TRIER CHOIR TO PERFORM DURING TCU STAY

As the Sister Cities International Conference attracts visitors from throughout the world to Fort Worth, TCU will be welcoming Cantores Trevirenses, the city choir from Fort Worth's new sister city of Trier, West Germany.

The 35-member choir, to stay in Foster Hall July 11-17, will perform for the campus community July 13 at 12:30 p.m. in the Student Center south lounge. The choir's extensive repertoire emphasizes clerical as well as cosmopolitan choir music from several epochs including Renaissance, Baroque, Romantic and Modern.

In addition to the performance, choir members will meet invited students, faculty and staff during their daily breakfasts in the Student Center south lounge, said Al Mladenka, director of international affairs, who visited Trier last week during a vacation trip. Other University members who have been to Trier are Vice Chancellor Peggy Barr and Associate Vice Chancellor Larry Lauer, who met with officials of the University of Trier in May. At least four TCU departments have expressed interest in exploring faculty exchanges with that university, Al said.

The choir, founded in 1966, twice has won the International Choir Prize in Belgium and performs throughout West Germany, France, Luxembourg and other countries. While in Fort Worth, the group will perform during a mass at St. Andrews Catholic Church, before the City Council and at a reception in the Water Garden. They also will visit the museums and Stockyards, attend a performance of "Mame" at Casa Manana and tour Carswell Air Force Base.

ALUMNI OFFICE PLANS FOOTBALL TRIP

The Horned Frogs' game with the Air Force Academy is on the agenda for Alumni Association-planned travel this fall. The Sept. 11-13 junket will begin with an 11 a.m. non-stop flight from Dallas/Fort Worth Airport to Colorado Springs, where travelers will stay at the Antlers Hotel. A chuck wagon dinner and entertainment is planned that evening at the Flying W Ranch.

A champagne brunch will precede the bus ride to the Air Force Academy for the afternoon game Sept. 12. The following morning will be free for individual activities before the 2 p.m. return flight.

A non-refundable $50-per-person deposit will hold reservations, and final payment is due by July 15. Per-person cost will be $380 for double occupancy and $445 for single occupancy. Additional details are available from the alumni office, Ext. 7803.

THREE FROGS PICKED IN NBA DRAFT

Frog cagers Carven Holcombe, Carl Lott and Jamie Dixon were chosen by professional teams in the National Basketball Association draft on June 23. Captain of the Purple team during one of its finest seasons ever, Carven was picked by the Cleveland Cavaliers in the fourth round. He will be joined there by Carl, who was chosen in the following round. Guard Jamie Dixon will be heading to the Northwest where he will play with the Washington Bullets.

NEW FACULTY, STAFF APPOINTMENTS

A clinical biochemist with Procter & Gamble since 1986, MARY HASTINGS HAGER will join the nutrition and dietetics faculty for 1987-88. The alumna of the University of Delaware and Pitler College earned the Ph.D. at the University of California-Davis in 1978. Formerly on the faculty of College of Mount St. Joseph, she was a nutrition scientist with Procter & Gamble in 1978-83. Named to Mortar Board, she is active in Sigma Xi, American Institute of Nutrition, American Dietetic Association and American Physiological Society.

ANGELA SHULER, former staff accountant with Arthur Young & Co., will join the accounting department this fall on a three-quarter-time appointment. Active in the Oklahoma Society of CPAs, she holds the B.B.A. and master's degrees in accounting from Oklahoma State University.

THOMAS ENCKELL, formerly a dancer with the Metropolitan Opera and the Finnish National Ballet, will join the dance faculty for 1987-88. A native of Finland who began ballet studies in Switzerland at the age of 10, he moved to New York in 1960, when his father became Finnish ambassador to the United Nations, and then studied at the School of American Ballet. He has been artistic director of the Omaha Ballet and Nebraska Dance Ensemble and has taught at the University of Nebraska.

LARGE GETS FULBRIGHT GRANT

John Large has been awarded a Senior Postdoctoral Fulbright grant to conduct research in singing from May to August 1988 at the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm, Sweden.

