for Educational Leadership. Last year's academy, with a faculty including Texas education commissioner Dr. William Kirby, explored the concept of change. This year's focus will be on helping administrators develop models and strategies to affect the changes.

Academy participants, selected from nominations by superintendents and other educational leaders in Texas, are from Fort Worth, Arlington, Amarillo, Waco, Grapevine-Colleyville, Watauga, Crowley, Azle, Dallas, Odessa, Houston, Galveston, Allen, Cleburne, Sulphur Springs, Palacios, Richardson, Burleson, Belton, Aledo, Jefferson, Weatherford, Coppell, Killeen, Little Elm, McAllen, Abilene, Garland, San Antonio, Midland, Port Lavaca and Boyd.

Topics will range from politics and education to challenges for leaders dealing with cultural differences, from economics and education to ways in which administrators can empower professionals to be a part of decision-making.

The 1987 faculty specialists will include Dr. Richard Schmuck of the University of Oregon; Dr. Maria Senour, San Diego State University; Dr. Fenwick English of Lehigh University; Dr. Richard Podemsky, University of Alabama; Dr. Leonard Valverde, University of Texas at Austin; Dr. John Brown, an Ohio superintendent; and Dr. John Hoyle of A&M. TCU participants include Vice Chancellor Peggy Barr and Ed McNertney of economics.

Fort Worth ISD superintendent Dr. Don Roberts, who took part in the 1986 academy as superintendent of Amarillo schools, will address this year's session on "A Superintendent's Perspective on Change."

The academy is under the direction of Cherie Lohr, who chairs TCU's curriculum and instruction department. Funding support has come from the Carl B. and Florence E. King Foundation of Dallas and InterFirst Bank/Fort Worth.

HOUSING RESERVATIONS SHOW INCREASE

Total reservations for on-campus housing show a slight increase over a year ago. As of the June 1 report issued by Assistant Vice Chancellor Don Mills, 35 students account for the 1.1 percent rise.

Reservations for summer orientation sessions, which began last week, stood at 604 as of June 1. That figure is a 9.8 percent increase over 1986. Other highlights of the residence hall status report include the following:

- Men's reservations have increased 2.4 percent (28 students), and women's reservations have increased 0.4 (7 students) from a year ago;
- Freshman men's reservations are up 19.3 percent (74 students), freshman women's reservations up 1.8 percent (12 students) and overall freshman reservations up 9 percent (86 persons) from a year ago;
- Continuing men's reservations are down 6.9 percent (51 students), continuing women's reservations down 0.7 percent (8 persons) and overall continuing student reservations down 3.1 percent from a year ago.

Don also noted that housing reservations on June 1 represented 102.5 percent maximum capacity, while last year's figure on that date was 101.1 percent. Cancellations are 5.7 percent of total applications received compared to 7.1 percent in 1986.

GRADUATE JOINS WRIGHT'S STAFF

Jeffrey Richard, a 1984 graduate in political science and economics, has been named senior staff assistant to House Speaker Jim Wright. Jeffrey joined Wright's senior management team after graduating this month from Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government, where he earned a master's degree in public policy.

In addition to his school work, Jeffrey has worked as a legislative assistant, a Senate intern and a budget analyst for the City of Fort Worth. "Jeffrey's academic credentials, coupled with his experiences in the arena of public service, make him a valued addition to my staff," Wright said.

Jeffrey graduated from TCU with a 4.0 grade-point average. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities and received the Martin Luther King Jr. Leadership Scholarship and Outstanding Student Leader award. He also participated in the Washington Center's internship program.

BOOKSTORE WANTS FACULTY WORKS

Any faculty member who has written a book not available in the TCU Bookstore has recourse as near as the telephone. Sonia Moreno of the bookstore staff will work to remedy that situation for anyone who calls her at Ext. 7844.

TCU INSTITUTE DRAWS FROM 19 STATES

Twenty-five school administrators from 19 states have been selected to attend TCU's July 5-25 institute on A Study of Plato, Aristotle, and Machiavelli: Educating Citizens and Their Leaders. A $106,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities will provide travel expenses, room and board, books and supplies, a $600 stipend and a $200 grant to take part in professional conferences for each of them.

Institute participants will come here from Florida, Minnesota, Vermont, Missouri, New York, Illinois, North Carolina, Iowa, California, New Jersey, Utah, New Hampshire, Mississippi, South Dakota, Colorado, Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Bill Vanderhoof of education will conduct the institute, and faculty members will include Jon Moline, academic vice president, and Edward Langerak, philosophy chair, both of St. Olaf College in Northfield, MN; Grant Mindle of the NTSU political science department; Elizabeth Gooch, who chairs fine arts and humanities at All Saints Parish Day School here; and Cherie Lohr, curriculum and instruction chair.

