MOMS, DADS, AGGIES HEAD FOR CAMPUS

For the 61st time since 1897, our footballers man the battlements this Saturday evening for a tete-a-tete with the rugged Aggies of Texas A&M. Starting at 7:30 in the Stadium, the discussion is expected to wax right warm. The Cadets, with dates from TWU and elsewhere, are expected to make considerable noise. Nor will the Christians lack support. 'Twill be traditional "Parents Weekend" and estimates are that some 3,000 moms, dads, sisters, uncles and Aunt Marthas will be visiting on campus. Let's give them a very cordial welcome indeed.

All faculty folks are especially urged to attend the annual Reception, 9:30 to 11 a.m. Saturday in SC Ballroom. It is a fine opportunity to chat with our young people and meet their folks. There's a carillon concert from Robert Carr Chapel at 4 p.m., a service for students and parents at 4:30 when Howard Wible will speak, and the annual banquet at 5:30 in the Ballroom. Should be a grand weekend.

U. F. EFFORT SOARS OVER $13,000!

The power, generosity and concern of our "Campus Family" never ceases to amaze. Last year, when we pledged a record $10,800 to the United Fund, our colleagues over the area were unbelieving. This year, when we were handed a goal of $12,200, (just about half of the Higher Education total) some of us were dismayed. We had too little faith.

Last Wednesday, when we sent down a first official report, 510 TCUsers had pledged no less than $12,718.81! Since then, an additional 22 cards have come in and the total now stands at $13,177.81. And at least one Division and several individual cards are still to come in. There's no telling just how high the final figger will climb."I am tremendously proud of everyone on campus", Dr. James Moudy said. "When it comes to meeting community responsibility, our people are just outstanding!"

TICKETS FOR SADLER DINNER ON SALE

The attention of everyone is again called to the big "M. E. Sadler Appreciation Dinner" to be held the evening of Friday, Nov. 5, at 7 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Texas. Sponsored by our Board of Trustees, the event will honor the man who did so much to make TCU a major university and hundreds of his friends and admirers are expected to participate. The tickets are $5.50 (the exact cost of the meal) and may be obtained by sending checks (PAYABLE to Sadler Dinner Committee) thru inter-office mail to Public Relations. Or call Ext. 212 for any info. Though printed invitations have been mailed to our various Boards, our full-time faculty and staff, and others, EVERYONE (husbands, wives, friends) is welcome to attend. Incidentally, the Fall meeting of our Trustees will be held on campus that morning and most of them will stay over for the dinner. The leading civic, religious and educational leaders of the area will also take part. So get your tickets early.

"BELT" TO OPEN LITTLE THEATRE SEASON

With a new policy on tickets for TCUers, the Little Theatre season opens Friday night with the first performance of "The Rape of the Belt". There's a special matinee for our Parents at 2:30 Saturday and other showings on the evenings of Oct. 19-23. As pointed out in a recent letter from Jack Cogdill, all full-time, Day School faculty members, their spouses and children will be admitted free. But be sure and follow procedures outlined in the letter.

Part-time Day faculty, E.C. faculty, all staff and office personnel will also get a good deal. They may buy season tickets (five plays) for only $2 each. They are available at the Theatre Arts Office (Room 208 Landreth Hall), or starting today (Wednesday) at the L.T. Box Office 1-7 p.m. Or you may get them by mail by sending checks to Theatre Arts.

REMINDER ON DANFORTH AWARDS

Oct. 18 (next Monday) is deadline for making application for Danforth Scholarships, Ben Procter reminds. He asks that everyone knowing of outstanding students (better than 3.5 average) who plan to become college teachers to remind them to check on the awards in Room 102, Reed Hall, in the next day or two.

INAUGURAL INVITATIONS OUT SERIES

Formal invitations to the inauguration of James M. Moudy as Chancellor have been mailed to the leading educational agencies, college and university heads, other distinguished persons over the country. As worked out by Jim Whitsett, Committee co-chairman, and Jim Lehman of P.R., they are right handsome and impressive. Plans for the 10 a.m. ceremonial in the Coliseum on Nov. 19 and for the official luncheon in SC Ballroom are also far advanced. They look very good indeed.

NEEDED: SPONSOR FOR SOCCER TEAM

There's an urgent need for a faculty member to sponsor, work with, guide and direct a soccer team made up of members of the International Friendship Club (foreign students). No experience in soccer is needed, according to Col. Bill Murray of Student Life Office who is doing the looking. If you have some time to spend on a very worthwhile cause, call Bill at Ext. 226.