Director of the graduate program in voice performance pedagogy, John is founder and editor of The Journal of Research in Singing and Applied Vocal Pedagogy. He is general secretary of the International Association for Research in singing. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of New Mexico, the Doctor of Music in voice performance, literature and pedagogy from Indiana University and the Ph.D. in voice science from Stanford University School of Medicine.

As the recipient of a Junior Fulbright Award he studied with Pierre Bernac at the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris, where he received the Licence de Concert. John has concertized widely in the United States and Europe, has given both Carnegie Recital Hall and Town Hall recitals and has performed major opera roles.

He is one of some 2,500 U.S. grantees being sent abroad during the 1987-88 academic year under the Fulbright exchange program. More than 54,000 Americans have participated in the program since it was established in 1946 under Congressional legislation introduced by former Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

SUZUKI INSTITUTE STARTS SUNDAY

Don't worry that you might have stumbled into the wrong school when you see all the children running about campus next week. Some 250 students, many of them pre-schoolers, are enrolled in the annual Fort Worth Suzuki Institute Sunday through July 17 at Ed Landreth Hall. Seventy-five teacher trainees also will be on hand for the accompanying Teachers' Workshop.

The institute also has been chosen as the site for the national meeting of the Suzuki Association of the Americas.

The institute and workshop, sponsored by the Department of Music and the Office of Extended Education, will have in residence for the week the Chester String Quartet of Indiana University. Besides offering master classes for advanced students and coaching chamber music, the Chester also will perform a concert at 7 p.m. July 14 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The performance is free and visitors welcome, but Jeff Cox, director of the institute, reminds that there will be many young children present.

Other performances during the week will include a piano recital by Donna Edwards, who along with Ruth Whitlock and Jeff will represent TCU on the 50-member institute and workshop faculty. She will play at 4:15 p.m. July 13. The institute's closing piano concert is set for 7 p.m. July 16 and the closing violin, cello and flute concert at 4:15 p.m. July 17. All will be in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

TCU IN THE NEWS

Career Placement/Planning Center director RON RANDALL and May graduate AMY POLLOK were featured June 2 in the Star-Telegram's story on job hunting and job opportunities. The story noted that "the decaying Texas economy and unreal expectations are making it tougher for graduating seniors looking for that perfect job."

Alumnus-pediatrician TOM ROGERS was the subject of the page 1 feature in the Dallas Morning News PEOPLE section May 31. The article focused on his "lifelong love affair" with both music and medicine. Both Tom and his wife, JOAN (admissions) are active in alumni activities.

Excerpts from remarks made by Chancellor BILL TUCKER at May 9 commencement were included in the Houston Post's May 31 feature entitled "What they're telling the class of '87." The full-page feature included selected comments from commencement speeches across the state given by such persons as Dr. Aaron Cohen, director of the Johnson Space Center at University of Houston, Clear Lake; Vice President George Bush at UT-El Paso; New York Times columnist Leonard Silk at SMU; House Speaker Jim Wright at LBJ School of Public Affairs; and Jorje Espinosa de los Reyes, Mexican ambassador of the United States, at A&M.

This season's accomplishments of the FLYIN' FROGS, ranked No. 3 in the nation following their NCAA wins, were included in a CBS taped broadcast that aired June 20 on Channel 4.

In his June 14 column, Star-Telegram book editor Larry Swindell described the TCU PRESS as having given Fort Worth "status in the world of publishing." He added: "This time the words can't be nice enough, for 'A Literary History of the American West' surely merits some new superlatives that haven't been squandered on lesser books." The 1,408-page volume was issued in April.

The June issue of FORT WORTH Magazine includes a full-page feature entitled "TCU's Summer Fare" that details the camps, classes and workshops for out-of-school youngsters. "TCU's exciting summer schedule leaves no summer excuse to abandon pencils and books," the article concluded.

