INAUGURATION COMING UP

For the first time since Nov. 14, 1916, we'll inaugurate a new chief administrative officer a week from Friday. Dr. James M. Moudy will be formally and officially made Chancellor in what promises to be a spectacular and impressive ceremony in the Coliseum at 10 a.m. As you'll recall, Dr. Sadler was never formally installed back in '41 so the ceremony for the late Dr. E. M. Waits (in the old auditorium now occupied by Faculty Center and AddRan offices in Reed Hall) was our last such event just 50 years ago.

The committee on arrangements, headed by meticulous and energetic Jim Whitsett, has been surprised--even amazed-- at the response to our invitation to the institutions of the country to be represented. At last count, some 330 of them had accepted ranging all the way from Harvard (the oldest dating from 1636 to UofDallas in 1955). In addition, 46 learned societies and professional organizations will be represented. In full regalia, they're gonna make a colorful sight as they march in the procession with our Board of Trustees and own faculty.

While many of the schools will be represented by alumni, there will also be many distinguished presidents and chancellors. Among them will be the heads of UofT, Arlington State, Austin College, Baylor, Bethany, Rice, North Texas State, Midwestern, TWC, SMU, UofAmericas, UofDallas, SW Seminary just to name a few. It will be a most distinguished academic gathering.

Taking part will be our band and the University chorus. Dr. Sadler will preside and Granville Walker will give the dedicatory prayer. Remember, the public is invited and especially do we want as many of our students as possible to see this once-in-a-lifetime event. Anything anyone can do to urge our young people to attend will be appreciated. As you know, there will be no classes that day and while it is the opening of Homecoming, there's no real reason for anyone to be elsewhere at 10 a.m. that day. It goes without saying that ALL faculty folks are expected.

TOP MEETING, GAME, DINNER

From just any standpoint, last Friday was a red-letter day in these parts. First we had a fine Fall meeting of the Trustees with significant developments. Then the unbeaten Wogs surged from behind to quirt the Texas Shorthorns 24-20 in the last 30 seconds. And that evening, the Appreciation Dinner for Dr. Sadler was an occasion long to be remembered. The most avid TCUers could have asked for little more.

The Board session was highlighted by the annual financial report of L.C. (Loose Change) White, V-C Fiscal Affairs, showing that we spent $9,730,947 on operation in 1964-65--a record and leaving us the smallest "balance" in years. Then Dr. Moudy reported on many things, emphasizing that the salary scale for our teachers is the "biggest problem" in our drive for quality. He concluded: "I expect we will bring to the Board next Spring a budget that not only recognizes the competitive facts of life but which will keep TCU pushing forward in academic leadership". Several Board members spoke strongly to that point.

Also, a new $10 application fee was approved effective next Fall. It will NOT apply to Brite, E.C. or Grad School. Also approved was a reciprocal arrangement for our faculty folks to send their children to SMU or Baylor without tuition charge. Details on this are still to be worked out.

BONNER FRIZZELL RETIRES

The retirement of Bonner Frizzell✓ from the regular Board brought expressions of admiration and affection. He's the bearded, big man who loved TCU as much as anyone. He was captain of the 1905 football team, president of the Exes in 1914-15, received an honorary degree in 1937. He is now 83 and had been on the Board for 31 years. With deep appreciation, the Trustees elected him an Honorary member for life and we can't think of anyone more deserving.

DR. SADLER SURPRISED

Some 630 persons came out to honor Dr. Sadler on "his night" in the Hotel Texas banquet. He admitted that he and Frances had decided the "gift" they would get would be a silver tray and he was all set to act surprised. Actually, it turned out to be a bronze reproduction of the City's Proclamation naming Nov. 5 as "M.E. Sadler Appreciation Day". Maybe they can use it for a tray.

Thanks to such top speakers as Bayard Friedman, Granville Walker and Jim Moudy, the dinner was an outstanding success. Everybody said so. Mayor Barr got off one of the best quips when he called Dr. S. "the best receiving line I've ever seen". Yep, last Friday was a grand day all around.

THANKSGIVING CONVOCATION NOV. 23

Dr. Gaston Foote, minister of First Methodist Church here, will speak at our Thanksgiving Convocation at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, November 23. His subject will be "Three Thank You's". The event is being sponsored by United Religious Council and hope everyone will make plans to attend. Certainly we have much to be thankful for this year.