INITIAL GRANTS BY RESEARCH FOUNDATION

Grants to 21 professors for research in specific projects this year have been announced by Dr. E. Leigh Secrest, president of the Research Foundation. Under the new four-point program recently outlined, they have been awarded on formal applications in a manner similar to that of the National Science Foundation. They total $264,000 for 1965-66.

The first grants went to Joe Hodgkins, H. C. Kelly, Bill Watson in Chemistry; Leo Baggerly, C. E. Blount, P. L. Edwards, R. J. Lysiak and Harrison Moseley in Physics; Ed Akutowicz, Charles Deeter, B. L. Sanders and Dr. Secrest in Math; Earl Gardner, Neil Hulings, Dee Keeton and Sanders Lyles in Biology; Art Ehlmann, Dan Feray, Leo Hendricks, Ed Heuer and Jack Walper in Geology. Congrats to them and some of their projects sound very interesting--notably Dee Keeton's on "Fish Detection and Reservoir Mapping by Sonar". We know some folks right interested in fish detection.

At 3129 Stadium, three bedroom, 2 bath house with central heat, patio, etc. Call Mrs. Lane WA7-8440.

"ANTIGONE" TO OPEN SELECT SERIES

Be reminded that our seven-event Select Series opens Thursday evening when the famed Cleveland Playhouse presents "Antigone" in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 8 p.m. Written by Jean Anouilh during the Nazi occupation to spur French resistance, it was adapted into English by Lewis Galantieri who injected a colloquial flavor in contemporary style. The result, according to reports, is a moving tragedy which was first conceived by Sophocles 2,400 years ago. Incidentally, the Playhouse is celebrating its 50th year this season.

FINE FIRST FACULTY PARTY

Sunday's party in SC Ballroom honoring new members of the faculty was an outstanding affair. Almost everyone came and there was fine food, fun and fellowship. Dr. and Mrs. Moudy took some kidding because they were "late". The Chancellor had returned to the city at 3 a.m., recalled that his formal invite had said "6 p.m." and actually thought he was 20 minutes early when they arrived at 5:40. Some others were also unaware that the first shift started at 5 and the second at 6. Anyhoo, it was a lot of fun.

REMINDER ON "OFFICIAL ABSENCES"

Please be reminded that ONLY the Dean of Students (Dr. Howard Wible) can approve lists of requested "Official Absences". They cannot be listed in Ye Bulletin until he has seen them and approved. It will save a lot of time and bother if everyone will remember to send them to his office first--not to Public Relations. Also, it is most important that the exact time for which the absences are asked is clearly indicated. This means date and hours away from campus. Thanks.

BOTANIST TO LECTURE HERE

Dr. Katherine Esau, Russian-born, emeritus professor of botany of UofCalifornia, Santa Barbara, will lecture in Faculty Center next Wednesday night (Oct. 20) at 7:30. Sponsored by Sigma Xi and the Scientific Research Society of America, she will illustrate her address with color slides. The program is free and open to the public. Art Ehlmann, Sigma Xi president-elect, will introduce the speaker who has published many books and articles on plant anatomy.

ANALYSIS OF FRESHMAN CLASS

A detailed analysis of our entering freshman class by Anna Byrd Wallace brings out some interesting points. In numbers, there are 634 women (up 29.9%), 508 men (up 26.6%) and the 1,142 total is up 28.4% over last Fall. (Note: Calvin Cumbie's 1,433 total and 22.7% increase includes all freshmen, not just entering class). Anyhoo, 'tis the largest freshman class ever, comes from 44 states, five foreign lands. There are 214 from 18 Fort Worth schools (up 21.5%) and 228 from Tarrant County (up 29.5%). In all, 515 high schools are represented--vs. 422 in 1964.

Qualitatively, Anna Byrd finds the group about even with last year. Those listed in the upper quarter of their graduating classes totaled 47% (against 49% last year), in the second quarter 32% (against 27%), in the third quarter 18% (same as last year) and fourth quarter 3% (as against 6% last year). We have 17 valedictorians and 17 salutatorians (it was 19 and 10 last year). On the SAT verbal, our average climbed to 494 (from 491) while on math it remained at 504.

There was an increase of 22.2% of freshmen from the Christian Churches (203 total), but Baptists are up 26.2% and Methodists a whopping 32.5%. Interesting enough, the gain in Episcopalians topped them all--37.6%. There were 71 Catholics. A most interesting study, Anna Byrd.

COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Dr. James Newcomer, new V-C Academic Affairs, presided over the year's first meeting of University Council Monday and some lively discussion ensued. Among many things discussed was our possible help to Jarvis College this year, the problem of undeclared majors (there was a 25% increase this year and some feel many students are using that route to avoid solid courses the first year), possible integration of basic science courses (for non-majors), many others. A tally shows that our greatest number of majors this Fall is in business management (580) and undeclared majors are second. Chancellor Moudy, in introducing Dr. Newcomer to the group, pointed out he'll sorely miss the lively sessions of the Council. He said it would continue to be one of the most important committees on campus.

