SCIENCE OPEN HOUSE ON FRIDAY

Winton-Scott Hall will be a busy place Friday evening when seven of our departments combine their efforts to present the annual "Science Open House". Hundreds of students, teachers, scientists and interested laymen from all over the area are expected to visit between 6:30 and 9 p.m. They will see many interesting exhibits and demonstrations of research in progress.

Dr. R. C. Faulkner of Biology is the coordinator this year. Taking part will be the Chemistry, Physics, Psychology, Math, Biology, Geology and Aerospace Studies (AF ROTC) divisions. Visitors will be able to see how the downtown area looks from 20,000 feet up, hear and see their own heartbeats, watch how waves flow toward the shore. TCU folks, and their families, are especially invited.

A FINE "HONORS DAY" EVENT

From all reports, last Thursday's "Honors Day" celebration was a large success in every respect. The Convocation was well attended and an unusually large number of the faculty took part in the processional. Everyone was happy over the presentation of the 1966 Honors Recognition Award to Jim Dyal for "outstanding contributions to the intellectual life of the University". Betsy Colquitt, 1965 winner, also made news by writing a dramatic episode which was presented instead of the usual formal speech. Made the downtown papers. Also recommended are orientation programs for Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, the semanticist and author, did a fine job as guest speaker. His comments on the place of TV in civil unrest were stimulating to say the least. Congrats to Committee chairman George Tade, Honors Director Paul Wassenich and all others who helped plan and stage the event.

MUCH GOING-COMING ON STAFF

Last week, Chancellor Moudy accepted with much regret the resignation of John Everett, Jr., member of the Government faculty since 1959. It becomes effective on Aug. 31 so John can accept a "flattering and challenging offer" from State College of N.Y. A fine leader and teacher, he has done a top job here and everyone hates to see him go. Also made official last week were the resignations of Dan Feray of Geology (who goes to Texas Tech) and Alta Mae Summerville of the Library staff.

Each year at this time, it seems that an unusually large number of our people leave to accept new challenges. Actually, the percentage is not very large. This Spring, for instance, we've had news of eight folks retiring, eight resignations from the faculty, and one new leave-of-absence so far. At the same time, we have announced 21 additions to the full-time teaching force, including one Department Head and seven Ph. D.'s. Other appointments are pending. A bit later, Ye Ole Bulletin will attempt a complete roundup of the comings-and-goings for this Spring.

SMU "LETTER" QUOTES CHANCELLOR

The SMU "Provost's Newsletter", printed four times a year and circulated to their present and retired faculty (among others) opened a recent edition with seven paragraphs of Dr. Moudy's "Inaugural Address" of last Nov. 19. It is that section dealing with teachers and teaching--what students say they expect and what they really want, real qualification for college teaching, etc. When you read the passage again, you like it even better than the first times--and you can quickly understand why our colleagues down-river find it worthy of repetition. In many ways, "Education Without Magic" is one of the most thought-provoking addresses in some years.

COUNCIL TO BE AWARDED THURSDAY
COUNCIL TO DISCUSS "UNDECLARED MAJORS"

The annual meeting of the Texas Assn. of Christian Churches is at its meeting on May 9, University Council will consider recommendations from a special committee on counseling for undeclared majors. Among other things, it will be suggested that all students (and their parents) be advised of both the advantages and disadvantages of making an early commitment. Also recommended are orientation programs for counselors of undeclared majors, that all students be encouraged to adopt a major before the end of their freshman year, that they MUST select one by the end of their sophomore year. More info on this after the session. ceremony will be Dr. Moudy, Earl Waldrop, James Newcomer, John Moore, Dean Henson and most members of the Brite faculty will attend all or parts of the meeting.

MEMORIES OF A GREAT FROG TEAM

The death last week of Blanford Spearman, swift halfback of the 1932 TCU football team, brought a sense of loss and a flood of memories to campus oldtimers. Playing for the third season in our new Stadium (18,500 seats), that team not only won the SW Conference title but became the first ever to defeat all other loop members. Ranked No. 5 nationally, it won 10 games and had only a 3-all deadlock with LSU to mar a perfect season.