W.W. ANNUAL REPORT INTERESTING

Education's preoccupation with numbers is the subject of the annual report of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation which has just come to hand. It makes some very interesting comments indeed: "Not only has increase in money, popular esteem and numbers failed to build Jerusalem, it has sometimes turned our eyes from the all important business--our students".

Taking a wide swipe at averages, peer groups and types, it maintains that true teaching occurs when one person's mind is stimulated by another person's mind and when a human heart is touched by another human heart. We believe, it concludes, that posterity will judge teachers not by the numbers of people they trained to perform tasks, but by the quality of spirit they generated in their students. These "faults" in today's education are listed:

- 1) The public must be warned that the "need" for a college education has been escalated beyond all proportion;
- 2) Today's high school student is often under pressure to perform--not from love of learning but to get himself in college;
- 3) High selectivity has often led to over-emphasis on impersonal factors: test schools and grades;
- 4) Because so much administrative energy is absorbed in physical expansion, there is too little concern in high places over bad teaching;
- 5) Graduate education in some places continues to be pedantic, overspecialized, impersonal and thus may produce the same type of young teachers.

UNRESTRICTED GIFT FROM KODAK

TCU was among the 86 private schools receiving grants from the Eastman Kodak Co. last week. A check for $2,400 was received by Dr. Moudy as a result of one of our former students (Billy B. Taylor of '58) being employed by the company. Best of all, of course, is that it was an unrestricted gift which is always the best kind. In all, the company has awarded some $2.4 million this year to support U.S. higher education. Very good, we'd say.

SIGHTS 'N SOUNDS OF THINGS TO COME

As the year's biggest weekend approaches, previews of the events planned for Nov. 18-21 are heralding the activities in varied ways.

"Homecoming Billboard", a live radio broadcast, has been set for Sunday afternoon (Nov. 14) in Ed Landreth Auditorium at 4 p.m. To be broadcast over WEAP, the show will include musical numbers by both the TCU stage and marching bands, under the direction of Curtis Wilson, featuring selections from "Sound of Music" from the Homecoming half-time show. Guest speakers, who will appear between musical offerings, will ballyhoo the upcoming events. It's a free show that guarantees plenty of action, good music and a relaxing way to spend a portion of the afternoon.

Calling attention to the rich legacy passed to TCU's students and faculty by the men who blazed this institution's pathway for 92 years is the outstanding display in Mary Coats Burnett library. Planned and prepared by Reference Librarian Mary Charlotte Faris, the exhibit consists of seven large placards, each bearing a picture of one of TCU's chief administrative officers, a listing of significant accomplishments of his administration and excerpts of tributes paid him. This outstanding piece of work is an excellent and attractive means of refreshing your memory of these men--Addison Clark, Ely Zollars, Clinton Lockhart, Frederick Kershner, Edward McShane Waits and M. E. Sadler. The display, which also includes Chancellor Moudy, will be up throughout November.

Official letters of acceptance from colleges and universities throughout this country for representation at Dr. Moudy's inauguration have ranged from lovely and tasteful simplicity to ornate beauty in their design. More than 50 of the most colorful and decorative ones are on display in the foyer of Reed Hall, thanks to the efforts of Dennis Schick. You won't want to miss this or any of these exciting events.

BRITE SERIES SET NOV, 15-16

"Christian Approaches to Peace", theme of the third annual Brite Series, will be the theme of guest speakers Dr. Joseph Allen and Dr. Howard Schomer during the two-day session on campus. Dr. Paul

President of Chicago Theological Seminary since 1959, Dr. Schomer will open the series with a presentation at 8 p.m. on Nov. 15 in Weatherly Hall. A Harvard graduate, he has done extensive study in Europe and the Near East with special emphasis on history of Christianity.

Dr. Allen, associate professor of ethics at Parkins School of Theology, SMU, will speak at the 9:30 a.m. meeting on Nov. 16 and both lecturers will discuss "Religious Resources for Meeting the Vietnam Crisis" at the noon session of Brite's Homiletic Guild on Nov. 16. The luncheon, with reservations costing 90 cents, will be open to all interested persons. Dean Elmer Henson of Brite will add your name to the list.

The final event of the series, to be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, the 16th, will feature both Dr. Schomer and Dr. Allen in a "Dialogue" on Christian Approaches to Peace".

