'MAGIC & SPIRIT OF TCU, FORT WORTH' IS WEEKEND THEME

"Welcome Home to the Magic and Spirit of TCU and Fort Worth" will be the theme for the array of events planned for the coming weekend observance of Homecoming '85. The celebration coincides with the 17th annual observance of TCU/Fort Worth Week, which currently is calling attention to the University's 75th year in Fort Worth. Co-chairing the special events for alumni and friends are Scott and Sallianne Potter Mooring of Fort Worth, Class of 1969 members. Student chairman is Fort Worth senior Melissa Allen.

Irvin Farman, executive editor of the Fort Worth News-Tribune, and Chancellor Bill Tucker will be speakers for the Nov. 1 donor recognition luncheon, traditionally the initial alumni event of Homecoming weekend. Executive vice president of Witherspoon & Associates public relations firm before serving eight years as vice president and public relations director of Fort Worth National Bank, Farman will offer his perspectives on the development of TCU and the city during their 75-year partnership.

The luncheon with Farman presiding will begin at 12:15 p.m. in the ballroom of TCU's Brown-Lupton Student Center. Donor club leaders to be recognized will include Mrs. Jean Roach of the Addison and Randolph Clark Society; Frank Mackay, 1873 Club; and Mick Ashworth, ADVANCE. Music will be provided by the TCU Jazz Ensemble.

ANNIVERSARY CLASSES PLAN SPECIAL EVENTS

Five classes are planning special reunions as part of this year's activities. These include:

--The Class of 1935's golden anniversary event Friday at Colonial Country Club. Coordinated by Julius Truelson, the event will begin with a 6 p.m. reception with dinner and dancing to follow.

- A buffet dinner and dance for the Class of 1945, which is chaired by Elaine Henderson Michero. The Friday social will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Petroleum Club. All mid-1940s graduates are being invited.
- Reunion for the Class of 1960, headed by Paul Peebles, and the Class of 1965, chaired by Charles and Libits Potter Kendall, on Saturday at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. Starting at 7 p.m., the events will include a Mexican buffet.
- Saturday's reunion of the Class of 1975, beginning with a 7 p.m. reception, at the Headliners Club. Coordinating plans are Bob and Emily Hanna Bintliff.

Sports-Related Events Are Set

Three events for former athletes as well as athletically inclined alumni are on Friday's schedule. Beginning the day will be a golf tournament at Bear Creek Golf Course for alumni and friends. Tee-off time for the shotgun start will be at 9:30 a.m.

At 2 p.m. former members of the men's varsity tennis teams will stage a tournament at the Mary Potishman Lard Tennis Center. They will reassemble at 7 p.m. for dinner at the Hilton Hotel.

The annual meeting and banquet of the TCU Lettermen's Association will be at Colonial Country Club, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Parade, Coffee to Highlight Saturday Morning

A parade will be part of Homecoming activities for the second consecutive year since 1977. Floats and decorated cars will assemble at Bluebonnet Circle and at 9:15 a.m. will proceed north on University Drive, then west on Cantey Street and south on Stadium Drive. The floats will be displayed around the quadrangle in front of the Student Center.

The Rickel Building will be the setting for the annual coffee/reception provided by the alumni association for alumni, parents, guests, faculty and staff members. Hostesses for the event, starting at 9:45 a.m., will be members of the Thursday and Saturday groups of the TCU Women Exes.

Barbecue Lunch Will Precede Frog-Cougar Game

The annual barbecue luncheon, cancelled last year because of TV coverage of the game, will begin at 11:30 a.m. in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Reservations for tickets, priced at $6 per person with children under six admitted free, must be made in advance through the alumni office. Both luncheon and game tickets can be picked up at the morning's coffee.

Kickoff for the tenth meeting of the Horned Frogs and the University of Houston Cougars will be at 2 p.m. in Amon Carter Stadium. Presentation of the 1985 Homecoming Queen and her court will highlight halftime activities.

