

BULLETIN

Issued by the Division of University Relations

Vol. 62, No. ¹² 11, Nov. 12, 1985

HUNGER IS OUR CHALLENGE

World hunger is a challenge to which TCU has increasingly responded in the last three years. The fourth annual Hunger Week Saturday through Nov. 23 brings an even larger challenge--to raise $25,000 or more to help relieve hunger internationally and in the Fort Worth area.

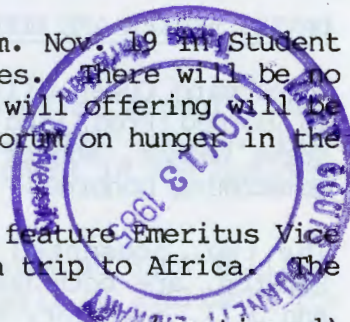

To bring attention to the plight of the world's hungry, the week will begin with a conference on world hunger from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, when the keynote speaker will be Lawrence E. Bruce Jr., president of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF. Recently returned from Africa, Bruce will outline a program for saving children throughout the world from malnutrition and starvation. The program, referred to as "Gobi," emphasizes Growth charts, Oral rehydration, Breast feeding and Immunization as key factors in improving the health of infants and children.

The conference is open to anyone at no charge, says Andy Fort, who not only chairs TCU's 1985 Hunger Week but also heads Tarrant County's UNICEF Committee. Bruce's talk will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Monday's Hunger Week event will be Frog Aid, an informal entertainment sponsored by S.T.E.P. (Students and Educators for the Prevention of Nuclear Wars) in front of the Student Center from 5 to 9:30 p.m. Singers, dancers, bands, comics and jugglers will perform, and between acts professors will read facts about hunger.

"Music for the Millions" will be presented at 11:30 a.m. Nov. 19 in Student center ballroom by the Concert Chorale and Jazz Ensembles. There will be no admission charged for the Brown Bag event, though a free will offering will be taken. At 7 p.m. that day, Bill Reese will present a forum on hunger in the Jarvis Hall lobby.

Nov. 20's Hunger Week Chapel at noon in Robert Carr will feature Emeritus Vice Chancellor Howard Wible, who has recently returned from a trip to Africa. The

(continued)

HUNGER IS OUR CHALLENGE (continued)

Hunger Banquet will be served at 6 p.m. that day in the ballroom. Admission is $3.50, and diners will draw numbers from a bag at the door to determine whether they will be among the 15 percent to be served steak, salad and chocolate mousse, the 25 percent to help themselves to stew and fruit in a cafeteria line or the 60 percent who'll get rice and beans and tepid tea.

The Ending Hunger Auction starts at 6:45 that evening, also in the ballroom, with professional auctioneer Luann Howard of Brite presiding over a spectrum of items including dance lessons, word processing lessons, autographed footballs and basketballs, a visit to the press box during the TCU-A&M game, a balloon ride, a ceramic frog created by Seppo Aarnos, who executed the Horned Frog statue on Reed/Sadler mall, and a guitar serenade by Richard Galvin.

Students may make mealcard donations Nov. 21-22 during mealtimes at both Student Center and Worth Hills cafeterias. Marriott will match the first $1,000 donated. Nov. 22 activities also will include an ecumenical prayer service at 7 p.m. in the Student Center lounge and a prayer vigil for the hungry in Robert Carr Chapel from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. Nov. 23.

Several international hunger relief societies have praised the unusual variety of TCU Hunger Week events, Andy says, and ongoing hunger events this fall also include the Frog Family Fast, rice bowls placed around campus for pocket charge collections and the sale of UNICEF holiday cards in the University Ministries office.

A formal end to the week's activities will come at the TCU-A&M football game Nov. 23, when a pre-show presentation by the Horned Frog Band will call attention to the outstanding giving records of both universities, the top two university donors in Texas. TCU Student House president Jack Larson and A&M student body president Shawn Royal will meet at midfield with Dr. Alann Bedford, a member of the executive committee of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF and of the TCU board of trustees. They will share a challenge for continued success in responding to the hunger problem.

*** **

DAVIS, WACKER ARE HOMECOMING HONOREES

Homecoming Queen Jill Davis of Longview had an escort with a name well-known in Horned Frog land and throughout most of the rest of this land--Wacker. Steve Wacker, son of Jim and Lil Wacker, was elected along with Ms. Davis as Homecoming honorees.

