SERVICE OF LIGHTS AND CAROLS TONIGHT

TCU officially opens the Christmas season tonight with its annual "Service of Lights and Carols". Planned by our students, the program will begin at 6:30 p.m. in front of the Student Center. Chancellor Moudy will give a brief welcome and Mayor Willard Barr will be guest speaker. Afterward, the mayor will "throw the switch" to light trees on the campus quadrangle, the giant tree inside the Student Center and the "Merry Christmas" banner over the front entrance. Dormitories will also be decorated...with prizes awarded to the best. The lights will be turned on each evening at 6 p.m. through Dec. 18. Tonight's service will really help you get in the Christmas mood. Why not come and bring the family along?

PLANS READIED FOR FACULTY CHRISTMAS PARTY

One of the nicest, best bib 'n tucker occasions for our faculty and administrative staff is our annual Christmas Dinner. Set for next Wednesday evening at 6:30 in the Student Center ballroom, the festive event will be a time of good cheer, good eating and good fellowship. The Faculty Woman's Club is making the plans which include a presentation of "The Ugly Duckling", a one-act play presented by students from the theatre arts department. Jack Cogdill will direct the children's classic. Dr. Moudy will preside at the dinner and Granville Walker will give the invocation. Mrs. Keith Turkett is chairman for the party. Assisting her are Mrs. Ben Strickland (co-chairman) and Mrs. Ralph Guenther (program coordinator).

Reservations at $2.04 each must be made no later than this Friday (Dec. 9). Call Ina Rivers Jarman at the Faculty Center, ext. 262.

FRED TAYLOR BRINGS HOME A COUPLE OF FROGS

New head football coach Fred Taylor knows a good horned frog when he sees one and he's had his eye on two. He caught a former frog star, Marvin Lasater, down at Mesquite where he was serving as asst. coach and returned him to campus as new freshman coach. Marvin, who was a star offensive and defensive player for three straight years beginning in 1957, was a co-captain of the 1959 club and a unanimous all-SWC selection in 1958. In addition to coaching the Wogs, Marvin will assist with the varsity and recruit in East Texas. He's married to the former Gail Bowdon of Weatherford. They have two children.

Fred didn't have as far to go to get his other frog. In fact, Harvey Reeves has been the offensive line coach at Paschal since graduating from TCU in 1965. Harvey, a former guard and linebacker on the 1962-64 teams, will work primarily with the defense, especially the linebackers; do some scouting and will recruit in Central Texas. Reeves is married to the former Darla Jo Patton of Port Arthur. They have a two-year old daughter.

As Fred says, "Both will be a credit to our program. This completes the staff. Now to hit the recruiting trail."

Welcome home, Marvin and Harvey. It's good to have you back.

ROACH CHANGES POSITIONS, BUT STILL ON THE TEAM

Walter Roach, a member of TCU's athletic staff since 1937, has been named assistant director of the Placement Bureau. He'll be working with "Bear" Wolf, placement director, who was line coach and athletic director during Walter's first two years as a TCU athlete in 1934 and 1935. Wolf got his name, you know...not from being a cub scout; he was a "bear" of a coach. Walter had served as defensive backfield coach since 1945.

DISTINGUISHED PSYCHOLOGIST TO SPEAK

Dr. William Hunt, a specialist in clinical psychology noted for his studies concerning the measurement of human abilities, will speak tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Faculty Center. The program, which is open to the public, is sponsored by the Psychology Dept. and the Institute of Behavioral Research. Dr. Hunt, head of Northwestern U.'s psychology dept. since 1951, will speak on "The Experimental Investigation of Clinical Judgment".

