

CARNEGIE FOUNDATION GRANTS

March 11 has been set as the last date for receiving applications for Carnegie Foundation Grants for Research for the current season. Anyone interested in further details about research grants is invited to confer with one or more of the members of the TCU Committee on Research. The Committee consists of the following members:

Dr. A.L. Porterfield
Dr. E. M. Jellinek

Dr. C. F. Cheverton

Dr. Joseph Morgan
Dr. T. C. Crenshaw

A meeting has been called of heads of departments to discuss means for encouraging more research on the part of staff members of the various departments. The meeting has been called for February 23. It is hoped that this meeting will provide an opportunity for heads of departments and all interested members of each departmental staff to encourage research and to learn more about the specifications of the Carnegie Foundation Grants.

TO HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS

The Committee on Research is interested in more applications for Carnegie grants-in-aid for research for the present year. To that end we are requesting that heads of departments give thought to members of their respective staffs who might be interested in working on a suitable research project. It appears that there has been some lack of information regarding the acceptability of projects designed for the improvement of teaching. A meeting of heads of departments is therefore called for February 23 at 11 A.M. in Room 218 to discuss further the Carnegie research program. To this meeting you are requested to bring any members of your staff who are interested in research and seem to be promising recipients of research grants.

Jerome Moore, Chairman
Committee on Research

THE LIST OF MAY CANDIDATES

We appreciate the fine response being made to the request for lists of names of May candidates together with petition sheets. A few departments have not yet responded. We will look for these by Saturday morning.

Registrar

FACULTY MEETING

There will be a general faculty meeting at 11 AM on Tuesday, March 7 in the Little Theater. The meeting will be concerned with a presentation and discussion of the provisions of the Gilmer-Aiken Bills. This act, providing a new method of State Administration of the public free schools under the establishment of a centralized educational agency, will be described and discussed with reference to the effects on the program at T. C. U. Dr. L. P. Evans will present the structural set-up embodied in the Bills and the effects on the fields of education and supervision. This will be followed with a discussion of the features having to do with counseling and guidance by Dr. T. F. Richardson. Dean De Groot will then speak for the graduate school followed by Dean Moore who will go into those aspects pertaining to remaining fields.

If we can start on time it is the plan that all of this will take up to 40 minutes, thus leaving 15 to 20 minutes for discussion.

We hope that you can arrange to be present for these significant presentations.

Joseph Morgan, Chairman
The Faculty Program Committee
