232 YEARS' SERVICE WILL BE HONORED MAY 6

Two hundred and thirty-two years' of service will be recognized publicly May 6 when 13 faculty and staff members are honored at a retirement reception. The Student Center ballroom will be the site for the 3:30-5 p.m. event. Chancellor Bill Tucker will take part in the brief ceremony and make presentations to the honorees.

Retiring with the longest record of service is Arlene Sollenberger, associate professor of voice who joined the School of Fine Arts faculty in 1959. She formerly was a faculty member at the University of Michigan, where she earned two degrees.

Retired in December as assistant to the chancellor, Clyde Foltz joined the University's staff in 1962 as director of alumni affairs. Holder of three degrees from TCU, he served as director of development before being named assistant to the chancellor in 1976.

Martell Carter will be recognized for 22 years' service in the housekeeping department, and Day Alva Ross will be honored for her 21 years as residence hall advisor.

Three persons are retiring after 20 years. They are Mary L. Hall, senior library assistant; Eldon Kelly, associate professor of management; and John Perkins, professor of economics.

Senior library assistant Mary Forsyth will be honored for 19 years; Esther Winesanker, senior library assistant for 17 years and Geraldine Allmond, senior secretary in the athletic department, for 14 years. Reva Bell, assistant professor of elementary education, is retiring after 12 years and LaJune Colley, senior secretary in the geology department, after 10 years. Also to be honored is Jane Kennedy, senior clerical assistant in the campus police office since 1980.

DANCE CONCERT IS THIS WEEK

Ballet, modern dance and jazz pieces choreographed by dance faculty members will be performed Thursday through Saturday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The spring dance concert will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 2 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free with TCU ID.

Ellen Page Garrison's "Rapunzel's Sigh," a modern dance to music by Arnold Schoenberg, recently was presented at the South Central American College Dance Festival Gala Concert at Texas Woman's University and will be repeated on this program. The dance, performed by five women, seeks to explore some of that which dwells in the subconscious of these women. Another dance choreographed by Ellen is to music by staff accompanist Jefferson Dalby. Music and dance deal with the complexities resulting from the layering of rhythms, and eight dancers will perform fast-paced movement to the synthesized sounds created by Dalby.

"Caracol," choreographed by Fernando Schaffenburg to Petite Suite by Claude Debussy, tells of a priestess in ancient Greece who invokes the Gods of the Sea among villagers and fishermen. One sea god appears, followed by a siren, and they create confusion and heartbreak among the villagers. Alumnus General Hambrick, member of the company of Fort Worth Ballet, will make a guest appearance as the sea god, with adjunct faculty member Deborah Meyer as the priestess and Leslie Palmer, senior from Decatur, GA, as the siren.

Modern dances choreographed by Nita Little will be "Flight Patterns of Common American Birds in Everyday Life" and "Upon Seeing Nothing, I...". The latter work portrays a Japanese woman who, for fleeting moments, removes her kimono, symbolizing the constraints of her culture, to reveal her inner heart. The Japanese bamboo flute is the voice of her passion. "Flight Patterns," based on a combination of images ranging from inner-city street antics to the graceful lift of birds in flight, is set to a collage of variations on the Beatles' "Blackbird." The work has a recurrent theme of human transcendence from the ordinary to the extraordinary.

FENKER, LILLY PLAN PHOTOGRAPHIC WORKSHOP

Psychologist-photographer Richard Fenker and alumnus-former Dallas Cowboy Bob Lilly are joining forces to offer a New Mexico Photographic Workshop in August. The itinerary will include White Sands National Monument, Organ Mountains, ghost towns and the historical sections of Las Cruces.

The workshop, limited to 12 persons at a cost of $195 each, is suitable for photographers with all levels of experience. Richard says the group will be up before dawn awaiting a scenic sunrise with workshop sessions in the middle of the day and chasing thunderstorms and rainbows in the evenings.

Additional information is available from Richard at Ext. 7410.

UNION SEMINARY PROF LECTURES HERE

Lectures dealing with feminism and the Bible will be delivered Thursday by Dr. Phyllis Tribble, Baldwin Professor of Sacred Literature at Union Theological Seminary in New York. Sponsored by the TCU Research Fund Lectureship Series, the talks will be held in Robert Carr Chapel. At 11 a.m. Dr. Tribble will discuss "Feminism and Biblical Faith." Her topic at 7:30 p.m. will be "Tamar: A Feminist Reading of II Samuel 13."