NEW BOOK HOT OFF THE TCU PRESS

"Fine Texas Horses", Their Pedigrees and Performance 1830-1845" is the most recent volume to be published through the TCU Press and the first in a new series of monographs in history and culture. Dr. Malcolm McLean, professor of Spanish and assoc. dean of AddRan is author of the new 178-page volume which carefully documents the colorful history of the thoroughbred horse in Texas. The first copy of the book was presented by Dr. McLean to A. M. Pate, Jr. at today's Faculty Luncheon. Pate, who is president of the Tarrant County Historical Society, made possible this volume inaugurating the monograph series. Designed by Jim Lehman, the book will go on sale Dec. 19 for $2.50 per copy.

BILL MURRAY NAMED DEAN OF MEN

Col. J. W. (Bill) Murray (Ret.) is anything but "retired". Serving as assistant dean of men since Sept. 1962, Bill has been promoted to Dean of Men, effective Dec. 1. As you know, the position has been unfilled since Jewell Wallace resigned to full-time phys ed teaching this year. Bill served as TCU's fraternity advisor from 1962-66 and has also been advisor to our foreign students since 1964. Congratulations, Bill.

TCU HAS SEVERAL FULBRIGHT APPLICANTS

Last week's Faculty Bulletin may have given the wrong impression when it reported that no students had applied for Fulbright honors. Though none were eligible to apply for the State of Texas Fulbright competition, three graduate students in history and six in Fine Arts did make direct application. The names of graduate and Fine Arts applicants are not sent to state competition. Honors Director Paul Wassenich also reports that 16 students have been nominated for Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships and five students for Danforth Fellowships.

"BATTLE OF CHANCELLORSVILLE" WILL BE WAGED DEC. 8

The Student Center Ballroom will be the scene of an illustrated lecture on "The Battle of Chancellorsville" at 11 a.m. tomorrow. Gen. Hamilton H. Howze, U. S. Army retired, will make the presentation which is being sponsored by TCU's military science and history departments, and the Forums Committee of the Activities Council. Howze will use two slide projectors, one to depict the military situation on a conventional map in color with signs and symbols, while the other will show actual color photographs of the landscape being discussed. The speaker is vice president for product planning for Bell Helicopter Co. In addition to the lecture, two Army helicopters like those being used in South Vietnam will be on display in front of the Student Center from 9-12 a.m.

INTERESTING QUOTE

Noted the following "communication hint" in the December issue of Fort Worth Public Schools Superintendent's Journal: "Perhaps we would all do a better job if we would try to cut down on the time devoted to 'telling' things to pupils and instead make a conscious effort to spend more time listening, really listening, to what our pupils say".

TCU TO ASSIST IN PHYSICAL FITNESS PROJECT

A $121,000 program will begin Feb. 1, 1967, within the Hurst-Eules-Bedford Independent School District to plan an ideal physical fitness-recreational program for an entire community. The project will be partially supported by an $82,500 grant under Title III from the U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare, the government's first grant for such a program. TCU's assistance will be through George Harris, director of our intramural program and asst. prof. of physical education, who will serve as professional advisor to the project.

Harris feels that "such a school-centered, total-community operation can serve as a unique training facility for our student teachers as the program progresses. The H-E-B district is a leader in the area of physical fitness and the system is known throughout the Southwest for its gymnastic program.

SHOULD BE AN INTERESTING GAME

Monday night (Dec.12) at 8:05 p.m., the TCU basketball team plays the visiting Mexico Olympic Team in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. These young men should be tops and it promises to be one of the best games of the season. Put on your "rootin'" clothes and be there for the tip-off.

SEARS FOUNDATION MAKES GIFT TO TCU

The Sears-Roebuck Foundation has presented an unrestricted grant of $6,500 to TCU. Participating in the brief ceremony were Dr. Moudy, Dr. Leigh Secrest and Edward E. Harroz, the Foundation's Fort Worth representative. Moudy said the gift would be used for support of TCU's graduate research programs. Sears will give nearly $50,000 to 34 privately-supported colleges and universities in Texas during 1966 and more than $800,000 in scholarships and other educational programs during the current year throughout the U.S.

HOW DO YOU TEACH "ENGLISH" AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE?

