RARELY PRESENTED BALLET DUE HERE MAY 2-4

"Petrouchka," perhaps the most famous ballet in the modern repertory but one that is rarely revived, will be presented May 2-4 at TCU.

Fernando Schaffenburg of the ballet faculty has re-staged both "Petrouchka" and "Cirque de Deux," one-act ballets in which he danced with the American Ballet Theater and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, respectively.

Guest dancers for the productions, which will be under the sponsorship of the TCU Fine Arts Guild, will include David Curwen, who has danced with the Maryland, Milwaukee and Fort Worth ballets; General Hambrick, a TCU ballet graduate who has danced with the Maryland and Fort Worth companies; Phillip Krauter, who studied at the Schaffenburg Ballet Academy on a Ford Foundation Scholarship and has danced with Ballet West and the Fort Worth Ballet; Mario Nugara of the Dayton Ballet, Ballet Metropolitan and Fort Worth Ballet; and Ken Whites, former TCU Preparatory Ballet student who has been with both the Ballet du Nord in France and the Los Angeles Ballet.

Performances in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 8 p.m. each evening and at 2 p.m. May 4 will begin with "Cirque de Deux," a brief ballet that has no story but provides a satirical look at various circus acts. Dancers for the May 2 performance and May 4 matinee will be Hambrick, Krauter, Karen Schaffenburg, who heads the TCU preparatory ballet program, and TCU senior Shara Martin. Other performances will be danced by Curwen, Whites, TCU ex-student Monica Gradante and senior Gay Frizzell.

"Petrouchka," set at a Shrovetide Fair in St. Petersburg, tells of three puppets --Petrouchka, the ballerina and the Moor--endowed with life by an unfeeling magician, a charlatan, who displays them at fairs. Petrouchka falls in love with the ballerina but is rejected by her in favor of the dashing but dim-witted Moor.

The Moor finally chases Petrouchka out of the theatre into a square and kills him. The charlatan, returning to find bystanders in an uproar over the murder, picks up the body and shows it is only sawdust. As everyone leaves, the charlatan drags the body away, but as he is about to disappear the tormented soul of Petrouchka arises, free at last, from behind the puppets' booth.

The large cast will include Nugara as Petrouchka and Zac Ward as the charlatan, with Karen Schaffenburg and Hambrick in the roles of the ballerina and Moor on the evenings of May 3-4, Frizzell and Curwen on May 2 and the May 4 matinee.

CONCERT CHORALE BENEFIT SET APRIL 30

With all the furor surrounding the 300th birthday of Bach, the centennial anniversary of a beloved American composer, Jerome Kern, might be in danger of passing with little notice. The Concert Chorale will pay tribute to Kern by performing some of his great favorites--including "All the Things You Are," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Yesterdays," "The Way You Look Tonight" and "I Won't Dance"--in concert at 8 p.m. April 30 in Orchestra Hall, 4401 Trail Lake Dr.

The $10 concert is a benefit to help defray the cost of sending the chorale to perform the opening concert for the national convention of the American Choral Directors' Association in Salt Lake City in March. Only five choruses were selected to sing for the 1,500 choral directors, and only TCU's was from a university. Expenses of sending the 50-voice chorale to Salt Lake City were high but were partially defrayed by generous gifts from special TCU friends--Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Pate Jr. of Fort Worth and Mrs. Jane Bradford Armstrong of Midland, who have been named honorary sponsors for the benefit.

The chorale also will sing several selections from the Salt Lake City concert, including a medley of songs of the Southwest and spirituals "Deep River" and "Ain'a That Good News?" Chorale members are selling tickets in advance, and ticket information is available at the music office, Ext. 7602.

COOPER WINS TRIP TO BALLET CONFERENCE

Senior Edmond Cooper of Hot Springs, AR, won a trip to the 18th annual Craft of Choreography Conference in Geneva, NY, June 29-July 14 when his abstract ballet was judged one of the two best entered in the Young Choreographer's Showcase at the Southwest Regional Ballet Association April 11 in Little Rock. Only 15 choreographers are being accepted for the conference, which is sponsored by the National Association for Regional Ballet. Director of choreography for the conference will be Ron Cunningham, resident choreographer of the Boston Ballet who was recently named artistic director of the Baltimore Ballet.

