CONGRATULATIONS ON PROMOTIONS, TENURE

Our Trustees, in session on campus this (Wednesday) morning, approved promotions for 22 faculty members and tenure status for 14. The retirements of six faculty members, including Dean Lucy Harris, were approved. In other actions, the Board named the soon-to-be-constructed Physical Sciences Building after the late Sid W. Richardson and the School of Business for M. J. Neeley; adopted a resolution to authorize planning of a new health and physical education building; approved another record budget of $11,700,678 which provides for cost-of-living salary increases for faculty and administrative staff; approved awarding of nine honorary degrees.

As always, recommendations for promotions came through department heads, deans and the V-C for Academic Affairs. These were formally approved: To full Professor--Walton Rothrock (Foreign Languages), John Haltom (Government), John Woldt (Music), Alex Hoffman (Computer Center); to Associate Professor--Manfred Reinecke (Chemistry), Henry Kelly (Chemistry), Keith Odom (English), Mrs. Nell Robinson (Home Ec), Charles Blount (Physics), Richard Lysiak (Physics), Porter Crow (Education), Howard Wible (Business), Charles Isoline (Art), Richard Lincoln (Art), Bev Henson (Music), John Stewart (Brite), Mildred Hogstel (Nursing), Phoebe Ann Lufgren (Nursing); to Assistant Professor--Fred Erisman (English), Ronald Flowers (Religion), Harry Geffert (Art), David Graham (Music).

TENURE APPROVED FOR 14 FACULTY, STAFF

Placed on tenure were: Richard Waits (Econ), Edna Brandau (Home Ec), Imogene Whatley (Home Ec), Lew Fay (Journalism), R. F. Raeuchle (Physics), Donald Worcester (History), Selby Evans (Psychology), Millicent Keeble (Education), John Stewart (Brite), Richard Lincoln (Art), Mildred Hogstel (Nursing), Phoebe Ann Lufgren (Nursing), Johnween Gill (Asst. Ref. Librarian), Loraine Spivey (Asst. Cat. Librarian). Congratulations to them all on this merited recognition.

SIX OF OUR FOLK TO RETIRE

As it must, comes the time when some in our midst will retire. One is that grand man of chemistry and a former chairman of the department, Dr. Henry B. Hardt. He was named professor and head of chemistry in 1945 and since 1947 has served as president of the Texas State Board of Examiners in the basic sciences. Henry was honored at the annual football banquet recently for his many years of devoted service to athletics. One of our most wonderful ladies, Dr. Martine Emert, will retire after serving on our faculty since 1946. Martine served as acting chairman of geography for nearly two years and just recently asked to retire due to ill health which has kept her from the teaching she loved. Another grand lady of TCU, Dean Lucy Harris, retires after some 21 years of service. She was appointed director and later first dean of Harris College of Nursing after joining the TCU faculty in 1946.

Others retiring are Mrs. Janette Sherk Sloman, a part-time instructor of English until 1960 when she became a full-time member of that department; Dr. Paul C. Young, who has served as adjunct professor and psychological counselor since 1963; Mrs. Iva S. Cox, who has been serving the Mary Couts Burnett Library since 1945.

NINE HONORARY DEGREES APPROVED

Of the honorary degrees to be awarded during the current academic year, four are Doctor of Law degrees, three Doctor of Science and two Doctor of Divinity degrees. The LL.D. will be conferred on Lorin Boswell, chairman of the Board of Trustees since 1959 and a TCU alumnus; M. J. Neeley, vice chairman of our Board--having served as a Board member since 1947; Douglas Tomlinson, TCU alumnus and chairman of the Board of Brite Divinity School; and Joe Alexander Clarke, immediate past chairman of the Board of Harris College of Nursing.

Named to receive the Doctor of Science degree were Dr. Robert Shaw, Dallas physician and surgeon; Prof. Charles Sherer, who retired two years ago after teaching for 37 years in TCU's math department; and Robert Widmer, vice president of research and engineering of General Dynamics/Fort Worth.

The Doctor of Divinity degree will be awarded to Rev. William Charles Howland, Jr., minister of University Christian Church in Austin and former student in Brite; and Rev. Maurice Grove, secretary-director of Mississippi Christian Churches in Jackson, Miss.

