'HORNED FROG HERITAGE' IS THEME FOR HOMECOMING

With the best start in the last 13 Horned Frog football seasons, Purple and White fans are whooping it up for the Oct. 26-27 celebration of Homecoming '84. This year's schedule, under the theme of "Horned Frog Heritage" will offer an array of activities for alumni and students as well as their guests and other friends of the University. Co-chairing the special events are Ken and Jane Wiggin Gudgen of Fort Worth, members of the Class of 1964. Student chairman is Fort Worth senior Chandler Smith.

The program for The Century Club luncheon, traditionally the initial alumni event for the annual celebration, will focus on historical highlights as it inaugurates the organization's 25th-year observance. Anniversary greetings for the Friday program, which will begin at 12:15 p.m. in the fellowship hall of University Christian Church, will be given by Chancellor Bill Tucker. Master of ceremonies Clyde Foltz will present highlights of the group's 25 years, and music will be provided by the Concert Chorale under Ron Shirey's direction.

Currently headed by William E. Steele III of Fort Worth, The Century Club began in 1959 with 60 charter members giving a minimum of $100 annually. It now numbers 2,500 members.

Five Classes Plan Anniversary Reunions

Five classes are planning special reunions in conjunction with this year's activities. These include:

- The Class of 1934's golden anniversary party Friday at Colonial Country Club. Being coordinated by Fred Miller of Lafayette, LA., the event will begin with a 6 p.m. reception with a dinner program following.
- Dinner/dance for the Class of 1944 on Friday at the Petroleum Club. Chaired by Charles Mays of Fort Worth, the reunion will begin with a 7 p.m. reception, and dinner is set for 8:30 p.m. Music will be provided by the James Davis Orchestra conducted by class member Curly Broyles.
- Silver anniversary observance of the Class of 1959, coordinated by Marihelen Miller Hickey of Fort Worth, on Saturday. A 7 p.m. reception at the Americana Hotel will be followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m.
- Saturday's dinner event for Class of 1964 at the Americana Hotel, beginning with a 7 p.m. reception. Chairman is Homer Price of Fort Worth.

--Ten-year reunion of Class of 1974 on Saturday at Billy Miner's in Sundance Square. Chaired by John Ott of Fort Worth, the event will begin at 7 p.m. Classes of 1973 and 1975 have been invited.

Golf Tourney Open to Alumni, Guests

The annual Homecoming golf tournament for alumni and their guests will be held Friday. Tee-offs begin at 10:30 a.m. for the Florida Scramble. The $25-per-person fee includes greens fee and cart. Reservations are required and can be made by calling the alumni office.

Lettermen Plan Two Events

The annual golf tournament of the TCU Lettermen's Association will be held Friday at Ridglea Country Club. Tee-off times are between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., and the $25 fee includes greens fee and cart. At 6:30 p.m. Colonial Country Club will be the site for the group's annual meeting.

For Hunt, It Will Be 'Deja Vu' Time

When Bethena Sheffield Hunt of Corpus Christi accepts a bouquet of roses during Saturday's halftime show, it's certain to be a case of "deja vu" come true. It was 25 years ago that she took that position, also at halftime during a TCU-Baylor game, to be honored as Homecoming Queen. That game was played on Nov. 1 with the Horned Frogs winning 22-0 over the Bears. This year the fourth-grade teacher will be saluted as Coming Home Queen and will also be special guest at the silver anniversary reunion of her Class of 1959.

After earning the B.S. degree in elementary education, the Corpus Christi native taught in the Fort Worth/Dallas area for five years. After her marriage to Richard Hunt, a University of Arkansas alumnus who is an independent landman, the couple lived in California before settling in Corpus Christi. They have two sons, both in the Athena program for gifted children.

Varied Events Fill Saturday Schedule

Saturday's schedule is event-filled from a 9:15 a.m. parade to a post-game dance at 8:30 p.m. This year's student-planned parade, the first one for a Homecoming since 1977, will include floats and decorated cars, which will assemble at Bluebonnet Circle. The parade route will be north on University, then west on Cantey Street and south on Stadium Drive. Judging in the parade competition will be completed earlier, and the floats will be displayed around the quadrangle.

