TRICK OR TREAT WEEK

The goblins will be preparing for their big night as this week's Bulletin comes from the press. We trust that all concerned have laid in a goodly supply of rocket-powered brooms, rickety bobs, bobbin' apples and cavernous pumpkins to say nothing of soap (for windows) and skeletal manifestations. Chances are there'll be more tricks than treats around the campus but you never know.

Certain folks are convinced that modern American civilization has just about ruined Halloween. Outhouses (for shoving over) were once plentiful in these parts. Social studies by Drs. Bob Talbert and Austin Porterfield indicate that an ambitious spook would have to travel miles into the country these days to find a likely project. O tempora! mores!

URGENT CALL FOR UNITED FUND

Contributions are still urgently needed as the annual United Fund for our community draws to a close. At last report, the goal was still unattained and the help of everybody is still badly needed.

As of Monday, according to Co-Chairmen Burl Crouch and Jim Moudy, the campus had exceeded in total money and average gift the figures for last year. But it was interesting to note that there were 31 fewer givers this year than last. Latest figures showed that 100 of our people had given or pledged $3,198.50 for an average of $13.61. Last year there were 266 givers for a total of $3,180 and an average of $11.95. It is hoped that everyone who hasn't will dig up that card and get it in this week. Do it now.

HANDLING THE "AGGIE" SITUATION

The prompt and responsible actions of our student leaders in connection with the unfortunate "Aggie Invasion" Oct. 18-19 has been most gratifying. Led by George Depee, the president, our Student Congress passed a resolution of "regret" and a committee delivered a person at College Station. Arrangements are being made to pay Aggies who lost property during the fightin' and fussin'.

We can all be proud of the way our campus leaders responded to the situation. While admittedly not all of the wrong-doing was on one side, our youngsters were quick to shoulder their responsibility. Those working with Congress and other organizations were most gratified.

Faculty members who are members of Phi Beta Kappa are asked to get in touch with Dr. H. R. Muddhenke (Ext. 282) just as soon as possible. Do it today--and

HONORS FOR OUR PRESIDENT ✓

Dr. Sadler, bee-busy as usual this fall, received two very fine honors last week. The Supreme Council, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, conferred the 33rd degree and rank of honorary inspector general. It is Masonry's highest award.

The Freedoms Foundation, on the same day, named Pres. Sadler co-chairman (with Dr. Fred D. Fagg, Jr., president emeritus of the U. of Southern Cal) of the 1957 national and school awards juries. He will help supervise the awarding of $100,000 this year to individuals, schools and organizations for their work in promoting a better understanding of the American way of life. Congrats Mr. President.

DEAN HULL LEADS NEW SYMPHONY

The campus was proud last Tuesday night when Dr. Robert Hull, dean of the School of Fine Arts, stepped to the podium in Will Rogers Auditorium to conduct the first performance of the new Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra. A program of favorite classical works was played to a very good audience. About half of the musicians have been connected with CU at one time or another, again showing the value of the University to the cultural life of the city.

Other programs of the new Symphony will be offered Dec. 17 and March 4. It is hoped that many of our people can attend.

SELECT SERIES OFF TO A FINE START

Only a few seats were vacant last week when the "Miniature Security Council" kicked off their new "Select Series" in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Those who attended really got their money's worth as the "delegates" from France, Great Britain, Korea and the U. S. jugged away at each other on the great international issues of the day. It was a stimulating debate with moments of humor. A very good beginning.

Reports now are that enough season tickets to the Series have been sold to assure capacity crowds. And that's a new record. Perhaps this is the place to congratulate Libby Youngblood, the student social director, who worked so hard to get such a series going on campus again. And to Marguerite Potter for great work as faculty chairman of the Series--and to Dean Jerome Moore who has not only worked hard but has been the top ticket salesman off campus. A "well done" to all.

WANTED: INFO ON NEW PHI BETA KAPPAS

New members of the faculty who are members of Phi Beta Kappa are asked to get in touch with Dr. H. R. Mundhenke (Ext. 282) just as soon as possible. Do it today--and thanks.

