ATTENTION FACULTY

Dear Friends:

Will you please examine the new catalog and determine the committees on which you are to serve.

These committees, as named in the catalog, are selected by the Deans Council and become active on the publication of the catalog.

Most cordially yours,

M. E. Sadler
President

TELEVISION PRODUCTION OF HAMLET

Maurice Evans, world-famous Shakespearean actor, will make his television debut in a two-hour production of "Hamlet" on Hallmark Hall of Fame Sunday, April 26, 1:30-3:30 p.m. over WBAP-TV, Channel 5.

In addition to marking the video debut of a great actor, the production will also be unique in that it will be the longest dramatic show yet to be produced on TV and will be given on the day generally celebrated as the Bard of Avon's birthday.

Ruth Chatterton will portray the role of the Queen; Joseph Schildkraut, the King; Sarah Churchill, Ophelia, and Barry Jones, Polonius.

The television adaption of Shakespeare's four-hour text has been done by Mildred Freed Alberg and Tom Hughes Sand. It will be given in modern English.
