TCU SENDS 18 INTERNS TO WASHINGTON

Eighteen interns are working in the nation's capital in assignments varying from the White House to a neighborhood newspaper as a result of TCU's affiliation with the Washington Center. Two of the 18--Lynn Gentry and Dana Cleveland-- have been awarded Washington Center Student Scholarships, says Gene Alpert.

The awards, sponsored by the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, are $2,000 per student. Lynn, a senior public relations/advertising major from Little Rock, is interning in the Department of Health and Human Services, and Dana, senior international affairs major from Dallas, is in the U.S. State Department.

The White House intern is Katherine Boyle, Midland junior, whose duties in the media relations section involve briefing regional press and answering questions about the president's schedule. She is a liberal studies major. Two Fort Worth interns, Denis Atkinson and Brian Doeren, both neuroscience majors, are assigned to laboratories of the National Institutes of Health. Peter Beaudette, senior political science major from Columbia, SC, is with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and Beth Bohon, senior international affairs major from Fort Worth, is with Coopers & Lybrand. Cathleen Chapman, junior from Duncanville, is putting her journalism and political science majors to work at the monthly publication Political Profiles, Inc.

Brenda Frye, Fort Worth senior majoring in graphic design, is with Peabody & Fitzpatrick, and Cheryl Gwynn, senior broadcast journalism/political science major from Bolingbrook, IL, works for the WFAA-TV Washington bureau. Chrissee Huffman, senior political science major from Odessa, is with the U.S. Department of Justice, and Jennifer Mearns, senior English major from Aledo, is in Smithsonian Institution's office of public affairs, where she is conducting a study on the feasibility of providing Spanish language releases for Spanish media.

Several political science majors have signed on with consulting firms. Jennifer Mohn, Houston senior, is with The Communications Company, which was the most successful political consulting firm in 1984 in terms of candidates elected. SRI International, a foreign policy operation, is the assignment of Austin senior Karin Schrottke, and Melissa Williams, senior from Conroe, is with Eddie Mahe & Associates, a Republican consulting firm. Alexander Sodek, senior political science major from Fort Worth, is working for National Restaurant Association, while Iowa Park senior Wayne Watson is with the Texas Office of State Federal Relations. Working for Hill Rag newspaper, which covers the Capitol Hill residential area, is Suellen Wolf, Austin senior who is majoring in journalism and political science.

FLU SHOTS AVAILABLE FOR FACULTY, STAFF

Flu shots for faculty and staff members are being given currently at Brown-Lupton Health Center. These will be available as long as the supply of vaccine lasts, according to center director Jack Terrell, at a cost of $5 per person.

Persons who have had the vaccine since 1978 will need only one shot, while those having no shots or shots before that date will need two inoculations. These will be a month apart, Jack said.

The health center is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

HALL OF FAME HONORS FORMER ATHLETES

Four former Horned Frog athletes who distinguished themselves on the gridiron were inducted into the TCU Lettermen's Association Hall of Fame on Oct. 4. Honored at the enshrinement banquet at River Crest Country Club were Steve Judy, Jimmy Lawrence, Ross Montgomery and Morgan Williams.

A member of the class of 1972, Steve was a standout quarterback. The Longview native set 15 different school records, several of which still stand, during his stay at TCU.

Jimmy earned all-SWC honors twice on Horned Frog teams of the mid 1930's, playing alongside all-America quarterback Sammy Baugh. A native of Harlingen, he was TCU's leading receiver on the 1935 team which was crowned national champion after a 12-1 season and Sugar Bowl victory.

Ross was a standout on Purple teams of the mid 1960's, winning all-SWC honors as a halfback in 1967. The Midland native appeared in the Shrine East-West, Senior Bowl and Hula Bowl all-star games and went on to play for the Chicago Bears of the NFL.

A standout lineman of the one-platoon era, Morgan earned all-SWC honors as a guard and defensive tackle in 1952 and '53. During his sophomore season the Fort Worth Paschal graduate helped boost TCU to the SWC championship and a Cotton Bowl berth against Kentucky.

RADIO SHOW TO FEATURE TCU STUDENTS

A number of out-of-state students along with admissions counselor Phil Raveling will be guests for the "Youth Speaks Out" program to air Oct. 13 on KAFM-FM. The discussion will center on why students are choosing Texas schools, the trend of lower enrollment figures in state schools and general information about the admissions process.

Hosted by Vicki Robbins, the program will air from 8 to 9 a.m. It will be broadcast again from 5:30 to 6:30 a.m. on Oct. 20. KAFM is 92.5 on the FM dial.

