NEW OFFICE HOURS WORKING OUT

Reports from over campus indicate that most offices have been able to work out schedules to conform with the new hours announced at the first Fall faculty meeting last week. As outlined by Dr. Lindley, the working day is now from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. on Saturday.

However, employees on this schedule will be permitted to take two Saturdays out of three off. Generally, the new schedule has met with approval. Some offices have had some difficulty in making arrangements, but by combining forces with nearby offices, have reached a solution.

We will still work a 41 1/2 hour week but it is believed that the Saturdays off will prove most attractive for all personnel.

BOARD MEETING FRIDAY

The regular fall meeting of the trustees will be held Friday morning in the Board Room. Dr. Sadler will make his semi-annual report and several items of business are on the agenda.

FIRST SADLER LECTURE

Palmer Hoyt, the famous editor-publisher of the Denver Post, will deliver the first M. E. Sadler Freedom Lecture in Weatherly Hall the evening of Nov. 11. It is hoped that all members of the faculty and staff can attend. Tickets are available at the Office of Information Services if you need others.

Mary Beth Scott has arranged a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt immediately after the address. It will be held in the cloisters of Religion Center and everyone is cordially invited.

Incidentally, Publisher Hoyt is a very outspoken man and was the winner of the Zenger Freedom of the Press Award in 1954. His talk is likely to prove one of the most stimulating of the year on campus. Plan to attend now.

SOUTHWEST READING CONFERENCE HERE Dec. 1-3.

Oscar Causey is working hard on the annual Southwest Reading Conference to be held on campus early in December. He's working up an outstanding program and visitors from all over the country are expected.

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

WILLIAM GARBER, new instructor in drama, will take part in the program of the Southwest Theatre Conference in Dallas this weekend. Bill is on a panel to discuss costume and make-up. He's expert.

DUTCH MEYER, our A. D., made a dramatic exit from Baylor Stadium in Waco after last week's game. In order to catch a plane back to Fort Worth and his TV program, Dutch "hooked" a ride in the sidecar of a Waco cop. All went well, however.

If DEAN RICHARDSON is a bit grumpy these days, bear with him. He's having some foot trouble -- and you know how that is. No fun a-tall.

SADIE BECKHAM, that grand young Emeritus Dean of Women, missed church last Sunday. Wasn't feeling well, MRS. MOTHERSHEAD reported. Here's hoping she will be back soon.

Our coach, ABE MARTIN, is doing a top job these days on his TV show. Doing pretty well on the "football" field too, when you get right down to it. It's been a long time since the Frogs won six of their first seven games -- 1938, in fact.

HOMECOMING PARADE MOVED TO SATURDAY

Due to a direct conflict with a Shrine parade, our Homecoming Committee has been forced to reset our downtown event for Saturday morning, Nov. 19, at 10 o'clock.

The band, ROTC units and some 24 floats (biggest number in history) are due to take part in the parade. There's a lot of enthusiasm about homecoming this year and the students are really working. Let's help them all we can to make it the best year ever.