Saturday Time For Group Gatherings

With events set for both before and after the game, numerous groups will hold their annual reunions on Saturday. These will include:

- Journalism Exes breakfast, beginning at 8 a.m. at Colonial Cafeteria, 1700 Rogers Road. Speaker will be alumnus Randy Eli Grothe, award-winning photographer/reporter for the Dallas Morning News.
- Dr. Sally Boehm of the University of Michigan School of Nursing speaking to Harris College of Nursing alumni at 8 a.m. breakfast in TCU's Weatherly Hall.
- Ex-Bandsmen Association continental breakfast, starting at 8 a.m. in Student Center Room 207. A post-game party will be held at Under the Tower Sandwich Shoppe on Camp Bowie Boulevard.
- Breakfast at University Christian Church sponsored by Disciple Student Ministries at 8:30 a.m.
- Alpha Epsilon Delta reception for alumni, students and faculty, 9-11 a.m. Room M-16, Sid W. Richardson Building.
- Reception in lobby of Brachman Hall for its alumni immediately following the game.

Hyatt Regency to Be Site of Dance

The musical group "First Crossing" will be featured at the annual dance for alumni and friends which will be held in the ballroom of the Hyatt Regency Hotel. The event will begin at 9:30 p.m.

Bookstore Will Honor Alumni

The University Store will open Saturday morning beginning at 8 a.m. for the convenience of alumni and friends. Alumni wanting to order class rings will receive $2 off for each year since graduation, and other merchandise will have a 1 percent discount for each year since graduation.

Student Events to Start the Celebration

Student-planned events for Homecoming 1985, which began at noon Monday with a Jazz Ensemble concert at noon, will include a "Purple and White Day" on Wednesday with students, faculty and staff members being encouraged to "show their colors." Excitement leading to the weekend will continue with two performances of "Frog Follies," the annual student program of skits and entertainment. Show times are at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Friday's pep rally will begin at 6 p.m. in front of the Student Center, and the final student event will be an all-campus party on Saturday beginning at 9 p.m. at the Tarrant County Convention Center. Music will be provided by The Voltage Brothers.

SCHOLARS BRING VARIED BACKGROUNDS, INTERESTS

Sixty-one freshman students entered the University this semester as holders of Chancellor's and National Merit Scholarships. Of these 32 are recipients of the Chancellor's Award, and the combined total of 61 is probably the largest number for one semester, according to admissions dean Ned Boehm.

Of the 61 students, 25 or 41 percent are from Texas. Four are El Paso residents, three each from Fort Worth, five from San Antonio and outlying areas and two from Azle. A number of cities in the state are represented by one student each.

Thirty-six or 59 percent of the total are from outside Texas. States with more than one include Missouri with six, three of whom are from St. Louis; Kansas, seven; California, three; New Mexico, five; Arkansas, two; New York, two; Oklahoma two; Arizona, two; and Minnesota, two.

Of the freshman scholars, 49 or 80.3 percent are enrolled in arts and sciences. Eleven or 18 percent are enrolled in business, and 1 or 1.7 percent of the total is enrolled in nursing.

RICKEL ANNOUNCES CLOSINGS

The Rickel Building and the pool will be closed all day Saturday for Homecoming activities and the football game, says Steve Kintigh.

Other special closings in the near future include Nov. 8, when the building and the pool will close at 6 p.m. for Sigma Chi Fight Night; Nov. 9, when both gyms and the pool will be closed for a physical education conference and a swim meet; Nov. 10, with the pool closed all day for a swim meet; and Nov. 16, when one gym will close for a wrestling meet.

GRAHAM DANCER WILL TEACH HERE

Peggy Lyman, faculty member at the renowned Martham Graham School of Contemporary Dance, will teach a master class for TCU and other dancers at 10 a.m. Thursday in Ballet Building Studio I. Non-TCU master class participants will be charged $5; observers are welcome at no charge.

