

CREATIVE WRITING COMING UP
THE CLOSING RUSH

The close of the University's 82nd full session is now in sight. In just three weeks (from next Sunday), Baccalaureate and Commencement will write "finis" to the year. The months have really flown, eh? The final weeks will be crowded and for the information of all, here is a fairly complete schedule:

- May 5-7, National Intercollegiate Air Meet (we're hosts).
- May 11, Faculty Luncheon
- May 11-12, Creative Writing Event
- May 13, Meeting of Faculty Research Committee
- May 16, Dead Week Starts
- May 17, Final Faculty party, chuckwagon supper, Stadium.
- May 18, Final Faculty luncheon (Weatherly Hall)
- May 20, ROTC Awards Day
- May 23, Exam week starts
- May 27, Presentation Lewis Library (everyone invited)
- May 29, Baccalaureate and Commencement (9:30 and 8:00)
- May 29, Senior Tea, Student Center, 3:30-4:30.

Perhaps other dates should be included in the list. If so, send them in to the Bulletin for next week.

SCIENCE OPEN HOUSE LARGE SUCCESS

AGEE, SUGGS MAKE IT 65 DOCTORATES

Word that Warren Agee had successfully negotiated those orals for his Ph. D. at Minnesota was welcome indeed. Like all candidates, he'd been a bit fearful but we all "knowed" he could do it.

Jack Suggs has already completed his Ph. D. work at Duke and will receive the degree on June 6. Hearty congrats to both.

Out of curiosity, a quick check of our faculty and staff records discloses the impressive total of 65 doctorates, 55 of them on the regular teaching staff, although all have some classes. That's a very high percentage indeed and we can all be proud of a record few schools can emulate. And a number of our other folks are close to those final degrees.

CREATIVE WRITING COMING UP

Plans for the Creative Writing event are now complete, Mabel Major announces. The program opens Wednesday afternoon, May 11, with the Convocation and other events are on May 12.

Everyone is invited to take part in as many of the fine events as they can. The schedule is as follows:

May 11 -- 4 p. m. , "Writing for Children" with Camilla Boykin Campbell as speaker, Weatherly Hall.

May 12 -- 9:30 a. m. , Convocation, Ed Landreth, Everett Gillis speaking on "The Southwest: A Poetic Portrait. "

Presentation of awards.

12:00, Luncheon, Brown-Lupton Student Center.

3:00 p. m. , "Confessions of a Critic," Lon Tinkle speaking, Student Center, Ball Room.

4:00 p. m. , Coffee. Hosts will be Sigma Tau Delta.

SCIENCE OPEN HOUSE LARGE SUCCESS

The annual open house in Science Building last week was a fine success. Throughout the evening, crowds of students, parents and other visitors streamed through the building.

They saw some outstanding exhibits, too. Everyone got a wallop out of the electrical machine in Physics which made hair stand on end. The contraption failed in only one case -- that of Mr. Raymond (Bear) Wolf. The operators complained they had nothing to work on unless it was the Wolf eyebrows.

#####

DEAN HALL TO BE HONORED

Although its a long way off, our own Dean Hall is to be honored as president of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society in Nashville, Tenn. , next Nov. 29.

Dean will be guest of honor as the Society reviews its work and plans for the future. The Society will soon build the finest historical center for any Brotherhood in the country.

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

BITA MAY HALL, who is still feeling poorly, was named secretary of Phi Sigma Iota, national Romance Language honor fraternity in Bloomington, Ind., recently.

LANDON COLQUITT will accompany members of Kappa Mu Epsilon, honorary Math society, to the biennial meeting in Wayne, Neb., this week.

E. L. PROSS of Speech was main speaker at the Lake Worth high junior-senior banquet recently.

WALTER ROACH, baseball coach, takes the team to Possum Kingdom Lake for their annual outing at Milton Daniel's camp the weekend of May 14-15. Incidentally, the Frogs play A. & M. in crucial Conference games here Thursday and Friday. Y'all come.

DUTCH MEYER, ABE MARTIN, BUSTER BRANNON, HENRY HARDT et al are making plans for the Southwest Conference's spring meeting in Houston May 13-14.

ART WENGER reports some 30 high school folks of Christian churches visited on campus Sunday. They heard Dr. T. F. Richardson and folks from the registrar's office. Many are coming to TCU.

✓ CHARLES LEHMAN and DAN McANINCH have a fine article on their "convertible clarinet" in the May issue of "The Instrumentalist." The instrument cuts down the space required to play well and permits youngsters, with smaller hands, to start early. Incidentally, we hereby nominate Charles as the top "idea man" on the campus.

RESEARCH COMMITTEE TO MEET

Dean DeGroot reports that the faculty Research Committee will meet Friday, May 13, to consider applications for aid in research. Those interested should make sure the Committee has all the necessary information.

@@@@ @@@@@

NATIONAL AIR MEET

We'll be hosts this weekend to some 20 teams of young fliers from major universities all over the country. It is a very fine event and many firms and groups of our area are helping.

Troy Stimson has done a fine job on the planning and we know everyone will do all they can to make it a success.

FAREWELL TO DIXIE

Dixie Henry, who has done such a yeoman job as secretary for Dean Moore and the College of Arts and Sciences, will be leaving us after this semester. She'll stay until registration for the Summer Session and then become just "Mrs. Housewife."

Here's a "good luck" from us all for Dixie who has done outstanding work in such areas as catalogues, class schedules and a zillion other things.

DON'T FORGET COMMENCEMENT PLANS

Dr. Noel Keith again reminds that all members of the faculty are expected to march in the academic procession at Commencement and Baccalaureate on May 29. This is true whether or not you have academic robes, Noel reports.

So let's plan now to take part. They are our most significant ceremonies of the year and everyone should be on hand.