The two, presented during half-time activities of the Nov. 2 game with Houston, are both business majors. Steve, a junior, represented Clark Hall, and Jill, a senior, represented Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

POLITICAL SCIENCE SCHOLAR TO VISIT

She didn't coin the phrase "A woman's place is in the House--and in the Senate," but Dr. Barbara Sinclair certainly could have. Dr. Sinclair, who will be Visiting Green Professor here Sunday through Tuesday, specializes in two fields--the women's movement and the U.S. Congress.

The professor of political science from University of California-Riverside will lecture at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Moudy Building 141N on "Visionaries, Rabble Rousers and Political Ops: The Origins and Development of the Women's Movement." A reception will follow the public program. She also will be speaking to political science classes during her stay here.

A graduate of Rice with the Ph.D. from the University of Rochester, Dr. Sinclair is the author of "The Women's Movement: Political, Socio-Economic and Psychological Issues," first published by Harper and Row in 1975 and since issued in two additional editions and in Japanese translation. Her other books are "Congressional Realignment, 1925-1978," published by University of Texas Press, and "Majority Leadership in the U.S. House" for Johns Hopkins Press. In progress are works on a study of change in the Senate from the 1950s to the present and a section on "Methods of Studying American Congressmen" for a book on research methods to be published in London next year.

*** **

KTCU WILL AIR U.S./SOVIET SYMPOSIUM

Wednesday evening's symposium on United States/Soviet trade relations featuring Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger will be aired live over KTCU-FM at 88.7 on the radio dial.

Beginning at 7 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium, the program will be hosted by Chancellor Bill Tucker. Joining Weinberger for individual presentations and then a question-answer session will be Donald M. Kendall, chairman and chief executive officer of PepsiCo Inc., and Jack J. Murphy, president and board chairman of Dresser Industries Inc.

*** **

NOV. 14-15 SET FOR SURPLUS PROPERTY SALE

Surplus property items from the warehouse will be offered at a public sale Nov. 14-15. Included will be desks, chairs, cots, study tables, lawn furniture and typewriters. Payment will be by cash or check in the business office, and purchases will be removed on sale days.

The sale is set for 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the warehouse at 3100 Bellaire Drive North just behind the ballet building. No items will be available for sale until Nov. 14.

STARPOINT STUDENTS SAY 'THANKS'

Starpoint School students had a special Halloween treat...and to the benefit of UNICEF. The elementary school students were guests in Brachman, Sherley, Waits and Wiggins residence halls through arrangements of Mary Ruth Jones of the Student Life office. The hall residents provided candy and cookies for the children, who in turn collected some $170 in the UNICEF boxes during the visits.

Earlier in the week Starpoint students hosted a party for Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Neeley, founders of the school, in observance of his 87th birthday. The children sang songs, recited a poem and presented him with a cake and special card they had designed for him.

*** **

ART OFFICE SHOWS 'HOUSES IN MOTION'

Houses in Motion, works by Arlington artist Nicholas W. Wood, are on view in the art office, Moudy Building 245N, through Dec. 13 as part of TCU's Metroplex Artist Series.

Wood is an associate professor of art at UT-Arlington who has had solo exhibitions at TCU, UTA, East Texas State University, Midwestern State University, Fort Worth Art Museum and 500X and Delahunty galleries in Dallas. His work appears in corporate collections in Houston, Dallas, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Miami Beach, Palm Beach and Toronto, Canada.

*** **

CALL-IN SHOW ADDRESSES SOCIAL, MEDICAL ISSUES

For almost a year KTCU-FM has been airing a live call-in talk show each Thursday evening from 7 to 8. It is hosted by Carolyn Contos, a therapist who specializes in psychological adjustment to physical trauma and disabilities.

Diagnosed with muscular dystrophy 20 years ago, Carolyn has experienced the various stages of to emotions which disabled people must adjust. "No matter what disabilities you are talking about, the emotional adjustments are similar," she said. "You go through the same stages of shock, depression, anger, adjustment and finally adaptation."

Emotional stages for the disabled person are like a revolving door. They always return, but with proper adjustment and counseling it is easier to cope with those feelings, she said.

KTCU's program, called "Lifeline," has covered a wide array of topics of general interest. Recent ones have dealt with such social and medical issues as AIDS, alcoholism and child abuse. Often her guests are from the Fort Worth medical community.

(continued)

CALL-IN TALK SHOW (continued)

The Nov. 14 guest will be Paula Davis from the Women's Center, who will discuss women's services in Tarrant County. Mary Stewart Brumley will be a guest Nov. 21 discussing adolescent pregnancy in Fort Worth.