ON THINGS FINANCIAL

In his report Dr. Moudy called attention to our $11,700,678 budget for 1967-68 and noted the growing cost of upgrading academic programs in our doctoral areas. Other factors included the enlargement of the program in Special Education, the beginning of the Computer-Assisted Instruction program, equipment additions to the Computer Center and the initiating of putting all information from the registrar's office on microfilm.

V-C for Fiscal Affairs Cecil White reported on the progress of the $1,200,000 expansion of the Student Center and the near completion of the maintenance center on the Worth Hills area.

BUILDING AND SCHOOL NAMES RECEIVE ENTHUSIASTIC APPROVAL✓

Chancellor Moudy's recommendations for the naming of the new physical sciences building and the School of Business received enthusiastic approval of board members. He reported to the trustees that the University should have sufficient funds available by Aug. 1 to get bids and let contracts for construction of the $6.9 million Science Research Center. A $3.4 million matching grant from the Sid Richardson Foundation was given to TCU last December. We have $500,000 from the Amon Carter Foundation, $500,000 from the Moody Foundation and a $1 million grant from Title I, Higher Education Act facilities program.

In suggesting that the School of Business be named for Neeley, Moudy expressed his hope of seeing our other schools named over the years "as we find instances of exceptional appropriateness such as is noted in the career and service of M. J. Neeley." A member of the board since 1947, Neeley has been chairman of the buildings and grounds committee for many years and also serves on the executive committee of the board.

CONTRACTS AND SALARY NOTICES IN MAIL SOON

Following Board approval of the 1967-68 budget, contracts and salary notices for faculty and administrative staff are to be in the mail within a week or so. Commenting on salary increases, Chancellor Moudy said, "There will be near universal but not uniform salary increases, but, since they follow some very substantial upgrading last year, will be much more modest this year." Limited salary increases will also be made to most of our non-teaching employees.

FACULTY WOMEN MEET ON MAR. 14

To hear a talk on "The Art of Costuming" by Miss Dolores Tanner of the theatre arts department, members of the TCU Faculty Woman's Club will meet in the Faculty Center at 3 p.m. Mar. 14. The assistant professor will describe displays of theatrical properties which will be used in decorations for the event.

Chairman and co-chairman for the Tuesday event are Mrs. Johnny Swaim and Mrs. Donald Jackson. Program coordinator is Mrs. Logan Ware.

CHAMBER MUSIC CONCERT TONIGHT!

Ed Landreth Auditorium will be the site of a chamber music concert beginning at 8:15 p.m. and featuring works of Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert. The program, presented by the Department of Music, will include performances by several artists.

These will include Hornet Charles B. Seemann, currently a woodwind member of Project Muse and a former solo horn for NORAD Band and the Air Force Band, stationed in Washington, D.C., and Oboist Paul Fran, also with Project Muse, who founded New York City's Caecilian Chamber Ensemble. Clarinetist Vito Platamone, who was a member of the U.S. Military Academy Band, also of Project Muse, and his wife, Pianist Ellen Platamone, will be members of the concert group. Others will be Mrs. Eleanore Dailey, soprano who is a graduate voice student here, and Jon Sullivan, Project Muse bassoonist who was formerly with the Phoenix, Ariz., symphony.

EASTER CONVOCATION PLANNED FOR TUESDAY

Chancellor J. M. Moudy will speak at the annual Easter convocation, scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday (Mar. 14). The event is one of three major convocations during the year under the sponsorship of the Religious Activities Council. It will be open to the public.

Speaking of Easter, the holiday is just around the corner...with classes to be dismissed officially at 10 p.m. Mar. 21 and to resume at 8 a.m. Mar. 29.

CHOIR TO GIVE CONCERT TOUR PROGRAM

The A Cappella Choir, composed of 47 singers selected from the University at large and directed by Bev Henson, will present a free, public program Monday (Mar. 13) in Ed Landreth Auditorium, beginning at 8:15 p.m. Included in the concert will be the musical selections given by the nationally-recognized choir on its recent sixth annual tour, which took the TCU artists to 10 cities in a five-state area.

Numbers during the first half of the program will include works of Handel, Bach, Mozart and Schubert. Following the intermission will be compositions of Britten, Gretchaninoff, Manz, Berger, Brahms and an arrangement of "Four Spanish Carols" by Shaw-Parker.