MORE THAN 2,000 EXPECTED FOR CYF DAY

More than 2,000 high school students from Disciples of Christ churches in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico are expected on campus Saturday for the annual Christian Youth Fellowship Day. Activities will begin at an 11:45 a.m. luncheon in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum with a program provided by Super Frog, the cheerleaders and band.

A highlight of the day's events, coordinated by religion-studies/admissions counselor Jim Atwood, will be the TCU vs. North Texas State game, beginning at 2 p.m. in Amon Carter Stadium.

CYF Day, as described by Jim, is a celebration that includes students seeing old friends and making new ones in addition to being a time of renewing school-church relations between TCU and Disciples of Christ churches.

Tickets, priced at $5.50 for the lunch, football game and program, are available from local churches. Thursday is the deadline for reservations.

'ORIENTAL RUGS' TOPIC FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

"Oriental Rugs--The Study of Their Craft, Their Economics and Their Beauty" will be the topic discussed at tonight's (Tuesday) meeting of the TCU Woman's Club. The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Faculty Center of Reed Hall with Mildred Payne, Kitty Polk, Elvira Harris, Sterling Lauer, Kay Edmondson as hostesses and Sally McCracken as chairman. James Grimshaw, affiliated during his professional career with Champion Oil Company in both Houston and Fort Worth, will be the speaker. He is known as a consultant for friends and acquaintances who are interested in purchasing rugs or wanting to study them as an interesting subject.

COUNSELING CENTER OFFERS CONSULTATION SERVICES

Information and/or consultation services regarding psychological issues are available to students, faculty and staff members through the Counseling Center during its regular hours, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Between 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. on weekdays, a designated staff psychologist is usually available to receive phone calls and to handle special circumstances, according to center director Jack Scott.

Persons wishing to meet with a psychologist can schedule an appointment by calling the Counseling Center, Ext. 7863.

ENROLLMENT FOR FALL TOTALS 6,925

Total enrollment for the current semester is 6,925, representing a 2.6 percent increase over the 1984 fall term. The figure stands, as of the 12th day of classes, at 178 students more than a year ago, according to an enrollment analysis released by registrar John Deupree.

The enrollment represents a 3.6 percent increase in undergraduate students. Slight decreases of 2.5 percent and 0.5 percent are seen in graduate and Brite Divinity students, respectively. The analysis shows undergraduate distribution by classes totaling 1,440 freshmen, 1,386 sophomores, 1,268 juniors, 1,447 seniors and 278 postgraduate and special students. The ratio of men and women among these undergraduates is 43.7 percent men and 56.3 percent women. Combined with graduate and seminary students, the distribution is 44.7 percent men and 55.3 percent women.

The largest undergraduate increases over the 1984 fall semester are 61 students in the School of Education for a 20 percent growth and an added 80 students in the Neeley School of Business accounting for a 5.4 percent increase. The School of Education also has a 7.9 percent increase in graduate students, and a 16.6 percent increase is shown in graduate studies (Master of Liberal Arts). The overall graduate enrollment is 2.5 percent below last year's total.

The long-time ecumenical nature of TCU's student body is seen in the representation of 38 religious groups in this fall's enrollment.

An analysis of the entering freshmen and transfer undergraduate students will be released later by admissions dean Ned Boehm.

CONCERTS SCHEDULED SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Choir music as well as sonatas of Domenico Scarlatti will be presented on campus Sunday and Monday. The Sunday performance will be by TCU's Chapel Choir, under the direction of Ron Shirey, at 7 p.m. in Robert Carr Chapel.

At 8 p.m. Monday, Donna Edwards will give a lecture/recital dealing with Iberian elements in the Scarlatti sonatas. Donna will perform six of the sonatas during the Ed Landreth Auditorium concert. Scarlatti, harpsicord virtuoso and composer who is generally regarded as the father of modern piano-playing, was in royal service at both the courts of Portugal and Madrid, where he was called to be music master to the Princess of the Asturias.

NOTES ON FOLKS

AL MLADENKA made a presentation on the international student program to the Fort Worth Sertoma Club Sept. 13 and was awarded a certificate of appreciation. Several club members expressed an interest in the Host Family program.

LISA FUSILLO (ballet) concluded her summer activities with a workshop for the San Angelo Civic Ballet Company Aug. 9-11. While there, Lisa was a guest on the Pat Attenberry Show and was the subject of two articles in the San Angelo Standard-Times.

The paperback edition of PAUL F. BOLLER's Presidential Campaigns, published last year by Oxford University Press, will appear on Oct. 17. It contains a new chapter covering the 1984 campaign which Paul (emeritus, history) wrote especially for the new edition. The chapter begins, "The campaign of 1984 seemed interminable."

A 9 pound 2½ ounce daughter was born Sept. 21 to DOTTIE PHILLIPS (student activities) and husband Mark. Her name is Ashley Kay.

