

39
Archives

FACULTY BULLETIN

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY

VOL. XLIII

March 22, 1967

No. 29

EASTER: A TIME TO "REALLY LIVE"

Joseph Fort Newton, in his little book Everyday Religion, has asked the question, "When do we really live?" Perhaps Easter is an especially appropriate time to ponder some of his thoughts and add a bit to our own perspective.

"When do we really live? When does life drop its veil and show what it is, what it was meant to be?

When we have a faith fit to live by, a self fit to live with, a work fit to live for, and someone to love and be loved by.

When we know how to fill time and not merely kill it, when we want less, love more, and add something to the sum of human good.

When we know that every man is as noble, as vile, as divine, and as lonely as we are, and learn to forgive and love our fellows.

When we know that every day is a little life, every night a little death, and that we pass this way but once in our journey.

When we know how to get out of our little selves into the lives of others, putting ourselves in their place, sharing life in fellowship, changing mirrors into windows.

When music sets us dreaming, when an act of pure goodness melts our hearts, and we feel the thrill of a forgotten joy in the laugh of a little child.

When we can find good in every faith that helps any man to find divine meanings in life, whatever the name or rite of that faith may be.

When we have learned to praise people for what they can do, and not criticize them for what they cannot do, since no one can do everything.

When we are ruled by our admirations, not by our disgusts, seeking the best in people, giving every soul the benefit of the doubt.

When we know how to love, how to pray, how to laugh, how to live with God, how to serve him, glad to live but not afraid to die."

CARTOONIST DUE ON MAR. 30

Bill Mauldin, the Pulitzer Prize-winning political cartoonist whose drawings appear in about 300 newspapers in this country, will present the seventh Select Series program on Mar. 30. His illustrated lecture, to begin at 8 p.m. in Landreth Auditorium, will be titled "Political Wit and the Cartoonist." Mauldin replaces Jules Feiffer, who had to cancel his engagement.

The artist, whose first cartoon was sold when he was 9, studied art by correspondence and later earned fame as an illustrator for the Army's Stars and Stripes. World War II servicemen "got the message" from Mauldin's characters, Willie and G.I. Joe. His best-known book, Up Front, was written during his Army years. He went back to the battle-front during the Korean war and has been a photo-journalist for Chicago Sun-Times in Vietnam. He was cartoonist of the year in 1962, according to the National Cartoonists Society, and won the 1964 Sigma Delta Chi award for his grieving Lincoln memorial cartoon at the time of Kennedy's assassination.

Tickets, now on sale and to be available at the door, will be $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

/// /// ///

MINISTER'S WEEK SCHEDULED EARLIER

The 1968 Minister's Week, an annual event on TCU's campus since early days for the presentation of endowed lectureships by recognized authorities, has been planned for Jan. 8-11. The then-to-be-completed enlarged University Christian Church will be the site of the sessions.

The program will be a week earlier than in the past, announced Dr. William Tucker, planning committee member. Primary reason for the change of dates was to avoid the usual conflict with TCU's "dead week" just prior to fall semester exams.

*** **

RESEARCH FOUNDATION NAMES TWO NEW DIRECTORS

Tom Barnett and Roy Mays were elected as new members of the TCU Research Foundation board of directors by the University's board of trustees in its meeting recently. Murray Kyger, chairman of the board of First National Bank and Beeman Fisher, chairman of the board of Texas Electric Service Co., were re-elected to new terms on the Research Foundation board.

Barnett is vice-president and general manager of Neiman-Marcus of Fort Worth. Roy Mays is vice-president and regional general manager of the southern region of Continental Oil Company.

DANFORTH "MENTION" FOR ALUMNUS

Joey Jeter, highest ranking male graduate in his August, 1965 class, has been awarded honorable mention by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., in recent graduate awards competition. Now serving with the Peace Corps in Tessaoua, Niger, Africa, where special arrangements were made for him to take the competitive exams, Jeter will return to the states in September. His plans are to enroll in Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in New York, working toward a Ph. D. in ecumenical history.