TCU's Chamber Orchestra, composed of 12 persons selected from University musical organizations specifically for the tour concerts, will participate in the program under the direction of Assistant Professor Kenneth Schanewerk.

DATE SET FOR SIGMA XI INSTALLATION

Though details are still being worked out, May 8 has been set as the date for installation of our chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society. Full chapter status in the society is a most significant achievement for the University. More complete information about the formal installation ceremony will be available soon.

BUSTER AND ABE HONORED LAST NIGHT

Retiring coaches Abe Martin and Buster Brannon were the honored guests Tues. evening at the annual TCU Southside YMCA Father-Son Banquet in the Paschal cafeteria. Bill Ennis, sportscaster for WBAP TV and brother of Hunter, emceed the event which was also attended by several of our basketball and football players.

SENATOR YARBOROUGH DUE ON CAMPUS

The Activities Council's Forums Committee has announced that U. S. Senator Ralph W. Yarborough from Texas will speak on campus next Tues., Mar. 14. The session, to be held in the Student Center Ballroom, will begin at 3 p.m. His topic will be announced later.

FRED McDONALD NAMED DIRECTOR OF PUBLICATIONS

"The problem in making Jim Lehman director of public relations," Vice Chancellor Earl Waldrop once remarked, "is--who'll do TCU's publications?" 'Tis no longer a problem. Effective Mar. 1, Fred McDonald joined the PR staff as director of publications. A very talented and experienced designer, Fred was formerly art director for Jack T. Holmes & Assoc., an advertising, public relations and marketing organization in Fort Worth. Fred was raised in Fort Worth, graduated from North Side High School where he was senior class president, National Honor Society member, sports editor of the school paper, co-editor of the yearbook, ROTC batallion commander and Outstanding All-City Cadet. He earned his B.S. degree in art from the Univ. of Texas where he was the recipient of two tuition scholarship awards. TCU Alumni Director Clyde Foltz is keeping an eye on Fred, Lehman and Ohendalski (all of PR and all U. of T. grads) to be sure no Longhorn alumni club is organized on the 3rd floor of Sadler Hall.

Fred worked for a year as a staff artist at Stafford-Lowdon before going with the Holmes agency. A family man, his wife's name is Constance Jean and they have a young son, Scott Daniel, who will celebrate his first birthday March 25.

We're delighted to welcome Fred and his family to TCU and know he'll do a top job. His office is in Room 325 Sadler Hall, Ext. 211.

UNIVERSITY OF THE AMERICAS EXTENDS INVITATION

Dr. Ray Lindley, former TCU president and now president of the University of the Americas, has extended an invitation to TCU faculty who may be awarded a sabbatical-research leave to consider a brief appointment at the Mexico City institution. "Every year here at the University of the Americas," writes Dr. Lindley, "we have one or more persons doing research while serving a limited visiting professorship."

Former TCU profs planning to head south of the border are Otto Nielsen, former School of Education dean who has been on a leave of absence from TCU while helping establish an educational program in Guatemala for the U. S. government, and Austin Porterfield, former sociology chairman, now retired. Otto has resigned from TCU and will join the U. of A. staff in May as Executive Vice President. Austin will join the faculty there in the Fall as a visiting professor.

Anyone from TCU eligible and interested, should write Dr. Lindley at P.O. Box 968, Mexico 1, D.F.

SCIENCE OPEN HOUSE SET FOR FRIDAY

The University's annual Science Open House, planned for 6:30 to 9 p.m. Friday (Mar.10), will include more than 65 demonstrations, displays, exhibits and films--all designed to show high school students, teachers and the general public some of the equipment and facilities used by TCU's science departments. Participating divisions will be biology, chemistry, geology, physics, psychology, aerospace studies and the Institute of Behavioral Research.

Ames Observatory will display photographs of the moon and will have demonstrations for small groups every 30 minutes. Most of the other exhibits will be in Winton-Scott Hall, while the psychology department's displays--to include animal and fish learning labs--will be in Building 1.

Chairing the annual free event is Dr. E. R. Alexander of chemistry, assisted by Dr. Earl Gardner of biology.

BRITISH ECONOMIST DUE TOMORROW

For the sixth program in the 1966-67 Select Series, Economist Barbara Ward^v will be presented in lecture tomorrow (Mar.9) at 8 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Regarded as one of the most influential writers in England, she will discuss "The Unity of the Free World". The former foreign affairs editor of The Economist of London, she is a frequent visitor and unofficial advisor to the White House.

