CONTEMPORARY MUSIC FESTIVAL OPENS MONDAY

Fisher Tull, Texas composer whose works range from neo-classical to romantic to experimental, will be the focus of a Contemporary Music Festival Feb. 10-11.

Dr. Tull, a member of the Sam Houston State University faculty and a 1984 Piper Professor, holds three degrees from North Texas State University, where he was the first staff arranger for the NTSU Lab Bands. His first serious compositions were for brass ensembles, then symphonic bands.

The faculty chamber music concert at 8 p.m. Feb. 10 in Ed Landreth Auditorium will include Tull's Fusion for Flute, Trombone and piano, Sonata for Viola and Piano, Colloquy for Saxophone and Percussion, Fantasia for Flute and Harpsichord and Nonet for Winds/Percussion and Piano.

At the Feb. 11 concert, also at 8 p.m. in Ed Landreth, Tull will be commentator for presentation of Cappriccio by the TCU Orchestra, led by Candler Schaffer; Floral Fancy and Indian Prayer, TCU Concert Chorale, conducted by Ron Shirey; and Sketches on a Tudor Psalm and Rhapsody for Trumpet and Symphonic Band, both performed by the TCU Wind Ensemble, led by Bob Blanton. Guest soloist for the Rhapsody will be Steve Weger, principal trumpet, Fort Worth Symphony.

HONORS COLLEGIUM TO DRAW OVER 65

Sixty-seven reservations have been received from outstanding high school seniors who will take part in the fifth annual Honors Collegium Thursday through Saturday. Theme of the sessions will be "The Intellectual Frontier: A Commemoration of the Texas Sesquicentennial."

Friday afternoon's formal academic program will be keynoted by Don Coerver, history chairman, with an address on "Intellectuals, Frontiers and Intellectual Frontiers: Ideas, Action, and Turf Struggles in Texas."

Faculty discussion leaders for workshops will be David Finn of business, Pat Paulus of biology, Morrison Wong of sociology, Richard Galvin of philosophy and Bob Frye of English.

TCU TODAY PROGRAMS BEGIN THIS WEEK

Local presentations of "TCU Today" began this week in California and Connecticut and will continue throughout the month in 30 cities in 17 states across the nation. Inaugurated in 1965 as an effort to take the campus setting to prospective students and their parents, the traveling program features faculty members and administrators as well as current students on occasion. The complimentary sessions, coordinated by the admissions office, are designed to answer questions about various aspects of collegiate life.

The initial 1986 "TCU Today" events were Sunday in Anaheim, CA, and Stamford, CT. Other out-of-state receptions are set for Scottsdale, AZ, Feb. 9; Little Rock, AR, Feb. 26; San Mateo, CA, Feb. 3; Denver, Feb. 23; Miami, Feb. 18; Fort Lauderdale, FL, Feb. 19; Atlanta, Feb. 9; Oakbrook, IL, Feb. 18; Lincolnshire, IL, Feb. 19; Overland Park, KS, Feb. 6; New Orleans, Feb. 23; Bloomington, MN, Feb. 13; St. Louis, Feb. 27; Omaha, NE, Feb. 12; Albuquerque, Feb. 24; Oklahoma City, Feb. 24; Tulsa, Feb. 25; Memphis, TN, Feb. 10; and Washington, DC, Feb. 3.

Dallas was the site of the first Texas program, held last night. Others are scheduled in Tyler tonight, Dallas Feb. 5, Amarillo Feb. 6, El Paso Feb. 10, Austin Feb. 11, Houston Feb. 13, Midland, Feb. 20, Fort Worth Feb. 25, and San Antonio Feb. 26.

TCU DANCERS FEATURED IN TYLER

TCU ballet and modern dancers will be presented in concert at 8 p.m. Friday at Caldwell Auditorium in Tyler. The production is co-sponsored by the Junior League of Tyler and the Tyler Parks and Recreation Department. Dance chair Stephanie Woods is artistic director.

Susan Douglas Roberts, TCU graduate and part-time faculty member who is a native of Tyler, will open the program with a solo dance, "A Self-Portrait," to be followed by dances choreographed by faculty members Fernando Schaffenburg and Lisa Fusillo; recent alumnus Edmond Cooper; and two former guest artists at TCU, Helen Earl, who has chaired the Interlochen Arts Academy dance department, and James Truitte, who teaches modern dance at the University of Cincinnati.

