Mr. C. P. Butler,
738 Sequoia Blvd.,
San Mateo, California.

Dear Mr. Butler:

I hope you will not interpret my silence as ingratitude for the wonderful trip we had. I have thought of it a number of times with the greatest of pleasure and while I goofed on some of my photo's, as you are bound to do when "shooting off the hip" with no exposure meter, most of them are excellent. Thanks, again, for furnishing the car, the itinerary, the driving and the jacket!

I think I mentioned to you the migration of the monarch butterflies and noting an article in one of the papers here I enclose the clipping, which need not be returned. I noticed them in a scattered way all over the area from San Francisco to Carmel, where we went after leaving there. They were clearly heading south out there, too.

I will write more about the Goose Lake matter when I get a little caught up. The rocks in front of it—the possible platform built by the natives—have impressed me more as time goes by and I look at my pictures. Do these show up on the aerial photo's or is the scale too small to show them significantly?

More, later.

Sincerely,
