BOARD MEETING MARCH 9

The annual spring meeting of the TCU trustees will be held on campus Friday, March 9. Business to be taken up includes the approval of the budget, election of members, promotions and other items. The administrative committee, Dr. Lindley, Dr. Moore and Business Manager White, has been fine-combing budget requests and are ready to make their report through Dr. Sadler.

Incidentally, the Trustees will have a joint luncheon meeting with the new Board of Development to hear progress reports on our work and plans. The Development group, under the direction of Dr. Jim Sowell, is heading the campaign for funds for the library construction. Some progress has already been made.

MORE FESTIVAL EVENTS

Several more fine programs are coming up the next few days in the annual Festival of the Fine Arts Department. The schedule:

- Feb. 24--Schumann Piano Works
- Feb. 27--Piano and Song Cycle
- Feb. 29--Program of Chamber Music
- March 6 -Mozart's "Grand Mass" with choral club and orchestra.

All of these programs are in Ed Landreth at 8:15 p. m. on the days listed. And don't miss "The Merchant of Yonkers" in the Little Theatre the nights of Feb. 21-25. It is hilarious and well done.

CREATIVE WRITING DAY MAY 10

Mabel Major reports that this year's "Creative Writing Day" has been set for May 10. She has lined up two very fine speakers.

Faculty folks are reminded that one division, the Boswell Poetry Award, is open to all TCU Exes. Those whose muse is musing around right pert might send in an entry this year.

OooooooooOooooooooO

MISS WOOL HERE FEB. 28.

All faculty members and students are invited to a style show Feb. 28 in Weatherly Hall at 7:30 p. m. "Miss Wool" of 1956 will be on hand to show a $4,000 all-wool (surprise) wardrobe.

Our Home Economics Club is sponsoring the event.

HIGH DRAMA GROUPS TO VISIT

This Saturday, groups from some 15 high schools of our area will be on campus for a Play Clinic. Dr. Walther Volbach is the planner and it promises to be a fine affair.

The groups will present one-act plays and acts from longer plays and experts will judge the work and offer suggestions.

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

ALLAN MacLAINE spoke on Robert Burns to the Fort Worth chapter of Phi Eta, the national Business women's sorority, at the Hilton Hotel last week. Reports were good.

NOEL KEITH, Strong Man of UGR, will take part in the annual Ecumenical Student Christian Conference at Texas A. & M. March 9-11.

MICHAEL WINESANKER will be in New Mexico (Albuquerque) this weekend, where he'll read a paper before the musicology section of the Music Teachers' National Association.

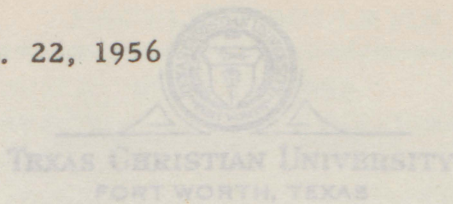

AUGUST SPAIN'S book, "The Political Theory of John C. Calhoun," gets about. In the Feb. 6 issue of "LIFE" there is a picture of Editor James Kilpatrick of the Richmond News-Leader behind a book-piled desk. Most prominent title to be seen: "The Political Theory, etc." Incidentally, a lot of folks are taking a new look at Calhoun in the light of all the talk of "interposition" in connection with the desegregation problem.

DR. SADLER was in South Texas the first days of this week on a speaking and business trip. He's due back on Thursday.

HARTWELL RAMSEY, director of Ex-Student work, is still having trouble with that mysterious back ailment. The medics haven't found the cause as yet. Hartwell has just issued his report on the first annual Exes Fund campaign which shows our former students contributed $18,494.57. It was a stout first effort.

We hear that LANDON COLQUITT has been feeling porely. Hope he's better by the time you get this.

Didja know department: FRANK WOODALL HOGAN was professor of chemistry at Ward-Belmont 1915-20? And--that at various times he has acted as an expert witness in courts? How about this: CYRUS LaGRONE went from 2nd Lieutenant to Lieutenant Colonel in the Medical Corps during World War II?

EXCUSED ABSENCES

The following students are members of the Air Force ROTC drill team and were in New Orleans to participate in the Mardi Gras, with Faculty sponsor: Capt. J. B. Head, from 8 o'clock the morning of Feb. 13 to 10 p. m. Feb. 15:

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY
FORT WORTH, TEXAS

CHAPEL ANNOUNCEMENT

Texas Christian University's own Dr. Noel Keith, chairman of the department of religion, will deliver the sermon in Robert Carr Chapel Tuesday, February 28. Dr. Keith's subject will be "The Index of Your Social Status". Dean Elmer Henson will preside.

Dr. Gentry Shelton will direct the chapel choir in singing "Jesus, Word of God Incarnate". Lonnie Schreiber will be at the organ.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT TEXAS

Ernest M. E. Sadler, our president, was in San Antonio and Austin early this week for business and speaking. On Tuesday, he was main speaker at one of the Religious Emphasis Week programs at University of Texas.

Incidentally, his address before the Rotary Clubs of Beaumont, Houston and Fort Worth last week were well received. This main theme: Those Americans who really have the nation's welfare at heart will make every effort to work out our many and serious problems in a Christian and constructive spirit. He got a standing ovation or two.