The program will conclude with a re-staging of the Act III "Sleeping Beauty" Pas de Quatre, after the original choreography by Marius Petipa. Earlier Friday, TCU dancers will present a lecture/demonstration for students of Tyler's Robert E. Lee High School.

NATIONAL PHONOTHON SETS $200,000 GOAL

Students will begin their annual contribution to TCU fund-raising Sunday with the start of the 10th TCU National Phonothon. Student chairperson Jack Larson, a senior from Bossier City, LA, has hopes of raising $200,000, a substantial increase over last year's total of $174,000.

The phonothon will run through March 4 with four sessions a week--Sunday afternoons and Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings--in the Faculty Center. About 25 to 30 student volunteers will make the calls at each session. The phonothon targets alumni who have not donated during the current school year, and all money raised is contributed to the Annual Fund. This year's phonothon is part of a 1985/86 campaign to raise $1 million from alumni.

METROPLEX PHOTOS TO BE SHOWN

Regional photography offering a hint of the flavor of Fort Worth and Dallas neighborhoods will be shown Feb. 11-28 in Brown-Lupton Gallery. Curated by Luther Smith of the TCU art faculty, the showing includes photographs by W.T. Bailey III, Byrd M. Williams IV, Cirrus Bonneau and Peter Feresten, all of Fort Worth, and Richard Doherty and William Pankey of Dallas.

A series of photos of the closing of the old Heights Theater will be shown by Bailey, of Photographic Speciality, and Williams, who operates Byrd Photo, will exhibit detailed scenes of downtown Fort Worth taken with a 12x20-inch camera. Bonneau, a Fort Worth printer, has taken views of traditional cemeteries in the area, and Feresten, a faculty member at Tarrant County Junior College, is showing Fort Worth city landscapes.

Doherty, also on the TCJC faculty, has photographed the neighborhood within walking distance of his Oak Cliff home, and other Dallas residential areas are being shown in the series by Pankey, a professional photographer.

The show opens with a reception in the Gallery from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Feb. 11, the same date as a reception honoring TCU faculty artists whose works are on view in the University's Moudy Building exhibition space. Subsequent hours for both shows are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

SERVICES HELD FOR PROFESSOR EMERITUS STANDIFER

Professor emeritus James W. Standifer Sr. died Jan. 24 at his home following a lengthy illness. Funeral services were conducted Jan. 27 at University Christian Church, and burial was at Greenwood Memorial Park.

Before retiring in 1979, Jim was a member of the physical education department faculty for 21 years, teaching health and supervising student teachers in the department. He was well known as organizer of the Texas Driver and Traffic Safety Association and was its president for the first two terms. In 1968 he received its annual Honor Award. He also conducted driver safety seminars here.

The Beaumont native, an alumnus of Lamar Junior College, earned the bachelor's degree from Texas A&M in 1944. Holder of a master's degree from the University of Texas, he completed the Ph.D. at the University of Michigan in 1957. His teaching career included a year at the University of Dayton and Wharton County Junior College when that institution opened in 1946. While he was employed by Phillips Petroleum Company in 1947-52, he organized athletic teams from communities throughout the Texas Panhandle and founded the North Plains Athletic Association.

Jim, member of the board of the American Driver and Traffic Safety Education Association, was a charter member of the educational honor society of Phi Delta Kappa and served on the executive board of the TCU Retirees Association.

Survivors include his wife, Lillian Lela Hill Standifer; a daughter, Jo Lynn Moore of Miami Beach; and a sister, Zena May Johnson of Beaumont.

The family suggests that gifts be made to the Juliette Fowler Home in Dallas or the Standifer Loan fund for TCU physical education majors.

CONCERT SLATED FRIDAY

The Symphonic Band and Wind Ensemble will present a joint concert at 8 p.m. Friday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The Wind Ensemble, conducted by TCU director of bands Robert Blanton, will play Hail to the Fleet, March, by Richard Maltby, When Jesus Wept by Robert Schumann, Sketches on a Tudor Psalm by Fisher Tull and March from Paul Hindemith's "Symphonic Metamorphosis."

Sea Songs by Ralph Vaughan Williams, Folk Dances by Dimitri Shostakovich and First Suite in E flat for Military Band by Gustav Holst will be performed by Symphonic Band under the baton of Linda McDavitt, assistant band director.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Accounting chairman DON NICHOLS addressed the January meeting of the Fort Worth chapter of the National Association of Accountants. He spoke about recent developments at TCU, at the Neeley School and in the accounting department.

