FIRST RELIGIOUS CONVOCATION TOMORROW

A drama of social protest titled "The Pit" will be presented in Ed Landreth Auditorium Thursday morning at 11. Sponsored by the Religious Activities Committee, the one-act play is directed by Diane Rowand (grad student from Dallas) and will feature actors from the theatre arts department. The committee, which is a successor to the United Religious Council, will sponsor three seasonal convocations and Religious Emphasis Week later this year. Dr. Floyd Leggett, associate professor of religion, is the faculty adviser. The religious activities planned for our students are very important in the life of the university. There are no classes during the 11-12 a.m. period, so, if you have the opportunity, please urge your students to attend. An informal discussion led by campus ministers and faculty will be held in the Reed Hall cafeteria following tomorrow's convocation.

CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN ON STUDENT CENTER ✓

By January 1 the sound of air hammers and construction crews will again be heard on campus. According to Cecil (fiscal affairs) White, we'll begin work then on a $1,000,000 addition to the Brown-Lupton Student Center. The remodeling will add a two-story wing to both the north and south end of the building and will provide for a formal lounge on the first floor of the south wing; triple the size of the Book Store, giving it a "shopping mall" arrangement on a self-service basis; add eight new meeting rooms for student organizations; move the snack bar to the basement. Offices for the director of student activities and various other programs associated with the center, including the Placement Bureau, will be located in one of the second-floor wings. The Board of Trustees dining room will be located in the north wing on the second floor. Surrounding the room will be two large dining rooms that can be subdivided into four meeting rooms--all formally decorated. The Student Center is named in honor of the late Tom Brown and Charles Lupton of Fort Worth. Funds for the construction are provided by the Brown-Lupton Foundation, which contributed $1,200,000 to the present building which was completed in 1955. The new addition even includes plans for elevators. Preston Geren is architect and engineer on the project. According to Cecil, construction should be completed by Sept. 1, 1967.

AND STILL MORE CONSTRUCTION...FOR MAINTENANCE ✓

Those fellas that are always building and doing for others are finally going to have a new building of their own. Construction is to begin immediately on a new, 17,000 square foot facility for maintenance to be located west and slightly north of the cafeteria on the University's Worth Hills property. The $240,000 project is scheduled for completion by mid-January and will house maintenance shops and warehouses, parking and storage sheds for trucks, tractors, lawn mowers and other equipment. Up to now TCU's maintenance division has been headquartered in a temporary building just behind the Institute of Behavioral Research and with storage space at a premium, many materials and supplies have been warehoused in any available corner on the campus.

The building will be one-story high, surrounded by a high fence, and designed to harmonize with other buildings on the Worth Hills campus. It will have its own entrance off Bellaire Drive North.

RESEARCH FOUNDATION APPRECIATION DINNER PLANNED

The annual "Appreciation Dinner" for those who have supported the work of the TCU Research Foundation will be held next Monday evening at 7 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Texas. Featured speaker for the special affair will be Mr. Erik Jonsson, chairman of the board of Texas Instruments. Dr. E. Leigh Secrest, president of the Foundation and dean of TCU's Graduate School, will preside and Chancellor Moudy will be on hand to speak briefly to those attending. Others participating on the program include Dr. O. James Sowell, assistant to the chancellor and executive director of university development, and Dr. W. Earl Waldrop, vice chancellor for external affairs.

HAVE SIGNS...NEED COPY

Libby Proffer, energetic director of innumerable student activities, reports that she will be happy to list any program or event of general interest on the "This Week At TCU" posters displayed around campus each week. She needs copy by Thursday noon of the week preceding to allow time to have the signs printed. The posters go up on Sunday afternoon and carry events for the following Monday through Saturday. If you know of an activity of interest to faculty and/or students, call Libby on Ext. 341.

"BALLET FOLKLORICO OF MEXICO" A SELECT SERIES SPECTACULAR

When the famous "Ballet Folklorico of Mexico" comes to Daniel-Meyer Coliseum Oct. 28-30, it will bring the color, pageantry, history, tradition, music and dance of centuries of Mexican culture to the campus. With a company of 75 persons, the Sol Hurok production, directed and choreographed by Amalia Hernandez, will be one of the entertainment highlights of the year and the only appearance of the group in North Texas this season. All seats are reserved and tickets are $4, $3.50, $3 and $2.50, available from the Student Center, Amusement Ticket Service and Central Ticket Agency. Remember that Select Series season ticket holders get a $2.50 discount on any price ticket. The event will be held on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28-29 at 8 p.m. and at a 3 p.m. matinee Sunday, Oct. 30. That's Parents' Weekend too, as well as the TCU-Baylor game, so you should pick up your tickets right away.