PORTER CROW Discussed "The 1965's", before the Cleburne District TSTA meeting recently.

NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

M. E. SADLER, sending a large check to cover his pledge to our U.F. campaign last week, observed "people as old and feeble as we are ought not to promise much in advance". Well said, Doctor. Ye Ole Ed aint starting any continued stories in magazines or buying any suits with two pairs o' pants.

MARILYN OLSEN (gifted wife of new Brite Librarian ROBERT A.) has accepted appointment as part-time instructor in Organ. She holds her M.B. from UofKansas and the M.S.M. from Union Theological Seminary where she was a Danforth Fellow 1952-55. She's been director of music and organist at a number of outstanding churches. Good to have her on the team too.

MORE NOTES ON NOTABLE FOLKS

ANNA BYRD WALLACE attended the national meeting of College Admissions Officers last weekend.

IKE HARRISON goes to Harvard Nov. 1 to lecture at the Grad School of Business on "The Case Method In the Undergraduate Program". On Nov. 5 he speaks to the Fall Data Processing Conference and Business Exposition in Dallas. Recently he discussed "Purchasing Agent and The Computer" with the 700 attending the Regional Meeting of Purchasing Agents here. In between engagements, Ike says, he works for TCU-- and loves it.

EILENE RALL, ANN GOSSMAN, TOM COPELAND will take part in the program of the District V meeting, Texas Joint English Committee, at Haltom High on Saturday. Eilene is District co-chairman.

Comes a note from BOB MAYFIELD, now at UofT, pointing out that he, D. RAY LINDLEY, RHODES THOMPSON and other TCU-connected folks are Christian Church Delegates to the Sixth World Order Study Conference in St. Louis Oct. 20-23. Bob also reports a fine trip to India during the Summer (he got away from Delhi just before the war stopped travel).

JIM CORDER's short paper, "New Landscapes in Revisions of The Seasons", has been accepted for publication by Notes and Queries. Fine work.

DON WORCESTER, JOHN CARROLL and BEN PROCTER will attend a meeting of the Western Historical Society in Helena, Montana, this weekend. All are charter members. Ben spoke to the Downtown Kiwanis Club in early October.

PORTER CROW discussed "The Teaching Image: 1965", before the Cleburne District TSTA meeting recently.

JACK SUGGS of Brite did a week of preaching at Riverside Christian Church where Don Smotherman, a grad, is pastor. Since Jack had served as interim minister there for seven months in 1954, it was a sort of homecoming.

RICHARD DOUTHIT spoke to a meeting of Soil Conservation Service personnel from a 10-State area here last week.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

Have-a-Chuckle Dept.: In advance of Sargent Shriver's visit here recently, someone called the AF ROTC to ask for help in putting up ropes so the helicopter could land on the Quad. Seems the ROTC folks tried to get a 'copter here during "Howdy Week" to help with recruiting and word that one was finally coming caused the man on the phone to explode: "What? They're finally sending the thing with some sergeant? They're three weeks late!"

HOUSE FOR SALE: At 3245 Greene, a three-bedroom home (7 rooms in all) with asking price of $13,500. They may take less. Call Joe Burnett at BUL-2181 or (in evening) at BUL-0536.

Last week, we reported TELETE LAWRENCE finally got back from that trip to Europe. We now report further that she attended the XIIIth Congress on Phoniatics and Logopedics in Vienna, then with son Jim drove a new car 5,600 miles over the Continent. 'Tis the ONLY way to see it, she feels, despite some monumental traffic jams such as in Naples. Incidentally, Jim (TCU M.A. '65) went on to the UofMaine to start Ph. D. work while Telete came home to find her name listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and "Who's Who in the South and Southwest".

SALLY MARTIN, wife of Coach ABE, suffered a painful ankle injury in a fall at home last week. Was unable to make the trip to Lubbock for the Tech game. Just how well The Coacher survived that 28-24 thriller remains to be seen. 'Twas no place for any member of the campus "Busted Heart Club".

Those were fine feature stories on W. J. HAMMOND and MIKE WINESANKER in The Press Sunday.

A fine two-page article with four striking pictures of our dorms on Worth Hills, written by BETTY KNOX, appears in the September issue of Fraternity Month.

One of the brightest developments on campus this week was the return of the smiling face of JOHNNY KNOWLES to his office in Sadler Hall. The Director of Church Relations reported he felt fine after that heart attack of late Summer although he's still taking things easy. Fine to have the newest member of the "Busted Heart Club" back.