CHARLES LAMB (business) was interviewed Jan. 17 on KRLD about his work in the area of marketing for non-profit organizations.

SHEILA ALLEN (music) adjudicated the Metropolitan Opera National Council's North Dakota District Auditions on Jan. 11. The following Monday she presented a master class in voice for singers at the University of North Dakota. Her article on techniques for releasing jaw tension in singing was published in the November/December issue of the National Association of Teachers of Singing (NATS) Journal.

ARNOLD BARKMAN (accounting) has been notified that his article, "Accounting and Cost Determinations in Antitrust Cases" written with former TCU MBA student David Jolley, will be published in the April issue of Management Accounting.

Band director BOB BLANTON recently conducted the District V All-District Band in rehearsals and a concert at Trinity High School on Jan. 18. The group, made up of the outstanding Fort Worth area high school musicians, is sponsored by the Texas Music Educators Association. Bob was invited to serve as clinician/conductor by the high school band directors of this area.

"Sources Evaluate Student Reporters" is the title of an article by RITA WOLF and TOMMY THOMASON that is included in the 1986 Winter edition of Journalism.

Physicist C.A. QUARLES and Ph.D. graduate LEE ESTES are authors of a research paper entitled "Molecular-field Bremsstrahlung in n-butane and isobutane" recently appeared in Chemical Physics Letters. Their paper "Molecular-field Bremsstrahlung in Ethane, Ethene and Ethyne," has been accepted for publication in Physics Letters.

Two works by emeritus vice chancellor JAMES NEWCOMER have been published recently. A poem entitled "But for the Grace of God" appeared in Cambridge University's Christ's College Magazine. Books at Iowa, issued by the University of Iowa, includes his "Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hall: Their Papers at Iowa," which is based on his research at Cambridge.

Sympathy is extended to interim vice chancellor EDD BIVIN, whose mother died Jan. 26. A long-time Fort Worth resident, Mrs. Pauline Mason Bivin was an art teacher. Funeral services were conducted Jan. 28 at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

MILDRED HOGSTEL (nursing) spoke on "Family Care for Dependent Elderly Women" at a meeting of the Tarrant County Branch of the American Association of University Women on Jan. 15 at The Public House.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Historians GRADY McWHINEY and BEN PROCTER attended the American Historical Association meeting in New York Dec. 27-30. Ben chaired a Phi Alpha Theta session on Dec. 29.

School of Education faculty members were prominent among special guests and professional development speakers at the Texas State Teachers Association 1986 Critical Issues Conference Jan. 16 in Austin. ELENE DEMOS and ODETTE BRUNEAU dealt with "Parent Involvement in Reading and Special Education," and DOUGLAS HASTAD and ALAN LACY with "Fitness as a Lifestyle." DALE YOUNG presented a training session on "Parent-Teacher Conferencing." LYNN RHOADES and George Rhoades of UT-Arlington led a session on "Teaching the Essential Elements in Reading and Writing via the Daily Newspaper." CATHY COLLINS presented a session entitled "The 'Acting-Out' Child: Methods that Build Behaviors for Undisciplined Students."

JOANNE GABEL, ROBERT SULAK, GLEN HAUBOLD and HARRY GOODMAN (Physical Plant) attended the Association of Physical Plant Administrators (APPA) Institute for Facilities Management held Jan. 20-24 in San Antonio. Four separate programs covered all aspects of facilities management from basic operations to energy and utilities management. Participants came from all over the United States and Canada.

SYDNEY PAYNE WILSON (music) has been invited to present a harp recital for the Fort Worth Woman's Club Twilight Musicale at 4 p.m. Feb. 23. She will be assisted by flutist JANIS GRANNELL, also of the music faculty.

PAUL KING and RALPH BEHNKE (speech communication) have an article entitled "Teaching Interviewing Skills by Electronically Mediated Simulations" in the current issue of the Journal of Research and Development in Education.

TCU TO HOUSE LUXEMBOURG DATA

This nation's largest collection of information on one of the world's smallest nations is taking shape in Mary Coats Burnett Library as a gift from Dr. A.M. Pate Jr. and Sebert Pate. The Pate-Newcomer Collection on the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg will be housed in the library's Pate Room.