Dr. Tribble, who holds the Ph.D. from Union Seminary and Columbia University, has taught at the New York Seminary since 1979. Prior to that, she was a faculty member at Andover Newton Theological School and at Wake Forest University. She has held visiting professorships at Seinan Gakuin University in Fukuoka, Japan; Brown University; Vancouver School of Technology in British Columbia; Weston School of Theology, Cambridge, MA; Boston University; and the University of Virginia. In 1974-75 she was a research associate at W.F. Albright Institute of Archaeological Research in Jerusalem.

A widely published author in Biblical and academic journals, Dr. Tribble also has written two books, "God and the Rhetoric of Sexuality" and "Texts of Terror: Literary-Feminist Readings of Biblical Narratives," both published in Philadelphia by Fortress Press. She has been a member of the advisory committee for Harvard Divinity School's Women's Studies in Religion Program and a panelist for the National Endowment for the Humanities.

CONCERT FEATURES FIVE SOLOISTS

Five winners of the University's 1986 Concerto Competition will be soloists with the TCU Orchestra in a concerto concert at 8 p.m. Monday in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The program will open with the Overture to "Semiramide" by Rossini, guest-conducted by Dr. Ralph Guenther, emeritus professor of music theory and flute.

The orchestra, under the direction of Candler Schaffer, also will perform the Gordon Jacob Trombone Concerto, featuring as soloist Patricia L. Rockey, TCU graduate student from Street, MD, who will become a member of the 590th Air Force Band at McGuire Air Force Base, NJ, after graduation in May; Marcello Oboe Concerto, with Shannon McCreless, TCU junior from Terrell, as soloist.

Also on the program will be Vocalise by Rachmaninoff, with soprano Clara Dina Hinojosa, senior from McAllen; Concert Piece for bassoon and strings by Burrill Phillips, featuring bassoon soloist Jeff Perkins, TCU senior from Houston; and Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1 in B-flat minor with piano soloist Anne Fincher, TCU graduate student from Stephenville.

PLAN EARLY, PAY EARLY, SAVE

University Auditor Ted Rhodes reminds all faculty and staff that purchasing airline tickets well in advance can mean great savings for departmental budgets. For example, regular round-trip coach fare to Orlando, FL, is $580, but the Super-Saver Advance Purchase fare is only $189.

However, ticket invoices must be paid promptly even though the trip is weeks or months in the future. Travel agencies must pay the airlines for all tickets sold on a weekly basis, and TCU must pay the agencies as soon as possible, Ted says.

Airline ticket invoices should be submitted to the Controller's Office as soon as they are received, Ted stresses. The tickets will be charged to the employee's account receivable and then will be cleared when the approved travel report is filed. "Do not hold any University-related invoices," he urges. "They need to be processed promptly in order to maintain TCU's good credit rating."

COACHES GOING 'ON THE ROAD AGAIN'

Coaches Jim Wacker and Jim Killingsworth are taking to the road for a series of programs for alumni and friends of the University. Sponsored by the alumni organizations in each location, the events will be held in Austin on May 5, Houston on May 12 and Midland/Odessa on May 20.

Additional details are available from the alumni office, Ext. 7803.

ORGANIZATIONS PLAN MAY DAY RALLY

A May Day Solidarity Rally will be held May 1, beginning at 2 p.m. in front of the Student Center. Speakers for the occasion will be Coach Jim Wacker, Bob Ray Sanders of KERA-TV and Fort Worth Mayor Bob Bolen or his representative.

Joining a social work class in community organization as sponsors are the Black Student Caucus, Kappa Alpha Psi, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Students for a Democratic South Africa and the Social Work Club.

TWO NATIONAL ASSOCIATIONS HONOR BARR

Vice Chancellor Peggy Barr is the recipient of national awards bestowed by two organizations. This marks the first time one person has received the major honors in the same year from the two principal professional associations in student affairs.

One of five to receive 1986 awards given by the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, she was recognized publicly at a recent luncheon held at the Washington Hilton as part of the annual NASPA conference. Vice Chancellor Barr, the first woman to receive an award by this organization, was cited for the outstanding contribution to literature and research as "one who has served the profession long and has a distinguished record of publication."

Dr. Barr, also the first chief student affairs officer to receive the NASPA award, was recognized specifically for the breadth and depth of her publications. Special note was made of her "Student Affairs and the Law, Establishing Effective Student Services Programs" as well as her service as editor-in-chief of the Jossey-Bass monograph series entitled "New Directions for Student Services."