That was an unusual team. Seven of the 11 starters made the All-Conference team, a record that still stands. The guards were Johnny Vaught, who went on to some fame as coach of the Ole Miss Rebels, and Lon Evans now high sheriff of Tarrant County. A young soph end named Jack Langdon managed to letter. He's now judge of the Court of Civil Appeals and a member of the TCU Board. Yep, it was a great Frog team. In beating the UofT 14-0, it held the Longhorns to less than 20 yards running--despite the brilliance of Ernie Koy, Harrison Stafford and a quarterback named "Bull" Elkins who today is president of the University of Maryland. Memories, memories.

FACULTY INVITED TO JOURNALISM DINNER

All members of the faculty are cordially invited to attend the annual Journalism Awards Banquet to be held at Green Oaks Inn Thursday evening, May 5. Mrs. Helen Bottel, columnist for King Features Syndicate, will be the speaker. Tickets for the event, including a fine steak dinner, are $3.75. Bob Carrell, acting head of Journalism, reports that reservations must be made by May 3 by calling Ext. 288.

DEGREE TO BE AWARDED THURSDAY

At the annual meeting of the Texas Assn. of Christian Churches in Wichita Falls this week, a number of our people will be involved. In fact, it will be a sorta "TCU Night" on Thursday when Dr. Moudy will be the main speaker and we'll confer the first of seven honorary degrees approved by the Board at the March meeting.

The LL. D. will be awarded to Mrs. Charles Bailey of Ballinger, the first women to serve as president of the State organization. She will be cited for long years of service, devotion and leadership. Taking part in the ceremony will be Dr. Moudy, Earl Waldrop, James Newcomer, Dean Moore. Dean Henson and most members of the Brite faculty will attend all or parts of the meeting.

P. R. MATERIALS WIN AWARDS

Under the direction of JACK COSBILL, several of our students presented they have for many years, a number of our entries in the regional competition of the American College Public Relations Assn. took prizes at the meeting in Houston last week. Asst. Director of P. R. Jim Lehman brought back first-place awards for news photography, single advertisement and sports brochure. We won second place for feature photography, feature news series, news story series and Press publications (Shakespeare '64). We had "Honorable Mentions" in publications photography and publications for special events and projects. Since most of the leading colleges and universities of Texas-Oklahoma-N.M. enter the competition, we have reason to be proud of our record.

FIRST "OFFICIAL ABSENCE" ADDENDUM

Following the plan recently announced, the first "Addendum" to the Faculty Bulletin carrying all the Official Absences for recent weeks is being sent with this edition. Please note that the lists are stapled together separately and can be filed for reference. Also, extra lists will be furnished deans and department heads for distribution as needed to Graduate Assistants. A number of extra copies have been printed and anyone wishing more may call Ext. 212.

SADLER TO BE HONORED MAY 16

Named "Fort Worth's Outstanding Senior Citizen for 1966", Dr. M. E. Sadler to be honored by the Women's Civic Club Council at a banquet on May 16. The Green Oaks Inn will be the place and we'll pass along info as to tickets and reservations soon. The latest honor is most fitting for the grand young man who continues to work as Executive Chairman of our Trustees after 24 years as president and Chancellor.

- May 3 - Camp Carter YMCA - All majors
- May 4 - National Life & Accident Insurance Co. - All majors
- May 6 - Armour & Co. - Chemistry and Business majors
- May 6 - U. S. Navy - All majors

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

Under the direction of JACK COGDILL, several of our students presented studio drama and ballet performances for the Breckenridge Civic Fine Arts Festival last week.

An article by ARTHUR K. BERLINER, Chief of Social Work for the U.S. PHS here and member of our E.C. faculty, has been reprinted from the International Journal of the Addictions. Title: "Narcotic Addition, the Institution and the Community".

Hope you saw the announcement last week that Helen Bottel, nationally-known columnist for King Features Syndicate, will speak to our annual Journalism Awards Dinner May 5. She is an old and close friend of the LEW FAYS and will be their guest during her stay here.