Ms. Lyman, who also has been on the faculties of American Dance Festival and Juilliard School of Music, served her apprenticeship with the New York City Center Joffrey Ballet Company and later danced with both the New York City Opera and Radio City Music Hall ballet companies. She joined the Graham company in 1973, and as a principal dancer has had leading roles in many of the most famous Graham ballets. Two classic solos--"Frontier" and "Lamentation"--and two company works--"Episodes" and "Cortege of Eagles"--were recreated for her by Miss Graham, who also has devised four new ballets for Ms. Lyman--"Frescoes," "Judith," "Acts of Light" and "Andromache's Lament."

Ms. Lyman's work with the Graham company includes two seasons at the Metropolitan Opera and two seasons in London at the Royal Opera House in Covent Garden. Her own company, Peggy Lyman Dance Company, had its New York premiere at the Joyce Theater in the fall of 1984 and is preparing for its second season at the Joyce beginning in January of 1986.

FILM WINS DISTRICT IABC AWARD

With several national and international awards already to its credit, the docudrama on emeritus artist-in-residence Lili Kraus has added another honor. The 30-minute film titled "Lili" was the award of merit winner in the audio-visual category of competition for the International Association of Business Communicators District V competition. The recognition was announced formally during the Oct. 17 presentation ceremonies held in conjunction with the IABC district meeting in Fort Worth.

LIBRARY TO FOCUS ON AIR

Aviation history will be the focus of November displays in the lobby of Mary Coutts Burnett Library. Joe Cook has designed the display on the development of military aviation, and Joann Karges has planned one on Will Rogers and Wiley Post.

Upstairs in Special Collections, Nancy Bruce and Laura Dubiel will appeal to Homecoming viewers with their display on TCU 50 years ago, and there also will be a showing of old Horned Frog yearbooks.

NOV. 11 SET FOR COUNCIL MEETING

The University Council will meet on Nov. 11. The session will begin at 3 p.m. in Room 109 of Reed Hall.

TCU PRESS ISSUES LARRY KING ESSAYS

"WARNING: WRITER AT WORK, The Best Collectibles of Larry L. King," brings together 11 essays which reflect King's Texas origins and five which demonstrate his journalistic style in dealing with such diverse subjects as Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong and sex scandals in Washington, DC. Publication of the collection has been announced by TCU Press.

Widely known as co-author of possibly the most commercially successful work ever written about Texas, the smash Broadway musical comedy "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," King may be remembered longer and judged more accurately for the kind of personal journalism to be found in this collection.

As he writes in the book's introduction, King grew up believing he needed to leave Texas "for the more mystic east" in order to find a writer's material. Ironically, he discovered in New York and Washington that his strongest work came from his Texas roots, experiences and memories: a hardscrabble farm near Cisco during the Great Depression, the gritty oil fields of his youth around Odessa-Midland, the hoohawing politicians, yahooping racism, fundamentalist religions and small-town values of a hardy, rural Texas now fast disappearing and almost gone.

King has worked on newspapers in Hobbs, NM, Midland and Odessa and served as an administrative assistant to two congressmen in Washington, DC. He has been a contributing editor to Texas Observer, Texas Monthly, Harper's, New Times and Parade, and his work has been published in such national magazines as Life, Esquire, Playboy, New Republic, Saturday Evening Post and Readers' Digest. King is the author of nine books to date. In addition to "Warning: Writer at Work," King has two other forthcoming books: "None But a Blockhead," to be published by Viking Press, and a children's book to be called "Because of Loza Brown." Available in the University Store, "Warning: Writer at Work" sells for $17.95 clothbound and $10.95 paperback.

PROPERTY CENTER PROVIDES SERVICES

A number of services are provided through the Surplus Property Center. If you need an office desk or chalkboard for a classroom, you may find one there. Items at the SPC are re-assignable at no charge to campus departments, according to Joanne Gable of physical plant. Sale items also are available.

The center, open 8 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m., is at 3100 Bellaire Drive North, behind the ballet building. Check with Randy there at Ext. 5201 for more information on what's available.

HUNGER WEEK AUCTION NEEDS YOUR ITEMS

TCU has a reputation to uphold in regard to its annual Hunger Week activities and gifts. Hunger Week doesn't start until Nov. 20, but a pressing need right now is donation of items for the second annual Ending Hunger auction to be held Nov. 20.