The work Edmond presented at the regional session was "Spandalex," a futuristic ballet danced to the music of Pink Floyd by three TCU ballet majors who were attached to each other by 50 feet of elastic.

DEUPREE TO BECOME REGISTRAR ON JUNE 1

John C. Deupree of New Jersey's Rider College will assume the position of TCU registrar on June 1. The appointment was announced last week by Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler.

Holder of the B.S. degree from the University of Tennessee, Deupree has been registrar at Rider College since 1972. During that time he developed computerized academic records for internal use and installed an on-line computer system. He also participated in planning and forecasting for that institution.

Deupree earned the Master of Education degree at the University of Virginia, where he was a staff member responsible for sponsored research administration and continuing education in 1968-72.

SATURDAY IS DATE FOR 'FROG DAY AFTERNOON'

"Frog Day Afternoon," the annual family-oriented event held in conjunction with the final scrimmage of spring football training, is set for April 27. The slate of activities will range from barbecue lunch and a report on this year's recruiting to football and cheerleading clinics.

Planned by the TCU Alumni Association under the leadership of Lindy Berry, the initial event will be an 11 a.m. tour of the athletic facilities and equipment. A pre-game luncheon party will begin at 11:30 a.m. in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

At 12:30 p.m. Coach Jim Wacker will discuss the recently completed recruiting season, hailed by sportswriters as one of the top five such efforts in the nation. During Wacker's second season as head football coach, the Horned Frogs set an all-time school and Southwest Conference record of 5,109 yards of total offense while establishing one NCAA record, two all-time SWC marks and 38 school records during an 8-3 season that ended with a New Year's Eve game in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

While Jim describes prospects for the 1985 season, TCU players and assistant coaches will conduct a clinic for children on the turf of Amon-Carter Stadium. TCU cheerleaders will talk about cheerleading techniques.

Kickoff for the annual Purple-White scrimmage will begin at 2 p.m. Admission to the game will be $2 per person for the public. Faculty and staff members as well as students will be admitted free with their TCU identification cards.

Reservations for the luncheon, set at $5 for adults and $4 for children 10 and under, are due by Wednesday to the Alumni Office, Box 32921.

JOURNALISM DEPARTMENT CO-SPONSORS 'WOMEN AND WORK'

"Women and Work," a forum for exchange of information, knowledge and research on women and work, will be held May 2-3 at the University of Texas in Arlington. TCU's journalism department, Women's Center of Tarrant County, Governor's Commission for Women, the Women and Work Research and Resource Center along with UTA's Graduate School of Social Work and Office of Continuing Education are sponsors for the annual symposium.

In addition to authors' papers and round-table discussions during the two-day event, four speakers will be featured. Senior editor Eliza Collins of the Harvard Business Review will discuss "Images of Career Women: New Stereotypes or Old?" at 9 a.m. May 2. At noon that day consultant-poet Natasha Josefowitz of La Jolla, CA, author of "Paths to Power" and "You're the Boss," will speak on "Is This Where I Was Going and Where Do I Go from Here?" Vice president Christy C. Bulkeley of the Gannett Foundation will focus on "Up the Corporate Ladder: Dreams and Realities" for the noon luncheon address. At 3:15 p.m. that day Ilana Rubinfeld, founder/director of New York's Rubinfeld Center, will discuss "Self-Care for the Professional Woman: Beyond Physical Fitness." "Mass Communications' Images of Working Women" by journalism's Doug Newsom will be presented by alumna Camille Keith, Southwest Airlines vice president of Dallas, in Doug's absence. Luncheon speaker Bulkeley will be introduced by Betty Knox of the News Service.

Registrations, set at $60 and including luncheon and a reception, are due April 29 to UTA's Continuing Education Office, Box 19197, Arlington 76019. Additional information is available by calling that office, 273-2581.

FALK, WATKINS WILL BE HONORED TOMORROW

Continuing education director Charles Falk and Bob Watkins, who has headed the professional development programs, will be honored tomorrow at a luncheon at Mandalay Four Seasons Hotel in Irving. They and others will be recognized for contributions of time and effort to the TAGER television services of the Association of Higher Education of North Texas during the last year.

Speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Don Newbury, president of Western Texas College and former community director for Tarrant County Junior College. TAGER coordinators in various businesses served by the network will be honored as will members of the AHE staff.