The complimentary Homecoming brunch for alumni, parents, faculty and staff members along with guests will begin at 10:15 a.m. in the Rickel Building. The event is provided by the TCU Alumni Association, and hostesses will be members of the Thursday and Saturday groups of the TCU Women Exes.

Bryson Club Will Dedicate Its Coffee

The annual Bryson Club Coffee at 10:15 in the Rickel Building will be dedicated to the late Lorraine Sherley, who was the organization's advisor from 1933 until her death earlier this year. Although she had not been notified, the alumni association had chosen her as its 1984 Homecoming Honoree a month before her death. Contributions are being accepted for a scholarship fund Lorraine established because of her long-time devotion to the Bryson Club or to a memorial scholarship established after her death. Checks, payable to either the Bryson or Lorraine Sherley scholarship fund, are being sent to Box 32920, TCU.

Frogs, Bears Clash at 11:30 a.m.

Kickoff for the Horned Frogs' clash with Baylor's Bears will be at 11:30 a.m. in Amon Carter Stadium. The half-time show will include presentation of the 1984 Homecoming Queen and her court, chosen earlier in the week by campus-wide election, and the Coming Home Queen of the 25-year honor class.

Post game events will include a reception by the Baptist Student Union at University Baptist Church along with receptions in sorority and fraternity chapter rooms.

Special Interest Groups Plan Gatherings

With events set for both before and after the game, numerous groups will hold their annual reunions on Saturday. These will include:

- Journalism Exes breakfast, 8 a.m. in the Student Center's Woodson Room with alumnus Roy Eaton, publisher of the Wise County Messenger as speaker.
- Ex-Bandsmen Association's continental breakfast, 8:30 a.m. in the Student Center's Richardson Room. A 4:30 p.m. party is planned at Under the Tower Restaurant, 5228 Camp Bowie Blvd.
- Breakfast at University Christian Church, 8 a.m., for alumni members of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).
- Alpha Epsilon Delta reception, 9:30 a.m., Room M-16, Sid W. Richardson Building.
- Harris College of Nursing alumni reception, 9:30-11 a.m., Bass Building living room. A dinner is planned for that evening.
- KTCU-FM open house in observance of the station's 20th anniversary, 10 a.m., Moudy Building. A 6:30 p.m. dinner is planned for the Woodson Room.

Americana Hotel Will Be Site for Dance

The musical group "First Crossing" will be featured at the annual dance for alumni and friends. A cash reception will precede the 9:30 p.m. event at the Americana Hotel. Doors will open at 8:30 p.m.

Bookstore Will Honor Alumni

To be open from 9:30 to 11 a.m. on Saturday for the convenience of guests on campus, the University Bookstore will offer special discounts to alumni. The discount will be 1 percent for each year since graduation, according to director Mike Gore.

Student Events Will Launch the Week

Student-planned events for Homecoming '84, which began Monday with a jazz band concert in the Student Center lounge at noon, will be highlighted by the public pep rally on Thursday and two performances of "Frog Follies" on Friday. To keep the momentum building toward the weekend, special events will include give-aways of pins and pencils, cups and key chains as well as frisbees during the week. Thursday has been declared "Purple and White Day" as an encouragement to the entire campus community to wear the TCU colors.

To start at 10:30 p.m. in the hill area south of Milton Daniel Hall, the pep rally will feature a fireworks display and music by the band. The speaker will be Coach Jim Wacker. Finalists in the Homecoming Court will be introduced, and the competition for original spirit yell and spirit song will be judged that evening.

Talent skit presentations from those chosen as the top six finalists will be presented during the 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. programs of "Frog Follies" in Ed Landreth Auditorium. The $1 tickets will be available at the door.

Saturday's all-campus party will be held in the fifth-floor atrium of the Tandy Center, beginning at 9 p.m. The $3-per-person tickets are available at the Student Center information desk or at the door. Free transportation will be provided from the Student Center that evening.