The collection has evolved from Dr. A.M. Pate's interest in Luxembourg, where the Pate firm, Texas Refinery Corporation, has an office, and from research by James Newcomer, vice chancellor emeritus, that led to his book, "The Grand Duchy of Luxembourg: The Evolution of Nationhood, 963 A.D. to 1983," published in 1984 by the University Press of America.

Materials already in the collection include a run of the journal Hemecht, devoted to Luxembourg history, said librarian Paul M. Parham. Dr. Newcomer will travel to Luxembourg in the spring to devote six weeks to the acquisition of books and papers.

TCU IN THE NEWS

"Finals: do or die for some" was the Star-Telegram's headline Dec. 18 for a story about exam week concerns of students. Shown in an accompanying photo were ANDY MAGNESS, JOEL BEARDEN and SCOTT RAND taking a break for dinner in the cafeteria.

The growing trend toward cottage industries was the subject of a Star-Telegram EXTRA feature on Dec. 18. Shown in a photo and quoted in the story was student JENNY BARKMAN, wife of accounting professor ARNOLD BARKMAN.

"TCU fraternity plays Santa Claus for youths in Lena Pope Home" was the heading for a story about KAPPA SIGMA fraternity activities at the Fort Worth home for emotionally disturbed, abused and neglected youth. The story appeared in the Star-Telegram's EXTRA on Dec. 18.

The TCU PRESS got a plug in the Jan. 1 issue of the New York Times in a story about Elmer Kelton, whose award-winning novel entitled "The Time It Never Rained" was reissued by the Press last year.

DON NICHOLS (accounting) attended the Touche Ross Conference on "Scope of Work and the Liability of Accountants" at Claremont McKenna College on Dec. 19-20 and moderated a session on "Premature Sign-offs, Enforcement of Conduct and Auditors' Liability."

Both Star-Telegram and Dallas News stories quoted Chancellor BILL TUCKER during the recent NCAA meeting in New Orleans. In a Jan. 15 Star-Telegram story the chancellor noted that he began going to NCAA meetings when he assumed his position at TCU and that he believes "the administration and the athletic department should be of one mind as to perspective and policy." He also was quoted from New Orleans on a WFAA-TV report earlier in the week.

Thanks to SOROJINI AMBROSE, Ph.D. student in English, Fort Worth area women now know the correct way to wrap their saris. Pictures of her demonstrating the procedure were featured in the Jan. 16 issue of the Star-Telegram in a story by fashion writer Michelle Hancock.

The front page of the Star-Telegram's Newsfront section on Jan. 19 was devoted to Tarrant County leadership. The paper interviewed numerous persons and representatives of groups throughout the country to compile a list of people "who seem likely to be among the county's future leaders." Among the 20 considered most likely to be increasingly important in the next 10 years was Coach JIM WACKER. Noting his dismissal of star players last fall, the story said: "The resulting barrage of publicity in national media associated Fort Worth's name with integrity and the determination to do the right thing...for creating an image of honesty for Fort Worth and TCU, Wacker has proved to be a leader in a way far more important than winning football games."

The exhibit of DON SWEETLAND's art works in the Moudy Building was the subject of a Jan. 20 feature on KXAS-TV.

MORE TCU IN THE NEWS

In an Associated Press story about high school mascots that was carried in papers across the state in January, physicist MILLER MOSELEY gave the background for the naming of Fort Worth's Masonic Home mascot the Mighty Mite. A former football player there, Miller noted that the largest player was about 165 pounds, which give rise to the newspapers' pinning the nickname on the team in the 1930s.

The outlook for financial aid for the 1986 fall semester was the topic HERB BRUBAKER (financial aid) was interviewed on by the Houston Post for its Jan. 26 story.

'FW man has uncommon amount of ambition' was the Dallas News' headline for the Jan. 2 feature on Ric Watson, who earned the B.S. degree in family and child studies in December. The half-page story, complemented by a color photo of the subject and his sister Leslie walking downtown, told of Ric's goal of having a day-care in partnership with his father and brother. His work in TCU's day-care studies was under the supervision of BEVERLY KING.

ARMY ROTC students' night- and day-long vigil for the Space Shuttle Challenger crew and the support it drew from on and off the campus were headlined in the morning and afternoon editions of the Jan. 29 Star-Telegram and were noted on Channel 8's evening newscasts that day.