At a recent meeting in New Orleans, the American College Personnel Association presented Dr. Barr its professional service award for 1986 in recognition of her service to the profession at large and to ACPA. Immediate past president of the association, she was program chair for its 1981 national convention and has served as vice president for commissions. Noted in particular was her "work contributing to cooperation between and among professional associations." Dr. Barr also was named a Senior Scholar of ACPA and will serve a six-year term on the 10-member group that functions as reactor to major convention programs, develops position papers for the association and serves as its scholarly review body.

Author or editor of four books and nine chapters in other books in addition to numerous articles and book reviews, Dr. Barr has given some 20 keynote addresses and more than 70 presentations and papers while serving in administrative positions.

APRIL 30 DATE FOR BUSINESS SEMINAR

A seminar on small business entrepreneurship, produced by Arthur Young's Entrepreneurial Services Group, will be offered from noon to 3 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) in the TAGER TV Studio.

Open to faculty and staff members as well as students, the seminar will examine several tax structure alternatives and other "getting started" decisions important to long-term success or failure of small businesses. These decisions and optional approaches will be discussed.

Additional information is available from Deana Muirheid, Ext. 7632.

STEPS BEING ADDED IN REED-SADLER MALL

Currently underway in the Reed-Sadler Mall area is a project to remove the steep decline area that has been the scene of numerous falls because of a slippery surface. A number of not-too-successful solutions have been tried to make the area less hazardous, according to physical plant director Bob Haubold.

Steps will replace the sloping area just north of Sadler Hall. The project is due to be completed before mid-May.

MATH DEPARTMENT HOLDS SPRING INTEGRATION BEE

Mikael Thompson, a Dunbar High School senior concurrently taking math courses at TCU, won first place in the math department's Integration Bee April 16. Junior computer science major John Emmons placed second, and graduate student John Hopkins took third.

An integration bee is similar to a spelling bee except that the participants calculate integrals rather than spell words. Charles Deeter served as master of ceremonies, while Landon Colquitt and Roy Combrink were graders. Bob Doran picked up the idea for the bee while on leave at Massachusetts Institute of Technology several years ago.

PHONOTHON GOES OVER TOP

Hard times didn't deter students who volunteered to take part in the University's annual fund-raising phonothon. Their goal this spring was $200,000, and the students surpassed it, receiving pledges of $201,760, up about 15 percent from last year.

The student callers, under the direction of senior Jack Larson of Bossier City, LA, and senior Melissa Allen of Fort Worth, had some help from retired faculty and alumni in contacting some 33,000 alumni during February and early March. The job will be finished May 5 and 6, when alumni volunteers will call fellow alums in North Central Texas who have not completed their pledges.

Under the direction of Edwin Cohen, specially selected teams of volunteers will be calling from 6:30 to 8:45 each evening and will be making most of their contacts in Tarrant County. Dr. Alann Bedford, TCU trustee, will assist Cohen in the welcome/orientation preceding the phonothon finale.

BENEFITS INFORMATION SESSIONS SET

Beginning today, a series of information sessions will be held to discuss an important new benefit designed to reduce employee costs for group medical/dental insurance contributions for 1986-87. All health plan participants are urged to attend one of the meetings, according to Lois Banta, who can supply times, dates and places.

NOTES ON FOLKS

TERRY DIELMAN (business) and Henry Oppenheimer (SUNY Binghamton) have both been notified that their article, "Firm Dividend Policy and Insider Activity: Some Empirical Results," was accepted for publication in the Journal of Business Finance and Accounting.

Philosopher TED KLEIN was one of four panelists taking part in the April 11 discussion segment of a "Centennial Celebration for Karl Barth and Paul Tillich" held at North Texas State. The other three included alumna DR. LOUISE COWEN of the Dallas Institute of Humanities and Culture, Richard Land of the Criswell Center for Biblical Studies and George James of NTSU.

Freshman composition instructor KAREN KELLER, who has been teaching her students persuasive rhetoric with an emphasis on the logic and validity of advertisements, brought in a public relations executive as a guest speaker earlier this month. Dian Terry, an account supervisor for the international public relations firm Daniel J. Edelman Inc., also served as the first public relations director for the accounting firm Main Hurdman/KMG and the National Organization of Women. She talked with students about the nature of business communications, the importance of writing competency in business and the difference between public relations and advertising.

