BOEHM ASSUMES ASSISTANT VICE CHANCELLOR POST

Dean Ned Boehm, who joined the University's faculty and administrative staff in 1979 to head the admissions division, has accepted the position of assistant vice chancellor for enrollment management and dean of admissions. Effective Jan. 1, he has responsibilities of leadership and coordination of personnel dealing with enrollment management issues. These include the admissions office, financial aid, continuing education, registrar and director of pre-major and freshman advising.

The position, known by various names at other institutions, is designed to provide more effective means for both recruiting and retaining students, according to Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler. In the admissions process, the University will be increasingly more cognizant of demographics, of the decrease of the 18-year-old population in established markets and of population shifts, Koehler explained. Included among the responsibilities will be the collection and analysis of demographic, socio-economic and other pertinent data necessary for developing multi-year freshman, transfer and nontraditional student admission strategies to accomplish TCU's admissions goals. Comprehensive retention studies of all students will be ongoing as will review of policies and procedures for registration as well as academic advising.

"No one is better suited to giving this leadership and catalyzing cooperation from all areas of the University than Ned," Koehler said. "His breadth of experience is complemented by his knowledge base of administrative activity and broad national contacts that put him in touch with what is happening elsewhere."

The Frostburg State College alumnus, who holds the master's and Ph.D. degrees from The American University, was director of development at The American University for two years before coming to TCU. He joined the Washington, D.C., institution's faculty in 1968 as instructor in health, physical education and recreation and was named assistant director of admissions in 1970. He also served there as dean for student development and acting vice president for student life.

Ned, recipient of Washington University's President's Award for outstanding service and selected for Outstanding Young Men of America by its alumni association, is vice president of the Texas Association of College Registrars and Admissions Officers. He is past president of the Texas Association of College Admissions Counselors.

LIVESTOCK MARKETING TO BE RM EVENING TOPIC

Marketing of Livestock and Meats will be the topic for the Ranch Management Program's evening class this spring. Taught by Jake Schrum, the class will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Jan. 22 in Sid W. Richardson Lecture Hall 2. The course will be concerned with marketing systems and producer decisions in selecting the method, place and time of marketing commercial and registered livestock for greatest net returns.

Registration will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. tonight (Tuesday) in the Rickel Building. Mail registration packets may be requested by calling the Ranch Management office, Ext. 7145.

REGISTRATION BEGINS TODAY

Registration for the spring semester is being held today and tomorrow with classes beginning Thursday. Full-time graduate and undergraduate students must register in the Rickel Building according to an alphabetical schedule. Evening registration for part-time students will be tonight (Tuesday) from 6:30 to 8 in the Rickel Building.

New students and students seeking re-entry after a semester or more absence must be approved by the dean of admissions before registering. Those students who completed advance registration during the fall semester may make schedule changes from 8 a.m. Jan. 17 through 4:30 p.m. Jan. 22.

A complete schedule of classes and specific times for registration are available through the registrar's office.

Part-time students may obtain a schedule of evening classes by contacting continuing education at Ext. 7130. Special financial aid programs may still be available for part-time students through continuing education on a first-come, first-served basis.

Late registration, limited to returning and previously approved students, will be conducted in the schools and colleges Jan. 17-18 and Jan. 21-22 from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

Late registration for evening classes will be held in continuing education, Sadler 212, Jan. 17, 18, 21, 22 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 17 only.

SEMINAR RESERVATIONS DUE

Reservations must be made by Saturday for the TCU Woman's Club's first lunch seminar of 1985, a Jan. 24 session on "Investment in Stocks and Bonds" led by Charles Becker. Lunch begins at 11:45 a.m. in the Bass Building living room.

Reservations at $4 each should be made with Carol Adcock at Box 32917, Room 101, Sadler Hall. Brown baggers also are welcome, but they should notify Carol they are coming so that proper seating arrangements may be made.