A graduate of Fort Worth's Carter-Riverside high, Jeter was one of 400 finalists selected from more than 2,000 nominees by the Foundation. Of these, 120 received Danforth Fellowships.

%%%%%%%%%

TCU "VOICE" IN WASHINGTON EVENT

When Washington, D.C.,-area Texans gathered at the Shoreham Hotel Sunday (Mar. 19), the University was personally represented by Betty Lynn Buckley. "A Texas Festival" was the formal title of the brunch, and serving as program chairman was former Fort Worth Horace Busby. The North Texas State Lab Band and vocalists from Baylor, Southwest Texas State College and TCU were honored and provided the entertainment.

The performers for the event, which Busby called "a happy happening" or "a happening with a haircut," were selected after the screening of the hour-long Southwestern Bell television show devoted to college talent. The program chairman described the fete as a salute to all 300,000 members of the "campus generation" in both public and private institutions of higher learning in Texas. For the benefit of non-Texans, the Sunday activity emphasized that one out of 20 young Americans seeking higher education is on a Texas campus and that interest in the fine arts has had a phenomenal boost in this state. An interesting fact is that while fine arts degrees awarded annually have increased five per cent nationwide in the last decade, the increase in Texas has been 210 per cent.

() () () ()

COURSE IN FASTER READING SCHEDULED

One of the more popular courses offered through the Special Course Division is "Faster Reading for Business and Professional People." The class will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays, 7-9 p.m., April 3 through May 17. Special attention will be given to improving reading skills using the controlled reader, tachistoscope and the reading accelerator. The enrollment fee is $40. If you're interested, call Special Courses at ext. 387 or 388, or you can register by attending the first class session.

MAINTENANCE MOVES INTO NEW HOME NEXT WEEK

About March 27 the Maintenance Department will be moving into its new home on the Worth Hills campus. Louis Ramsey, director of buildings and grounds, reports that they will try to finish all shop projects on hand before the move. Any projects not completed before then will be finished after they get settled in their new quarters. During the moving period, no new shop projects will be started. Louis says that a skeleton crew will be available to take care of necessary maintenance and emergencies only. After the move is completed the department will be open for "business as usual." Please cooperate with them next week by saving all but the most essential calls until after April 1.

XXX XXX XXX

THREE WEEK COURSE IN "UNDERSTANDING HEART DISEASE" OFFERED

Another course which may be of interest to some Faculty Bulletin readers is "Understanding Heart Disease." Presented through the Special Course Division, classes will meet on three successive Monday evenings, April 10, 17, 24, 7:30-9:45 p.m. in Room 105, Rogers Hall. Registration fee is $5 per person or $7.50 for married couples. Led by professionals, the sessions will cover, "What Do We Mean 'Heart Disease'?" "Living With Heart Disease: The Patient and His Problems," Research: Hope of the Present and Future," and "Social Forces and Heart Disease-- Our Local, State and National Agencies." Call ext. 387, 388 or attend the first session to register.

* * * * *

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS: R. B. Wolf, Director of Placement Bureau, Student Center, announces the following companies will have representatives on campus during the week of April 3rd to interview our graduating seniors:

- April 4- Alford, Meroney & Co. - Accounting majors
- April 5 - National Industrial Laundries- Business majors
- April 5 - Metropolitan Life Ins. Co.- Business & Liberal Arts majors
- April 5,6 - U. S. Marine Corps - ; U.S. Marine Corps (women)- all majors
- April 6 - Sanger-Harris - All majors
- April 6 - Camp Champions - All majors
- April 6 - International Harvester-Motor Truck Div.-Business & Liberal Arts majors
- April 7 - American Institute for Foreign Trade- All majors
- April 7 - California Packing Sales Co.-Del Monte Brand Foods- Business, Liberal Arts majors
- April 7 - IBM - Office Products Div.- Business Education majors

$$$ $$$ $$$

FURNISHED GUEST HOUSE FOR RENT - EXTRA NICE -2 rooms and bath, carpeted air-conditioned. $60/month with water and gas paid. 2813 Ryan Avenue after 6 p.m.. Must be seen to appreciate.

