

OUR FACE IS PURPLE. WELL, THAT'S SHOW-BIZ.

After learning last Wednesday that WBAP-TV would broadcast the first TCU FORUM program this past Sunday at 12:30 p.m., every effort was made to inform our faculty and staff and the community. The program was to have been on the subject: "Are Today's Young People Really Different?" A circular announcing the program was distributed on campus, advertising was placed in the Star-Telegram and a news release was rushed to the papers.

Those who tuned in were first surprised to find the program was postponed half an hour due to the extension of "Meet the Press." We felt fortunate, at that, because the station had considered cancelling the TCU program since they couldn't show it at the scheduled time. After some persuasion, they agreed to run it. Instead of airing the advertised program, however, they showed a previously taped TCU FORUM on "Religion in the Public Schools."

We hope many of you had an opportunity to view the program though, and to hear the most interesting discussion by Drs. Ronald Flowers, assistant professor of religion; Porter Crow, associate professor of education; and Frank Reuter, associate professor of history. The program was moderated by Larry Lauer, instructor in the radio-TV-film division and producer of the show. Actually, this was the first of the TCU FORUM programs to be produced. For technical and production reasons, the station had wanted to show the second one first. The program on young people has been rescheduled for Sunday, March 17, at 3 p.m. We'll remind you again later.

DRS. SPAIN AND FERRE TO DISCUSS VIETNAM

Departmental chairman August Spain of government and Gus Ferre of philosophy will discuss the war in Vietnam tonight (Feb. 7) in a public program sponsored by Students for Peace, a campus organization formed late last semester for the purpose of seeking answers to questions about the Southeast Asia conflict. The session, to begin at 7:30 p.m. in Room 205 of the Student Center, will be moderated by Ken Gordon, assistant dean of men.

Chairman and co-chairman of the campus group are Neill Poese of Clayton, Mo., and Ron White of Fort Worth, respectively.

HEW ASSISTANT SECRETARY DUE ON FEB. 12

Assistant Secretary Ralph K. Huitt of Health, Education and Welfare will discuss "The Presidential Lobby" at a Forums Committee-sponsored program on Monday (Feb. 12). The former political science professor at the University of Wisconsin, whose HEWduties ^{cent}er primarily on legislation, is well known for his research and writings in the areas of public administration, fiscal and debt management policies. The Texan served as LBJ's speech writer during the vice-presidential campaign of 1960.

The director of the two-year Study of Congress by the American Political Science Assn. under a Carnegie Corporation grant, Huitt will speak at 7 p.m. in Rooms 205-206 of the Student Center.

BUDDHIST MONK FROM SAIGON TO BE CAMPUS GUEST

Thich Nhat Hanh, founder-director of the School of Youth for Social Service in Saigon, Will be a guest on campus Feb. 12-13 and will speak to several gatherings of faculty and students. One of Vietnam's foremost intellectuals and considered one of that country's best-known authors and poets, the Buddhist monk left his post at Columbia University in 1964 to initiate the program of the Saigon school to assist in the development of a full-scale Buddhist response to the Vietnam crisis.

Author of Vietnam:Lotus in a Sea of Fire, which is now in its fourth printing in the United States and has been printed in eight languages, he formerly was director of ⁸⁰cial studies at Van Hanh Buddhist University in Saigon, an institution he helped to found. The former visiting distinguished scholar at Boston and Columbia universities proposes a third solution to the Vietnam conflict, which authorities say speaks for the ^{vast} majority of Vietnamese who know little of politics and who seek to preserve their country's identity as an Asian and largely Buddhist culture.

Cu Campus Ministers will host a meeting with Hanh on Feb. 12, beginning at 4p.m. in Room 207 of the Student Center. At 7:30 that evening he will join Brite Divinity School ^{faculty}, students and guests for an informal "fireside" in the Brite lounge. In addition to being a guest at the Feb. 13 Honors Colloquium, the renowned visitor will address a Forums Committee - sponsored session at 4 p.m. in the Student Center.