GD OMNIBUS SERIES OFF TO FINE START

Sponsored by General Dynamics Management Assn. and TCU, the fifth annual Omnibus Series began last week with philosophy chairman Gus Ferre presenting the first program. Dr. Stanley Allen Self, professor of the History of Business Enterprise, will be guest lecturer on Oct. 25, speaking on "Government, Business and the Enlightened Executive". The session is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Weatherly Hall and all TCU faculty and students will be admitted free of charge. All others, including GW/FW Management Assn. members, must pay $5 to attend the series.

Other faculty members scheduled to appear are Dr. Maurice Boyd, professor of history, discussing "Mexico: An Analysis" (Nov. 1); Dr. Saul Sells, director of our Institute of Behavioral Research, speaking on "New Insights in Child Rearing" (Nov. 8); William Hall, associate prof. of Missions, discussing "Developing Under-developed Countries: Bane or Blessing?" (Nov. 15); Dr. Willis Hewatt, biology chairman, speaking on "Training of Future Medical Sciences Students" (Nov. 22).

REMINDER ON USE OF FACULTY CENTER

Though we dislike having to restrict the use of the Faculty Center, everyone is reminded that it is available ONLY to faculty members with the rank of "Instructor" and above and to regular full-time staff. Occasionally there is a misunderstanding regarding its use by graduate students. The same policy applies to faculty social events, which may be attended by invitation only. Please pass the word on to your departmental folk. Many thanks for your cooperation.

COME ON IN--THE WATER'S FINE

Faculty members and their families interested in a little "out of season" swimming may use the TCU pool on weekends, if they wish. The indoor, heated pool is located in the physical education building and is open every Sunday from 1-5 p.m. Handball, basketball, volleyball and badminton facilities are available on Saturday from 9-12 a.m. and 1-5 p.m., and on Sunday afternoon from 1-5 p.m. By making prior arrangements with intramural director George Harris, the pool can be used on Tuesday and Friday evenings. Faculty and their families are also invited to participate in judo and karate programs. Judo meets 3-5 p.m. MWF, and karate 7-9 p.m. TTh. The groups are mixed, lessons are free and are held in the Little Gym.

Through the efforts of Dean Herb LaGrone and George, the university's physical education program is expanding rapidly. Dressing room areas have been remodeled, new equipment added and additional intramural areas provided on the southwest corner of the Worth Hills campus.

INDUSTRIAL ENGINEER TO SPEAK

J. W. Griffith, professor of industrial engineering and director of the engineering graduate division at SMU, will speak on campus next Tuesday (Oct. 25) at 7:30 p.m. in Dan Rogers Auditorium. Griffith will be addressing the Ft. Worth section of the IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers) on the topic "Engineering Economics". He'll discuss the new techniques being developed for decision making to meet the demands of growing and complex engineering programs. The meeting is co-sponsored by TCU and is open to the public.

FACULTY WOMEN HAVE THEIR DAY

Yesterday was a special day for new members of the Faculty Woman's Club. They were honored with a tea in the Faculty Center which was attended by more than 60 women who have joined (or whose husbands have joined) the faculty or administrative staff this year. Mrs. Howard Wible was chairman of the event. Receiving the guests were Mrs. Granville Walker, president of the club; Mrs. John Bohon, president of the Faculty Newcomers Club and Mrs. Wible. Many of our faculty women took part in the planning.

ATTENTION ALL DICTATORS

The Dept. of Journalism has a carton of belt-records they are anxious to "give" away to any TCU office using Dictaphone "Timemaster" equipment. If you can use the records, call Journalism at Ext. 288.

VAN CLIBURN EFFORT PRAISED BY MOUDY

"For TCU and for myself, I want to thank the faculty and staff members of TCU who were involved in the Cliburn Competition. From all reports, every person on this campus performed at high efficiency and with grace. This event has done TCU a world of good. We probably have received more than we contributed. I am especially conscious, therefore, of the contribution of each of you. Please accept this as a personal word of praise and thanks." J. M. Moudy, Chancellor.

"BUSINESS WEEK" BANQUET TOMORROW

This is the final day to make reservations for the dinner session of TCU's "Business Week 1966" Oct. 20 at 5:30 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom. Dr. William Crook, regional director of the Office of Economic Opportunity from Washington, D. C., will speak at the banquet on "The Anti-Poverty Program: Its Aims and Purposes". Tickets are $1.80 each and may be obtained through the School of Business.

Final speaker for the week-long series will be Ellis Campbell, Jr., district director of the Internal Revenue Service with the topic "Collecting the Bill to Finance a Nation". To be held in Dan Rogers Hall auditorium at 9 a.m. Friday, the program is open to all students and faculty.