Fort Worth Symphony, which already has performed CURT WILSON's Ukranian Dances half a dozen times, has included it in fall performances at Burnett Park and at the Fort Worth Club. Curt also arranged the music for the new Blackmon-Mooring Steamatic commercial. He is doing arrangements for large musical services at Park Cities Baptist Church in Dallas. Another of his arrangements, "Short Stop" by Shorty Rogers, is included on the new album of a San Francisco group called Trumpets, led by Mike Vax, who was a featured performer with Curt's Jazz Ensembles on campus several years ago.

A reprint of an old German/Texas novel, "The Cabin Book" by Charles Sealsfield, has been issued with a foreword by GLEN LICH, TCU Ph.D. in English who is now teaching both English and German at Schreiner College.

Soccer coach DAVE RUBINSON has been the speaker for two area kickoffs of United Way campaigns. He spoke at the kickoff breakfast of the United Way of Parker County Sept. 13 in Weatherford and again for the Wise County kickoff Sept. 23 in Bridgeport.

Two TCU part-time instructors in English, DAVID W. CHAPMAN and MICK McALLISTER have articles published in the September 1985 Proceedings of the Conference of College Teachers of English of Texas. David's article is "Audience Dynamics: Motivation and Threat," and Mick's is entitled "Choosing and Using a Computerized Dictionary."

JANET MURPHY (emeritus instructor in physical education) won the Dodie Sullivan Award for medalist in a field of 112 women at Texas State Military Golf Tournament recently at Carswell Air Force Base. She shot a 78.

GENE ALPERT (political science) was one of three judges of the Congressman Jim Wright High School Essay Contest, in which one of the winners was CLARK JONES, TCU freshman pre-med major and son of Louis C. and MARY JONES (housing).

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

RALPH BEHNKE (speech communication) served as critic/respondent on a program about new applications of electronic media in instruction at the recent annual meeting of the International Communication Association in Honolulu.

Recent works of earthenware pottery by BETH THOMAS (art) made up the opening exhibition for the fall season at Hardin Simmons University Art Gallery in Abilene. She also presented for art students a slide/lecture illustrating the unique low-temperature salt firing process she developed as her thesis at NTSU in 1983. The earthenware exhibition will continue through Friday.

Sympathy is expressed to DOLORES OELFKE (financial aid) on the death of her mother, Mrs. June Scrogin, who died on Oct. 19 in a Fort Worth hospital following a week's illness.

BARON FAIRCHILD (modern languages) has been notified that her manuscript "The Business Alcove: Resources for Students of Commercial French" has been accepted for publication in Foreign Language Annuals.

CAROLYN SPENCE CAGLE (nursing) recently returned from Kansas City where she participated on an advisory committee for an NIH and March of Dimes grant, "Consensus Conferences on Prenatal Care and Low Birth Weight." Carolyn will serve on the advisory committee and present the keynote at one of the consensus conferences during the period of 1985-87. The purpose of the grant will be to generate and then disseminate knowledge to health care professionals on how to ameliorate the incidence of low birth weight (LBW) infants in the U.S.

SPENCER WERTZ (philosophy) recently gave a talk on the philosophy of sport to the Austin College Philosophical Society and AC's athletic department in Sherman.

Former athletic trainer ELMER BROWN recently was inducted as a charter member into the Southwest Athletic Trainers Association Hall of Fame. The organization was initiated last spring to recognize persons for their outstanding contributions to the athletic training profession as well as their service to the organization.

DAVE EDMUNDS (history) was one of three persons honored recently by the Citizen Band Potawatomi Tribal Business Committee by being made an honorary member of the tribe. Dave, author of The Potawatomis: Keepers of the Fire, also was installed as honorary tribal historian. He and two other honorary Potawatomis--Father Joseph Murphy of St. Gregory's College in Shawnee and Jean Lareau Miller, who established a Potawatomi archives with the State of Oklahoma--will be honored later in the fall at a tribal gathering in Fort Worth.

Historian SPENCER TUCKER attended the Naval History Symposium at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis Sept. 25-27. He chaired the session on the U.S. Navy in the 19th Century.

PAUL DAVIS (nursing) attended the Nursing Research Workshop on "Nursing Research: Application to Nursing Practice" at the Dallas V. A. Medical Center on Sept. 20. She presented her study, "Measurement of the Clinical Outcomes of the Patient with Chronic Pain."

JERRY GROTTA (journalism) was the featured speaker at the inaugural meeting of the San Angelo Press Club, Advertising Federation and Marketing Association. His topic was "Research for Marketing and Advertising." More than 70 people attended the event, which marks the beginning of a combined organization.
