

262 Fourth Ave.

NAULAKHA
BRATTLEBORO
VERMONT.

Dear Mrs Riggs.

We shall like immensely
to come to you on Sunday evening at seven.

I send this to Lakewood hoping to catch you there.
And may it find you in better health than it leaves me - as our Irish friends put it -

Sincerely

Caroline Kipling.

CAROLINE (MRS. RUDYARD) KIPLING, A. L. S.,
[1896], to Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin Riggs.

262 Fourth Ave.

NAULAKHA

BRATTLEBORO'

VERMONT.

[these three lines engraved]

Dear Mrs Riggs,

We shall like immensely to come to you on Sunday evening at seven.

I send this to Lakewood hoping to catch you there. And may it find you in better health than it leaves me—as our Irish friends put it—

Sincerely

Caroline Kipling.

ALS, 1 page. Single sheet, 17.5 x 11.4 cm.

Blue tinted wove paper. No watermark.

Provenance: Inserted in The Jungle Book, New York, 1894.

Bookplate of Kate Douglas Riggs.

Unpublished.

Notes: 1. The date is assigned with some confidence. Kate Wiggin married George C. Riggs in 1895, and the Kiplings left the United States in the following year.

2. Here published by permission of A. P. Watt & Son, 26–28 Bedford Row, London, W.C.1 (through the courtesy of Macmillan & Co., Ltd., Little Essex Street, London, W.C.2).