BROR UTTER RETROSPECTIVE OPENS SUNDAY

Fifty years of the work of Bror Utter, who is an important part of Fort Worth's first school of art, will be on view in a retrospective Saturday through Feb. 15 in the Moudy Building exhibition space. The preview reception will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Friday.

Sixty-six Utter paintings, ranging from a 1936 watercolor entitled "Willows" to "Red Rock Castle," a 1984 acrylic on canvas which creates its own world of intense red light radiating from precisely balanced forms, will be shown from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1-4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Born in Fort Worth near what is now Burnett Park, Utter studied art as a teenager with Sallie Gillespie, longtime secretary of Fort Worth Art Association, and helped to teach some of her classes in Fort Worth's old red sandstone library on 9th Street. He traveled early in his career to Taos and to Mexico and later to Europe for a number of summers and is especially well known for his architectural landscapes, a technique he first developed in Italy a number of years ago and has continually refined in this country and in Mexico.

He was one of the first exhibitors for the Fort Worth Art Association and had three purchase prizes in their shows, pictures which now are part of the Fort Worth Art Museum's permanent collection. He had one-man shows at that museum in 1946, 1953 and 1961 and one-man shows for the Texas Fine Arts Association in Austin in 1948 and 1950. He has had other one-man shows at Whyte Gallery in Washington, DC, and at Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. His work also has been shown at Metropolitan Museum, the Whitney Museum, Knoedler Gallery, New York Academy of Design, Brooklyn Art Museum, Library of Congress Gallery and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

The late Sam B. Cantey III persuaded Utter to paint a collection of 16 watercolors of historic buildings some 20 years ago to form the landmark collection of Interfirst Bank. Two of these--"Santa Fe Station" and "Marine Creek Bridge"--are included in the TCU show as are works owned by both the Dallas and Fort Worth museums, Neiman-Marcus and private collectors here and in Taos.

Utter has painted not only landscapes and architectural scenes but also works based almost entirely on his artistic spirit and imagination, according to Ron Watson, art chairman. Ron advises the viewer to penetrate "below the subject matter to deal with the actual quality of the paint, its viscosity, translucency, color and texture in relationship to lines, shapes, volumes and other elements of form. These are all-important concerns of the artist, and it is his unfailing sense of order and color which resonates in these paintings. To experience the works fully, one must dwell upon both their execution and their meaning."

At 72, Utter still paints and exhibits regularly. Fort Worth critic Susan Freudenheim, in an article in the January issue of Texas Homes, pointed out that Utter's new work shows an interest in heightened color together with more emphasis on textures.

NEW HOURS ARE ON RICKEL CENTER SCHEDULE

Beginning with the opening of the spring semester, new hour schedules will be observed in the Rickel Center. The facility will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturdays and from 1 to 10 p.m. on Sundays.

A policy requiring proper TCU identification for admittance has been adopted to provide maximum recreation opportunities for the University's students, faculty and staff members. TCU users will be allowed to take guests at no charge if proper reservations have been made in advance with the office, Ext. 7947.

Racquetball courts can be reserved by calling Ext. 7947 on the day requested. Two courts will be available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Hours for the universal weightroom will be 7:30 to 10 p.m., while the free weightroom will be open 4 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, noon to 9 p.m. Saturdays and 1-9 p.m. Sundays.

Pool hours will include:

Mondays through Fridays	7:30 a.m. - 9 a.m.	*During Monday night and Tuesday and Thursday noon swimming hours, the scuba class will be using one of the pools. One pool will always be available for free swim.
	Noon - 1 p.m.*
	5:30 - 9 p.m.*
Saturday	1 - 9 p.m.
Sunday	1 - 9 p.m.

The schedule, on occasion, will be modified to accommodate University classes or special events. Already planned are the following changes, and other information is available from Ext. 7947.