A 1985-86 NEH grant to TCU funded a similar summer institute in 1985 for 40 elementary school teachers who were trained to serve as "master teachers" to help their colleagues integrate humanities into their curriculum.

Bill said TCU chose to follow that with this institute for principals, superintendents and curriculum specialists because research shows again and again that the quality of leadership is one of the most significant factors in determining the effectiveness of a school.

ON-CAMPUS EVENTS VARY FOR JULY

Campus activities for non-campus persons will continue the busy pace that began in June. The sessions arranged through the Use of Facilities Office offer opportunities for a variety of persons, ranging from children to older adults, to become more familiar with the University.

Events beginning in July include the following:

- July 5-10: Basketball camp with other sessions set for July 12-17 and July 26-31
- July 5-10: Soccer camp with second session July 13-17
- July 5-17: Dance workshop for high school students with second session set for July 19-31
- July 5-25: Summer institute for school administrators
- July 6-9: International cheerleaders camp
- July 12-17: Suzuki Institute and teachers workshop
- July 12-17: Trier, Germany, band/choir group
- July 21-24: Christian Youth Fellowship
- July 22-28: Texas high school coaches all-star football and basketball workshops and games

NEW FACULTY, STAFF APPOINTMENTS

Title changes for six persons in admissions became effective June 1. Named as associate directors are CHRIS ELLERTSON and ROSEMARY DROLLINGER. KAYE THORNTON, KAREN LIND, SANDY WARE and JIM ATWOOD are now assistant directors.

CAROL SAUNDERS, who joined the faculty in 1984, has accepted appointment as interim chairman of the management department. Holder of the Ph.D. in organizational behavior and management from the University of Houston, she is the author of studies published in the Journal of Management Systems and the Academy of Management Journal.

Holder of the James L. West Chair of American Enterprise Studies since 1981, DAVE CRAVENS became director of graduate programs in the Neeley School of Business on June 1. He is well known as author of studies on such topics as sales management, industrial purchasing and technology transfer, consumerism and the environment and transportation planning.

An adjunct in the School of Business since 1985, SARA McQUAID has been named a lecturer in management for 1987-88. The alumna of Goucher College holds the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Texas at Dallas, where she has been a faculty member. Author of studies published in the Journal of Applied Psychology, she is active in the national and Southwest divisions of the Academy of Management.

A psychologist in the Counseling Center since 1984, HAP KLINEFELTER has accepted a quarter-time appointment, effective June 1, as assistant professor of psychology. The former UT-Austin associate staff psychologist holds degrees from the University of Pennsylvania, Florida Atlantic University and the University of Florida.

A visiting professor in computer science since 1985, JOHN MEUX has been named a lecturer in that department for the 1987-88 academic year. The former U.S. Corps of Engineers project leader, who holds degrees from North Texas and Midwestern universities, is active in the Association for Computing Machinery, American Cryptogram Association and Mathematical Association of America.

WOMEN'S ASSEMBLY TO FOCUS ON STEWARDSHIP

"Where Much Is Given" will be the theme for consideration by several hundred women coming to campus Friday for the annual Assembly of Women of the Christian Church in the Southwest. From 300 to 500 participants are expected.

Topics for 24 focus groups on Friday and Saturday will range from effective leadership to issues of teens and from battered women and children to symbols of faith and worship.

Dean Marjorie Suchocki of Wesley School of Theology in Washington, DC, will be the keynote speaker. Formerly associate professor of theology and director of the Doctor of Ministry program at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, she has a special concern for lay theological education. Her presentation will begin at 7 p.m. in University Christian Church's Fellowship Hall.

Speaking at the banquet will be Doris McCullough, associate regional minister from Northern California and Nevada who will share experiences from her recent travels in the Soviet Union. A two-time visitor to Russia as a participant in the "Church to Church" program, she heads the board of directors of the Pacific Southwest Conference on World Christian Mission and is past president of the Northern California Ecumenical Council.

Preacher for the assembly will be Debra Lynn Huffman, who earned the B.A. degree here in 1977 and the D.Min. degree in 1983 through Brite Divinity School. The Wichita Falls native, who served as youth minister of Highlands Christian Church in Dallas and as interim minister for First Christian Church in McCamey, will speak Sunday morning at 9 a.m. in Robert Carr Chapel. She and her husband, alumnus Lynn Ditto, are co-ministers of First Christian Church in Alpine.