To add a special touch to Saturday's game, the student committee has planned a pom-pom display on both sides of the stadium stands. For the TCU designs, some 4,000 pom poms will be used.

KRESGE FOUNDATION WORKSHOP SET NOV. 1

The Kresge Foundation will conduct a free workshop Nov. 1 to promote a clearer understanding in the Metroplex of its policies and application procedures. Co-hosted by TCU's Funding Information Center, the Dallas Grants Information Service and Center for Nonprofit Management, the workshop will be held at the Dallas Public Library from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

The Kresge Foundation makes challenge grants toward the construction or renovation of facilities or the purchase of equipment or real estate. Grants are awarded to institutions in the areas of higher education, health care, social services, science, conservation, arts and humanities, religion and public policy. Registration, due by Saturday, may be made by calling TCU's Funding Information Center at Ext. 6130.

VONNEGUT TO SPEAK HERE TOMORROW

Kurt Vonnegut, whose science fiction and/or satirical fantasies make him one of the living masters of contemporary literature, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Tickets to the lecture, sponsored by TCU Forums, are $4 general admission, free with TCU ID.

One of the most celebrated writers in America today, Vonnegut is a native of Indianapolis who studied chemistry at Cornell for three years prior to World War II and who eventually earned the M.A. in anthropology from the University of Chicago. "The most interesting thing I saw during the war," he has said, "was the destruction of Dresden, the largest single massacre in European history. I was a prisoner in a meat locker under a slaughterhouse when the worst of the firestorm was going on."

His first book, a novel that mocked General Electric, was "Player Piano," published in 1952. It was followed by "The Sirens of Titan," a sophisticated space fantasy; "Mother Night," a short book about an American spy in wartime Germany; and then "Cat's Cradle," an apocalyptic satire set in a Caribbean island dictatorship. That novel began something of a Vonnegut cult and was taken up by young people much as "Lord of the Flies" had been a few years earlier. Still Vonnegut felt an obligation to make some kind of statement about the bombing of Dresden, which he did in "Slaughterhouse-Five," which became a best seller, was filmed and made Vonnegut a literary celebrity. Other Vonnegut works include the play "Happy Birthday, Wanda June" and the 1973 novel "Breakfast of Champions."

In his TCU address, Vonnegut says he will discuss his work, touch on current events and give the best advice he can to those who hope to become writers. Asked once what sort of writer he would most like to be known as, Vonnegut replied, "George Orwell."

HYMN FESTIVAL SCHEDULED SUNDAY

"We Sing of the People of God," a hymn festival based on the people of the Old and New Testaments as well as other prophets and religious persons, will be presented at 8 p.m. Sunday in Robert Carr Chapel. Included will be hymns for congregation, choir, organ and instruments.

Participants will include the Chapel Choir, under the direction of Ruth Whitlock; Emmet Smith, organist; and narrator W. Thomas Smith, executive director, Hymn Society of America, which maintains its national headquarters in Ed Landreth.

Thomas Smith says several recent texts and tunes will be sung. One that is particularly notable is "Woman in the Night" by the major English hymn writer Brian Wren. In eight stanzas it tells of the women who were influenced by Christ. The musical setting for congregation, choir and organ will be a premiere of this important work composed by William Rowan of Taylor, MI.

'THE TEXAS KID' WILL HAVE A SHOW HERE

Willard Watson has been an upholsterer, a carpenter, a plumber, an electrician, a cook, an auto mechanic, a tailor and a customizer of cars and trucks. Now he's a recognized folk artist, "The Texas Kid," whose sculpture will be on exhibit Nov. 1-16 at TCU's Brown-Lupton Gallery.

Watson, of Indian, French and Acadian descent, was born in Louisiana in 1921 but moved as a child to Dallas, where his artistic career blossomed in the 1970s. It was then that Watson, after selling some of his art at Bob Wade's Bicentennial Map Exhibit, realized that what he had been "piddlin' with" was, in fact, the backbone of a potential career in art.