DR. TEEGARDEN TO JOIN BRITE FACULTY

Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden, general minister and president of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), will become Brite Divinity School's Distinguished Minister in Residence in January of 1986. He expects to retire from the denomination's chief executive office in August after serving since 1974.

Earlier he had been executive minister for the Christian Church in Arkansas and the Christian Church in Texas, and he was administrative secretary for the church's Commission on Restructure from 1965-69. Dr. Teegarden also has held pastorates in Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas.

Active in ecumenical affairs as a member of the governing board and executive committee of the National Council of Churches and as a delegate to the Consultation on Church Union, he also has been a delegate to World Council of Churches assemblies in Nairobi, Kenya, in 1973 and in Vancouver in 1983. Dr. Teegarden organized the Little Rock Conference on Religion and Race in 1960, presided over the Arkansas Council of Churches in 1962-63 and was a director of the Texas Conference of Churches from 1969 to 1972.

Born in Cushing, OK, he earned B.A. and M.A. degrees from Phillips and the B.D. from Brite, where he is a member of the board of trustees. Dr. Teegarden holds honorary degrees from Phillips, Bethany College, Lynchburg College, Culver-Stockton College and TCU.

Brite Dean Jack Suggs said Dr. Teegarden will teach and will counsel students. He brings to Brite immense knowledge of the church in its congregational, regional and general manifestations. "As a distinguished Disciples leader and an ecumenical church statesman in our time, Dr. Teegarden will add an important dimension to the program of Brite Divinity School," Chancellor Bill Tucker pointed out.

EIGHTEEN SELECTED AS WASHINGTON INTERNS

Eighteen sophomores and juniors have been chosen to take part in TCU's Washington internship program next fall. The group is the largest in the eight-year history of TCU's affiliation with the Washington Center and bring the total number of TCU's Washington interns to 101.

Also selected are Lynn Gentry, Little Rock junior, advertising-public relations; Cheryl Gwynn, Bolingbrook, IL junior, broadcast journalism/political science; Chrisee Huffman, Odessa junior, political science; Jennifer L. Mearns, Aledo junior, English; Jennifer Mohn, Houston junior, political science; Karin F. Schrottke, Austin junior, political science/mathematics; Alexander Sodek, Fort Worth junior, political science; Wayne Watson, Iowa Park junior, political science; Melissa Williams, Conroe junior, political science; and Suellen Wolf, Austin junior, journalism/political science.

SERVICE HELD DEC. 24 FOR TRUSTEE BROWN

A memorial service was conducted Dec. 24 for Sterling Wade Brown, president emeritus of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and TCU board member since 1966. Named to TCU's honorary board in 1973, he died Dec. 18 in a Norman, OK., nursing home.

The Cookville native earned the B.A. degree at TCU in 1930 and the B.D. degree through Brite Divinity School two years later. Holder of the doctorate from the University of Chicago, he was awarded honorary doctorates by Eureka College and TCU. Brown, an ordained Disciples of Christ minister, headed the NCCJ from 1965 until his retirement in 1973.

Earlier in his career, Brown was professor of religion at the University of Oklahoma in 1936-40 and later chaired the religion department at Drake University. In 1947-49 he was advisor about inner-group relations to the U.S. military in West Germany. After retiring he returned to Norman, where he was adjunct professor of human relations at Oklahoma University.

BARTLETT RECEIVES 1984 SOUTHWEST ACS AWARD

Chemist Paul Bartlett was an honoree at the Dec. 5-7 Southwest regional meeting of the American Chemical Society. During the three-day gathering in Lubbock, he received the 37th Southwest Regional Award, which includes $1,500, and presented his award address.

The former Harvard University chemistry chairman, who came to TCU in 1974 as Robert A. Welch Professor, won his first ACS award in pure chemistry in 1938. A significant number of major honors--such as the Robert A. Welch Award in 1961, the W.T. Doherty Award in 1979, the Linus Pauling Medal in 1975 and the ACS James Flack Norris Award in Physical Organic Chemistry in 1969--have come to Paul. With more than 30 of his 240 publications resulting from work done here, his most recent studies have been on oxidation with singlet oxygen, studies of double bonds with pyramidilized carbons and studies of isodicyclopentadiene and its isomers.