Annual enrollment for TAGER's live, interactive instruction from North Texas colleges and universities to business and industry in the region have now reached some 2,500, an increase of more than 10 percent over last year. The achievement will be acknowledged at the luncheon.

SEARCH TO CONTINUE FOR VICE CHANCELLOR FOR ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES

Chancellor Bill Tucker with the concurrence of the Advisory Search Committee has decided to continue the search for vice chancellor for administrative services. No appointment will be made at this time.

All candidates for the position, except for those who have withdrawn from consideration, will be notified of the decision and advised to contact the committee chair if they wish to be reconsidered.

According to Chancellor Tucker, it may be necessary to make some kind of temporary administrative arrangements for the next few months.

'BIG 10' PLANS REUNION BRUNCH

A group of men who fashioned a strong, long-lasting friendship during their collegiate days in the late 1920s when they first became the "Big 10" will gather on campus April 29. The meeting of the organization's remaining members falls between the regularly scheduled anniversaries held every 10 years since they graduated in 1929.

Prior to the brunch, the men and wives along with widows of other members will have a dinner party at Colonial Country Club Saturday, attend University Christian Church and have lunch together Sunday. For the 11:45 a.m. brunch in the Student Center's Woodson Room, Vice Chancellor Paul Hartman will preside. Remarks will be made by Librarian Paul Parham and Coach Jim Wacker. Archival material of the "Big 10" will be presented by member Claude Manning Jr., who is coordinating the event. A special guest will be Chancellor Bill Tucker.

The "Big 10" members each carry a silver coin with a Big 10 medallion and engraved dates of the 40th and 50th reunions. When the students formed the group in 1925, the membership was 11 persons, but named as it was since "when one member was talking about the group, he was referring to the other 10," according to an earlier Star-Telegram story. The covenant they signed by kerosene light at midnight on May 25, 1929, called for the gathering every 10 years.

Expected for the on-campus event are members Ray Copeland, Ralph Sanders, John Garnett and Manning, all of Fort Worth; Weir McDiarmid of Minnesota; Marvis "Bud" Norman of Mississippi. Wives and widows attending will be Mrs. Bill Balch, Gwendolyn Copeland, Dorothy Erisman, Edna Garnett, Orpha McDiarmid, Franciel Manning, Allene Norman, Hazel Pierce and Mary Lloyd Sanders. Three members' sons--Bill Balch, Fred Erisman and Don Jones--will be present along with guests Emily Erisman Myers and William Pierce.

ANTIQUÉ SEMINAR IS THURSDAY

Last in a series of TCU Woman's Club lunch seminars, Investment in Antiques, will begin at 11:45 a.m. Thursday at House of Windsor Antiques, 6205 Sunset Dr., owned by Mrs. W. C. Connors. Reservations must be made by noon tomorrow (Wednesday) with Carol Adcock, Room 101, Sadler Hall. Cost of the box lunch will be $4. Anyone needing a ride also may contact Carol at Ext. 7855.

ACC JOURNAL POINTS TO TCU INTERNSHIPS

TCU's Washington Internship Program, administered by Gene Alpert of political science, was discussed in detail in the March 1985 issue of the Forum for Liberal Education.

The forum, which is mailed to the presidents of all colleges and universities affiliated with the Association of American Colleges, selected the TCU program as the model for programs of its type and devoted most of a magazine page to describing the internships.

INTERNATIONAL RESEARCHERS VISIT TCU

Two distinguished professors will be on campus this spring to work on research projects with Dale Huckaby of chemistry. Dr. Franz Rys of the Fritz Haber Institut der Max Planck Gesellschaft, West Berlin, is here to begin cooperative research with Dale. Dr. Rys presented a seminar last week entitled "Roughening of Solid Surfaces." Professor Andre Bellemans of the Universite Libre de Bruxelles, Brussels, Belgium, received a grant from the Belgian Science Foundation to come to TCU for three weeks in May to continue collaborative research with Dale.

