FIRST FACULTY MEETING THURSDAY

Thursday, Oct. 27, is the day and 3:30 p. m. is the time for the first general faculty meeting of the year, Vice-President D. Ray Lindley announces. The place is the Little Theater (that's in Fine Arts Building, for you newcomers).

Some very important items are to be discussed and every member of the faculty is urged to attend. Don't forget.

HAVE THAT PICTURE "TOOK" FOR THE ANNUAL

Dave Brown, editor of the Horned Frog, is asking the co-operation of all faculty and staff folks in getting "modern" pictures for the Horned Frog this year. For years now, annual editors have been forced to use faculty pictures made way back yonder.

All you gotta do is go down to Orgain's Studio, 705 1/2 Main Street, look pretty for just a moment and the deed is done. There is no cost of any kind. The deadline for the faculty section, which is edited by Alice Buford and Ola Fay Crain this year, is Nov. 7.

Incidentally, the department of public relations will profit by your having your picture made. They use the Orgain pictures of the faculty for all their public relations work and would appreciate having as recent photos as possible.

This is one way we can "kill two birds with one stone" and it won't hurt much. How about it?

ORCHESTRA CONCERT NOV. 1.

Ralph Guenther announces that the first concert of the University Symphony will be given in Ed Landreth Auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 1, at 8:15 p. m. There will be no admission charge.

The program will feature works of Mozart, Schubert and Berlioz. The Symphony does a swell job and you'll really enjoy the event.

UNITED FUND REPORT

Estus Polk, chairman of Solicitation Committee, reports that some 116 members of faculty and staff have now contributed $1,786 to the United Fund. That's pretty good but there are still a lot of folks who haven't come in.

Remember, we have a big obligation to our community and it would be really swell if TCU could be 100%. If YOU haven't given or made a pledge, how about seeing Prof. Polk or any member of his committee right away.

HOMECOMING PLANS SET

The Homecoming Committee, some 20 members strong, met at length this week and put finishing touches to plans for Nov. 18-20. Looks like the biggest event ever and 'tis hoped all schools and divisions will start working on things at once.

In a general way, the plan instituted last year will be followed again this time. The general program is as follows:

- Friday, Nov. 18: Open house in all classrooms and labs throughout the day.
- 3:30 p. m. - Homecoming Parade downtown.
- 6-8 p. m. - Group reunions (Ex-Lettermen, Journalism Exes, Business Exes, etc.)
- 8:30 p. m. - Giant pep rally on steps of Library, followed by a snake dance to bon fire area on West Quad parking lot.
- 9:15 p. m. - Bon Fire (plenty of fun).
- 9:30-12:30 p. m. - Homecoming Dance, Student Center.

Saturday, Nov. 19: Coffees and open houses in almost all schools and departments during morning.

- 8 and 8:30 a. m. - Reunion breakfasts, classes of 1930 and 1935 (honor class this year).
- 11:15 a. m. - Annual meeting and luncheon, Ex-Students Association, Ballroom.
- 2:00 p. m. - Game with Rice.
- 5-7 p. m. - After-game get-together, Student Center.

Sunday, Nov. 20: Special services and recognition of returning students at all campus churches.

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

ABE MARTIN, the grid coach, got so worked up in the first half of the Miami game that Trainer ELMER BROWN had to give him a shot of oxygen at the half. It was that kind of game.

MRS. LEONARD LOGAN underwent major surgery on Oct. 17, but is now back home and doing fine. The campus wishes her a speedy recovery.

O. JAMES SOWELL, new director of University Development, is a busy gent. Has spoken to East Side Kiwanis, Poly Lions, West Side Kiwanis and will be the main speaker at a retreat of the First Christian Church in Oklahoma City early in November.

Eight of our folks will attend the meeting of the South-Central Modern Language Association at the University of Texas this weekend. They are JOHN HAMMOND, KARL SNYDER, BITA MAY HALL, LOUISE COWAN, M. L. CECIL, JEROME MOORE, W. H. ROTHROCK and IRENE HUBER.

E. L. PROSS was made vice-president of the Texas Speech Association at a recent meeting in Abilene. JIM COSTY was chairman of a panel on radio-TV problems. Dr. Pross will round up the program for next year's convention.

Comes a card from the EMMET SMITHS in Paris, reporting they are taking three hours of French each day in the Sorbonne. There is only one other U. S. Fullbright scholar studying organ in France this year and only 15 musicians in all out of 234 applications. Emmet says that prices, even on the student Left Bank, are pretty steep.

MUTINY GOES VERY WELL

Drama division's presentation of the popular "Caine Mutiny Court" is a swell effort. Drew fine notices in the downtown papers. Walther Volbach and Bill Garber can take a deep bow.

The presentation will run through Saturday night and if you haven't seen it, make a date. You'll like what you see.

LOUISE COWAN'S BOOK TO BE PUBLISHED

The LSU Press has accepted Louise Cowan's book on the Fugitive poets for publication. Press officials had high praise for the effort reporting "the publication of this book would be one of the most valuable functions that could possibly be performed in the field of American literature and culture." Congrats, Louise.

The students listed below were absent from classes Thursday and Friday in order to attend a Field conference sponsored by the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists. It will be appreciated if they are permitted to make up any work which they missed.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY
FORT WORTH, TEXAS

Reports from over campus indicate that most offices have been able to work out schedules to conform with the new hours announced at the first Fall faculty meeting last week. As outlined by Dr. Lindley, the working day is now from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. on Saturday.

However, employees on this schedule will be permitted to take two Saturdays out of course off. Generally, the new schedule has met with approval. Some offices have had some difficulty in making arrangements, but by combining forces with nearby offices, have reached a solution.

CHAPEL ANNOUNCEMENT

A native of Herteford, England will be guest speaker at the University chapel service Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. He is The Rev. Thomas Sterck, pastor of Fort Worth's Matthews Memorial Methodist Church. The subject of his sermon will be "Four Rules for Christian Living". The Chapel Choir will sing the anthem "Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven" by Andrews.

FIRST SADLER LECTURE

Walter Hoyt, the famous editor-publisher of the Denver Post, will deliver the first E. Sadler Freedom Lecture in Weatherly Hall the evening of Nov. 11. It is hoped that all members of the faculty and staff can attend. Tickets are available at the Office of Information Services if you need others.

Mary Beth Scott has arranged a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt immediately after the address. It will be held in the cloisters of Religion Center and everyone is cordially invited.

Incidentally, Publisher Hoyt is a very outspoken man and was the winner of the Higher Freedom of the Press Award in 1954. His talk is likely to prove one of the most stimulating of the year on campus. Plan to attend now.