A story about the latest ACS award was included in the November issue of the society's Southwest Report.

LIBRARY HAS TAX AIDS

Again this year, the Internal Revenue Service has furnished the library's reference department with a variety of income tax forms for distribution. Also available is the 1984 Reproducible Federal Income Tax Forms for Use in Libraries, which contains more than 90 forms which can be photocopied.

A number of publications of Reference Reserve are designed to assist taxpayers in preparing income tax forms, including Tax Guide for Small Businesses; Employer's Tax Guide; Your Federal Income Tax; Tax Information on Social Security Benefits; Taxpayer's Guide to U.S. Information, Assistance and Publications, which contains useful year-round tips on how to obtain helpful tax information; and a four-volume set of Tax Information Publications.

LIBRARY RECEIVES TEXAS BOOK FROM MRS. MONCRIEF

"This Bitterly Beautiful Land, a Texas Commonplace Book," described as one of the most beautiful books ever produced in Texas, has been presented to Mary Coutts Burnett Library by Mrs. W.A. Moncrief Jr. Compiled and edited by Al Lowman, the book was designed and printed by William R. Holman and is thought to be the highlight of Holman's work.

Each page is designed as a separate broadside with wood block illustrations by Barbara Whitehead, and each contains a story of, a saying about or a short description of Texas, "this bitterly beautiful land."

Mrs. Moncrief, a member of the board of trustees of Harris College of Nursing, gave the book to TCU in honor of her son, Dr. Harold V. Johnson Jr., immediate past president of Friends of TCU Libraries. She also was the donor of one of TCU's most prized rare editions, Johannes Kepler's "An Incunabulum of the Exploration of Space," the earliest work of a scientist in which space travel is mentioned, and has been a continuing donor of Christie Auction catalogs to the library, said Paul Parham.

TCU PRESS PUBLISHES WORK BY GRANT

TCU Press has announced publication of "God the Center of Value: Value Theory in the Theology of H. Richard Niebuhr" by David Grant of religion-studies. The work, a careful analysis of the theological and ethical thought of prominent 20th Century Protestant theologian H. Richard Niebuhr, shows the close relationship between Niebuhr's discussion of value and his idea of God. David argues that the theory of value which Niebuhr develops must be understood in light of the role it plays in his overall theology and that attempts to understand his theory apart from that concept misjudge the theory.

A native of Dallas, David graduated from Austin College and holds the M.Th. from SMU and both M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard, where he served as a teaching fellow before joining the TCU faculty in 1981.

"God the Center of Value" is available for $16.95 from Texas A&M University Press, distributors for the TCU Press, Drawer C., College Station 77843-4354.

David was honored at a reception in Chicago during the annual meetings of the American Academy of Religion and the Society of Biblical Literature in December. The reception was hosted by TCU Press under the direction of Keith Gregory.

FORMER FROGS NAMED TO ALL-TIME HIGH SCHOOL LIST

The names of a number of former TCU athletes were prominent in the Dallas Morning News' listing of the All-Time Area High School All-Star Team in its Dec. 16 edition. The 16 were chosen solely on their performance as high school players. Sports writer Sam Blair noted that "as schoolboys, there were none better."

Representing the Horned Frogs were Mike Renfro, wide receiver from Arlington Heights and a member of TCU's Class of '77; I.B. Hale, Dallas' Woodrow Wilson high tackle who played on TCU's nationally acclaimed teams of 1936-38; Allie White, Masonic Home tackle who wore the Purple in 1936-38 and later was an assistant coach; Poly high guard Johnny Vaught of the 1930-32 teams; Scott McCall, Masonic Home running back who was a Frog athlete in 1934-36; and Davey O'Brien, quarterback of Woodrow Wilson high who made gridiron history at TCU in 1936-38.