With support provided by a grant from the U.S. National Science Foundation, Dale will be in Belgium for several weeks this summer to continue research with Drs. Marcel Ausloos and Paulette Clippe of the Universite de Liege and with Prof. Bellemans. Dale's research with Prof. Bellemans during his leave in the spring of 1984 resulted in an article in the Journal of Chemical Physics entitled "An Exactly Solvable Two-Component Solution Having a 'Closed-Loop' Phase Diagram." Another article will appear in the June 1 issue of the Journal of Chemical Physics. Entitled "A Lattice Gas Model for Enantiomeric Phase Separation," the article was co-authored by Dale, Ausloos and Clippe.

TIAA/CREF VISIT SET FOR APRIL 29

Representatives of the Teachers' Insurance & Annuity Association/College Retirement Equities Fund (TIAA/CREF) will be on campus April 29 to discuss benefits. Room 205 of the Student Center will be the location for a group meeting from 2-4:30 p.m. and another session from 7-9:30 p.m.

Faculty and staff members interested in attending should contact the Personnel Office, Ext. 7792, for reservations for the session of their choice.

Persons currently enrolled in the retirement planning seminar series being held on Monday evenings in Room 205 need not call for reservations, according to Alphonetta Wines, personnel analyst.

HOPKIN AND HODGSON TO PERFORM MONDAY

Baritone J. Arden Hopkin and Peter J. Hodgson, harpsichordist and pianist, will present a TCU Music Department Concert Series recital at 8 p.m. Monday in University Theatre.

They will perform Amore traditore (BMV 203) by Bach, Vier Ernste Gesange, Op. 121, by Brahms, and R. Vaughn Williams' "The Songs of Travel."

Arden, head of the University's Opera Workshop, holds a doctoral degree from Eastman School of Music. He has been director of opera at the Bay View Music Festival and stage director of the Southwestern Opera Institute in Louisiana. A native of England, Peter came to TCU in 1983 as chairman of the Department of Music from New England Conservatory of Music, where he had been academic dean for five years.

PREACHING AWARD GOES TO LUANN HOWARD

Luann Howard of Buhl, ID, who will graduate in August from Brite, has won the annual preaching competition among senior Disciples of Christ students at Brite. Her prize was $500. Winner of the $300 award was Wayne Stewart of Fort Worth. Gene Roberts of Fort Worth received the $200 award, and $100 prizes went to Betty Mann of Fort Worth and Shirley Lockhard of Des Moines.

The competition, made possible by a grant from the Christian Foundation of Corpus Christi, promotes excellence in sermon preparation and delivery. The foundation, a philanthropic organization supported by First Christian Church of Corpus Christi, was founded 28 years ago by former Texas Gov. James V. Allred and the church's pastor, W.O. Harrison.

APRIL 26-27 SET FOR QUINQ CLUB REUNION

Alumni who graduated 50 or more years ago will return to campus Friday and Saturday for the annual TCU Quinq Club reunion that includes renewing old friendships and making some new ones. Currently headed by John L. Hirstine, Class of '32 member from Fort Worth, the group was formed in the mid-1970s for former students from those earlier days.

Colonial Country Club will be the site of registration and a reception beginning at 6 p.m. Friday with a dinner to follow. Schola Cantorum will provide the entertainment. A continental breakfast will start at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the Student Center. "Highlights of TCU," beginning at 10 a.m., will include presentations by music chairman Peter Hodgson, radio-TV-film chairman Joel Persky and continuing education director Charles Falk. Following a campus tour, a business luncheon is set for 11:45 a.m.

NOTES ON FOLKS

ANN KIRKHAM (nursing) presented a paper on "Historical, Legal, Sociological Factors in Abuse" at a conference on "Abuse, a Tragedy and its Aftermath" sponsored by District 4 (Dallas) Texas Nurses' Association. Ann has been quoted several times in the past months in Fort Worth Star Telegram articles on rape.

JOEY JETER (Brite) will be featured speaker at the area assembly of the Trinity Brazos Area Christian Church to be held May 5 at Lakewood Christian Church of Waco. A popular preacher, Joey has given 13 sermons on the National Radio Pulpit and has addressed regional assemblies across the nation.

An exhibition of paintings by JIM WOODSON (art) is currently on view at the Fort Worth Gallery at 901 Boland St. The exhibition runs through April 27.

