Dear Oscar: There is still another fall that you might enlighten us on.
It's Crescent, Logan Co., Okla. (CN = 0976,360). The classification of this fall is given as "black (carbonaceous?) chondrite," + you + P. Brown are quoted as the authorities (in the Pries-Hey catalog, p.
94, 1952). Since there are, as you know, comparatively few carbonaceous-chondrite falls, I should value knowing whether this fall is "carbonaceous" or just plain "black." Any information you may give me will be gratefully received.

Best wishes. Sincerely yours,
H. L.