NEW HONOR FOR MME. KRAUS

TCU's artist-in-resident, famed pianist Madame Lili Kraus, was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Music by Roosevelt University in Chicago in ceremonies Feb. 5 in Chicago's Auditorium Theatre. The event marked the Centennial Commencement of The Chicago Musical College which merged with Roosevelt U. a number of years ago and has been one of the most revered music schools in both this country and abroad. Mme. Kraus, whose cross-country concert tour will continue through mid-May, will be back ^{on} campus this week. Plans are now being completed for her piano master class, scheduled for June 3-7.

SPRING SERIES TO BEGIN FEB. 13

The unique series of lectures keyed to Fort Worth's current opera and symphony season will begin its spring session on Feb. 13 under the direction of Dr. John Woldt, who headed the TCU Fine Arts tour of Europe last summer. The non-credit, public program, planned primarily for area citizens rather than for students, is designed to increase one's understanding of works to be performed locally in the coming months.

Offered for the first time during the fall, under sponsorship of the Division of Special Courses, the lecture-discussions are held in Room 103, Landreth Hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Spring sessions will be held on Feb. 13, March 5 and April 2. Enrollment fee is $6, and reservations are being taken now by the Special Course office, Ext. 388.

FEB. 14 DATE FOR SELECT SERIES PROGRAM

The widely praised performance of Welch-born star Emlyn Williams as "Dylan Thomas Growing Up" will be the Feb. 14 Select Series program. Author of numerous plays and several books--including "Night Must Fall," "The Corn is Green" and "Beyond Belief" --Williams has performed in movies, on Broadway and in London. Well-known, too, for his best-selling autobiography, "George," his "Dylan Thomas" presentation on Broadway was described by Newsweek as "The words are winged and the vignettes are wickedly, uproariously funny. TIME said, "An evening that has bubbled nostalgically, Caromed and swayed explodes into gorgeous nonsense."

The program, set for Landreth Auditoruim, will begin at 8 p.m. TCU student admission Will be $1.50; for all others, $2.50.

AEROSPACE TEAM TO PRESENT ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

The Air University Aerospace Presentations Team, winner of the Air Force Assn.'s top award in 1964, will present an illustrated program on the national space program for students, faculty and interested persons on Feb. 8. To begin at 11 a.m. in the Student Center ballroom, the event will include a tracing of the major development in space from our first efforts several years ago to plans for the future, including the details of America's goal of placing U.S. astronauts on the moon by 1970.

The personnel from the Air Force university at Maxwell AFB, Ala., will be headed by Lt. Col. Elro M. Windle, Maj. Ronald P. Bockius and Maj. Garrald Howland, who will use motion picture films and slides--many taken in outer space--to illustrate their discussion. Such briefings are offered by the USAF as a public service to aid in explaining some of the problems incurred by man and machine in space and to describe space exploration developments.

The AF Presentation Team will also be featured on "This is TCU," Saturday, Feb. 10, at ll a.m. over KTVT-Channel ll.

FEB. 10 DATE FOR ADVERTISING DAY

The 8th annual Advertising Field Day, sponsored by the Ad Club of Fort Worth and TCU's journalism department, has been scheduled for Feb. 10. Open to high school and college students, teachers and counselors, the event will begin at 8:30 a.m. with registration in Dan Rogers Hall. The program will include a film-strip introduction to the field, "Advertising, The community and the Great Aardvark Boom," and a beatthe-experts session with a panel of professionals who will match wits with the audience. Journalism Chairman Bob Carrell will talk briefly about advertising education; TCU student Ray Dryden, national vice president of Alpha Delta Sigma, will give the student's point of view and Bill Cahill of American Petrofina Co. will tell "The story of Pflash!"

The Ad Club will host a luncheon at noon in Weatherly Hall, and the event will adjourn at 1:30 p.m. after showing a film of the best TV commercials of 1967. It will be another fine and inspiring joint effort to give better insight into career possibilities in this fascinating field.

LOST A SILVER COMB?

