EVERYONE INVITED TO AWARDS EVENT

Lt. Cols. Jim Cross and Bob Davis have come up with a really fine program for the annual ROTC Awards Day program Friday afternoon. The event will be held on the drill field just East of Waits and Foster Halls at 2:30 p. m. Everybody's invited.

The fine Air Force Women's Band from San Antonio will furnish the music, tanks from the National Guard will fire salutes for the visiting dignitaries and there'll be much pomp and circumstance. The ROTC men have worked hard on the affair and it should be the best yet.

Awards will go to some 23 cadets in 14 categories of military achievement. Capt. Harold Brunkhorst will be at the "mike" for the ceremonies.

INFO ON AIR TRAVEL STILL NEEDED

Our thanks to several members of faculty and staff who have sent in the dope on their air travels this month. This is just a reminder to all other members of the staff.

To help the Chamber of Commerce in a survey, we're trying to compile all information on air travel during the month of MAY. If you've made a trip or plan to make one and now have your flight plans, just send the following to Info Services through inter-office mail:

Name of traveler, date of departure and return, destination going and point of origin for the return, airline used, airport used going and coming, method of travel to airport (car, limousine or other). We need the info on both the going and returning trip. Thanks a lot.

ON CREATIVE WRITING DAY

A big bow to Mabel Major and all others who helped stage "Creative Writing Day." It was a large success and the speakers were very good.

Incidentally, the winning entries in the many divisions have been printed in the annual brochure and almost everyone will find them interesting. Again, a "well done" to Miss Mabel and her helpers.

JOHN WORTHAM GETS FORD FELLOWSHIP

Our own John Wortham will be one of 39 Fellows who will take part in the second Ford Educational forum in Detroit this summer. The group will study the operations of a major automobile company and the relationship of the industry to our economy. . . Only other Texan we could find on the list was John A. Walter of the University of Texas.

Otto Nielsen took part in this program last summer and reported that it was an outstanding event. We're sure John also will come back with a glowing report.

THANKS FROM TEXAS TECH

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

DR. NOEL KEITH, the thin man, is up and about again after what seemed to be a short bout with hives. Reports are that he stopped off at El Chico late one night for a full-course Mexican dinner -- and paid the penalty. We know HIS eyes are bigger than his stomach. Mrs. K. incidentally, continues in the hospital.

MCKIE TROTTER of Art is holding his first one-man exhibition at Grand Central Moderns Gallery in New York, N. Y. This is one of the first one-man shows given by a Fort Worth artist. It runs May 15-June 2.

JOHN HAMMOND will attend a symposium on Spanish-American languages and literature at the U. of Texas June 22-23 as a guest of the Institute of Latin American Studies. Recently he was named a member of the resolutions committee of the South Central Language Teachers Association for next fall's meeting.

Reports are that the new gaming device in Faculty Center was painted before being put into use and that two fellers were so anxious to get started they got fresh paint on their pants. We can't vouch for the report but 'tis said ELMER HENSON had his other suit at the cleaners all last week. Eight ball in the corner pocket!

WALTHER VOLBACH takes off for New York and that flying visit to Europe on May 28. Good landings, Walther.

Congrats to DUTCH MEYER on that baseball championship. Two out of four is a right fine record for major championships in the rugged Southwest Conference in one school year. Especially is the football-baseball combination hard to achieve.

JIM LEHMAN, the new assistant in Information Services, has arrived and is hard at work. Don't forget he's available to help with pamphlets, brochures and other promotional materials. Will have his office, along with JIM BROCK who is taking over athletic publicity, in Room 8 in the basement of the Ad building.

DAVID PRESTON, ballet master, is off for N. Y. in July to teach for Dance Educators of America (He'll teach teachers how to teach). It's an interesting job and gives Dave a sorta vacation to see some of Broadway hits and renew old acquaintances of the Theatre. He's been asked to teach his "Cinderella" ballet at the national Convention.

And that final shindig by the Faculty Women's Club and the faculty group is shaping up. (By that, we mean some things are being planned that shouldn't. Don't we know?)

Anyhoo, don't miss the fun. S. C. Ballroom will be the scene of the tragedy next Tuesday night, May 22, the time. You'll be called for reservations. (Oh for a slow boat to China - Ed's note).

THANKS FROM TEXAS TECH

Hartwell Ramsey of Ex-Students received the following wire from L. C. Walker, executive secretary of the Texas Tech exes:

"Please express our sincere thanks and appreciation to those responsible for voting Texas Tech into the Southwest Conference by a unanimous vote. This act of confidence makes not only the students and ex-students of Tech happy, but all of West Texas. Please be assured that Texas Tech will do everything in its power to uphold the honor and tradition of a most respected and enviable conference. Thanks again for the support given by all members."

Incidentally, President Sadler was a really key figure in the move for Tech. Not many know of his work but it was really significant.

The following students participated in the annual Dallas Advertising League Tour in Dallas Monday and Tuesday, May 14, in order to participate in the Southwest Conference Meet in Payneville, Texas. *****

A WORD ON CHAPEL PROGRAMS

Dr. D. Ray Lindley, our vice-president, was the speaker at the final chapel session Tuesday morning in Robert Carr. It was another moving affair and a fitting climax to a fine year in this area.

Art Wenger, despite the assumption of some new duties that kept him away, did another grand job in planning the program. Here's a big "bravo" for him.

It is certain the series will be continued next year, as they are becoming more and more significant in our total program. It is hoped that more members of our faculty can find the time to attend the services. They are really important to us all in our avowed plan to put religion in the paramount place of our educational work. And the few minutes spent in the quiet of such a service puts a lot of things back in proper perspective for harassed staff members.

FINAL FACULTY EVENTS

Don't forget our final faculty luncheon in Weatherly Hall, May 23. If you haven't been coming and would like to attend the windup, just call Mrs. George Fowler at 378 by Monday.

And that final shindig by the Faculty Woman's Club and the faculty group is shaping up. (By that, we mean some things are being planned that shouldn't. Don't we know?)

Anyhoo, don't miss the fun. S. C. Ballroom will be the scene of the tragedy next Tuesday night, May 22, the time. You'll be called for reservations. (Oh for a slow boat to China! - Ed's note).
