SCIENCE OPEN HOUSE THIS WEEKEND

TCU will open its science laboratories and classrooms to visitors during its annual Science Open House this Friday evening and Saturday morning (Feb. 16 and 17). The program is designed to show students, teachers and the general public some of the scientific work under way by TCU faculty and students. This is the first time it has been scheduled for more than one evening. Visitors will be welcome from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Friday and from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday.

Taking part will be the departments of biology, chemistry, geology, mathematics, physics, psychology and aerospace studies and the Institute of Behavioral Research. TCU faculty members and students will be on hand in more than 40 laboratories and classrooms to demonstrate equipment such as a laser, an electron microscope, several instruments used by physicists and chemists to learn how atoms fit together to form molecules and to better understand how atoms themselves are formed, dewars which use liquid helium to lower temperatures to 450 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, and others.

Students in chemistry will give live demonstrations of unusual chemical phenomena. Films will be shown on mathematics, volcanoes and the Apollo space program. An eight-foot scale model of Saturn 5, the rocket which will take the first Americans to the moon, will be on display.

Most of the demonstrations and exhibits will be on the five floors of Winton-Scott Hall. Others will be in the IBR building, temporary buildings 1-A and 1-B east of the science building and at the Ames Observatory. No admission fee is charged.

Dr. E. R. Alexander, professor of chemistry, is chairman of the Open House Committee. This year's event is likely to be the last for several years because of construction of the TCU Science Research Center which should begin this spring.

TB OR NOT TB -- THAT MAY BE THE QUESTION!

Thanks to the efforts of the Student Education Assn., the new $32,000 mobile X-ray unit of the North Texas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Assn. will be on campus tomorrow (Feb. 15) for free examinations for students, faculty and town-folks. The bus-type unit, recently purchased for use in the 27-county area serviced by the North Texas organization, will be parked in front of the Student Center from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

A report of results, along with the X-ray film, will be mailed to persons who avail themselves of the free service. The film, according to Bill Forrester, executive director of the association, will be useful as reference if needed at a future date.

HAVE A YEN TO ACT?

If having a theatrical fling at drama has been your unfulfilled desire, Evening College has the class for you . . . and today is your last chance to enroll. "Fundamentals of Acting," which may or may not be taken for credit, is being taught by Director Robert Telford of the Wm. Edrington Scott Theater on Wednesdays from 7-9:40 p.m. in Weatherly Hall. No previous experience is necessary and there are no academic prerequisites. Evening College office in Sadler Hall will be open until 4:30 p.m. and again from 6:30-7:30 p.m. to accommodate late-comers!

GUEST RECITAL PLANNED FOR FEB. 19

Canadian pianist Monique Charland, one of the 47 entrants in the 1966 Van Cliburn International Competition held on campus, will be presented in concert on Feb. 19 in the TCU music department's Guest Recital Series. Free and open to the public, the event will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

The talented young artist, who was a child prodigy, has studied throughout the world with renowned pianists. The New York composer Jacques Miller has dedicated one of his modern piano works to her. Russian composer Sergei Barsukov, now living in Cannes, France, has asked her to give the American premiere of his Second Piano Concerto. After studying at the University of California, Santa Barbara, she was a student for a time at SMU.

FACULTY WOMEN'S TEA TO BE FEB. 20

The annual guest day tea of the Faculty Woman's Club, the year's highlight of faculty social events, has been planned for Feb. 20. Calling hours will be from 3 to 5 p.m., and invitations have been extended to more than 500 ladies in the North Texas area. Chairman for the fete in the ballroom of Brown-Lupton Student Center is Mrs. Anna B. Wallace, and Mrs. Don VerDuin is serving as her cochairman.

The tea, cancelled last year because of the Student Center construction project, is the organization's means of extending TCU's courtesy to Fort Worth, a spokeswoman said. The first tea was held in 1920 in Jarvis Hall, and space limitations restricted each member in the number of invitations she could extend. About 50 persons were present for the initial event.

The influx of that many campus guests compounds the problems of parking, and the club's officers have asked that as many places be left available in the faculty and student sections as possible. So that the guests may see the attractive, functional new facilities of the student center, coeds will conduct tours for those interested.