Last year's auction was a hit, both from the entertainment and the fundraising angle. The 50 items brought some $2,500 in proceeds for world hunger. Professional auctioneer and Brite Divinity student Luann Howard handled the sales of dinners and cakes, footballs and basketballs, visits to the Kimbell and the Japanese Gardens, car parts and computer lessons, even a bottle of Elvis Presley wine.

Donated items are needed by Nov. 13, says Hunger Week chairperson Andy Fort, and donors should call or bring their gifts to University Ministries (Ext. 7830) or to Andy in religion-studies (Ext. 7740). All donations are tax-deductible, and all proceeds go to local and international hunger relief organizations. Andy asks that TCU faculty and staff members mark their calendars for Nov. 20 and show up to make their bids at the auction, which will follow the 6 p.m. Hunger Banquet. Purchases are tax-deductible, too, and anyone who can't be here that evening may leave sealed bids at University Ministries office until 6 p.m. Nov. 20.

COLBY HALLOWEEN BASH IS TONIGHT

Colby Hall's annual Halloween party for the children of TCU faculty, staff and neighbors comes two days early this year. The party is slated for tonight (Tuesday) from 7 to 9 p.m. Parents will be served refreshments in the Colby lobby while their youngsters do their trick or treating in the dorm halls.

Staff members say the party is being held tonight because the Thursday date is too close to Homecoming and tomorrow night would conflict with the Vincent Price lecture.

ESU SCHOLARSHIP IS AVAILABLE

Faculty members who have students planning study in Great Britain next summer should pass along word of the English Speaking Union of Fort Worth $1,500 scholarship. Current TCU English graduate students or undergraduates who will have completed their junior year by the summer of 1986 are eligible. Information is available from Keith Odom or Neil Daniel in English, Ext. 7240.

VINCENT PRICE TICKETS GOING FAST

Just a reminder, if any tickets remain today (Tuesday) for the Vincent Price lecture tomorrow night in Ed Landreth Auditorium, you can get them at the Student Center information desk for $1 with TCU ID. Public tickets are $4 in advance, $5 at the door. Price's lecture, "The Villain Still Pursues Me," will begin at 7 p.m., sponsored by TCU Forums. The auditorium already was half sold out by the middle of last week.

TCU AMONG 12 IN TEXAS LISTED IN NEW BOOK

TCU is one of 12 Texas institutions among 221 colleges and universities across the nation listed in the new volume titled "The Best Buys in College Education." Released Oct. 10, the book names those institutions that have tuition, room and board charges below the national median and meet certain standards for quality, including SAT scores around 1,000. The book is written by Edward B. Fiske, education editor of The New York Times, and Joseph M. Michalak, editor of The Times' education and career surveys.

Other Texas schools are Abilene Christian, Austin College, Baylor, Rice, Southwestern, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Trinity and the universities of Dallas, Houston and Texas at Austin.

According to the Dallas News report, Fiske said SMU was not listed "because its costs were above the average cost for private schools of $9,575 in 1984-85." Being included in this listing is "another hallmark of TCU's recognition as a first-rate institution," said admissions dean Ned Boehm. "It confirms, too, that TCU is affordable and certainly worth the price."

BUFFET WILL PRECEDE TCU/TECH GAME

Lubbock's Plaza Hotel will be the setting Nov. 9 for a mid-day buffet for alumni and friends of Texas Christian University. The fete will begin at 11:30 a.m. at the Plaza Hotel, located at 3201 Loop 289 South.

Kickoff for the game between the Horned Frogs and Texas Tech's Raiders is set for 2 p.m. at Jones Stadium.

Tickets for the Nov. 9 buffet are $8 per person. Due by Nov. 1, reservations can be made through the alumni office, Ext. 7803.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AUTHORITY TO BE GUEST

Dr. Robert Pangrazi of Arizona State University, author of a physical education textbook adopted by more than 650 American colleges and universities, will be a guest of the School of Education next week as a Visiting Green Professor. To be hosted by the physical education department, he is recognized as one of the leading authorities on physical education.