Carolyn is currently working on her Ph.D. in counseling psychology and is writing her dissertation on the self image of pulmonary patients. She works as a contract counselor at All Saints Hospital's Carter Rehabilitation Center with pulmonary patients and has a private practice in Fort Worth.

*** **

FOURTH TEXAS SERIES VOLUME NOW OUT

"North to Yesterday" by Robert Flynn, now available in the University Store, is the fourth title in the Texas Tradition Series of the TCU Press. The richly humorous, poignantly tragic novel is built around a cattle drive undertaken 15 years after the trail had been closed and tenyears after most people thought the Longhorn cow was a relic of the past.

At the center of the tale is Lampassas, the storekeeper who has heard tales of the trail so often he knows the route by heart. Risking all for one last grand adventure, he heads for Trail's End with a herd of straggly, bony Longhorns and an odd company of hands. Novelist A. B. Guthrie Jr. praised "North to Yesterday" for its "high, inventive humor, a humor that shines through antique dream and honest tragedy and, in combination with them, provides an uncommon experience." "North to Yesterday" won the 1968 Award for Fiction from the Texas Institute of Letters.

A native Texan, Flynn is the author of two additional novels--"In the House of the Lord" and "The Sounds of Rescue, The Signs of Hope"--and a two-part documentary, "A Cowboy Legacy," done for ABC-TV as well as Syndicated Fiction Project. His dramatic adaptation of Faulkner's "As I Lay Dying" was the United States entry at the Theater of Nations in Paris in 1964 and won a Special Jury Award.

The Texas Tradition Series from TCU Press is designed to both publish and preserve significant Texas literature. Tom Pilkington of Tarleton State University is series editor. The Press' new issue is priced at $16.95 clothbound and $9.95 paperbound.

*** **

ACADEMY STUDENTS VISITING CAMPUS TODAY

Some 35 students from Northwest Academy in Houston are on campus today as guests of the admissions office. Coordinated by freshman admissions director Charleen McGilvray, the visit will include lunch in the Worth Hills cafeteria and a 12:30-1:30 p.m. campus tour conducted by Student Foundation members.

An early afternoon session will include an admissions presentation and a question-answer discussion led by assistant director Audrey Abron.

TCU ORGANIZES SUPERINTENDENTS' COUNCIL

Now is the time, the old typewriter exercise goes, for all good men to come to the aid of ... etc. TCU men--and women--in the School of Education have come to the aid of beleaguered school superintendents.

Of the 116 school districts within a 60-mile radius for Fort Worth, 86 percent have fewer than 5,000 students. Because of limited enrollments, many of these districts have few administrative and support staff resources; yet they must comply with educational reforms brought about by Texas House Bill 72 as surely as districts with larger staffs and fiscal resources.

These are the districts being served through the Superintendents' Council, organized by TCU late last year and recently funded for two years by the Communities Foundation of Texas Inc. Cherie Lohr coordinates council activities.

The superintendents set their own agenda for discussion at their monthly meetings on the TCU campus, and Cherie says the first subject they wanted to discuss was teacher evaluation, closely followed by the topic of how to assign career ladder funds. They have talked in detail about criteria for selecting the best teachers and rewarding them as well as about pupil behavior, since Texas public school students can no longer be suspended for the kinds of infractions that once were cause for suspension.

The superintendents have sked for help with principal evaluation, and next spring an nationally known consultant in that area will meet with them here. A good part of the $91,800 funding from Communities Foundation will be spent to bring outside consultants to interact with the superintendents in dealing with some of their more critical problems.

The 15 members of the Superintendents' Council are the superintendents from Aledo, Alvarada, Azle, Burleson, Cleburne, Crowley, Eagle Mountain-Saginaw, Everman, Grapevine-Colleyville, Joshua, Keller, Lake Worth, Lillian, Mansfield and White Settlement.

*** **

ADVENT DANCE PROGRAM CANCELED

The Advent dance production scheduled by the Department of Ballet and Modern Dance Dec. 2-3 at University Christian Church has been canceled.

George Tade says the cancellation was necessitated by heavy schedule demands on the dance department this fall.

TALK ON IMPAIRED NEWBORNS SLATED NOV. 19

"How to Care for Handicapped Newborns: A Moral Dilemma," will be the topic of a public lecture at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19 in Moudy Building 141 North by Dr. Ronald Carson of University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

Manfred Reinecke will preside, and respondents will be Ted Klein and Dr. Stephen Kurachek, medical director of the pediatric intensive care units of Cook and Fort Worth Childrens' hospitals. A question and answer session with the audience will close the program.