A pretty, ornate silver comb and its case were found in the faculty parking lot west of the Student Center the night of the faculty Christmas dinner. The owner may pick it ^{up} in the News Bureau office, Room 324 Sadler Hall. And you'll want to thank Mrs. ^{Edward} Bell for bringing it to our attention.

POLITICAL SCIENTIST TO SPEAK TOMORROW

The noted author of Can American Democracy Survive Cold War?, Dr. Harry Howe Ransom, will speak tomorrow (Feb. 8) at 8 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom. Sponsored by the TCU Activities Council Forums Committee, Dr. Ransom is a political science professor from Vanderbilt University who is well known for his An American Foreign Policy Reader, released in 1965, as well as for articles, essays and book reviews appearing in such national publications as The New York Times Magazine, Book Week, The Saturday Review and The New Republic.

Dr. Ransom was a former research associate and senior staff member of the Harvard Defense Studies Program, which he helped to originate. As a research award recipient of the Rockefeller Foundation he studied the British intelligence system in London in 1964-65.

His books and articles on political and military intelligence, particularly his studies of the Central Intelligence Agency, have received critical praise. Following his TCU address, which is open to the public, Dr. Ransom will be honored at a reception, hosted by the Forums Committee in the mainfloor lounge.

The TCU chapter will also be host to the Sigma XI Club of University of Texas at Arlington.

Dr. McIntyre is a native of Scotland who, during the last several years, has developed ^{new} methods for rapid chemical analysis of granitic rocks by combining new X-ray, ^{field} sampling and computer techniques. He will speak about "X-ray Fluorescence: ^A New Tool for the Petrologist." Sigma XI is an organization of persons who have ^{made} original contributions to scientific knowledge.

HOME EC HONOR SOCIETY WILL INSTALL TCU CHAPTER

Phi Upsilon Omicron, honor society in home economics, will install its Beta Zeta chapter at TCU, Friday, Feb. 9. Thirty-five girls will be initiated at the ceremony. Dr. Edna Brandau, chairman of the department of home economics, will be one of three persons initiated as an honory member. Others include the home service director for Texas Electric Service Co. and the president of the Texas Home Economics Assn. TCU faculty who are presently members of the honor society are Dr. Nell B. Robinson, Myra Huffhines and Jane Greenwell, all of home economics.

In addition to the installation ceremony, students and faculty will hear an address by Dr. Adeline Hoffman of the University of Iowa at ll a.m., Friday, in the Student Center ballroom. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Because of the installation and initiation services, home economics students will miss some of their Friday classes. Those students who participate in the program will be given a ticket to present to their teachers. The home ec department is asking that these students be given an opportunity to make up their work and not be penalized for their absence on that day.

TCU'S LEW FAY MEETS LOU FAY

It's always interesting to meet or learn of someone who has the same or a similar name as yours. For most of us, that's the end of the coincidence. For Skiff adviser and journalism prof Lew Fay, the coincidence led to an interesting chain of events which he describes below:

"Fifteen years ago TCU's Lew Fay addressed a newspaper group at the University of Texas. His speech--and picture--appeared subsequently in Publishers Auxiliary. Shortly thereafter Lew received a letter from a copyreader on an Iowa daily--whose name was Lou Fay. Lou wanted to know who the heck Lew was.

"The two struck up a correspondence, although they could find no common roots, Lou's Scotch ancestry having no link with the Irish O'Feaghs, of Lew's background. Lou Fay, following the sun in an effort to escape chronic emphysema, migrated later to New Mexico, still later to Los Fresnos in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

"During the Christmas recess, Asst. Prof Lew and his wife spent part of a week in Brownsville, and phoned Lou. Lou and his charming wife Mildred met Lew and Betty at the Brownsville airport an hour before the Lew Fay's plane time. Still no common roots--but the Lew Fays and the Lou Fays enjoyed an hour of comparing notes.

"Like Lew, Lou was a newspaperman all his life. He lives now in semi-retirement, in the Valley--while Lew still saws wood in the journalism-education mill. Odd anti-climax: Lou is now researching a magazine article for which Lew snapped pictures in the shrimp-fleet port. They're wondering, if and when it sells, how it'll be by-lined."