FREE DISCOUNT COUPONS TO ICE CAPADES

Not too many things are "free" these days, but Libby Proffer is giving away discount coupons for the Friday night (Oct. 21) performance of the colorful Ice Capades in Will Rogers Coliseum. Good for students and faculty, the coupons will entitle you to a $1 discount on any regular price ticket ($2, $2.50, $3, $3.50). It's a great event and one that the whole family will enjoy...and there's not many of those these days, either. If interested, see Libby at the Student Activities office in the Student Center.

FACULTY BUFFET A "BLAST"

Ina Rivers Jarman and all of her good helpers, including our new food service, may take a deep and well-earned bow. Last Sunday's Faculty Buffet was one of the loveliest and nicest campus affairs the faculty has been privileged to attend. The food was delicious, the table decoration beautiful, the conversation stimulating, and-- in the vernacular of the day--it was indeed a "blast". Many folks discovered they were pretty good plate-on-knee balancers, and after a bit of juggling could manage very well. When's the next one? We're ready for seconds.

NEED TO DISMISS CLASSES PROMPTLY

Classes which run beyond the regular time and prevent students from reaching their next class have been a cause of complaint. Every effort must be made to avoid this situation. As stated in the Faculty Handbook (p. 46), "All classes and laboratories should begin promptly at the scheduled hour and every effort should be made to close the periods on time." Hope every one will cooperate on this important matter.

RESEARCH SCIENTIST SPEAKS TO SIGMA XI GROUP

Dr. R. A. Laudise, head of the crystal chemistry research dept. of Bell Telephone Laboratories, spoke yesterday to members of the TCU Sigma Xi chapter. Dr. Laudise is a consultant to the President's Science Advisory Committee and an assoc. editor for the International Journal of Crystal Growth. Our Research Foundation co-sponsored Dr. Laudise's lecture on "The Growth of Single Crystals for Solid State Research and Development."

FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME TO HONOR HARDT

Dr. Henry Hardt, professor and former chairman of the dept. of chemistry, is not only a grand person, but one of athletics most ardent friends and effective voices. For his interest in and contributions to college football, Dr. Hardt is being honored by the North Texas Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame at the second annual awards luncheon at the Inn of Six Flags, Friday, Oct. 28 at 12 noon. Also to be honored will be Field Scovell, Dallas civic leader and sportsman. Hardt will receive the Amateur Football Award and Scovell the Distinguished American Award. Henry lettered in football three years at Southwestern U. in Georgetown, graduating in 1920, and playing ball against tough scrappers like Dutch Meyer. Through the years, Henry Hardt has had a distinguished association with athletics, serving as former president of the Southwest Conference, chairman of the TCU Athletic Council and its representative to the SW Conference since 1947, and president of the NCAA from 1961-63--the only man from the Southwest to hold that high post.

Faculty and friends are invited to attend the luncheon, and tickets at $4 each are available from Mrs. Varley at the Athletic Dept. Reservations must be made by Thursday noon, Oct. 27.

THANKS FOR A JOB WELL DONE ON UNITED FUND!

The final figures are in, the last report made, and TCU has gone over the top in its United Fund effort for 1966. Though the community goal has not yet been reached, TCU exceeded its $13,850 goal by $4,325.65, for a total of $18,175.65...the best we've done in five years of meeting our pledge. The response from our faculty, staff and other employees has been most gratifying. Chancellor Moudy asked that his personal appreciation be expressed through the Bulletin to each of the 567 persons who pledged to support the important work of the United Fund. "We applaud the wonderful spirit of commitment and concern shown by our people", said Dr. Moudy.

NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

JOHN KNOWLES, director of Church Relations, is the proud father of John Knowles (like father, like son)--except that the son is a special research fellow in TCU's dept. of physics. Young John will be speaking at the physics graduate colloquium this Friday at 4:30 p.m. in Room 151 Winton-Scott Hall on the subject "Unitary Symmetries Among the Elementary Particles and the Quark Model". John, sr., will be glad to discuss the topic with you over coffee any time.

MORE NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

BETTY KNOX, director of the News Bureau and editor of our magazine, "This Is TCU", has received a most interesting letter from Mrs. Pauline Shirley Haile. Mrs. Haile had noted the article in the last issue of the magazine written by Amos Melton, "Vignettes of Sacrifice," about T. E. Shirley whose dedication and sacrifice in behalf of the University had "saved" the school during some very difficult years around 1900. She writes, "I was so pleased to see 'Vignettes of Sacrifice' which was in honor of my father. TCU has always been a part of my life. I shall be disclosing my age when I say that I was in the Primary Dept. when the school was at Thorp Springs. I returned to the school in Waco in 1902..." Mrs. Haile had requested several copies of the magazine for her grandchildren.