The TCU lecture is part of a series of public talks in Texas by faculty members of the UTMB's Institute for the Medical Humanities, a series funded by a grant from the Texas Committee for the Humanities. The target audience is adults, college students and medical professionals outside the field of bioethics.

The series is entitled "Humanities Perspectives on Medical Science and Technology in Texas: Personal Choices and Community Values Concerning Birth, Life and Death." Dr. Carson holds degrees in both theology and philosophy from Franklin College of Indiana, Colgate Rochester Divinity School and the University of Glasgow, Scotland. Prior to assuming directorship of the Institute for the Medical Humanities, he headed the Division of Social Sciences and Humanities at the University of Florida College of Medicine.

*** **

SHEILA ALLEN TO SING MONDAY

Soprano Sheila Marie Allen, a new member of the music faculty, will perform her first TCU Music Department Concert Series recital at 8 p.m. Monday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Accompanied by David Yeomans, she will sing Drey Minnelieder by Frank Martin, Haiku Settings by Mel Powell, Trois Melodies by Oliver Messiaen, Bible Reaching Scene from "Wozzeck" by Alban Berg, Cinco Canciones Populares Argentinas by Alberto Ginastera and seven songs by Charles Ives.

Sheila, who holds music degrees from Oberlin Conservatory and Eastman School of Music and studies in Germany as a Fulbright Scholar, has been a regional winner and national finalist in both the Metropolitan Opera Auditions and the National Association of Teachers of Singing Artist Awards. She has sung with opera companies in Baltimore, Chautaugua, Rochester and Eugene, OR, and has made broadcast tapes for National Education Television and Deutschland Funk. Yeomans has accompanied her in concerts in the U.S. and Europe.

*** **

RHETORICIAN TO SPEAK THURSDAY

Noted rhetorician Dr. James L. Kinneavy of UT-Austin will on campus Thursday and will lecture from 1 to 2 p.m. in the Faculty Center on "Did the Christian Concept of Faith Derive from Green Rhetoric?" All interested faculty and students are invited, says Fred Erisman.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT WILL BE INSTITUTE THEME

"Nursing's Legislative Report Card: An Update on the 99th Congress" will be the topic discussed Nov. 14 by Dr. Hurdis Griffith, founder of the Legislative Network for Nurses Inc., at the Lucy Harris Linn Institute. The annual event, inaugurated in 1976 by District #3 of the Texas Nurses Association, honors the late Dr. Linn, dean emeritus of Harris College of Nursing.

The 6-9:30 p.m. gathering will be held in the Student Center ballroom. Sponsors along with TNA District 3 are TCU's Beta Alpha and UTA's Delta Theta chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, Greater Fort Worth Chapter of American Association of Critical Care Nurses, Greater Fort Worth Directors of Nursing Service Society and the Fort Worth Chapter of the Association of Operating Room Nurses. Coordinating the program is Myrlene Kiker of Harris College.

Dr. Griffith enjoys a unique perspective on legislative issues that impact nursing because of her national involvement that has included being a presidential appointee to the White House Conference on Aging in 1981. She has served as capital corps representative for the Texas Nurses Association and as a member of the Federal Reimbursement Legislative Task Force.

The featured speaker, who has been on the faculty of the University of Maryland School of Nursing, has served in the Office of Public Liaison for the White House. She has been director of government relations of the American Association of Colleges of Nursing. The newsletter she founded and serves as vice president is an update for nurses on Congressional action and implications of events in Washington.

*** **

PERCUSSIONISTS TO PLAY FRIDAY

The nine-member TCU Percussion Ensemble will perform at 8 p.m. Friday in Ed Landreth Auditorium under the direction of Linda McDavitt.

On the program will be Percussion Quintet by Gary Coleman, October Mountain by Alan Hovhaness, Centralization by William Schinstine, Agnus Dei by G. Palestrina, Polka from the "Golden Age" by Shostakovitch, Fugue in C minor from Bach's Well-tempered Clavier" and Encore in Jazz by Vic Firth.