SCHOOL REPRESENTATIVES WILL INTERVIEW STUDENTS

NOTES ON NOTABLE FOLKS

Featured on the front page of the January issue of the Interscholastic Leaguer is a fine photo of Chancellor J. M. MOUDY surrounded by three lovely TCU coeds. The girls hold Texas Interscholastic League Foundation Scholarships at TCU, the third year in a row the University has had three freshmen enrolling who hold the scholarship.

EARL RANKIN, director of TCU's Reading Improvement Service, has received a request from the eminent psychologist, Hans Eysenck of the University of London, to include two of Earl's previously published papers in a forthcoming book on introversion-extroversion. The papers are "Reading Test Performance of Introverts and Extroverts" and "Reading Test Reliability and Validity as a Function of Introversion-Extroversion."

NICK ROSE and his wife Mackye have decided on a name for their new daughter, born last week. Nick at first thought of naming her "Ramblin'," but settled for Julie Ann.

"Texas Rangers: Past and Present" was the title of a talk BEN PROCTER, asst. prof. of history, gave to the Fort Worth Westerners last week.

MALCOLM McLEAN, back on campus after a leave of absence during the fall semester, ^{spoke} on the "Robertson Colony," the subject of his current research, at the un-^{veiling} of the sixth state historical marker by Bell County Historical Survey Committee. The ceremony was held Feb. 4 at the Reed's Lake Cemetary near Belton, Texas. Malcolm is a descendent of the Reed and Robertson families.

MORE NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs JAMES NEW COMER will address the Denton chapter of AAUW at a dinner meeting tonight (Feb. 7) on the subject, "Morality and Beyond."

WILLIS HEWATT, biology chairman, was recently elected vice president of the board of directors of the Fort Worth Children's Museum and was also elected executive vice president of the Fort Worth-Tarrant County Cancer Society for 1968.

Mrs. MARION PRATT, child development instructor in the home economics department, will teach a course, "Elementary 1-2", in the Fort Worth Methodist Leadership School (West District), Feb. 25-29.

Mrs. MYRA HUFFHINES of home ec will work with home economics teachers from the Fort Worth Public Schools on plans for their summer program in child development Tues., Feb. 13, from 4-7 p.m.

MANFRED REINECKE's article entitled "The Case of the Ersatz Aryne" appeared in the Jan. 17 issue of the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

Chemistry chairman BILL SMITH notes that "the department scored a rare coup when three articles appeared in the Jan. issue of the Journal of Physical Chemistry-an issue which will be known hereafter locally as the TCU Memorial Issue." The articles were: (1) "Equations for the Description of Isothermal Diffusion, etc." by JOHN ALBRIGHT; (2) "Electron Spin Resonance Study of Some Trifluoromethylnitrobenzene Anion Radicals" by W.H. WATSON; and (3) "Polymer Studies by Gel Permeation Chromatography" by W.B. SMITH. Bill (Smith) was recently in Washington serving on the NSF Postdoctoral Panel in chemistry. Last week he presented an invited lecture on nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy at Colorado State U.

ALEX HOFFMAN, computer center director, has been notified that his biography will be listed in the 1968 edition of Who's Who in American Education and Leaders in American Science Editors.

DON REYNOLDS, director of TCU's computer-assisted instruction program, will be in Houston, Feb. 16, to present a paper on computer-based counseling for the Texas Junior College Teachers Assn.

School of Education Dean HERB LAGRONE will discuss computer-assisted instruction during Religious Education Week at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, April 1-3. Theme of the conference is "Innovcations in Learning."

Dean of Students HOWARD WIBLE was back in Harris Hospital last weekend in preparation for surgery yesterday (Tues.) morning to remove a spinal disc. According to reports, doctors did not have to fuse the bone which means faster recovery for Howard.

Our sympathy is extended to Mary Jean and CLYDE FOLTZ of Alumni Affairs on the death of her father in Wichita Falls last Friday.