The wine and cheese reception held in conjunction with the TCU Writer's Workshop was noted in the Star-Telegram's June 17 issue of IMAGE. Included in the photos were historian DON WORCESTER and JUDY ALTER of TCU Press.

"Aspiring writers told the market wide open but first book is tough" was the headline for the Star-Telegram's June 21 followup feature on the TCU/Chisholm Trail Writers' Workshop, cosponsored by the OFFICE OF EXTENDED EDUCATION and the TCU PRESS.

Chancellor BILL TUCKER helped young writer Cheyenne Carter and her brother Jason compare a Horned Frog model with the statue on campus for a photo that accompanied the June 17-18 Star-Telegram EXTRA story about Cheyenne's history of TCU. The chancellor, who hosted the youngsters to cookies in his office, said he'd give her an A-plus for her effort.

CYF SESSION STARTS JULY 21

Registration will be held July 21 for the annual Christian Youth Fellowship regional assembly, expected to draw some 650 students from throughout Texas and New Mexico to campus through July 24.

"Salt Shakers, Light Bulbs and the City on the Hill" will be the theme of the convention, drawn from Matthew 5:13-18: "You are the salt of the earth...You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid." Assembly directors are Nancy Pittman of Oak Cliff Christian Church in Dallas, formerly assistant to the dean at Brite; Diane Stewart of First Christian Church in Sulphur Springs, and Ruby Henry of Bonnie View Christian Church in Dallas.

Featured speakers will include two from TCU, Coach Jim Wacker and Kenneth Teegarden, distinguished minister-in-residence and former general minister and president of the Christian Church, along with J. David Stone, nationally known youth minister who is executive director of Alternate View Network, director of Youth Ministries Consultation Service and instructor of youth ministry at Centenary College in Shreveport, LA.

Worship services will be held at University Christian Church at 9 p.m. July 21, 7 p.m. July 22 and 6:30 p.m. July 23. Musicians performing for the assembly include Kirk Ringers, high school handbell choir from First Christian Church of Wichita Falls, and a youth ensemble from First Christian Church of Wichita Falls performing on Orff instruments.

TCU WINS WILDER AWARD

A TCU mailer on careers in the visual arts, designed by Margie Adkins of the art department, has received a merit award in the Texas Association of Museums' 1987 Mitchell A. Wilder Publication Competition.

There were 230 entries from member institutions, making the 1987 Wilder competitions the largest to date. TCU was one of 60 award winners. The only stated criterion is excellence of design.

The competition is named for the late director of Fort Worth's Amon Carter Museum, who was a staunch advocate of excellence in museum publications.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Mathematicians BOB DORAN and PENG FAN were participants in The Great Plains Operator Theory Conference May 27-30 at the University of Kansas in Lawrence. The main speaker for the conference was Dan Voiculescu, a recent defector from Communist Romania and now professor of mathematics at the University of California at Berkeley. His lectures dealt with free products of C*-algebras and non-commutative analogues of probability theory. Mathematicians from all over the world took part in the conference.

On May 18-21 Bob attended the spring meeting of the trustees of the Association of Members of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton. A member of the board, he was reappointed as chairman of the Western committee of the institute.

Prints by DAVID CONN (art) are showing around the world this summer. His Hobo Suite of 20 etchings is on view at the Waco Art Center through June. Three of David's relief/collagraphs have been accepted for the first International Biennial of Prints, Campinas, Sao Paulo, Brazil. Others are in the 17th International Biennial of Graphic Art, Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, which opened June 19. More than 1,300 artists from 58 countries submitted works for the showing at Ljubljana's Museum of Modern Art, and the number of artists selected usually is around 100, David said.

On June 11-12 DALE PITTS (athletics) was a member of a panel that made a presentation to the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals at their summer conference in Austin. The panel was composed of representatives from the Southwest Conference, and the presentation concerned NCAA Proposition 48. This rule concerns new procedures for admitting student-athletes to NCAA institutions.