THE "DESPERATE HOURS" THIS WEEK

The first Little Theatre production of the year, Joseph Hayes' "The Desperate Hours," will be repeated Tuesday through Saturday nights this week. Reports on the performance have been very good and all who can are urged to catch a show.

Henry Hammack, new member of the Theatre staff, did a top job of designing and directing the production. The cast is good and there's many a chilling moment. And don't forget the second show, "The Fischbeck Tapestry," will be ready for showing the first weekend in December.

SPA TO MEET HERE NOV. 4-6

The annual meeting of the Texas Association of Student Personnel Administrators will be held in the city next Monday night through Wednesday. Many of our people will be involved.

Next Tuesday night's meeting will be a banquet in our Student Center with Laurence Smith, J. Firkins and Amos Melton having a place on the program. Cy LaGrone, Bear Wolf, and Pres. Sadler are also due to speak during the meeting.

ARRANGES OF MONTHLY TV SHOWS PLANNED

The University TV Committee, chairmaned by E. L. Pross, met last week to discuss arrangements of monthly hour shows to originate from the campus over Station KFJZ-TV, Channel 11. First show has been tentatively set for Saturday, Nov. 30, from 1 to 2 p. m. It will feature satellites and rockets, with the Science Division doing most of the research and Jim Costy supervising the production.

Also planned is a Christmas program in mid-December. Complete plans will be announced later.

ANNOUNCING COLLEGE ABSENCE REPORTS

Dean Cortell Holsapple calls attention to the fact that last week's discussion of "official absences" was excellent so far as day classes are concerned but there is a slight difference for Evening College.

Teachers handling Evening College classes are requested to report absences EACH WEEK as they occur (once a week is enough). Students are notified that their absence is noted, and are urged to resume attendance or effect an official withdrawal. Since the evening classes meet only once or twice a week, the need for this procedure is readily apparent. All Evening College instructors are requested to make note of this difference.

THE FACULTY RESEARCH REPORT

Chairman A. T. DeGroot of the Faculty Research Committee has filed a good report on last year's grants and accomplishments. In all, $3,805.27 was awarded for various projects. Two did not use their grants because of other commitments and Marguerite Potter saved about $150 in her work so that the final total spent was $2,450. Knowing that everybody will be interested in what others are doing in research, here's the list for last year:

- Le H. Kendall, Jr. -- "George Wither and John Taylor: A Comparative Study," $100.
- Edward L. Pross -- "Basic Research into the Relationships of Phase in Sound Production and Improving the Hearing Acuity of the Hard-of-Hearing," $300.
- Ben H. MacLaine and Lyle H. Kendall, Jr. -- "A Descriptive Catalog of the William Luther Lewis Collection at TCU," $200.
- Ray Lindley -- "Revision and Retyping of a Doctoral Thesis entitled 'The Structure and Function of the Church in the Thought of Alexander Campbell' to form the book Apostle of Freedom," $125.
- Raymond M. Lisle -- "The Use of Paper Chromatography as a Procedure in the Analysis of Cations, Adapted for Use by Beginning Students in Qualitative Analysis," $468.85.
- Thelma P. Evans -- "A Comprehensive Follow-up Study of All Individuals with Majors in Educational Administration and Supervision Who have Received Master of Education and Master of Arts degrees at TCU Since August, 1948," $300.
- Marguerite Potter -- "An Analysis of British Foreign Policy During the Italo-Ethiopian Crisis," $375.
- Justin L. Porterfield -- "The Socio-Economic Concomitants of Alcohol and Alcoholism: A Study of Conditions Correlated with the Consumption of Alcohol and the Related Problems of Alcoholism," $75.
- Ray Lindley -- Manuscript and other expenses for Panel of Scholars (Disciples of Christ), $300.
- Donald M. Logan -- "The Evolution of Relief Sculpture in Bronze and Ceramic Portrait in Clay," $550.

grants to W. C. Nunn ($411.42) and Edward E. Dale, Jr. ($600) were not used. Ed, of course, moved to the U. of Arkansas last spring. But this is a fine record. The University strongly encourages just as much research as possible by all faculty folks.