Chosen for the Dallas News' defensive team were Sherrill Headrick, linebacker from North Side high who lettered at TCU in 1957-58; and Marshall Robinson, a back at Paschal who made Purple headlines in 1951-53.

Former Horned Frog athletes were scattered throughout the honorable mention and complete team listings.

MEDICAL OPTION AVAILABLE TO EMPLOYEES' SPOUSES

As a part of the federal government's effort to reduce Medicare costs, the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 was passed. The act requires that employees give spouses (age 65-69) of active faculty and staff members the option of selecting either Medicare or the employer's medical plan as their primary medical insurance coverage. The options must be offered regardless of the age of the faculty or staff member.

Option selection forms have been mailed to all faculty and staff age 50 and over. Persons who did not receive a form should contact the Personnel Office at Ext. 7792 for full information.

Jan. 25 is the deadline for completed forms to be returned to Personnel.

KLEIN TO PERFORM MONDAY

Andreas Klein will perform Monday to open the spring season of the TCU Music Department Concert Series. Beginning at 8 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium, Klein will play 12 Variations on "Ah! vous dirai-je, Maman" by Mozart; Sonata in E flat major, Op. 81A, "Les Adieux," by Beethoven; and Sonata in F minor, Op. 5, by Brahms.

A graduate of Juilliard School in New York, Andreas presented debut recitals in New York's Carnegie Hall, London's Wigmore Hall, Bern's Casino and Berlin's Philharmonic Hall. He has played with such orchestras as the Berlin Philharmonic, the Radio Symphony Orchestra Berlin, the Nordwestdeutsche Philharmonie, the Westfaelian Symphony and the Stuttgart Radio Orchestra. During the summer of 1984, Klein recorded the 24 Preludes by Chopin in Switzerland. The digital LP, now being released by Apollo Productions, was pressed by TELDEC in West Germany using an innovative "Direct Metal Mastering" process to insure superior sound reproduction.

FRIDAY SERVICE HONORS DR. KING

A service in honor of the life of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will be held at noon Friday in Robert Carr Chapel. Pat Kane, intercultural affairs advisor, said the public is invited.

A tribute to Dr. King will be offered by TCU graduate Jeffrey Richard, and representatives of many faiths will take part in a candle ceremony presented as a commitment to unity and to Dr. King's beliefs.

Hymns will be special favorites of Dr. King, including "In Christ There Is No East or West" and "Lift Every Voice and Sing." Soloists will include Lori Mack, a TCU sophomore from Houston, and Todd Jeffery of Fort Worth. Scripture will be read by Thomas Gross, senior from Montclair, NJ.

19-DAY TRIP SET FOR SPAIN, PORTUGAL, MOROCCO

One of TCU's 1985 scheduled trips will be a 19-day tour of Spain, Portugal and Morocco. For the May 19-June 6 trip, Dean of Students Libby Proffer and her husband Bob will be tour escorts. Cities on the itinerary include Lisbon, Seville, Tangier, Rabat, Casablanca, Marrakesh, Fes, Algeciras, Torremolinos, Granada, Cordoba, Madrid, Avila and Segovia.

The $2,495 cost includes round-trip air transportation from Dallas/Fort Worth Airport, accommodations in moderate, deluxe or superior first-class hotels, all meals, all sightseeing, entrance fees as well as tips. A comprehensive pre-departure orientation program also is included.

Additional information and full itineraries are available from Libby at Ext. 7855.

JOB TAPES REPLACE PERSONNEL LISTINGS

Because job openings and closings occur on a daily basis, the personnel listings formerly included with each week's bulletin could not be as up-to-the-minute as preferred. As a result, the listings will be discontinued.