*** **

ACADEMIC RADICALS TO BE COLLOQUIUM TOPIC

W. H. Locke Anderson, who holds the Green Honors Chair in economics this semester, will address the Faculty Colloquium on Values and Public Policy at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 20 in the Faculty Center. His topic will be "Slipping Through the Net: Radicals in Academia." Dick Hoehn says all faculty are invited to the session.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

NOTES ON FOLKS

Mary Anne (Sullivan) Gorman, (nutrition and dietetics) co-authored five paper/poster sessions at the 68th annual meeting of the American Dietetic Association held in New Orleans Oct. 7-11. Titles of the presentations included "Competencies of Food Service Directors/Managers as Required by Health Care Operations," paper and poster session; "Statewide Time Study of Clinical Dietitian's Utilization of Time," paper; "The Effect of pH on the Quality of Cook-Chill Products," poster session; and "TWIGS: Team Watchers in Growth Standards--A Weight Control Program Designed for Children," paper, presented by NELL ROBINSON.

DAVE CRAVENS (business) has been appointed to the Editorial Review Board of the Journal of Marketing, published by the American Marketing Association.

JAMES COMER and BOB WIER have returned from Denver where they attended the '85 ACM Annual Conference.

TOM NUTE, co-chairman of the ACM 17th annual South Central Regional Programming Contest, is putting final touches on preparations for this year's contest to be held in Houston Nov. 14-16. TCU's computer science department is sending two four-person teams this year.

In recognition of his 50 years as an ordained minister, emeritus senior vice chancellor EARL WALDROP was honored Nov. 3 during services at University Christian Church, and trustee/minister A. M. PENNYBACKER hosted a luncheon in his honor afterward. Before coming to TCU, Dr. Waldrop was minister for Christian Churches in New York City and San Antonio.

CAROL STEPHENSON (Harris College) recently attended the annual meeting of the Baptist Health Care Fellowship in Memphis, TN. She was installed as national president of the Baptist Nursing Fellowship and was elected chairperson of the Health Care Council, an oversight council for the Baptist Nursing Fellowship, Baptist Medical-Dental Fellowship and Baptist Pharmacy Fellowship organizations.

CATHY COLLINS (education) gave the keynote address Nov. 2 for the Mini-Conference for Teachers and Parents of Gifted and Talented Students in McAllen. She also conducted two workshops for parents at the conference. On Oct. 30, Cathy was after-dinner speaker for the Lower Rio Grande Valley Association of Supervisors and Curriculum Directors. Earlier that day she trained supervisors and principals in the Pharr-San Juan-Alamo School District to implement their new teacher evaluation system.

Educational investment fund students PYLAR PINKSTON and DAVID PURCELL will be guests on "Youth Speaks Out," a radio show on KAFM hosted by Vicki Robbins. The program will air on Nov. 17 from 8 to 9 a.m. and again on Nov. 24 from 5:30 to 6:30 a.m.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Journalist TOMMY THOMASON's article, "Student Press Freedom at Southern Baptist Colleges," was the cover story in the November 1985 issue of The Southern Baptist Educator, a monthly magazine published by Association of Southern Baptist Colleges and Schools.

RICHARD GALVIN (philosophy) attended the fall meeting of the North Texas Philosophical Association and read a paper entitled "Expectations, Wants and Intentionality," a response to Jig-chuen Lee of California State University-Northridge.

Work by MARY LEE NORRIS and JULIAN HABER of Miller Speech and Hearing Clinic has been published in Early Identification of Children at Risk: An International Perspective issued by Plenum Press. Their chapter was entitled "The Texas Preschool Screening Inventory, A Simple Screening Device for Language and Learning Disabilities." The book describes current research in learning and psychobiology by experts from throughout the world.

Julian recently coordinated, moderated and presented a paper at the 63rd annual meeting of the Texas Pediatrics held in Austin. His presentation was in conjunction with a seminar on identification, assessment, treatment and placement of children with learning disabilities and attentional deficits.

BEN PROCTER (history) attended the fall meeting of the Texas Committee of the Humanities in Houston on Nov. 1-2. He is in the second year of a four-year term.

LOIS BANTA and SHARI BARNES of the personnel office attended the annual regional conference of the American Association of Affirmative Action on Oct. 20-22. Lois has been appointed to the committee to plan the 1985 conference.

DAVID VANDERWERKEN (English) took part in the annual meeting of the Philological Association of the Pacific Coast last weekend in Santa Cruz, CA, where he presented the lead paper during a panel on "Men's and Women's Bildungsroman in the 20th Century." His paper was entitled "Wiesel's 'Night' as Anti-Bildungsroman."