Under the leadership of Coach BILL WOODLEY, the Frog men's GOLF TEAM is one of five Southwest Conference teams ranked among the top 20 collegiate teams, according to the latest Jones Sports Company Collegiate Golf Poll. Oklahoma State remained the unanimous No. 1 choice, the University of Houston came in second, and following were Florida, Wake Forest, LSU, Georgia Tech, Southern California, Arizona State, Oklahoma and TCU in the No. 10 spot. Arkansas, A&M and UT-El Paso were named to the second 10.

RICHARD FENKER (psychology) has been invited by the Olympic Committee to spend a portion of this summer working at the Colorado Springs Training Center. Richard will continue his research on optimal performance states for athletes and will prepare a proposal on this topic for the committee.

DON NICHOLS (accounting) has had a paper entitled "Some Unresolved Issues in Classical Auditing Sampling" accepted for presentation at Touche Ross Audit Symposium to be held at the University of Kansas on May 22-23.

The Political Science Department was represented at the recent Midwest Political Science Association annual meeting in Chicago by RALPH CARTER, who presented a paper entitled "Path Analysis of Congressional Foreign Policy Behavior: An Exploratory Study."

The mathematics department was represented at the spring meeting of the Texas Section of the Mathematical Association of America, held at Eastfield College in Mesquite on April 11-12, by VICTOR BELFI, LONDON COLQUITT, ROY COMBRINK, CHARLES DEETER, SHIRLEY DEETER, BOB DORAN and PENG FAN. Peng presented a paper titled "A function-theoretic proof of a theorem of Stampfli." Landon and Roy attended the meeting of TAAAMS, the organization of Texas Mathematics Department heads, and Charles attended the meeting of departmental representatives.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

DAVID LAMBERT (geology) attended a Geological Society of America Penrose Conference on "Southern Oklahoma Aulacogen" at the Quartz Mountain Lodge, Wichita Mountains, OK, March 23-28. This meeting, attended by about 60 geologists from industry and academia, provided the unique opportunity for a diverse group of geologists to study in detail the formation of the Wichita Mountains and Anadarko Basin in southwestern Oklahoma. David presented results of his geochemical research in this area, entitled "Rb-Sr and Sm-Nd isotopic investigation of the Glen Mountains Layered Complex, Wichita Mountains, Oklahoma." This research was the first to precisely date the oldest rocks in the exposed Wichita Mountains (570 million years). The conference was also attended by geology graduate student STEVE WILHELM, who presented the results of his thesis research in a poster session.

GAIL DAVIS (Harris College) was elected recently by the Texas Nurses Association (TNA) as a member of the nominating committee and as a Texas delegate to the American Nurses' Association's House of Delegates (1986-88). The 1986 meeting will be in Anaheim, CA, in June.

"Two Writers, One Computer: An Odyssey into Collaborative Writing," an essay by CHRISTINA MURPHY (English) and former doctoral student STEVE WILSON, appeared in the winter issue of English in Texas.

KAY HIGGINS (residential living) recently presented a workshop on the Meyers-Briggs Type Indicator to the faculty and staff at Amarillo College.

Among participants at the recent Southwest Commission on Religious Studies meeting in Dallas was ED McMAHON (part-time, religion-studies), who presented a paper to the New Testament section entitled "Acts 3:1-10. An Exercise in Comparative Midrash."

SPENCER TUCKER (history) has been notified his article "The Cruise of U.S.S. Plymouth, 1857" has been accepted for publication in the U.S. Naval Institute Proceedings.

The City of Fort Worth recently offered secretaries a day of staff development programs ranging from time management to professional image. Among workshop leaders were JUDY PHARISS, TERRY BRIDGES, CLAIRE Courniney, WANDA OLSON and RICH MURRELL (residential living).

Emeritus associate professor JO ANN JAMES will be installed as president of the Woman's Club of Fort Worth on June 6 at the club's traditional Magnolia Luncheon. TCU's former dean of women will become the 24th leader of the club, founded in 1923 by 11 local women.

The Starpoint School staff recently attended a two-day conference in San Antonio for the Texas Association of Educational Diagnosticians. Attending were KATHY HARRIS, MAGGIE HULL, ROBIN DAVIS, KELLEY DOBBINS, MADGE KING and LAURA LEE CRANE

BILL GRAHAM (physics) presented a paper entitled "Study of Metal Species in Petroleum and Tar Sand Samples Using EPR and FTIR Techniques" at the Symposium on Metalloporphyrins and Metallic Complexes in Petroleum and Source Rocks held in conjunction with the ACS meeting in New York on April 14-16. Bill has been notified that a paper, "Characterization of Circle Cliff Tar Sands: 1. Application of the FTIR Technique to Mineral Matter," which was co-authored with recent physics Ph.D. ROBERT SHEPHERD and B.S. recipient WALTER KIEFER, has been accepted for publication in the journal Fuel. Walter reports that he is working on his dissertation research on mantle convection on the planets Venus and Mars in the planetary science Department at Caltech. Robert is carrying out research with the composite materials group at General Dynamics.