FINE ARTS SUMMER STUDY TOUR PLANNED

TCU's 1967 European Study Tour will be devoted to the Fine Arts. The tour is planned for July 16 through August 26 and will cost about $1,550, round trip from New York. Dr. John Woldt, professor of music literature and graduate of the Vienna Academy of Music, will conduct the six-week study tour. The trip will correspond to the second six-week summer session and will provide students with class work abroad including visits to art museums, festivals of drama, opera, concerts, architectural monuments, Royal Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, the Munich Opera and Bayreuth Wagner, Lucerne International and Salsburg festivals. Other highlights include visits to Amsterdam, Rotterdam, East and West Berlin, Vienna, Rome, Venice, Florence, Milan, Zurich and Paris. John's wife, Harriet, will assist in conducting the tour. She is also on the TCU Fine Arts faculty and a former Fulbright Scholar in cello at the Vienna Academy.

The tour is open to students from other colleges and universities and may be taken for credit or non-credit on the undergraduate or graduate level. Deadline for the initial deposit of $180 is April 15.

))))---((((

OR YOU CAN ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL IN MEXICO

If you're more interested in learning Spanish in Mexico than a Fine Arts Tour in Europe, there's TCU's annual six-week summer session at Monterrey Tec in Mexico. Mrs. Elvira Harris, assistant professor of Spanish, will direct the session which will include a wide selection of courses--accounting, architecture, art, folklore, geography, history, Mexican literature, sociology, swimming--and--oh, yes--Spanish. In fact courses are offered leading to the Master of Arts degree in Spanish language. Fully accredited, the session is open to students who have just graduated from high school as well as to college students. The cost is $360 for the semester (July 10-Aug. 18), not including transportation. Deadline for the initial payment of $60 is April 15.

%%% %%% %%%

QUALITY HOME FOR SALE

On quiet street within 2 blocks of TCU campus. Central heat and air conditioning plus separate ventilating system. Three bedrooms, 2½ baths, living room with fireplace, separate dining room, large den; kitchen with dishwasher and disposal and breakfast area; large utility room with separate sink and laundry connections; plenty of closets. Fenced back yard and patio, detached garage. Call WA7-5311 or WA1-1320 for additional information.

$500,000 GIFT RECEIVED FROM MOODY FOUNDATION ✓

A commitment of $500,000 from the Moody Foundation of Galveston has been received by TCU. The funds will be applied toward construction of the Science Research Center which should get underway sometime this summer. The new gift brings to $1 million the total given the University by the Foundation which was established in 1942 by the late W. L. Moody, Jr.

With this and previous commitments received--including the $3.4 million matching grant from the Sid Richardson Foundation--we need about $1 million more to finance the building of the Center. Chancellor Moudy feels that this should be in hand by the time working drawings are completed, hopefully before July 1. Other funds received to date include $500,000 from the Carter Foundation and $1 million under Title I of the Higher Education Act.

Reporting on the Moody gift, Dr. Moudy said, "We are most encouraged by the action of the trustees of the Moody Foundation. We are impressed with the vision and scope they have shown in handling the Moody estate for the benefit of the entire state of Texas."

X X X X X X X X

GOOD WORD ON URBAN CONFERENCES

Our recent conferences sponsored by the Special Course Division and the North Central Texas Council of Governments, plus the Brookings Institute Urban Policy Conferences, have been receiving many fine compliments from area civic officials. Mayor Waggoner of Grand Prairie, chairman of the NCTCOG, commented on the "tremendous program" being offered by TCU for community leaders. Nearly 100 persons attended the recent conference on Problems of Pollution planned by Dr. Russell Faulkner of Biology. Participants came from as far as Topeka, Kansas and included engineers, public officials, industrial representatives and others. Our congratulations to Special Course Director Leroy Lewis, Evening College director Tom Palmer and those of our faculty who have planned and participated in the conferences.

NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

JACK SUGGS of Brite was elected vice president of the Southwest Section of the Society of Biblical Literature last week. Jack has previously served four terms as secretary of the regional SLB and is currently an Associate-in-Council of the Society nationally.

BILL TUCKER, assoc. prof. of church history and asst. dean of Brite, will be one of three Disciple historians to speak at the St. Louis assembly of the International Convention of Christian Churches next October.

A number of TCU faculty folk will be participating on the program of the Southwestern Social Science Assn. which meets in Dallas Mar. 23-25. From the Neeley School of Business, FRANK MURPH, MURRAY ROHMAN, RICHARD WAITS, HOYT GIBSON and graduate students Harry Lister and Hines Wilson.

Dean IKE HARRISON will speak on "The Problems of Accreditation," at the regional meeting of the American Assn. of Collegiate Schools of Business, Mar. 23 in Dallas.

Six drawings by JOHN Z. THOMAS of our art department are included in the University of North Carolina's Artists on Campus Exhibition. Nine artist-teachers from the south and southeastern part of the U.S. were invited to exhibit their works in connection with the U. of North Carolina's forum, "The Urban University and the Arts."

ALLIENE HARDER, CHARLES BESEDA, EVA SINGLETON and KEITH TURKETT of education attended the State Assn. of Student Teachers session in Abilene recently. Alliene is president of the organization. Keith will speak Mar. 28 to the Dallas chapter of Phi Delta Kappa on the Southwest Educational Development Lab. He also spoke at the District 7, TSTA session in Wichita Falls recently.

BILL SMITH, chemistry chairman, journeyed to Austin recently to present an invited lecture on "The Determination of Aromatic Character by Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Spectroscopy" before the graduate students and faculty of the Chemistry department at U. of Texas (Austin branch).

SELBY EVANS of psychology has an article, "Redundancy as a variable in pattern perception," in the current issue of Psychological Bulletin.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

"Methods of Computing and Evaluating Residual Gain Scores in the Reading Program", is the title of an article by EARL RANKIN, director of TCU's Reading Laboratory, and graduate student Robert Tracy. The article was published in the current issue of the Journal of Reading.

MARJORIE MOORE of speech reports that TCU's program for the deaf in the Dept. of Speech has been designated by the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare as eligible to borrow free films for teacher training from Captioned Films for the Deaf. Films demonstrating the teaching of language arts, mathematics, science, speech reading and lip reading; for practice in reading finger spelling; and other films related to the education of the hearing-impaired will be available for use with TCU students.

R.C. KAY FORMAN, who teaches business and professional speaking in the Evening College has authored his first book, Public Speaking Made Easy, published by the Fleming H. Revell Co. of Westwood, New Jersey. Kay is a noted speaker and teacher and tops in his field. The book sells for $3.95.

EARL GARDNER of biology and graduate student Bufore Brian have an article, "Fatty Acids of Vibrio Cholerae," published in the Winter 1966 issue of Texas Reports of Biology and Medicine.

BOB PARKER of biology is one of three co-authors of an article on "Paleobiochemistry of Molluscan Shell Proteins" published in the Feb. issue of Comparative Biochemistry and Physiology. Bob is also co-author of the book, Marine and Estuarine Environments, Organisms and Geology of the Cape Cod Region. The study is sponsored through the Systematics Ecology Program, Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass.

Congratulations to FRANK REUTER of history on his new book, Catholic Influence on American Colonial Policies 1894-1904, just published by the University of Texas Press. In his book, Frank explores the influence of the Catholic Church in American political affairs, including Catholics and the Spanish American War, the Church and State in Cuba, Puerto Rico, and Guam, Catholics and the American occupation of the Philippine Islands, Spanish Friars and the land controversy, Theodore Roosevelt and the crystallization of Catholic Opinion, and the Taft mission to Rome.