PARENTS RESPOND TO MAGAZINE OFFER

From the response of parents to the offer for complimentary copies of "This is T.C.U." included in the Message to Parents folder sent out with midyear grade reports, these patrons are interested in learning more of the University's people and programs. In the first week after reports went out, the magazine's editor received replies from 15 states, stretching from Virginia to California and from Florida to Iowa. Additional copies of the Message are available in 324 Sadler if anyone should have need of some.

215 STUDENTS ON DEAN'S LIST FOR FALL

A total of 215 undergraduate students have been named to the Dean's List for outstanding academic achievement during the 1967 fall semester. The report was released Feb. 9 by Registrar Calvin Cumbie. To be eligible for this honor, a student must be carrying at least 12 semester hours in courses that count toward a degree and rank in the upper 5 per cent of the eligible persons enrolled in that school or college.

Of the students listed for last semester, including 95 Fort Worth residents, 23 were from the School of Fine Arts; 12, Harris College of Nursing; 35, School of Education; 103, AddRan College of Arts and Sciences; and 42, M.J. Neeley School of Business.

FACULTY INVITED TO LEARN CANOEING, SAILING

If you're one of those people who like to take to water (preferably in a boat) when the wind and the weather are right, then you may be interested in a special class in canoeing and sailing which will be offered this spring through TCU's physical education department.

According to Associate Professor of Phys Ed George Harris, the course is planned to provide the novice boating enthusiast with basic skills and information. The class will begin Saturday, Feb. 24, at the TCU pool, from 2 to 4 p.m. In spring, the class will move to one of the Fort Worth lakes for actual canoeing and sailing practice using equipment provided by the Red Cross.

The class will be limited to 12 people. Pre-registration will be on a first come, first served basis. If you're interested, call George at Ext. 300 or drop by the Little Gym.

RED CROSS LIFESAVING CLASSES OFFERED

Free junior and senior Red Cross lifesaving classes will be offered faculty children beginning Saturday, Feb. 24, at 12 noon at the TCU pool. Those interested in junior lifesaving must be 12-15 years old or in the 7th-10th grade. Those who want to take senior lifesaving must be at least 16 years old.

The classes, which will be taught by TCU instructors, will each be one and one half hours duration for 12 sessions. To pre-register, write or call George Harris (Ext. 300, Little Gym).

TOASTMASTERS RECOGNIZE CHANCELLOR

An award of appreciation in the form of a handsome wooden gavel plaque, was presented to Dr. J. M. Moudy last week in behalf of Toastmasters International by the organization's president, Lothar A. Salim of San Rafael, Calif. In Dallas for a speaking engagement, the group's highest ranking officer came to Fort Worth for a called meeting to make the presentation.

FACULTY COOPERATION HELPED EXTEND CURFEW ✓

Effective Feb. 1, as the spring semester began, the curfew for women resident students has been extended from 10 to 11 p.m., Sunday through Thursday. The curfew for Friday and Saturday is 1 a.m. The 10 to 11 p.m. change, which was approved upon recommendation by the Assn. of Women Students, was due partly to the excellent cooperation given by TCU faculty to the Dean of Women's office. Faculty members notified the office of play rehearsals, when students were required to attend special programs or activities, and other events which caused women students to return to the dormitories after the 10 p.m. curfew.

With the increase in the number of general activities, both on and off campus, the dean's office felt the 11 p.m. curfew would be more realistic.

ESTATE PLANNING COURSE OFFERED FACULTY

Special Courses Director Leroy Lewis announces that TCU faculty may enroll in a non-credit course, Estate Planning: General Principles, at no cost. The fee for non-TCU persons is $75 or $125 for both husband and wife. The class can accommodate about a dozen faculty who are interested. The course started Tuesday, Feb. 13, and will meet for 15 weeks in Reed Hall, Room 115, from 7-9 p.m. Instructor will be Gerald N. Craig, trust administrator at the Fort Worth National Bank.

The material will be presented by lectures, group discussions and case studies. It will cover community property system, wills and testaments, estate-gift-inheritance taxes, life insurance, elements of a trust, what to know about estate planning, etc. If you're interested in the course, call the Division of Special Courses at Ext. 388. Latecomers can still register in time for next week's session (Feb. 20).