ARNOLD BARKMAN and OTTO CHANG (accounting) attended the mid-western regional meeting of the American Accounting Association held in Chicago March 27-29, when they presented papers. Arnold's paper was "A Reevaluation of the Accountant's Stereotype" with JOHN TOULIATOS (home economics), Art Bedeian and Kevin Mossholder, both of Auburn. Otto's paper was "Tax Avoidance Behavior: A Prospect Theory Perspective" with Joe Schultz of Arizona State.

CATHY COLLINS (education) presented two papers at the annual convention of the American Educational Research Association, "Teaching Four and Five-Year-Old Children to Read: The Effects upon Their Social, Emotional and Cognitive Development" and "The New State-of-the-Art--Networking Within a Region or State to Enhance Teacher Training." Cathy also served on the Palmer Johnson Award Committee for the Outstanding Research Work of the Year.

A paper on "Quine's Revisionism: Re-entry into Immunity" was read by SPENCER WERTZ (philosophy) at the 36th annual meeting of the New Mexico-West Texas Philosophical Society held in Cloudcroft, NM.

A paper by BILL WATSON and PAUL BARTLETT (chemistry) entitled "Double-bond deformation in two crystalline derivatives of syn-sesquiorbornene" has been honored by the Institute for Scientific Information. Each year the institute analyzes papers published four years earlier. One criteria they use for designation of "landmark papers" is the number of times a paper is cited by other authors. Out of more than 129,000 chemical research publications in 1981, Bill's and Paul's paper ranked 28th in the top 100. Co-authored by postdoctoral fellows JEAN GALLOY and TOM ROOF, the paper appeared in the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

TELETE Z. LAWRENCE (speech pathology, emeritus) is one of only seven persons to be elected as a 1984 fellow of the International Society of Phonetic Sciences. She also has been selected as a member of the honorary council of the governing body of the Phonetic Society of Japan and is listed in the 1984-85 edition of Who's Who in the World.

BOB BLANTON and the TCU Wind Ensemble are back from a recruiting tour that included concerts in McAllen and the San Antonio area. The concerts, featuring MORRIS MOORE as saxophone soloist, included one in McAllen for some 20 high school bands competing in the City of Palms Band Festival.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

VALERIE NEAL HASSIN, a 1971 graduate in English, recently has shared with FRED ERISMAN (English) copies of four booklets she has written for NASA's Office of Space Science and Applications, Multimission Modular Spacecraft/Flight Support System Project Office. Valerie is a technical writer with Essex Corporation in Huntsville, AL, which provides technical services to NASA. Her booklets are entitled "Repairing Solar Max," "Observing the Universe in X-Rays," "Spacelab 1" and "Renewing Solar Science."

Cited as the best book for children and/or young adults, "Luke and the Van Zandt County War" received the Books Inc. Award given recently by the Texas Institute of Letters. The $400 cash award from Books Inc. of Houston was designated for the TCU PRESS, which issued the volume in its series for young Texans, and its author JUDY ALTER.

SHARON FAIRCHILD (modern languages) attended the Annual Foreign Language Conference at Wichita State University on April 11-13. Theme of this year's meeting was "Latin American and Continental Women Writers." Sharon presented a paper entitled "George Sand's Views of Marriage."

Also taking part in the Southwest Commission on Religious Studies meeting in Dallas, in addition to the TCU folks named in the Aug. 16 bulletin, were C. DAVID GRANT, who participated in a panel presentation examining the question "What Is a Religious Tradition?" and ROGER WEDELL, who presided at a meeting of the Arts, Literature and Religion section and read a paper entitled "New Icons: The Spirituality of Abstract Expressionism." Also attending the sessions were AMBROSE EDENS and JEFF PULIS.

CATHY COLLINS (education) presented an inservice training session for "The Acting Out Child: Effective Classroom Management" at Pharr-San Juan-Alamo Independent School District in McAllen March 29.

Sympathy is extended to BEN PROCTER (history), whose brother, Les Procter of Austin, died April 17 in a hospital there. Memorial services were held Saturday. Les Procter was a former Travis County district attorney who prosecuted former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles in connection with thefts from the Texas veterans land program.

Political scientists DON JACKSON and JIM RIDDLESPERGER presented a paper entitled "Whatever Happened to the Exclusionary Rule?: The Burger Court and the Fourth Amendment" at the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Convention in Las Vegas, NV, on April 1.
