Dear Mrs. Hinrichs:

This is just a note to thank you for your trouble in getting together the meteorites and letting me come by to see you and talk about them when I came thru there last Sunday.

I appreciated this courtesy and will await further word from you later in the spring, after you have had ample chance to try to find the remaining small specimens.

Please thank your son also for his work in lugging down the big Texas stone and checking the weights.

Yours sincerely,
