THE SUMMER BULLETIN

As usual, Ye Faculty Bulletin will NOT be printed on a regular schedule during the Summer as it is during the long session. However, it will go to press as needed during the hot months so if anyone has any news, announcements, comments, etc. for the Bulletin do not hesitate to send them along to Information Services.

SATURDAY MAKEUP ON JUNE 28--NOT JULY 5

Dean Moore, director of Summer School, calls attention to the fact that Saturday classes will be held on June 7 and June 28 (the last to makeup the July 4 holiday.) The calendar in Summer School Catalog says the makeup day is July 5. Not so. July 4-5 will be holidays. So don't forget.

Final exams for Summer Term I are due July 11 and registration for Summer Term II will be held Monday, July 14. Commencement will be held Friday night, Aug. 22. Seems a long way off but the weeks will fly.

END-OF-YEAR CEREMONIES GO WELL

Baccalaureate, the senior tea and Commencement all went very well last week. In fact, we seemed to have more seniors and their families at the tea Friday afternoon than in several years. Thanks to all faculty and staff members who helped out. Mary Beth Scott really did a job on the table decorations and Juanita Owens turned out top refreshments. Both worked themselves to a frazzle. Thanks gals.

At Commencement, we handed out 458 degrees, a drop of eight from the expected list as a few failed to make the grade. Calvin Cumbie had a rough go, staying up ALL night last Wednesday when some instructors failed to get in their senior grades. Calvin had some of them on the phone at 2:30 a. m. The schedule called for all senior grades at 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday but Calvin was still trying to get some of them 12 hours later. Hope this won't be repeated, as the senior list MUST be ready.

VALUE OF THE DANIEL BEQUEST

Hope everyone saw Dr. Sadler's announcement that the value of Milton Daniel's bequest will be between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000. Of course, ONLY the income will come to the university, none of the corpus. It was the largest bequest in TCU's 85-year history but doesn't mean we can rest in the crucial area of development. Much, much more will be needed.

"PUBLIC PROGRAM" COMMITTEE TO BE NAMED

After a meeting Monday in Dr. Sadler's office, plans have been made to set up a "Public Program Committee" and Jim Farrar has been named chairman. The group will have general supervision of all meetings on campus to which the public is invited. Details of its operation are being worked out. The purpose is to improve the planning and presentation of such programs which have a very definite public relations value. More later on this.

NOTES AROUND THE CAMPUS

The Renaissance Conference we held during the Spring received a nice writeup in the National Renaissance Association publication recently. The editors were especially impressed by the participation of our students, LORRAINE SHERLEY reports.

WILLIS and LIZ HEWATT were off Monday for the long drive to their post at the Virginia State Fisheries on the East coast. Enroute they were to visit with Neil Hulings, our new biology staff member, in Florida.

JIM and MARTHA HEAD will be leaving us in August. Capt. Jim has been ordered to Japan and Martha plans to go along for the two-year hitch.

OTTO NIELSEN has been named chairman of a new Religion and Public Education Committee of the Texas Council of Churches.

WARREN AGEE is off to West Virginia in two weeks. At last reports, they were still awaiting the arrival of a new youngster--which Warren keeps calling Charlie. It may be Charlene, of course.

BE MARTIN was mighty proud of son Don for that summa rating at Commencement. A pre-med major, Don will enter Baylor in Houston next fall. And didja see JEROME MOORE and the diploma to son Jerry last Friday night? Pres. SADLER thought it would be a fine touch--and it was.

That was a nice story about VIRGINIA OGG and her coming marriage in the papers Sunday.

BROOKS MORRIS, who retired from Fine Arts this month, has also retired as director of the First Baptist Church choir downtown--a post he held for many years. Looks like Brooks is really gonna rest.