Soon Watson was dubbed the darling of the Dallas art scene. Media followed suit, and now "The Texas Kid" has become a living legend. His Dallas yard, once a horror to his neighbors, is filled with full-fledged folk art. There he has created a monument to all that is zany in Texas art. Watson will make two appearances at the Gallery during the showing, once for an opening reception from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Oct. 31, again for a Brown Bag Series lecture at noon Nov. 12.

On view along with the work of "The Texas Kid" will be a display of mailart, which consists of a wide range of two- and three-dimensional objects--letters, postcard packages, stamps, collages, photocopies, newsletters, magazines, catalogues--all sent through the mail. Mailart, a movement that has grown up in the last 30 years, thrives in Eastern and Western Europe, Canada and Latin America as well as in the U.S. In America, the medium usually stresses aggressive images, strong visual qualities, highly individualistic concepts permeated by media and by computer graphics.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD FOR JIM MORAN

A memorial service was held Oct. 18 in Robert Carr Chapel for Jim Moran, TCU food service director who died in a Fort Worth hospital Oct. 14 after a lengthy illness. Graveside services were conducted Oct. 20 in Manns Choice, PA.

A native of Buffalo, NY, Jim had been Marriott's food service director since 1981. He was active in the Fort Worth Chefs Association and the National Audubon Society.

Survivors include his wife, Gretchen Moran; his mother, Mrs. Georgiana Moran of New York state; and a brother, Edward J. Moran Jr. of Wilmington, Del. The family has suggested that expressions of sympathy be sent to the National Audubon Society.

ART STUDENT'S CREATION TO BE USED IN ATLANTA CONVENTION

What began as just another class assignment for Mary Shreiner, a commercial art major, has become an important part of a drive for scientific cooperation between North and South America.

Mary was a student in Margie Adkins' commercial design course last summer when the class was approached by the Pan American Association of Ophthalmology, the largest international ophthalmologic body in the world. The PAAO wanted a striking exhibition booth for display at the biannual meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology in Atlanta. Margie used the organization's situation as an opportunity for her students to have real-life design experience; she assigned each student to design a booth, poster and direct mailing for the PAAO's promotion. At the end of the summer term, Mary's was selected by the PAAO as the best design. It features a booth in the shape and appearance of an eye.

Mary has spent the last six weeks constructing what she designed this summer. The eye is made of felt in a manner resembling quilt work and based on a traditional South American handicraft. The blue pupil of the eye contains a green map of the two continents. The booth also incorporates a table for the distribution of PAAO literature at the November meeting.

Although other students helped her from time to time, Mary did most the work herself, in addition to doing her other classwork and raising two teenage daughters. The disassembled booth was shipped last week to Atlanta, where members of the PAAO will reassemble it and use it during the November meeting to promote cultural and scientific exchange between the Americas.

NOTES ON FOLKS

BILL SMITH (chemistry) has recently presented seminars on his research to graduate students and faculty in the chemistry departments of the University of Texas-Arlington and North Texas State University. His research article, "Ring Opening of Epoxide with Morpholine-Borane," appeared in the most recent issue of The Journal of Organic Chemistry.

BILL GRAHAM (physics) has been notified of the acceptance for publication of three papers. "EPR of  $Mn^{2+}$  in Polycrystalline Dolomite," co-authored with Ph.D. candidate ROBERT SHEPHERD, will appear in the Journal of Chemical Physics. Articles entitled "The Origin of the  $Mn^{2+}$  EPR Spectrum in Pittsburgh No. 8 Coal" and "The Application of the FMR Technique to Coal Characterization Studies," which were co-authored with former postdoctoral fellow VIVEK MALHOTRA, will appear in the British journal FUEL. Vivek has recently joined the faculty of the physics department at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

CHARLES FALK, MARY HOWELL and CARLA WITTE (continuing education) attended a conference at the Fort Worth Hyatt Regency Oct. 10-12 held jointly by the National Council of Community Services and Continuing Education and the Texas Association of Community Service and Continuing Education. Charles on two occasions gave a presentation entitled "A Wild Walk Through the Wonderful World of Continuing Education Office Automation." He also was elected to the TACSCE board of directors.