R.T. WILBANKS, expert in traffic management and E.C. instructor, spoke to the Burlington Luncheon Club recently.

EARL GARDNER and CLARAMAE MILLER of Biology were the authors of a technical report published in the Spring issue of Texas Reports on Biology and Medicine. Title: "An Indirect Fluorescent Antibody Study of Vibro Comma". Dr. WILLIS HEWATT calls attention to an article by Marvin C. Overton in the same edition. He's a TCU grad ('57) and now a brain surgeon at Sealy Hospital. He's the son of "Doc" Overton whom many oldtime Frogs will remember.

The Human Factors Society Bulletin for March carries a fine announcement of Bioelectronics Abstracts: Vol. II published under the TCU Press label by SAUL and HELEN SELLS. This unusual book lists 4,605 literature references covering areas of investigation involving electronic techniques in the study of living tissue, function and behavior for 1962-63. And, at $25 per copy, is selling very well.

JACK SUGGS of Brite was in Kentucky this week giving the Spring Lectures at Lexington Theological Seminary. He was to speak five times on "Wisdom and Law in the Gospel of Matthew"--a subject on which he has some most interesting ideas.

The Keats-Shelley Journal, Winter edition, carries an article by LYLE KENDALL, "Leigh Hunt on Shelley's Missing Will".

Eight members of the Math faculty and 20 grad students attended the Spring meeting of Texas Section, Mathematical Assn. of America, at SMU recently. CHARLES DEETER presided as outgoing Section chairman and BEN GOLDBECK was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. BOBBY SANDERS chaired a paper session and ARTHUR ULLMAN gave two papers. Others attending included LANDON COLQUITT, O.H. HAMILTON, INA BRAMBLETT, D.P. SHORE.

MORE NOTES ON NOTABLE FOLKS SOCIAL ABSENCES

Wanted to rent or lease next Sept. 1: a three-bedroom unfurnished house in the TCU, Westcliff, Wedgwood area. The call comes from BOB CARRELL, acting chairman of Journalism, who plans to return to UofIllinois this Summer to continue his Ph. D. work but who would like to rent a place when he returns next Fall. Call Ext. 288 if you know of anything.

M. J. NEELEY, vice-chairman of our Trustees and chairman of Buildings and Grounds Committee, will receive the B'nai B'rith "Civic Achievement Award" Thursday night. We're all mighty proud.

FRED CHRISTEN, on leave for Grad Study, has sent word he does not plan to return to Speech faculty.

We're grateful to JIM JACOBSEN for a photostat of the program for the "Varsity Show of 1941" at TCU called "Pursuit to Peru". Listed as members of the orchestra are JIMMY MOUDY and CURLY BROILES (and in that order). Listed in the cast is Virginia Wilson, sister of CURTIS our assistant band director.

RALPH GUENTHER has been bee-busy of late. He judged a high school music contest in Brownwood, a concert band event in Dallas and spoke before the convention of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs at Inn of Six Flags.

Dean IKE HARRISON of Business reports that a revised edition of "Business Policy Cases with Behavioral Science Implications", which he edited with colleagues from UofTulsa and Oklahoma State, has just been released. The early edition is now being used at some 40 schools of the U.S. and abroad. Ike discussed "Management Market in 1966" before the Personnel and Management Assn. recently.

Mrs. NANCY KNOX, former faculty member at Southern State College, Magnolia, Ark., has been named Instructor in English effective next Fall.

EDWARD BELL was elected president of the Lone Star Chapter of the Assn. of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese at the meeting at E. Texas State University.

CAROLYN RANKIN and JOHN GIORDANO were guest performers at Tarleton State recently and will give a program at N. Texas State this week. John continues to work on his Doctorate.

EGYDIO ROMANENGHI of Languages spoke on "Argentine Folklore and Popular Music" at a recent meeting of the Fort Worth Pan American Round Table. He illustrated his talk by playing examples of Argentine folk songs on the guitar and piano.