SUMMER APPOINTMENTS IN QUANTITATIVE ECOLOGY

Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU), Oak Ridge, Tenn., will offer temporary summer appointments to a limited number of undergraduate students in a special 12-week program in quantitative ecology. The program is intended for students who plan to major in the biological sciences, engineering, mathematics, or the physical sciences and who are interested in ecology or in related problems of understanding and protecting man's environment.

Preference will be given to applicants who will have finished their sophomore year by the time of appointment. The primary activity will be full-time tutorial study with senior investigators on significant research projects. Those students selected will receive a stipend of $60 per week, plus limited travel allowance.

Selection of the participants will be made by a committee of ecologists on the basis of the applicants' scholastic achievement, letters of reference and interest. Full information and application material can be obtained by writing to: Undergraduate Research Participation, University Participation Office, Oak Ridge Associated Universities, P.O. Box 117, Oak Ridge, Tenn. 37830.

JOURNALISM PUBLISHES EMPLOYMENT PROSPECTUS

The TCU Department of Journalism has published a booklet describing the qualifications of 20 graduating seniors and 17 junior students interested in summer internships in the news/editorial field, advertising and public relations. The booklet, which also shows a photo of each student, is being distributed to selected newspapers, advertising and PR firms across the country.

ABOUT PARKING ON FEB. 20

As has been the practice in the past, TCU security officers will attempt to keep parking spaces available in front of the Student Center for the Feb. 20 faculty women's tea, mentioned on an earlier page. Requests are being made that faculty personnel not park in the two designated lots after noon next Tuesday to allow space for the distinguished women guests.

To assist others attending the event, a group of TCU coeds will provide courtesy transportation from the coliseum parking area to the Student Center. Their cars will be marked for easy identification, and you may want to mention this to invited guests.

SPRING ENROLLMENT: 6,078 ✓

Final enrollment for the 1968 spring semester is 6,078 students, according to a detailed analysis by Registrar Calvin Cumbie. Though the number represents a 13.6 per cent decrease from Spring 1966 when enrollment for the semester reached a high of 7,040, it also reflects a 93 per cent retention of students from last fall. This is consistent with past retention figures.

Distribution of students by schools and colleges shows 1,942 in AddRan; 136, Brite (an increase of 16 students over last spring's count); 752, Business; 639, Education; 433, Fine Arts; 213, Nursing; 759, Graduate School; 1,204, Evening College. The ratio of undergraduate men and women is 49 per cent men and 51 per cent women, but when graduate and evening college students are included, the men take the lead with 59 per cent (3,588) compared with 41 per cent (2,490) women.

By classification, the enrollment breakdown is 884 freshmen, 870 sophomores, 1,033 juniors, 1,129 seniors and 63 postgraduates and unclassified students. Compared with last spring, there are 76 more juniors this semester and 54 more seniors. Only Nevada and North Dakota are not represented. Outside of Texas, the largest number of students came from Oklahoma (69), Louisiana (57), Missouri (54), California (52), Illinois (49), New Jersey (42), Florida (41), New York (40), Virginia (37) and Pennsylvania (30).

A total of 2,944 students are from Fort Worth, 405 from Tarrant County and 1,895 from other Texas counties. Twenty-three foreign countries and U.S. possessions are represented. Students represent 46 religious groups this semester with the Baptists again falling in second place (1,130), Methodists first (1,238) and Disciples of Christ in their traditional third place (915). Other large groups are Presbyterian (621), Episcopal (490), Catholic (460), Church of Christ (259) and Lutheran (200).

FALL SUSPENSIONS LOWEST IN EIGHT YEARS

A total of 389 students were placed on active probation at the close of the fall semester compared with 480 for Fall, 1966. The 59 students who were suspended represent the lowest number over an eight year period. The figure compares with 96 one year ago (1966), 89 (1965), 80 (1964), 102 (1963), 98 (1962), 84 (1961) and 112 (1960).

Combining those students suspended for one semester and one year, Registrar Calvin Cumbie's report shows that 26 were in AddRan, 15 in Business, 4 in Education, 6 in Fine Arts, 2 in Nursing and 6 in Evening College.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR PROGRAM NEXT WEDNESDAY

TCU's outstanding A Cappella Choir will present its spring tour program in Ed Landreth Auditorium next Wednesday, Feb. 21, at 8:15 p.m. Directed by Bev Henson, assoc. prof. of music, the choir will include in its program, "Kyrie (Chamber Mass)," "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us," "Salve Regina," "Ave Verum," "Ave Maria" and others.