TCU HELPS RYAN PLACE CELEBRATE

The neighborhoods don't adjoin, but TCU will have a big role again this year in the Ryan Place Fourth of July celebration. Even the parade music will come from campus, courtesy of KTCU-FM.

As the 17th annual neighborhood parade begins its march down Elizabeth Boulevard at 4 p.m. July 4, participants will carry portable radios tuned to the TCU radio station. KTCU will broadcast appropriate band music for an hour to accompany the parade along its 1.5-mile suburban route.

The parade, organized by Marcella Daniel '66, will consist of neighborhood groups and families with their cars, bicycles, wagons, skateboards and lawnmowers decorated for the occasion. Parade theme is "Texas Women."

The Ryan Place musical, "Another Bicentennial Year," to begin at 7 p.m. in the schoolyard of Daggett elementary, Page and College, has a distinct TCU flavor. Written and directed by Neil Daniel of English, the play will star Ruth Whitlock (music) as Elizabeth Willing Ryan, founder of Ryan Place. Bill Pohl of modern languages will perform in the three-member orchestra. Still other TCU alumni, friends and students have roles.

DANCING CRITTERS DO TCU PROUD!

If you want to talk to a happy lady, just ask dance chair Stephanie Woods about the dancing fish and the dancing cat. The entire dance department joins her in taking pride in that lithe pair, who are really a couple of TCU ballet graduates, Connie Baker '81 and General Hambrick '80.

While General performed Alonzo and the Rumpus Cat in the Casa Manana-sponsored Fort Worth performance of the touring company of "Cats," Connie was a ballet-dancing sturgeon in the Dallas Summer Musical production of "My One and Only" with Stephanie Zimbalist and Tommy Tune.

Stephanie caught both acts in one weekend and learned that Connie, a Fort Worth native now living in New York, also has played the role of Gladys in "The Pajama Game" off-Broadway, Judy and Christine in "A Chorus Line," Ado Annie in "Oklahoma," Tiger Lily in "Peter Pan" and Gladys in "Pal Joey" in various productions on the East Coast.

She hadn't been "en pointe" since her TCU years, Connie confessed, until she was picked by Tune for the sturgeon role.

General and Connie have danced together at TCU and in the Fort Worth Ballet. General, a former member of Fort Worth Ballet and Dancers Unlimited, has other theatre credits in productions of "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "A Chorus Line."

TCU WILL BE 1989 TENNIS HOST

TCU will host the 1989 tennis championships of the Southwest Conference. Played in Corpus Christi for the last 12 years, the tournaments will return to campus sites beginning with the 1988 finals at the University of Texas in Austin.

According to SWC officials, the change is an effort to attract more spectator attention to the championships. The league, according to a Dallas Morning News report, has changed the format to provide for a regular-season champion and a tournament champion as well.

RUNNERS HAVE 'WORLD-BEST' NCAA FINISH

The Flyin' Frogs' 20th straight victory earlier this month in the NCAA Track and Field Championships in Baton Rouge added their second consecutive 400-meter relay crown in what was a stadium record that also set the 1987 world-best time of 38.82 seconds. TCU became the first school since the University of California in 1979-80 to repeat such a victory in one of the meet's leading attractions.

The time, according to records, was the third best in school history, behind the collegiate and NCAA meet record of 38.46 the Bubba Thornton-coached runners had in taking the 1986 title.

Not to be overlooked is the Frogs' third-place finish in overall competition. This is the best TCU finish in an NCAA indoor or outdoor championship.

Sprinter Raymond Stewart, the junior from Jamaica, won the 100-meter championship in 10.14 seconds and took fifth place in the 200-meter dash. The first TCU athlete to win individual NCAA honors, he finished a half point behind A&M's Floyd Heard for meet high-point honors. In addition to his 10 points for winning the 100, he had 2 1/2 points for winning the 400-meter relay and four for finishing fifth in the 200.

Fort Worth sophomore Greg Sholars finished sixth in the 100-meter event, and Jasper sophomore Tony Allen finished ninth in the 100.

Rebecca Allison of Lumsden, New Zealand, set a personal record in the NCAA competition by clocking 4:14.85 to place fourth in the 1,500-meter run, a repeat of her 1986 finish.

The Purple runners' earlier records include the 4 x 100 relay crowns from the Penn Relays in 1986 and '87, Texas Relays in 1986 and '87, SWC championships in 1986 and '87, NCAA championships in 1986, Florida Relays in 1987 and Mutual Life Games earlier this year. Bubba is assisted in coaching by assistant/women's head coach John McKenzie. All the award-winning runners will be back in school next year.

