Dear Mr. Carter:

Little did we think back in 1885 when our organization was established in Kansas City that some day men would be flying through the air bearing our mail to Fort Worth in 5 hours and 57 minutes.

It is our opinion that this wonderful service linking the East and the West is but a forerunner of other marvelous changes. It is another mark of recognition by the East of the great industrial future of this Western Country.

Our Fort Worth office was established because of our belief in this future and we hope that it may be of service to you and your fellow citizens in your industrial development.

The Air Mail, by speeding delivery between our cities, enables us to give you exceptional service in the purchase or sale of securities. We intend to make full use of it whenever the additional speed will be of any advantage or convenience to our customers.

Very truly yours,

J. G. Callaway