Miss Ward, who is Lady Jackson in private life, went to India at the invitation of that government to study their Five-Year Plan. Her book, The Rich Nations and the Poor Nations, is President Johnson's "Selection-of-the-Century"; and she is a regular writer contributor of articles for the New York Times magazine section.

Dr. James Newcomer, VC of Academic Affairs, will introduce the speaker. Tickets, $1.50 for adults and $1 for students, are available at the Student Activities Office and will be on sale at the door.

MRS. COX IS HONORED

Mrs. Iva Shepherd Cox, member of the TCU library staff since 1945, retired effective Mar. 1. In recognition of her untiring and devoted service, she was presented a citation by the library folks in a brief ceremony recently. Only the second person to retire from the staff after long service, the periodicals librarian plans to catch up on traveling.

RARE BIBLES GIVEN BY LUBBOCK COUPLE

Two rare Bibles, dating to the late 16th and early 17th Centuries, were given to TCU recently by Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benson of Lubbock. Dr. Jack Suggs, long-time friend of the couple, Brite librarian Bob Olsen and Dr. Paul Parham participated in the brief ceremony.

One of the gift volumes is a 1585 edition of the Bishop's Bible, which originally appeared in 1568 as a revision of the Great Bible version undertaken by Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury. The 1585 book, regarded as scholars as the finest of the Bishop's Bibles from the standpoint of typography, has its original binding and brass binding clasps.

A 1611 King James Bible, imperfect because it lacks the Catholic epistles and Revelation, was also presented to TCU by the Bensons. The University's copy is particularly interesting because it belongs to an early version known as the "He" Bibles for the reading of Ruth 3:15, "...he went into the city." Editions properly rendering the verse as reading "...she went...." are known as "She" Bibles.

The Bensons, whose personal library contains a number of Bibles, showed the two volumes to Dr. Suggs in the mid-1950's when he was a guest in their home. Through his interest and that of Chancellor Moudy, they recently made known their desire to present the books to TCU. The gift was described by Olsen as both a "significant and most welcome addition to the University's collection of rare Bibles."

ROBOT-ORIENTED WORK TO BE GIVEN

A master's thesis production, the work of Gordon Bangs of Oklahoma City, will be presented in University Theatre Friday and Saturday (Mar. 10-11), beginning at 8 p.m. "RUR", which stands for "Rossum's Universal Robots," concerns an organization of men that has built human-like robots. Bangs, working toward his M.F.A. degree, is responsible for every aspect of the production--including set designs and costumes.

Although the presentation is free, seats will be reserved. Faculty members will go through the same procedure to acquire tickets for this as for other University Theatre productions.

MOVIE SCREEN MISSING FROM ARMY ROTC

A portable movie screen (60 x 60 inches) belonging to the Army ROTC is missing from Room 207 Sadler Hall. Capt. James Marek reports that it was last seen there on Wed., Mar. 1. They'd like very much to have it returned. If anyone has any information about the screen, call Jim at ext. 307.

$44,000 GRANT FOR CAI PROGRAM

The University has received a $44,000 grant from the U. S. Office of Education for a faculty workshop-institute which will allow 40 college faculty members in North Texas to learn the principles and techniques of computer-assisted instruction. To be undertaken by the new Instructional Systems Institute of TCU's School of Education, the program will be coordinated by Dr. Don Reynolds, institute director.

Faculty persons within a 100-mile radius of Fort Worth are expected to participate. The only other school in the Southwest with such studies is the University of Texas. The aim of the workshop is to help faculty members understand the new teaching aid so that they can create their own programs for computers, Dr. Reynolds said. Computer-assisted instruction has been called by some "the greatest advance in education since books were brought into classrooms."

"BUSTER'S DAY" INCLUDES 2nd-PLACE VICTORY

Mar. 2 may be a day dear to the hearts of Texans, but on campus it was "Buster Brannon Day." The Frog cagers, making their final season appearance in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum, added another victory to their retiring coach's string of wins in his 19 seasons as head man of the Purple roundballers. Now to become assistant athletic director, Brannon and his wife were honored during halftime ceremonies.

