Fort Worth.

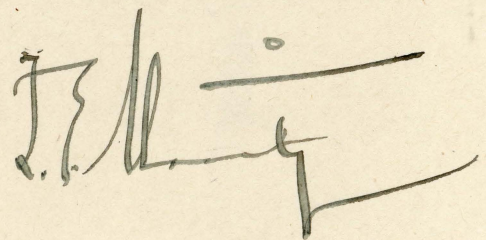

Dear Mr. Carter:---

On our trip to California last January to attend the American Petroleum Institute convention you deposited with me an envelope containing a certain election bet made with one Will Farrish and Harry Wiess, the instructions to me being that this envelope be opened after election.

Inasmuch as the election is over so far as the Governor's race is concerned I have today opened this envelope and find contained therein a statement to the effect that you bet Will Farrish $100 to $50 that you could then and there name the next Governor, and at the same time you named Dan Moody. A similar bet of $125 to $50 was made with Mr. Wiess. Apparently you have won both bets and as umpire I award you the decision.

The envelope referred to, together with enclosure, is attached hereto.

Yours very truly,