The choir was organized six years ago and consists of 50 singers selected from the University at large. During this time the choir has gained a national reputation through its appearances on CBS and NBC radio and television, annual concert tours across the United States, a successful New York Town Hall debut in 1964 and many special appearances including one at the National City Christian Church in Washington, D. C. Of this latter program, Washington Post columnist Paul Hume said the choir had "a superb sense of intonation and a precision in response that gives their music making a thoroughly professional quality."

Wednesday's program is free. Why not make plans to attend?

ECUMENICAL CAMPUS MINISTER TO SPEAK AT CHAPEL

Rev. Houston Hodges, who serves as metropolitan campus minister for the United Campus Christian Fellowship in Dallas, will speak at TCU's chapel service next Tuesday (Feb. 20) at 11 a.m.

Hodges, a graduate of Texas Tech and Princeton Theological Seminary, offices at SMU and works with four major religious denominations: Disciples of Christ, Presbyterian US and UPUSA and the United Church of Christ. At present, the metropolitan ministry functions at Bishop College, SMU, the University of Dallas and the El Centro campus of the Dallas County Junior College System in cooperation with the Dallas Council of Churches.

The new approach to the church's ministry in higher education is the result of the four denominations combining resources to meet more effectively the needs of mushrooming college enrollment.

HOUSE FOR SALE

A spacious four bedroom, 1 1/2 story, red brick home with two baths, wood-burning fireplace, double garage and 13 large closets is for sale at 2616 Stadium Drive. For information, call Mrs. Robert H. Shaw at WA 7-2558 or WA 7-5257.

NOTES ON MOST NOTABLE FOLKS

After a lifetime of taking care of other people, especially TCU coeds, Health Center Director ELIZABETH SHELBURNE is taking her turn at being cared for. The former dean of women had surgery for a broken hip last Friday morning. Her doctor anticipated she'd be sitting up and "dangling her feet" by the next day. She's in Room 103 at Boulevard Hospital on Camp Bowie and should be back at her campus home in about 10 days.

KEITH TURKETT of education spoke for TCU this week (Feb. 12-14) in Hobbs and Lovington, N. M., where he participated in high school "college day" programs.

Brite professor BILL HALL, presently on leave of absence, will be the paternal delegate of the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) in the Philippines this spring (May 26-31).

Chancellor J. M. MOUDY attended a Conference on Christian Philanthropy in Chicago last week. Tomorrow (Feb. 15) he will give the convocation address at Kentucky Wesleyan College in Owensboro, Ky.

HUNTER BECKELHYMER, assoc. prof. of homiletics in Brite, will be the Religious Emphasis Week speaker, Feb. 26-28, at Central State College in Edmond, Okla. Hunter will speak on the theme: "Let's Get Involved." His topics will be: "Let's Get Involved in Embracing a Realistic Faith," "...in Achieving a Viable Style of Life," "...in Fulfilling a Vocation."

LAWRENCE HANLEY of the music department attended the annual clinic-convention of the Texas Music Educators Assn. in Austin, Feb. 8-10 and presided as chairman of the research committee. JIM JACOBSEN and MERLIN JENKINS of the music faculty also attended.

Assoc. Prof. of Music ARLENE SOLLENBERGER sang at TWC recently for a joint meeting of the Fort Worth, Denton and Dallas chapters of the Voice Forum. Arlene and several of her students were responsible for the recent Delta Kappa Gamma annual scholarship meeting on the subject "Students Growing Musically."

MARCUS BRYANT, assoc. prof. of pastoral care and pastoral psychology in Brite, will give a summary and commentary of three major papers being presented before the Professors and Research Section of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches meeting in Dallas this week.

Trustee GRANVILLE WALKER was honored last Sunday evening for his 25 years as pastor of University Christian Church in Fort Worth. Many persons who have been a part of Granville's life were present for the program. Appearing on the stage to honor him were church officials, members of the TCU faculty, friends and relatives.

Dean of Students HOWARD WIBLE is home from the hospital enjoying a little R&R (rest and recuperation) from his recent surgery. With his wife serving as nurse and secretary, Howard has set up a bedroom office so he can catch up on some of the work that has been piling up in his absence. He hopes to be back on campus by March 1.