NOTES ON FOLKS OF NOTE

ES. SADLER came up with the most thought-provoking and hilarious observation during a coffee-break in Faculty Center. Said he, in a discussion of inflation and lack of funds: "In these times, you simply have to learn to live off the interest of the money I OWE." While others tried to figure that out, the president went on to say that he's been doing it for years!

That was an interesting article in the papers Oct. 23 by PERRY GRESHAM, president of Methany College and former faculty member and minister of University Christian Church. His point: University scholarships have "managed to get so far out of hand that a student who pays his own way is one kind of a sucker." He continued that the young person comes to feel that he is doing somebody a favor if he goes to college, consequently feels no urge to work hard. He said that in some places students receive a fifth as much simply for going to school as his teachers do in salary. He pointed out that many who win scholarships really don't need them with the result that some who do need the help are deprived.

ARTH A GARNER, who taught undergrad religion here in the spring, was seen by several of our folks at the Disciples Convention in Cleveland. They report she's still unmarried and would like to return here. A committee of campus bachelors is being appointed to look into the matter.

KE HARRISON was in South Texas last weekend for a series of meetings.

EFF HORN did a swell job of acting as general host to a meeting of some 340 YMCA youngsters on campus last Saturday.

UGENE WATTS and his Army ROTC men got high marks for hospitality and efficient work from Maj. Gen. Guy Meloy who visited on campus Tuesday. The general was guest at a noon luncheon in the Board room.

HARLES SHERER called a first meeting of the Student Welfare Committee last week. He called it an organizational tuneup but indications are there will be work to be done before too long. The group began investigation of the "Aggie Incident" on this Monday.

M MOUDY has been named by Pres. Sadler as representative for the Danforth and Woodrow Wilson Fellowship programs.

THIS WEEK'S SALUTE: For devotion to duty, for ability, for friendship and loyalty, the Bulletin salutes EULA LEE CARTER. Now in her 33rd year on campus, the well-loved professor of Spanish is fondly remembered by every generation of students since September 1924. Such oldtime football greats as Herman Clark, Johnny Washmon and Howard Grubbs always ask about "Miss Carter". Her "boys" are now judges, doctors, ministers and leaders in their communities. She has been secretary of the Athletic Council for these many years. She won the Altrusa Plaque in 1945-1946 and the Alpha Kappa Gamma Achievement Award in 1937. Yet of all her honors, we have a feeling she gets the greatest satisfaction from the achievements of the young people she has helped educate so ably. Salutes Miss Eula Lee!

McIntosh, Claude T. Jr.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY
FORT WORTH, TEXAS

OFFICE OF THE
VICE PRESIDENT

October 21, 1957

To all Faculty:

Please share the following information with your students in connection with the funeral services for Dr. Irene Huber

Classes will not be dismissed, but any students desiring to attend the services on Tuesday morning may be granted an official absence to do so.

Also any faculty member is free to attend, and arrangements for any class during the period involved is at the discretion of the teacher.

The Rosary will be held at 7:30 Monday evening, at Harveson-Cole Funeral Home; and the actual funeral, which is a Requiem Mass, 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

The Rosary is a brief service (about thirty minutes) during which, in the presence of the open casket, the prayers of the rosary are recited. These prayers are not part of the official liturgy of the Catholic Church; they are instead what the Church considers a "private" devotion.

The funeral service is a regular mass, with the variable portions containing the appropriate scripture. Monsignor Ernest Langenhorst will officiate. Anyone may attend and participate or may sit quietly, as he chooses. Only Catholics partake of communion. Leaflets containing the ritual of the mass will be available at the church so that all the service can be followed. Women wear hats or other head covering. There are no flowers inside the church at a Catholic funeral, and the casket is closed.

Dr. Huber left a request that no flowers be sent but that, if people wish to make a gesture in her memory, they give the money to a charitable purpose.

Most sincerely,

D. Ray Lindley
Vice President