MILDRED HOGSTEL and MAISIE KASHKA (nursing) have been informed that the report of their research study, "Familial Longevity Patterns and Lifelong Health Practices of Persons Age 85 and Older," has been accepted for publication in Geriatric Nursing.

The latest issue of the Journal of the Philosophy of Sport (University of Western Ontario) contains SPENCER WERTZ' (philosophy) presidential address entitled "Is 'Choking' an Action?" Spencer read the paper last summer at the Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport meeting at the University of Tsukuba, Japan. Spencer attended the June 19-22 executive committee meeting of the Southwestern Philosophical Society of which he is the past president. The meeting was held in New Orleans.

Sympathy is expressed to LU BACUS (religion-studies), whose mother, Myrtle Dickens Lee, died June 20. Memorial services were held June 23 at University Christian Church.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Bertie Harris Lake, mother-in-law of GILBERT DAVIS (church relations), died June 21 in Dallas. Services were held June 23 in Crockett.

Funeral services were conducted June 20 for L.T. REESE (physical plant), who died June 12 in a Fort Worth hospital. A former student at I. M. Terrell High School, he is survived by two daughters and his mother, Rena Mae Reese-Marshall of Fort Worth.

JULIAN HABER (adjunct, Miller Speech and Hearing Clinic) moderated a panel board discussion entitled "The Community Pediatrician and Training" at the Surgeon General's Conference. The Campaign '87 was held June 14-16 at the Westin Galleria Hotel in Houston. Julian also presented a paper encouraging practicing physicians to care for disabled children.

ROBERTA PRITCHARD CORDER (university advisement) participated in the American College Testing Program's Summer Institute on Academic Advising. Co-sponsored by the ACT National Center, The National Academic Advising Association and the University of Iowa College of Education, the May 31-June 5 institute in Iowa City, IA, drew participants and faculty from throughout the nation to study ways to improve academic advising. They explored findings of the recent ACT National Survey on Academic Advising, which indicate that advising often merely involves information giving and referrals rather than zeroing in on students' developmental needs.

GENE BORING (religion-studies), who has spent the 1986-87 academic year in Gottingen, West Germany, on a Fulbright grant to do research on the literary form of the New Testament Gospels, was invited to lecture in late April to the four Scottish universities that have theological faculties. At New College, University of Edinburgh; St. Mary's College, University of St. Andrews; King's College, University of Aberdeen; and University of Glasgow his topics were "The Voice of Jesus in the Apocalypse of John" and "The Gospel Genre: A New Literary Form?"

In addition, he visited the theological faculty of Westminster College of Cambridge and was invited to lecture on the Apocalypse to the Doktoranden Koloquim of the Theologicum of the University of Gottingen. Before returning home, he will present a paper at the meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature in Heidelberg Aug. 11.

Funeral services were conducted late last week for Chela Rivas, wife of ANTHONY RIVARES (emeritus, Spanish). Long active in the TCU Woman's Club and former head of its hobby group, she died June 30 in a Fort Worth hospital following a lengthy illness.

Soccer coach DAVID RUBINSON was a member of the coaching staff of the 1987 U.S. Youth Soccer (girls') trials in Marquette, MI, June 26-July 3. He assisted in the evaluation and selection of the U.S. National Youth all-star soccer team which has national and international competition scheduled throughout the summer as part of the ongoing U.S. Olympic Committee's development program.

OPERA SEASON TO BEGIN ON KTCU

KTCU-FM will open its opera season broadcasts July 12 with Verdi's Rigoletto by the Swedish Opera Company and featuring tenor Jon Vickers. The opera will air at 3 p.m.

Broadcasts will continue for nine weeks and will include Luciano Pavarotti in "The Masked Ball" 1 by Verdi, "The Magic Flute" by Mozart, "Katya Kabonova" by Janacek, "La Boheme" by Puccini, "Orlando" by Handel, "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli, "Parsifal" by Wagner, "Lucia di Lammermoor" by Donizetti and "The Merry Widow" by Lehár. The Lyric Opera season will be followed by five productions of the Canadian Opera starting Sept. 20.