To find out, you're invited to attend six sessions which are being held at 4 p.m. daily, Dec. 5-10, in Room 201 Bailey Building. Edwin T. Cornelius, Jr., a 1944 TCU graduate and former language specialist for the U.S. government's overseas establishments, will conduct the series which is presented by the English Language Services Teacher Education Program. Cornelius will demonstrate some of the techniques and materials used in teaching English as a foreign language which will include five major workbooks, 164 8mm films, 117 pre-recorded tapes, 900 language cards, plus texts, readers, reference books and tests. The program is sponsored by the School of Education, the North Central Texas Center for Educational Services and the North Texas Office of the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory. The groups are headed by Drs. Herb LaGrone, Les Evans and Keith Turkett, respectively. The daily sessions are open to faculty, students and the public.

FACULTY INVITED TO KAPPA DELTA OPEN HOUSE

All faculty and administrative staff members have been invited by Kappa Delta Sorority to attend an open house Dec. 14 between 5:00 and 6:30 p.m. in the KD Chapter Room. The girls are making special plans and urge everyone to drop by. This is the evening of our Faculty Christmas Dinner and the KD's say it will be an excellent opportunity for you to view the Campus Christmas Lights before going to the dinner. Kappa Delta and the President's Council of the Association of Women Students are co-sponsoring the light display among Greek and independent dorms to help promote Christmas spirit at TCU.

FOURTH METROPOLITAN POLICY SEMINAR SCHEDULED

Dr. Leonard Reissman, professor of social relations at Tulane U., and Dr. Brian Berry, professor of geography at the Univ. of Chicago, will be key speakers during the fourth session of TCU's Metropolitan Policy Seminar Program, set for Dec. 8 and 9. They will discuss the manner in which new scale and leveling off of urban growth affects urban activities and how transportation and housing policy affect retail system development. The Dec. 8 program, planned for community leaders, will be held in Hotel Texas' Longhorn Room beginning at 10 a.m. The program Dec. 9, designed for faculty, students and professional persons will begin at 11 a.m. in Weatherly Hall. The 12-meeting seminar series is being offered by TCU in conjunction with The Brookings Institution of Washington, D. C.

NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

PREM MAHENDROO of physics and Ph. D. candidate Jim Miller presented a paper at a meeting of the American Physical Society at Vanderbilt last week. The paper was "Spin-Lattice Relaxation Processes in Pure and Europium-Doped BaF<sub>2</sub> Crystals at Low-and High-Temperatures". (Perhaps we'd better enroll in those sessions on understanding English as a foreign language).

BITA MAY HALL reports that a former student, Miss Frankie B. Denton, has been awarded a scholarship for study at the Univ. of Vienna through the program of the Institute of European Studies. TCU's foreign language dept. coordinates its Resident Study Abroad programs through the Institute.

JOHN HALTOM of government has been busy with the recent Inter-governmental Workshop Conference on "Housing and Community Improvement" which he directed. The Dec. 1 meeting in Arlington was attended by city officials in the North Central Texas area.

Executive director of university development JIM SOWELL spoke to some 2,000 persons attending the National Home Builders Assn. convention in Chicago this week. Jim was recently given the title of "Kentucky Colonel" by Gov. Edward Breathitt at a special ceremony in Jim's home state.

JOHN THOMAS and WILLIAM HANEY of art will have some of their work displayed at the annual Texas Painting and Sculpture Exhibition at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts beginning today.

HARRY GEFFERT, JR., who sculptured the replicas of the TCU seal now in Ed Landreth Auditorium, has been notified that his bronze vase--being shown in the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York--will be added to a traveling art exhibition. The exhibit, known as "Craftsmen U.S.A. 1966", will travel throughout the United States.

RICHARD LINCOLN, who teaches french and ceramics, has learned that his work will be shown in the Ceramic National Show in New York. Richard and several of his students also had work represented at the South-Central Craft Exhibit in Dallas last month.