KEITH GREGORY (TCU Press) was on the program twice at the annual meeting of Western University Presses Oct. 13-15 in Reno, NV. In a plenary session on prestigious reprint series, he explained the role that three TCU Press series are playing in helping the Press establish an identity in Texas and the American West. The series discussed were the Texas Tradition (literature), the Chisholm Trail (regional history) and Sundance Books (young adult). In a session on book distribution, Keith and Don Collins, business manager of Texas A&M University Press, discussed the advantages to both large and small presses of having a large press distribute for a small press. A&M distributes for the University of Arkansas Press, Rice University Studies, the Texas State Historical Association and TCU.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

- Nov. 13 --U.S./Soviet Trade Symposium, Ed Landreth Auditorium, 7 p.m. By invitation only.
- Nov. 14 --Lucy Harris Linn Institute, Dr. Hurdis Griffith, "Nursing's Legislative Report Card: An Update on the 99th Congress," Brown-Lupton Student Center Ballroom, 6 p.m.
- Nov. 15 --Meeting of faculty and staff interested in Episcopal ministry at TCU, Student Center 203, noon. Bring a sack lunch; drinks provided. John Butler presiding.
 --Biology Seminar: The Use of Bacterial Excision Repair to Estimate Risk of Chemical Mutagens to Humans," Thomas Matney of the University of Houston, Sid Richardson Lecture Hall 4, noon.
 --Men's and women's swimming and diving, TCU vs. LSU, Rickel Building, 5 p.m.
 --TCU Film Series, "Revenge of the Nerds," Student Center ballroom, 6 p.m., 9 p.m., midnight. $1.
- Nov. 16 --TCU Hunger Week Conference, with Lawrence E. Bruce Jr., president of U.S. Committee for UNICEF, as keynoter, Student Center ballroom, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.
- Nov. 18 --Monday at TCU.
 --Advance registration for spring, continuing through Dec. 6.
 --Ballet/modern dance Brown Bag, Student Center ballroom, noon.
 --Frog Aid entertainment for Hunger Week, front of Student Center (Student Center lounge in case of bad weather), 5-9:30 p.m.
 --Lecture by Visiting Green Professor Dr. Barbara Sinclair of the University of California-Riverside, on "Visionaries, Rabble Rousers and Political Ops: The Origins and Development of the Women's Movement," Moudy Building 141N, 7:30 p.m., followed by a reception.
 --TCU Music Department Concert Series recital by Sheila Marie Allen, soprano, Ed Landreth Auditorium, 8 p.m.
- Nov. 19 --Hunger Week concert by Concert Chorale and Jazz Ensembles, Student Center ballroom, 11:30 a.m. Bring a sack lunch.
 --Hunger Week Forum, Bill Reese, Jarvis Hall, 7 p.m.
 --Lecture on "How to Care for Handicapped Newborns: A Moral Dilemma," Dr. Ronald Carson of UT Medical Branch, Moudy Building 141N, 7:30 p.m.
 --Theatre TCU production of Shakespeare's "The Winter's Tale," University Theatre, 8 p.m. nightly through Nov. 23, 2 p.m. Nov. 24. Call 921-7626 for reservations

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT: Unfurnished one-bedroom duplex with garage, close to TCU (2520 Forest Park). Kitchen appliances are included with water and yard paid, $330 per month. Call 877-0194 during business hours.

FOR RENT: One bedroom unfurnished apartment, three miles NE of campus in the hospital district, $275/mo, utilities not included. For more information call 336-0778 from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. or metro 429-2158 from 6 to 10 p.m.

OFFICIAL ABSENCES:

Students listed below must make up any class assignments that were missed. It is the responsibility of the student to arrange with his/her professors for the make-up. If you have any questions, call 921-7855.

Students who missed classes on October 25 at the request of the National Collegiate Athletic Association:

Allen, Egypt	Spann, Gary
Foster, Marvin	Taylor, Gerald

Students playing in the Rice Invitational Tennis Tournament in Houston after 2 p.m. Thursday, November 7 and all day on Friday, November 8:

Dobson, Teresa	Howett, Rhona	Olmedo, Angela
Hourigan, Molly	Ochoa, Marnie	Rapp, Lauri

Student attending an admissions interview at Baylor College of Medicine on November 14 and 15:

Edmondson, Tom

Students attending an Alpha Epsilon Rho Convention for Radio/TV students at Sam Houston State in Huntsville on November 8:

Barrett, John	Casey, Lynn	Lahey, Lucy
---------------	-------------	-------------