

Weatherly's Variety,
205 W. Mulberry,
Kaufman, Texas
April 23, 1956.

Dear Oscar:

Well, I finally got some information for you about the J. J. Hill you were trying to locate.

He was known as Capt. J. J. Hill and was formerly County Judge here. His wife and a Mrs. Hatch were sisters, both raised in Kaufman and both dead. However, Mrs. Hatch's son, Jim Hatch, now lives in West Texas and is supposed to be still living. My information is that Mr. Hatch knew all about the data you desire. He had two children, a boy James Hatch and a girl Newell Hatch, both of whom also live in West Texas. My informant is supposed to get me the present addresses of all three and this might give you a good lead. As soon as this information is obtained, I'll write you.

Your friend

Lon Weatherly