Turkey, Texas Box 188, 79261

Dear Mr. Salem:

In connection with my hobby of astronomy, I try to collect meteorites and recently I found a lady at Waco, Texas who has a stony one of about 10 pounds that her husband got somewhere. But he is dead and she really knows nothing about the history of the stone.

I understand that many years ago this Mr. J. E. Hawkins was a druggist at Turkey. Do you remember him or have any idea who some of his surviving friends might be?

I figured he was interested in rocks or Indian arrow heads and probably got out over the countryside. Probably either he or some of his acquaintances found this stone, and I'm trying to learn where or to get some history of it.

Drop me a note if you know of anything that might help along these lines. Thanks,

Sincerely,