The 96-71 win over the Aggies was the "swan song" for 5 seniors---Wayne Kreis, Jess Evans, Capt. Rich Sauer, Stan Farr and Garvin Isaacs--gave the TCU team an 8-6 conference record and a second place tie with Texas. It was a great way to end a season and to say a heart-felt "thanks" to an outstanding coach.

PERSONAL NOTICE

(The following unsolicited notice was handed the Faculty Bulletin editor just prior to publication by an aspiring young advertising copywriter who shall be nameless, but whose initials are J.M.M.)

"Campus (?) worker (?) doesn't need two domiciles, wants to sell his home (4104 Hartwood) prior to moving his family and his luggage into a new (?) Chancellor's home (2900 Simondale). Object: huge profit.Chances: unlikely. Price: debatable, but probably $8,000 cash needed, take over 5-3/4% loan balance. Payments painful, taxes terrible, happiness wonderful. Call WA3-9087. If a man answers, be surprised, ask for an audio-visual presentation by the lady of the house: Has new exterior paint job (the house, not the lady). Rock fireplace alone worth $3,400,000. Would you believe the children's bedroom is decorated in purple and white?"

NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

MALCOLM ARNOULT visited the U. of Texas at El Paso (Texas Western Col.) last month under the auspices of the Visiting Scientist Program operated by the Amer. Psychological Assn. and funded by NSF. Mal conducted two colloquia for faculty and students and conferred with the administration concerning the M.A. program in Psychology initiated at UTEP last September.

JEFF HORN of Educa. represented TCU recently at a seminar concerned with problems involved in teaching students from culturally different environments. Corpus Christi public schools were hosts, with the Amer. Assn. of Colleges for Teacher Education serving as sponsor.

PETE WEBBER, former Air Force ROTC officer on campus now stationed at Anchorage, Alaska, was promoted to the rank of major on Feb. 20. Eager to see TCU folks who may be traveling in that area, Pete writes he recently visited with Wayne Baham, TCU grad en route to Unalakleet AFB on Alaska's west coast.

SELBY EVANS of psychology and Ed Edmonds, recent TCU Ph. D. have received a grant from the Office of Education to study "Schema learning in a mixed schema task." The research, an extension of Edmond's dissertation research, bears on the ability of people to find recurring patterns in visually presented figures.

Evening College economics and management instructor HERBERT HELSTROM has recently been elected to the national board of directors of the Society of Automotive Engineers. Herb is a product design manager for Vought Aeronautics Div., LTV Aerospace Corp.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

A musical group organized by EGYDIO ROMANENGHI of foreign languages presented a program of Spanish and Argentine music, religious and folklorico styles, at the Fort Worth Woman's Club last week. Egydio was assisted by Poly Cox, director, and Carole Hansen and Marcia Kella, guitarists.

MARGUERITE SLATER, principal of TCU's Starpoint School, is attending the annual meeting of the Internatl. Assn. for Children with Learning Disabilities in New York City. As secretary of the Texas ACLD, Marguerite will be one of the Texas delegates meeting with the executive committee of the international association.

MOFFITT CECIL of English has been elected to an alumnus membership in the South Carolina Beta Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Wofford College, Spartansburg, S.C. Moffitt will be initiated April 13.

Ranch Training Director JOHN MERRILL, assistant RAYMOND KENNY and members of the RT class were guests of the Fort Worth Farm and Ranch Club last month. Six class members presented the program which was a discussion of the need, methods and economics of brush control.

PORTER CROW, JOHN HAMMOND, LES EVANS and JEFF HORN will serve as delegates to the District V TSTA Convention at Richardson, Mar. 10-11. Porter will give the main address, John will work with the Foreign Languages section. Jeff is president and Les is secretary of the Tarrant County unit of TSTA.

DONALD REYNOLDS, director of our new Instructional Systems Institute, will speak to the North Texas Chapter of the Human Factors Society, Mar. 14. He'll discuss the problems and potential of computer-assisted instruction.

On the visiting speak circuit is BILL WATSON of chemistry. He'll lecture on research in chemistry at the U. of Arkansas, Mar. 14; U. of Okla., Mar. 15; and at Texas Tech, Mar. 16. The lectures are part of the Speakers Exchange Program sponsored by several southwest colleges and universities.

ELMER HENSON, dean of Brite Divinity School, was named secretary of the commission on Theological Education of the Board of Higher Education of Disciples of Christ. Chancellor JIM MOUDY is chairman of the Board which met in Indianapolis last week.