During his Nov. 4-8 visit on campus, Pangrazi will discuss "Contemporary Trends and Issues in Physical Education" at a Nov. 6 luncheon gathering of physical education supervisors of area public schools. "Future Directions of Physical Education" will be his topic for a public presentation on Nov. 7. The program will begin at 7 p.m. in Lecture Hall 3 of the Sid W. Richardson Building.

Pangrazi, chairman of the health and physical education department at ASU, led in the development of a teaching/learning lab there. He directs the Arizona Governor's Council for Physical Fitness and Sport in addition to his work with elementary classroom teachers and supervision of a federally funded physical education program. He has been the driving force and sole consultant for the Mesa, AZ, public schools' elementary physical education. The nationally recognized program, nonexistent 10 years ago, now employs 50 elementary specialists, serves some 20,000 children and has received more than $12 million of district appropriations.

For the last 15 years, Pangrazi's book entitled "Dynamic Physical Education for Elementary School Children," has been considered "state of the art." It serves more than 70 percent of the available market, including colleges and universities. The book is scheduled for an eighth edition. He also is author of "Movement Experiences for Preschool and Primary Age Children" and "Dynamic Physical Education for Secondary Students."

Holder of three earned degrees from Washington State University, Pangrazi chaired Arizona's Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (AHPERD) in 1980 and has headed the physical fitness council and the elementary physical education section of the national organization. Also chairman of the National Association of Sport and Physical Education, he is author of 10 textbooks, editor of a journal and two books in addition to five professional films and numerous articles.

HEART ASSOCIATION NEEDS GIVERS AND WALKERS

Larry Peters, associate professor of management in the School of Business, is seeking sponsors for his participation in the American Heart Association's 10-mile Turkey Walk Nov. 16. Sponsors will donate money (tax-deductible) for each mile he completes.

Larry is also eager to find other TCU folks to take part in the Turkey Walk and raise money for their own efforts. He can be contacted at Ext. 7538.

NEW FACULTY, STAFF APPOINTMENTS

ODETTE BRUNEAU, whose studies comparing native American and Anglo pre-schoolers have been published in the Journal of School Psychology and in Psychological Reports, has joined the education faculty as assistant professor of curriculum and instruction. An alumna of the University of Minnesota and College of St. Thomas, she holds the Ph.D. from Texas Woman's University.

Author of extensive studies on terrorism and hostage taking, BILL HEAD has joined the sociology department as director of the criminal justice program. The Indiana University alumnus, currently completing the Ph.D. at SUNY-Albany, held a graduate research fellowship of the National Institute of Justice last year. He is managing editor of the Journal of Research in Crime and Delinquency.

New York City native CLAUDE STEELE, minority affairs coordinator, is a graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania and Urbana University. Listed among the Outstanding Young Men of America in 1983, he was a residence hall director at SUNY-Oswego in 1984-85.

CALENDAR EVENTS

CONCERT CHORALE SINGS MONDAY

The Concert Chorale, recently invited to perform for the American Choral Directors Association for the third consecutive year, will present its first full concert of the season at 8 p.m. Nov. 4 in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The chorale, under the direction of Ron Shirey, will perform Alleluia by Randall Thompson; O Magnum Mysterium by Tomas Luis de Victoria; Cantata No. 150 by Bach; How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place and Part-songs from Op. 104 by Brahms; Mendelssohn's Behold, God the Lord Passed By; Awake, the Harp from Haydn's "The Creation"; Charles Ives' Psalm 90, with the Collegiate Handbell Choir of University Christian Church; and Liebeslieder Polkas by the tongue-in-cheek P.D.Q. Bach, alter-ego of Peter Schickele.

The group's next appearance before the American Choral Directors Association will be at a divisional meeting in March 1986 in Tulsa.

In 1984 the chorale sang for the Southwest division convention in Dallas, and last year's performance was for the national organization session in Salt Lake City, the largest gathering of choral directors in the U.S. Sought-after invitations to sing for the national association meetings are made on the basis of competitive tape auditions.