JIM STANDIFER (emeritus, education) has had two articles accepted for publication by the Texas Driver and Traffic Safety Education Association Journal. The first article, "Laws of Learning," will be published in the December issue, and the second article, "Universal Wishes: Basic Motivators," will be published in March. These articles deal with driver and traffic safety education.

ROBIN HEIDT, TCU senior who is interning for Channel 8 in Washington through TCU's affiliation with the Washington Center, will have experiences to talk about long after graduation. After being at the Oval Office for the press conference of President Reagan and Andrei Gromyko, Robin was sent to Philadelphia for the Bush-Ferraro debate, where she sat at a table with Dan Rather.

AL MLADENKA (International Student Affairs) attended the fall leadership meeting of the National Association for Foreign Student Affairs in Washington, DC, during the weekend of Oct. 13-14. As chairman of Region III, composed of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas, Al helped to determine programming, policies and procedure on international education matters. Earlier in October, he had made a presentation to the Fort Worth Council on World Affairs on TCU's international student program.

DONNA EDWARDS (music) recently presented a lecture/concert on French piano music for the Fort Worth Music Teachers Association.

"Adult Caregivers and Aging Parents" was the title of the program given by MILDRED HOGSTEL (nursing) for the Oct. 11 meeting of Fort Worth's TCU Women Exes Thursday group.

DENNIS CONE (International Student Affairs) attended the annual conference in Dallas of TEXTESOL V, the regional organization of Teachers of English for Speakers of Other Languages.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

JUDY ALTER and LAURIE TEAL (TCU Press) represented the University when Ruby Schmidt, editor of "Fort Worth and Tarrant County: A Historical Guide," presented complimentary copies of the book to members of the Fort Worth City Council Oct. 9 and to county commissioners Oct. 15. Both Mayor Bob Bolen and Judge Mike Moncrief expressed high praise for the book and for Ruby's work.

Glenn Wilson, 80-year-old father-in-law of KEITH ODOM, recalled at the TCU-Rice game Oct. 13 that he saw his first TCU-Rice football game 60 years ago this month. Wilson isn't a TCU ex, but feels like he is since his daughter Glenna Odom is an alum and both Odom sons are current students. At any rate, he had more reason for yelling this year than in 1924, when Rice edged the Horned Frogs 7-3.

Two doctoral students in English, JEANE HARRIS and STEVE WILSON, are authors of an article on "Incoherence and Hamsterheads" published in the Fall 1984 issue of Freshman English News.

AL MLADENKA and DENNIS CONE (International Student Affairs) attended the regional fall conference of the National Association for Foreign Student Affairs, which met Oct. 3-5 in New Orleans. As chairman of the four-state region, Al was responsible for organizing the conference, which was attended by approximately 200 people. Dennis presented a paper entitled "Learning How to 'Do As the Romans Do': Some Techniques for Teaching Cross-Cultural Communication Skills."

ERNEST ALLEN (modern language) received a plaque from International Student Affairs at the annual fall host family picnic, in appreciation for his hosting the picnics for the last 10 years. The students also presented him a large basket full of bread, fruit, wine and cheese. The picnic is the last he'll be hosting as he will be moving from the farm.

A book by RON FLOWERS entitled "Religion in Strange Times: The 1960s and 1970s" has just been published by Mercer University Press. The book is an historical overview of the major events in American religion in the 1960s and 1970s, focusing on the rise of conservatism in its many forms, including cults. It also examines church-state relations and developments in black and feminist theology during those decades.

JOAN LEONARD and KIM CAMPBELL are part-time instructors this semester for international students taking English as a second language.

JIM CHAMBERS (history) participated in the TARS Symposium on Social History Oct. 11-13 at Keene State College, NH. His paper was entitled "Region and Outlook: The Case of Ancient Sparta."