RUTH WHITLOCK (music) attended the Music Educators National Conference Convention in Anaheim, CA, April 9-12. Her topic was "Structuring for Group Interaction" as panelist on a session entitled "Symposium '85 in Texas: One State's Venture Into Planning for the Future." Ruth was introduced as the "conscience of Texas music education" by David McGuire, director of graduate music education at North Texas State University.

ARTHUR BUSBEY, (geology) attended the 1986 West Texas Geological Society Field Conference in Big Bend National Park. The lead paper in the guidebook, 'Geologic overview of Big Bend National Park using Landsat imagery', was co-authored by Arthur, DAVE LAMBERT and KEN MORGAN (remote sensing) and graduate student MICHAEL ROSS.

Vice Chancellor PAUL HARIMAN was TCU's "unofficial" representative in the 90th running of the Boston Marathon on April 21. Of 3,754 who finished the 26+-mile course, he came in with a 3:25 time. The winning men's time was 2:07.51. The cold rain that started when he hit the 16th mile and the unexpected number of hills didn't enhance his time.

Two art faculty members were prize-winners in the Main Street Festival Juried Art Show April 18-20. DON SWEETLAND's Art Shop, which had been set up earlier in the Student Center Gallery, took a first place, and RON WATSON won a second prize for his oil on canvas entitled "Turning a Stair III: 1985."

PAUL BOLLER (emeritus, history) lectured on Lyndon Johnson for a Texas Sesquicentennial course at Tarrant County Junior College April 7, then spoke on "The First Ladies and Politics During the Gilded Age" for the American Studies Festival at Texas Wesleyan April 9. Paul also was a "Literary Lion" at the Texas Literary Festival of the Southwestern Booksellers Association meeting in Dallas April 19.

An essay by DAVID GRANT (religion-studies) entitled "Science and Natural Theology Rewed? Stephen Toulmin on Natural Religion" appears in the spring issue of Encounter.

TCU IN THE NEWS

"Asian immigration studied: TCU professor notes improvement in condition" was the Dallas Morning News headline April 3 for a feature on sociologist MORRISON WONG's research on the history and social impact of Asians' immigration to this country. His study also includes the measure of discrimination against Asians by Americans.

The April issue of The Quarter Horse Journal carried a review of "The Trail to Ogallala," authored by Benjamin Capps and issued by the TCU PRESS in its Texas tradition series.

Sociologist ANDY MIRACLE was quoted extensively in the April 2 issue of the Illinois Champaign-Urbana News-Gazette's three-part feature series on why former athletes "confess" to their involvement in NCAA rule-breaking. Andy was one of three national experts recommended to discuss the subject by University of Illinois sports psychologist John Loy.

"Political campaign: a crescendo of cynicism" was the title of Emeritus Chancellor J.M. MOUDY's article that appeared on the Star-Telegram's Expressions page on April 6.

"TCU professor finds value in junk mail" was the headline April 14 in the Monday News-Tribune for the feature about BOB FRYE's (English) research on those "Dear _____" letters that fill the mail. Bob is using these letters and their extraordinary variety in styles of expression and rhetorical choices to help students become more acutely aware of the process of writing.

His ongoing research of hobo signs was the subject discussed by DAVID CONN (art) for an April 10 segment on KXAS-TV.

"Varied demands expected of medical technologists, educators say" was the headline for the Dallas Morning News April 13 feature on DURWARD and DARLA SMITH and their work with TCU's medical technology program.

"Three to five years from now computers will act a lot differently than they do today" was the statement made by computer scientist TOM NUTE in the Star-Telegram's April 6 story on ways computers help cut down on accounting drugery.

Ranch Management's associate director JIM LINK was the spokesman for KXAS-TV's April 9 story on the need to restrict numbers of cattle, a problem that currently is facing cattlemen and dairymen across the nation.

"LOVE conquers all, no matter how you sign it" was the headline April 17 for Jon McConal's Star-Telegram feature on ANN LIEBERTH (speech communication) and her students' presentation for the Fine Arts Guild luncheon. The singing through signing was done by the habilitation of the deaf program's members of LOVE, Lending Our Voices and Ears.