Information regarding current employment openings for both general and University staff may be obtained by calling the job tape at 921-7791. This tape, available 24 hours a day, is updated weekly. Additional information about specific employment openings is available from employment analyst Shari Barnes at Ext. 7790.

TCU employees interested in transfer or promotional opportunities may call to schedule appointments with employment personnel.

According to the Wage and Salary Policy No. 5.0001, in the event that an employee transfers or promotes to another position on campus, the salary will be changed to the appropriate salary grade. The step currently held by the individual involved will be retained in all cases.

The Personnel Office, 2913 Princeton, is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday. The office also is open until 8 p.m. each Tuesday

ADVANCE REGISTRATION SHOWS INCREASE

A 6.9 percent increase for this semester over the 1984 spring term was a significant factor in the Nov. 12-Dec. 4 advance registration. The procedure was limited to students enrolled during the fall term.

Statistics on advance enrollments were released Dec. 7 by acting registrar Marvin R. Keith. By schools and colleges, whose totals include graduate students, the comparative figures were:

SCHOOL/COLLEGE	SPRING 1985	SPRING 1984	DIFFERENCE
AddRan College	2,092	1,998	+ 94 + 4.7%
M.J. Neeley School	1,423	1,209	+214 + 17.7%
School of Education	293	276	+ 17 + 6.1%
School of Fine Arts	643	656	- 13 - 1.9%
Harris College	244	250	- 6 - 2.4%
Brite Divinity School	0	1	- 1 -100%
Totals	4,695	4,390	+305 + 6.9%

ENROLLMENT BY SEX

Male	2,009	1,828	+181 + 9.9
Female	2,686	2,562	+124 + 4.8
Totals	4,695	4,390	+305 + 6.9

A total of 1,327 freshmen participated in advance registration, while other classes numbered 1,187 for sophomores, 909 for juniors and 970 for seniors. Graduate students totaled 274 along with 28 in the special and unknown category.

COMMUNITY CLASSES COVER WIDE INTEREST RANGE

Beginning next week a wide range of non-credit, low-cost community service classes will be offered on campus.

Natural fiber basketry and survey of symphonic music are two of the new courses in the art/cultural category.

Business/professional courses new to the 1985 spring schedule are business law and tax returns for the small business person. There are also ten courses in the microcomputer studies program, including a new study class in genealogy on the microcomputer.

Communications studies in French, German, Spanish and public speaking will be offered as well as a daytime series including courses in bridge, calligraphy and relaxation/self-hypnosis.

Participants in fun/hobbies classes can learn everything from Italian cooking to sailing. Personal development classes include assertiveness training, dressing for success and stress management.

For persons interested in keeping fit during the winter months, classes are being offered in aerobics, ballet, ballroom dance, golf, jazz dance, ju-jitsu, racketball, swimming, tennis and other activities.

Special programs for women and children also will be offered throughout the spring.

Classes will be staggered throughout January, February and March.

Additional information on registration and a calendar of events are available through community service programs at Ext. 7130.

DEADLINE NEARS FOR METROPLEX ART ENTRIES

Deadline is Feb. 28 for Fort Worth-Dallas area artists to submit works for Art in the Metroplex 1985, which will be held May 25-June 22 in Moudy Building exhibition space and Brown-Lupton Gallery. Juror for the show will be Henry T. Hopkins, director of the San Francisco Museum of Art and former director of the Fort Worth Art Center.

Work will be judged on the basis of 35mm slides, says Ron Watson, chairman of TCU's Department of Art and Art History, which co-sponsors the annual show with The Committee for an Artists' Center and the Exhibition Committee of TCU's Programming Council. Additional information may be obtained by calling Ron at Ext. 7643.

First place award will be $900, second place $750, third place $500, fourth $250 and honorable mention $100.