The winning ways of the track team will be featured on a segment of a video magazine series to be marketed by Sports Illustrated. The footage was shot during the NCAA meet, and the cassette is due for release in the fall.

SYBESMA COACHING SWIMMING IN ITALY

Swimming coach Richard Sybesma currently is coaching swimming and conducting a clinic for Italian coaches in Fort Worth's sister city of Reggio Emilia, Italy. He also is coaching a group of 35 Texas Aquatic swimmers who are returning a visit from the Italian swimmers to Fort Worth last summer.

Composed of 180 swimmers from beginning competitive to national level abilities, Texas Aquatics is a United States swimming team with programs in Fort Worth, Arlington, Duncanville and Irving. It will visit Venice in addition to participating in competitive meets while in Italy.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Chancellor BILL TUCKER will serve a two-year term as the Southwest Conference's representative on the NCAA Presidents Commission, a 44-member body of college chief executive officers that has led the NCAA through a series of reforms in the last two years. During its June 29-30 special convention in Dallas, the group will initiate an 18-month national debate on the role of intercollegiate athletics in higher education.

Tennis coach ROLAND INGRAM of the Lady Frogs will coach the East team for the U.S. Olympic Festival July 18-21.

JOHN LARGE (music) was in New York May 29-June 4 to attend the 16th Symposium: Care of the Professional Voice at Juilliard and to teach/coach Margaret June Wray, his mezzo-soprano student who is now a member of the Metropolitan Opera's Young Artist Development Program. She will make her official debut at the Metropolitan in the fall.

CHUCK LAMB (marketing) co-authored an article that appeared in the spring 1987 issue of the Journal of Professional Services Marketing. The article was titled "Establishing a Price for Government Services."

HENRY HARDT, emeritus professor of chemistry, will observe his 90th birthday this week. Those who wish to send cards should mail them to 3415 Meadowbrook Drive, Fort Worth 76103.

Sheila and BILL MONCRIEF (marketing) are the delighted parents of a 9-pound, 11-ounce son born May 24.

JOHN BREYER (geology) was one of the instructors for the short course "Coal Science: A Practical Approach to Addressing Technological Problems" held in conjunction with the 14th Biennial Lignite Symposium, sponsored by the Department of Energy and the Energy Research Center of the University of North Dakota. The most recent "Journal of the Geological Society of London" includes John's article "A tidal origin for coarsening-upward sequences above two Wilcox lignites in East Texas."

An article by JAMES BAUMLIN (English), entitled "Epic and Allegory in 'Paradise Lost,' Book II," has been published by College Literature. Two other articles have recently been accepted for publication. "Donne's 'Satyre IV': The Failure of Language and Genre" will appear in Texas Studies in Literature and Language, and "Persuasion, Rogerian Rhetoric, and Imaginative Play" will appear in Rhetoric Society Quarterly.

At the May conference of the National Association for Foreign Student Affairs, AL MLADENKA (international student affairs) presented an evaluation of credentials of students attending two-year consortium schools and private, American-type schools in Malaysia in preparation for transfer to American universities. During the national conference, Al also attended membership committee meetings to draft a five-year plan for the association.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Receiving a total of 272 points, retired basketball coach JIM KILLINGSWORTH has been named Winter College Coach of the Year by the Texas Sports Writers Association. In second place with 223 votes was UT-Austin's women's cage coach Jody Conradt, and Baylor's Gene Iba was third with 202 points.

Funeral services were conducted June 16 at University Christian Church for WRETHA WALLACH, former residence hall hostess. A Fort Worth resident for 25 years and formerly a resident of Dallas and Galveston, she died June 13. Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Charles Teagarden, and seven grandchildren.

EUGENE ALPERT (political science) has been chosen as one of only 30 people nationwide to attend C-SPAN's "C-SPAN in the Classroom Seminar for Professors" to be held in Washington, DC, in July. The three-day meeting will explore ways to utilize C-SPAN's public affairs cable programming use in the classroom.

TCU's alcohol and drug education program was spotlighted earlier this month at the Texas Association of College and University Student Personnel Administrators summer conference, attended by program advisor LORI WEISS and Assistant Vice Chancellor DON MILLS. With "Substance Abuse: The Educator's Response" as its theme, the Houston meeting included a session coordinated by Lori on innovative alcohol and drug education programs in progress in Texas. Lori was on the conference planning committee and is on the committee for a Substance Abuse Education Program guide.

Earlier in the spring Lori was named to the executive board of the Dallas/Fort Worth chapter of P.A.L.M. (Problems of Alcohol in Labor and Management). She also made a presentation in May for the regional Workshop on Youth and Drugs sponsored by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, U.S. Department of Transportation.