As planned by Brite Series chairman, Bill Bailey, and committee, all events of the conference are open to the public, affording the opportunity to hear two outstanding theologians discuss aspects of culture surrounding the world in which seminarians must minister.

FRIDAY CONFERENCE ON "ETHICS"

Set to begin at 2 p.m. in Dan Rogers Hall auditorium, the "Business and Professional Ethics?" conference will be sponsored by the General Dynamics/Management Club in cooperation with TCU. Dr. Paul T. Heyne of Valparaiso University will be the speaker, and faculty and students will be guests.

The 6 p.m. dinner (for those having made reservation with General Dynamics office) is to be held in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Then at 7 p.m. Dr. Moudy will be featured as the keynote speaker and a panel discussion will follow. Tickets for the after-dinner program in the Coliseum are $1 and may be obtained at the Evening College Office, Room 101 Sadler Hall.

Sounds like an outstanding opportunity to hear top-level folks discuss topic that involves every man's dealings with others. Students can obtain free tickets--except for dinner--at previously designated places on campus.

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

Maj. MALCOLM PHILLIPS, TCU grad and former member of our AFROTC faculty, has received orders to Vietnam as a Personnel Services Officer, according to word to our campus detachment. JOHN SWANGO, who commanded Army ROTC here last year, was due in the same area in September but we've had no word of him as yet.

DEE KEETON, CLIFF MURPHY and RICHARD FAULKNER who have been conducting that study of Lake Benbrook report that so far one person has caught one of the tagged fish they released on July 13. Said fish, a black bass, had grown almost two inches in about two months. Pretty good, we'd say. They plan to release 1,000 more bass next Spring. The likes of BEAR WOLF, LOGAN WARE and HENRY HARDT hope to catch 'em all--but 'taint likely.

Attending the 18th annual Texas Education Conference in Austin recently were SANDY WALL, JEFF HORN, KEITH TURKETT, MARGARET ROUSE, CLOTILDA WINTER and ALLIENE HARDER. They report they mixed and mingled with 300 other educators and heard some top speakers.

HENRIETTA LEHMAN, Jim's wife who is teaching grade school this year, brought 60 fourth graders for a tour of our Science Museum last week. The Biology and Geology staffs conducted an orderly and right interesting tour.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

NEIL HULINGS attended a meeting of the International Committee on Classification of Recent Ostracoda in Kansas City early this month. What's an Ostracoda, Neil?

Speaking on "A Musical Summer in London", MIKE WINESANKER made a popular appearance before the Women's Symphony League at First Presbyterian Church recently.

A number of our ladies have been included in "Who's Who of American Women". Included are LUCY HARRIS, MARGUERITE POTTER, MABEL REAVIS, RUTH WASSENICH, LOLA HUFF.

HOWARD WIBLE has been bee-busy speaking to more than a score of student and off-campus groups. With JEWELL WALLACE he attended a three-day conference at A&M of the Texas Assn. of Student Personnel Administrators last week. At the same time, BILL MURRAY was in New Orleans for the national session of Foreign Student Advisors.

WILLIS HEWATT was guest speaker at University Area Kiwanis Club on "Preparation of Pre-professional Students in the Health Sciences".

Old Grad OSWALDO ARANA (B.A.) is listed as a new faculty member at California State College at Fullerton. He now holds M.A. (Colorado) and Ph. D. (Uof Florida).

If you have need of finding either CECIL or INA RIVERS JARMAN, the suggestion has been made that you look "up in the air" where they are since their Naval officer son's return to California last week after a nine-month tour of duty in Vietnam. They are already collecting road maps to wherever he's stationed at Christmas. Education's PORTER CROW reviewed "Man's Search for Meaning," Victor Frankl's book on logotherapy, for the Fort Worth Woman's Club book review division recently.

IRA SCHANTZ appears to be dividing his time between churches these days. On Nov. 7, he was guest soloist at Central Christian Church. Just recently he was soloist for the Interdenominational Wednesday noonday service at First Christian and also sang for the Wednesday evening family night dinner at First Methodist Church on "TCU"night.

The GEORGE FOWLERS, subjects of a Star-Telegram story last week, found "home" looking mighty good when they arrived Oct. 27 after a three-month trip to India. Although they had planned to stay until January, they were evacuated after bombs exploded outside their hotel in New Delhi. It was truly an "eventful" trip.

JOHN WORTHAM discussed a paper, "Some General Problems of Economic Development" at the Southern Economic Convention in Miami this week.