CHRISTMAS CARD FUND REACHES SCHOLARSHIP LEVEL

The TCU Scholarship Fund, to which faculty and staff members contribute in lieu of Christmas cards to their campus colleagues, now totals $5,602.50--an amount sufficient for the awarding of the initial scholarship. Dating to 1972, the traditional greeting via scholarship gift amounted to $470 for 1984, bringing the total over the $5,000 required figure.

This year's entire listing of contributors and funds to which they designated their gifts include:

In lieu of Christmas Cards Fund:

Dr. Donald Worcester	Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith
Craig Elders	Betty Knox
Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Haubold	Manfred Reinecke
Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rivares	Ron and Mary Randall

RETIREEES PROGRAM SET FOR JAN. 24

A consideration of "Keeping Fit with a Fitness Program" will be presented at the Jan. 24 luncheon gathering of members and guests of the TCU Retirees Association along with other interested persons. The noon event will be held in the Heritage Room at Colonial-Jetton Cafeteria on Rogers Road.

Presenting the program will be Elmer Brown, former director of TCU's athletic trainer program who now is professor of sports medicine at Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine. For a number of years he has been consultant to the U.S. Air Force on its sports and rehabilitation programs.

NOTES ON FOLKS

"Bank Evaluation of LDC Country Risk" by BOB BOATLER (business) was published in the 1984 Autumn issue of Inter-American Economic Affairs.

RICHARD LYSIAK (physics) was invited by the U.S. Naval Research Lab in Washington, DC, to make an hour-long presentation on his laser research Dec. 4 at a workshop for laser researchers. TCU was the only university represented on the program.

Articles by WALTER NAFF (Brite) have been accepted for two upcoming publications. The Disciple, the journal of the Christian Church, will publish his article entitled "In Support of the Conciliar Voice." An article on "The Place of Practical Theology in Ministerial Education" will appear in the Spring issue of The Ministers' Personal Library, a journal published by Word, Inc., of Waco.

CATHY COLLINS (education) gave a paper at the seventh annual convention of the Texas Association for the Gifted and Talented entitled "Gifted Students Speak Up: What We Want Out of School." She also spoke to the first meeting of the Springtown Independent School District Parent/Teachers Association for Gifted/Talented. Her topic was "Parenting the Gifted."

BOB WATKINS (continuing education) accepted the "Ad-Ran Award" Nov. 14 in recognition of TCU's outstanding continuing education program. The certificate of appreciation was given by the American Society for Training and Development.

OTTO CHANG (accounting) has had a paper accepted for presentation at the Midwest Regional Meeting of the American Accounting Association to be held March 27-29 in Chicago. The title of the paper is "Tax Avoidance Behavior: A Prospect Theory Prospective."

LINDA HAVILAND MOORE (social work) was invited, as president of the National Association of Social Workers, Texas chapter, to Abilene on Dec. 6 where she addressed a practice class at Hardin Simmons and a class at Abilene Christian University. She also was interviewed by dean of students, Dr. Gary McCaleb, on the ACU show, "On Camera," about her role as athletic counselor to athletes and the educational and athletic demands on athletes. That evening, Linda was the guest speaker for the Abilene unit NASW meeting. On Dec. 11, she spoke to an undergraduate social work class at UTA on the topic "So You Want to be a Social Worker?"

The 1984 fall issue of Liberal Education, a publication of The Association of American Colleges, includes an essay entitled "Socrates Never Had Days Like This" by GREGG FRANZWA (philosophy). The essay was Gregg's speech at last spring's Brachman banquet.

"The Resonance of Grace," the first book of poetry by emeritus vice chancellor JAMES NEWCOMER, has been issued by Latitudes Press of Fort Worth. Recently the author was among participants in a reading by Latitudes' writers as well as an autograph party.

JACK SUGGS (Brite) attended the seventh session of the Disciples of Christ-Roman Catholic International Commission for Dialogue in Nashville Dec. 8-14. His article on "Koinonia in the New Testament," read in Venice at the 1983 meeting of the Commission, has been published in Mid-Stream.