The campus was saddened to learn that BEN GOLDBECK's father had died Nov. 30 in a Fort Worth hospital.

WILLIS HEWATT was guest speaker at Texas Woman's Univ. Sigma Xi Club last week. Willis talked about "Coral Reefs and the Search for Petroleum".

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

MICHAEL WINESANKER, music chairman, represented TCU at the annual meeting of the National Assn. of Schools of Music in Dallas recently. Dr. Winesanker, BEV HENSON and Dean FRANK HUGHES visited in the Texas valley area to listen to some outstanding high school choirs and to interview prospective students.

KEITH TURKETT of education was co-planner of a joint area advisory council meeting of the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory which met on campus Dec. 5. Keith is North Texas area coordinator for the SEDL.

Sometimes the author is the last to know. MALCOLM McLEAN paraphrases the well-known expression, having just discovered that more than three years ago an article of his was used by the National University of Honduras to help launch its new literary magazine. Titled "O. Henry en Honduras", Malcolm says the article has never appeared in English because he can't find a Texas editor who is sufficiently interested in this Texas author. Maybe it should be re-titled "W. S. Porter en Honduras".

MAYBELLE TINKLE of phys ed attended the Texas Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation convention in Dallas last week. Maybelle was chairman of the college administration group and presided at a meeting where TCU alumnus and State Representative David Finney spoke. She's chairman-elect of the college woman's physical ed section.

Sincere sympathy is extended by the entire campus to D. RAY LINDLEY in the loss of his mother last week. The funeral was Saturday in Dallas.

HAROLD SIMPSON, former instructor in the history dept. and now working on his Ph. D., has recently edited a study of Gen. Robert E. Lee written by Confederate President Jefferson Davis in late 1889. Harold is serving as director of The Confederate Research Center and Gun Museum at Hill Junior College in Hillsboro.

"Studies in Pattern Perception" was the subject of a presentation given by psychologist SELBY EVANS at Cornell recently. The colloquium and later discussions dealt with current research at TCU on computer generation of patterned stimuli, manipulation of quantitative stimulus variables, and computer simulation of perception.

ARLENE SOLLENBERGER of music attended the Regional Student Auditions of National Assn. of Teachers of Singing held in Norman, Okla. Three TCU students entered and all made the semi-finals. Arlene served as a professional accompanist for seven other students.

MORE NEWSY NOTES ON FOLKS

ALEX HOFFMAN, who serves as editor of Geoscience Electronics, attended an editors panel meeting in New York City on Nov. 21 and the next day buzzed down to Washington for an administrative committee meeting of Geoscience Electronics Group. Alex, by the way, has been notified that he will be among those listed in the 1966-67 edition of Leaders in American Science.

BILL MURRAY, our new Dean of Men, recently attended the National Interfraternity Conference in New Orleans with student Dave Dike, vice president of TCU's Interfraternity Council. More than 1,300 persons and 200 deans from some 200 schools were present.

ANN GOSSMAN of English has received an appointment to Professor Kristeller's Seminar on Renaissance Platonism in the Southwestern Institute of Mediaeval and Renaissance Studies. The appointment will be for six weeks in the 1967 summer session in Chapel Hill, N.C.

FRED ERISMAN of English was named to the membership committee of The American Studies Assn. of Texas at its annual meeting in San Antonio last week. The Association also voted a resolution honoring the memory of Dr. Cecil B. Williams.

Busy IRA SCHANTZ was tenor soloist in Handel's "Messiah" with the choir of Lubbock's First Methodist Church last Sunday. Tuesday he was soloist in a performance of Carl Orff's "Catulli Carmina" in Big Spring with the famed First Piano Quartet on a Community Concerts program. Recently, Ira sang on a program of the Fort Worth League of Composers, performing a song written especially for him by a former TCU music student, John Paul Brantley. CAROLYN RANKIN was Ira's piano accompanist.