Though she will not officially become a member of the faculty until February, may we take a moment to applaud LILI KRAUS who gave a deeply sensitive performance during her concert on the Ed Landreth stage last Wednesday evening. The world-famous pianist had a fine review of her recording of the Mozart concerti in the Oct. 14 issue of Time magazine.

Attending a recent convention in Austin of the Texas Speech Assn. and the Texas Speech and Hearing Assn. were DOROTHY BELL, JEANNETTE BELL, MARJORIE MOORE, TELETE LAWRENCE, R. C. NORRIS, LARRY LAUER, RICHARD DOUTHIT, DAVE MATHENY, GEORGE TADE and JACK COGDILL. George served as chairman of the "Texas Debut" program where Jack Cogdill presented a paper. Marjorie Moore spoke at the TSHA meeting on "Common and Divergent Points of View Concerning Hearing Handicapped Children", and R. C. Norris was a panelist discussing UHF television. George Tade, chairman of our speech dept., reports that Fort Worth and TCU will host the 1968 convention of both groups.

The campus was grieved at the death of Mrs. Rose Ella Porterfield, Friday. The wife of AUSTIN PORTERFIELD, retired professor and former chairman of the dept. of sociology and anthropology, Rose Ella, with her husband had been associated with TCU since 1937. Services were held Monday in Robert Carr Chapel.

Busy speakers about town include A. T. DEGROOT, professor of church history in Brite, serving as guest lecturer on "Ecumenism" for the adult school of religion in Holy Family Catholic Parish Hall last Monday and Tuesday evenings. DEAN BRIGHAM, director of living endowment in TCU's development division, speaks at an all-church banquet at Magnolia Ave. Christian Church tonight on the topic "Limiting Our Tasks". And WAYNE ROWLAND, journalism chairman, filled the pulpit at South Hills Christian Church last Sunday (Layman's Sunday), speaking on "Prisoners of the Unimportant".

Good friend, good neighbor and good Dean JEROME MOORE has been elected first vice president of the Fort Worth chapter of the International Good Neighbor Council. Good choice.

Congratulations to Kenneth Wilkinson...er...JAMES MOUDY on being named to the Board of Directors of University State Bank. The Chancellor has received quite a bit of good-natured kidding about Wilkinson's name being under his (Moudy's picture) in the paper when the announcement was made recently. He received one note, with a clipping, that said "Only the names have been changed to protect the innocent". On the go constantly, Dr. Moudy will speak to the assembly of the Fort Worth Area Assoc. of Christian Churches next Sunday at Riverside C.C.

BERT DOUTHIT, adviser for CESCO (Collegiate Educational Service Corps), asks that a special word of gratitude be expressed to the following persons who helped with the group's orientation Oct. 1: Chancellor Moudy, Libby Proffer, Elvira Harris, Millicent Keeble, Bobby Sanders, Fred Erisman. Bert reports that some 230 students are now giving volunteer service to 25 social service agencies in Fort Worth.

TCU's French Club, along with the faculty adviser JEAN KNECHT and BITA MAY HALL, will be guests of Neiman-Marcus in Dallas Saturday for a two-hour guided tour of the "French Fortnight". Some 30 members of the club are going with arrangements being made by Tom Barnett, manager of N-M's Fort Worth store.

LORRAINE SHERLEY, dept. of English, was guest speaker for the opening meeting of the Highland Park Browning Club in Dallas last week. Her topic was "Robert Browning's Tribute to Shakespeare".

MALCOLM McLEAN is back from a quick trip to Ciudad Juárez where he did the English translation for a speech delivered before the Western History Assoc. by Lic. Carlos J. Sierra, of the Mexican Treasury Dept. Malcolm reports that the Mexican government is planning to print the speech, "The Chamizal Question and Some of Its Interpretations", in a separate English edition--with credit to TCU on the title page. The government also plans to publish theses written in Spanish by two of Malcolm's students, Dolores Akins and Sheila Ann Noonan.

Published in the Oct. 5 issue of Psychonomic Science is an article by SELBY EVANS, assoc. prof. of psychology, E.M. Edwards (recent Ph.D) and doctoral candidate M. R. Mueller, titled "Learning How to Learn Schemata".

MARTINE EMERT, long-time member of the Geography Dept., is in Harris Hospital and welcomes visitors and telephone calls. She's in Room 258. One thing certain, Martine will have the hospital staff ardently supporting soil and water conservation and TCU before she leaves.

The campus was saddened to learn of the accident that took the lives of the parents of HOMER KLUCK. Homer is campus minister for the Wesley Foundation.
